NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—One of those rumors that can't be confirmed says the United States Army is undertaking a general "crack-down" on athletes who have lingered overlong at various posts... That's as it should be, except in such cases where an athlete might be doing more useful work than serving in the firing line, but what makes it interesting is the number of transfers recently noted...Fort Jackson, S.C., cancelled its baseball schedule the other day because a number of good players, including Kirby Higbe, had been shipped out ...the Air Force overseas replacement Depot at Kearns, Utah, recently received a whole flock of ball players then learned that Johnny (Yankees) Sturm, Jack (Dodgers) Graham, Frank (Braves) Lamanna and Clarence (Browns) Iott wouldn't stay long enough to play on the post team...and Jake Early, Ernie White and Tommy Livingston (among others) have been shifted from Fort Bragg, N.C., to Camp Butner, where they're awaiting reassignment.

A Rookie a Day

Robert Buck Fausett, Reds' third baseman: from manager to rookie in one easy session...Buck piloted Little Rock to second place in the Southern Association last year, didn't miss a game at third and hit .362—which adds one digit to his age, 36...After a dozen years in organized ball he's getting his second chance in the Majors...Turned down the first in 1935 because Connie Mack couldn't offer a salary to match his baseball pay at Galveston plus a winter job the club owner there provided.

FISHING SEASON OPENS—With the opening of the fresh water fishing season, these pretty maids hied themselves to the nearest stream to try their luck with rod and reel. In case you don't know they are Anne Gwynne, Left, and Vivian Austin, of Hollywood, Calif.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

King's Plate day at old Woodbine Park in Toronto comes just three weeks from Saturday, and spring-like weather around the Ontario tracks yesterday brought considerable training activity among the three-year-old eligibles.

The most impressive workout of a King's Plate candidate in recent years was turned in by Parkwood Stable's home-bred colt Huelwen, who went three-quarters in 1:18 and a mile in 1:49 2-5. The Plate distance is a mile and an eighth.

While Huelwen was showing his stuff at Woodbine, the Cosgrave and Medway Stable entrants, Gyster and Korafloyd, put in a smart mile workout at Hamilton, crossing the line head-and-head in 1:45 2-5.

Riverdale Stable's King's Platers, Attester and Nimblefoot, worked the full Plate distance but it was over the half-mile oval at Dufferin Park. Attester's time was said to be 2:06 with Nimblefoot a second slower.

Clarence R. Kenney, well-known Hamilton sportsman, died last night at the age of 63. He was past president and trustee of the Hamilton Olympic Club, and served as chief timer for Hamilton Wildcats' football club and at many track and field meets throughout southwestern Ontario.

Another sports figure who died yesterday was Thomas M. Foley, 69, a noted Nova Scotia athlete in the early years of the century. Foley, whose death occurred at Halifax, was one-time welterweight boxing champion of the Maritimes.

Jimmy Wilson, who resigned as manager of the Chicago Cubs on Monday, has signed as coach of the Cincinnati Reds. General Manager Warren C. Giles of the Cincinnati club announced at Chicago last night that Wilson will join the Reds in St. Louis on Thursday. He did not give any salary figures.

NEW YORK, May 3—(CP)—The United States Department of Justice filed yesterday in Federal Court a civil complaint charging 10 companies—one of them Canadian—with maintenance of an international cartel in the manufacture and distribution of matches.

Also named in the complaint were two British companies, six American companies, a Swedish firm and officers and agents of some of the 10 companies.

Eddy Match Company, Limited, of Pembroke, Ont., was named as one of the defendants. The Government alleged a cartel had existed since 1901.

Mitchell Denies 390,000 Men Missing

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 3 — (CP) — The Commons sitting ended yesterday with Labor Minister Mitchell and J. G. Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) standing by widely varying figures on the number of men liable for compulsory military training who are still unaccounted for.

Mr. Mitchell said the number of men unaccounted for ranged from 33 in Charlottetown, P.E.I., to 18,923 in Montreal district, and totaled 49,000.

Mr. Diefenbaker said 390,000 men were "missing" after having failed to report for medical examinations under National Resources Mobilization Act regulations. This figure actually was low, Mr. Diefenbaker said, because 212,691 men had failed to report after being called for actual duty.

Speaking during resumed study of his department's war estimates, Mr. Mitchell said Mr. Diefenbaker had put the worst possible reflection on the figures of men who failed to respond to call-up notices, and he did not think it in the best interests of the country that a story should be given out that 390,000 men were unaccounted for.

The 49,000 figure was the picture arrived at "after all the resources and all the staff we have at our command have been used," the Minister said. Many of the men unaccounted for may have joined the United States' army.

Among the 212,691 men mentioned by Mr. Diefenbaker there were 117,752 industrial workers, men who had enlisted on receipt of orders and those given statutory exemptions.

The manpower debate took over the spotlight after Finance Minister Ilsley made a lengthy statement on the bill providing for the decennial revision of the Bank Act.

Need Reinforcements.

Capt. Alan Chambers, recently returned from the battlefields of Sicily and Italy to his seat as Liberal member for Nanaimo, said the men overseas were "not greatly concerned" with the drafting and training of men in Canada for the defence of Canada and for fighting overseas.

"The opinion of the men is that fundamentally one either wants to fight or he does not," said Capt. Chambers, who served with the Canadians in the 8th Army.

"However, there can be no question either in their minds or in yours as to the ultimate result of the policy, however it may be applied. If there are not sufficient men who want to fight, at least those who do must not be let down if it is merely a question of sheer manpower."

D. G. Ross (PC-Toronto St. Paul's) said that the home defence men might well be sent overseas to allow leave for men who have been overseas for four and five years. The United States had made arrangements for leave for men in the forces overseas.

Frederic Dorion (Ind-Charlevoix-Saguenay) said that compulsory military training regulations have been properly administered in Quebec. Mr. Diefenbaker had tried to place more blame on Quebec by saying that only 8,724 men out of 460,00 men had been called from military division "F" of Quebec City. The callable population in Division "F" was 180,000 men.

While the Commons debated manpower, the Senate discussed the relationship between the Dominion government and municipalities in which federal buildings are located. A review of the relationships was urged by Senator Rupert Davies (L-Ontario).

Mr. Ilsley's statement on the revision of the Bank Act occupied the House for almost two hours. He gave a lengthy review of the changes proposed and the philosophy behind the government's proposals.

A Serious Effort.

Mr. Ilsley said that the bill, given first reading Monday, was intended "to improve our banking system and to ensure adequate credit at reasonable rates for all sound and useful purposes."

Amendments designed to encourage more liberal lending to farmers and fishermen were highlights of the bill which the Minister described as "a very serious effort to build up in this country a well-rounded and highly integrated financial structure."

The Farm Improvement Loans Act, which will be introduced this session, will be similar in principle to the Home Improvement Loans Act and will provide, within certain limits, a guarantee up to 10 per cent to banks against losses on farm improvements loans. The loans will carry a maximum interest rate of five per cent.

Changes outlined in the regulations covering such types of security as farm products, fish or other materials were in the form of a proposal to the banking committee which would consider the bill and Mr. Ilsley said he was perfectly willing to be guided by the committee.

At present fresh security had to be provided every time new materials were acquired, and a grain dealer, for example, might be required to sign a new promissory note daily and an assignment of the grain. Amendment of the regulations to enable security to be given for a season would eliminate a large volume of paper work.

The Bill would extend the personal loan facilities of Chartered Banks, and this probably would reduce the business done by small loan companies, Mr. Ilsley said.

This provision of the Bill would encourage Banks in lending sums up to $500 repayable in instalments at a rate equivalent to five per cent on a one-year loan. This would provide an "effective" interest rate of 9¾ per cent. Small loan companies at present may charge a maximum of two per cent per month—24 per cent a year.

The present maximum interest rate chargeable by banks would be reduced from seven to six per cent. Mr. Ilsley said it was believed there were few loans at present on which seven per cent was being paid.

He broke a long-established precedent by revealing current operating earnings on their total assets; 3.26 per cent on total assets in current operating expenses and paid an average of 4.6 per cent in dividends on total shareholders' equity.

Senator Urges Federal Study

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP).—Review of the relationship between the Dominion Government and municipalities in which Federal buildings are located was urged in the Senate last night by Senator Rupert Davies (L—Ontario).

Senator Davies made his suggestion when the city of Ottawa bill was before the House. He said he thought a committee which Prime Minister Mackenzie King had proposed setting up to consider the relationship between the Government and the city of Ottawa could also consider the wider field of Dominion-municipal relationships.

There were many municipalities which had Federal buildings which yielded no taxation. Senator Davies mentioned the village of Portsmouth, Ont., where Portsmouth Penitentiary is located. He said he had approached Justice Minister St. Laurent to ask the Government to make a $2,000 contribution toward a $4,000 fire hall which would have given added protection to the penitentiary, but the Government had refused to assist.

The Ottawa bill received second and third readings. Senator Norman Lambert (L—Ontario), an Ottawa resident, said he hoped the proposed joint committee would result in a "long overdue" adjustment in the Dominion's annual contribution of $100,000 to the city, and prove a step toward the establishment of a Federal district.

Canning Sugar Quota 23 Pounds

OTTAWA, May 3 — (CP) — It is possible for a housewife to obtain 23 pounds of sugar during the canning season for each member of her family in addition to the ordinary weekly ration, Finance Minister Ilsley said Monday in the Commons.

Mr. Ilsley, elaborating on announcements made by the Prices Board Jan. 22 and April 6, said:

"In Canada this year consumers will be entitled to obtain 10 pounds of sugar for canning purposes by special coupons issued for that purpose. In addtion, 26 preserves coupons will be available, each of which can be used either for the purchase of a half-pound of sugar or varying quantities of sweet spreads or canned fruit.

"It is possible, therefore, for a Canadian housewife wishing to put up her own preserves to obtain a maximum of 23 pounds of sugar for canning purposes in respect of each member of her household, in addition to the ordinary weekly ration."

Comparing it to United States sugar rationing, he said Americans got 25 pounds for canning purposes only on application, whereas Canadians did not have to apply.

....ON LETTER WRITING

You all know me: I'm Joe. I'm now in a country that used to be page thirty-nine in my geography. Yes, there's a lot of things that are different over here. And there are a lot of things I miss too. There's the Canadian winter! You sure do miss winter, when you're sitting under a palm tree at 120° (Far.). And then there's the letters that you miss. That is, you miss them when they don't come.

"Over here, a letter is like a footbridge four thousand miles long that brings your friends right to you. I don't know why it is that some folks don't write. It only takes a sheet of paper, a postage stamp and a little time, but, boy, what that letter means to the guy that gets it! He's with his friends again! And he's got a new kind of feeling that makes him think that what he's doing is worth while.

"So, won't you people back home remember that. Don't wait till you have time. You have it now. Put down this paper, NOW, and write a letter to that friend you know overseas."

SO YOU'RE GOING TO PAINT!

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE RULES:-

Outside Painting

Be sure the surface is dry; let the sun or wind dry it out after a rain. Remove dirt from corners, putty up any cracks and holes. Don't lay the paint on too thickly—you'll get a better job if you brush it on sparingly. If you apply more than one coat, let the first coat dry thoroughly before putting on the second one.

Inside Painting

Make certain your surface is clean. Remove any film of grease or dirt from walls or furniture, especially in the kitchen, for instance. It's a good plan to wash surfaces with soap and water before painting; if you do this, be sure to let it dry first. Smooth your wall surface by plastering holes and cracks, and sandpaper rough places in furniture, before applying your paint.

Most Important of All:-

Let the whole family have a say in settling on your colour scheme. Ask your Sherwin-Williams Dealer to lend or show you his beautiful Paint & Colour Style Guide—it's full of good ideas on decoration and painting.

Use only the best paint, varnish or enamel. Good paint costs so little in relation to long-lasting results obtained; cheap paints only bring you disappointment eventually. Sherwin-Williams Products give you colours that really last and real protection against wear and weather.

Consult your Sherwin-Williams Dealer. He will gladly give you valuable assistance and advice and will supply you with the right Sherwin-Williams Paints for each purpose—the utmost value for your money.

Put Victory First

In reports of the eighth day of the sixth Victory Loan the General Canvass field shows a decided improvement in both the county and city. Peterborough's general canvass which includes reports of the canvassers and the banks increased $142,250, while in the county the increase was $40,600.

The team of Walter Metheral, James Juby and Vic Tully has taken the lead in Peterborough when on Tuesday they reported $14,750 for 21 sales, bringing their total to $52,150. Mr. Tully turned in $13,150 on 12 sales and now becomes the top salesman with a total of $25,900.

A. J. McClellan, Art Cauley and Stan Darling are in second place with a total for the day of [illegible]. R. Irwin, J. D. Anderson and Fred Revoy, leader during the past several days are now in third place with $47,500, adding $3,200 on Tuesday.

In the county, Gordon Hancock and C. H. Hunter of Smith added $11,700 to bring their township up to 47.89 per cent of the objective. North Monaghan canvassers reported $10,250 with Mrs. Moore turning in $10,250 for a total to date of $15,150, considerably more than 50 per cent received by the three canvassers.

Ennismore shoved its total up $2,200 to $6,500. Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos came through with a nice report from C. Pelton and W. R. Nicholson for $7,800 and their total now stands at $11,450, and Havelock $2,000 for a total of $13,800.

Lou Brooks reported to Headquarters that he sold a Victory Bond yesterday to an elderly woman who was totally blind. She is Mrs. Mary Katherine Maher, 486 Rogers Street. Mrs. Maher is a widow and has been blind many years. Mr. Brooks said Mrs. Maher wanted to buy a bond but did not know how to go about it, and was pleased when the canvasser explained that she could buy a bond on the payment plan and her niece could look after the actual financial transactions at the bank.

Many of the canvassers are reporting that people are buying the bonds who have never bought before. Whether or not this is good salesmanship on the part of the canvassers or people are more war and bond conscious is the question.

Garden Growers Given Chance To Win Prizes

The Horticultural Society is offering attractive prizes in a Victory Garden competition this season, according to W. C. Wilks, secretary. Entries should be sent to him at 584 Chamberlain street or telephoned to 7788 before June 1.

"Victory gardens will occupy much of our time throughout the summer," Mr. Wilks said today, "and we hope to return to our general horticultural program in September. We are planning a beautification project at the Peterborough Training Centre, especially around the hospital and we appreciate the co-operation of Lieut.-Colonel Bapty, Commanding Officer.

The committee in charge of C.G.E. and Genelco gardens are obtaining plots for gardening, and may surpass the fine results they accomplished last year. Utilities Commission is providing plots on the Aylmer street property they recently acquired. It is a central location for the employees who wish to grow things this season.

The Society expects to announce details of the gardens competition within the next two months. We are urging all vegetable gardeners to make sure of good seed. Better still join the Horticultural Society and obtain seed requirements at a 20 per cent discount."

Factory Group Total Nears $1,000,000

"The employees of every one of Peterborough's industries comprising our payroll savings division have earned three-star 'V' flags," W. A. Reid, divisional organizer at George street headquarters, informed The Examiner this morning.

"Our division had a total objective of $900,000, and our pledged amount this morning stood at $942,600. Possibly we might make the million dollar mark before the campaign ends. It is all right to think about, any way, but in the meantime the payroll savings section has just about wound up its alloted work in this drive."

The Three-Star "V" flag, Mr. Reid said, is awarded to groups in this division of whom 90 per cent. or more of their employees pledge themselves to devote at least 15 per cent. of their earnings for the purchase of Victory Bonds.

"We have more than 90 per cent. participating, and the average going into Victory Bonds is from 16 to 18 per cent. of their wages. The campaign is not actually ended because if any other persons in these payroll savings plants want to come in yet for their first bonds or additional ones the door is being kept wide open right up to the end."

Presenting Flags

The first "V" flag was presented yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock to the employees of Canadian General Electric Company and of Genelco Limited.

Similar tributes are being paid today to the employees of B. F. Ackerman, Son & Company, Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited, and Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company Limited.

"These return meetings at the industrial plants are no idle formality," Mr. Reid said today. "They are the sincerest thing we can do. The National War Finance Committee cannot come to industrial cities like Peterborough and thank all the employees for responding splendidly to the big assignment of bond-buying.

"The local city and county committee undertakes to convey to the employees their own warm appreciation and the acknowledgment of the National War Finance Committee for the co-operation which has produced those results, and got the job done quickly."

Clusters of Stars

As Gordon S. Matthews told the C.G.E.-Genelco men and women yesterday afternoon, "there should be six stars on these two flags, three for this loan and three for the Fifth Victory Loan last fall"

"Expressing my own feelings, I hope the employees and canvassers and all the folks at the different industries realize that we are not going around on these flag visits just as a sort of formality," Mr. Reid said. "We are might happy about it, because it means most of all that Peterborough's industrial front has done all that was asked of it once more, and they put it over without any dilly-dallying and waste of time.

"Personally I am exceedingly happy that we have arrived at this stage in the group payroll savings, practically in the first week of the campaign, although it is not quite all through yet, and you just want to get around to the shops and tell the folks what a swell job they have done."

Most of the individual results in the payroll savings division were reported yesterday, and there may be a few changes before the final period is stamped onto the work of this division.

Fourteen Teams In Church Loop

On Monday evening the Church Softball League held a meeting at the Y.M.C.A. There was a very pleasing turnout. St. Paul's and Trinity definitely decided to enter teams.

Churches that have not had a team in the past were given permission to recall players of their own church from other teams to round out a team of their own. This helped St. Paul's and Trinity. Mark St. did not have a representative present, so their intentions are doubtful.

There are now seven teams in each section. A schedule for one week was arranged to get the league started.

On Wednesday, May 10 in the Bantam section:

St. Paul's got a bye.
George St. vs. Knox at Oval.
St. Andrew's vs. St. John's at Queen Mary.
Park St. vs. St. James at King Edward.

In the Juvenile section:

George St. got a bye.
St. James vs. Trinity at King Edward.
St. John's vs. St. Paul's at Queen Mary
Murray St. vs. All Saints at Oval.

The first mentioned team is the home team

It was moved by R. Kingdon and seconded by C. Bedford that a single schedule be played with the four top teams entering a semi-final; team No. 1 to meet No. 4; No. 2 to meet No. 3. The two top semi-finalists are to meet in a best 2 out of 3 series for the honors.

A meeting at the Y.M.C.A. is called for 7.30 Monday evening May 8, to complete the schedule, receive registration fees, and registration forms.

Any team failing to have these present, shall be counted out.

Mrs. T. J. Carley Speaks On Post-War Plans

"Preparation for Peace" was the subject of the address given by Mrs. T. J. Carley to the regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Andrew's United Church, held Tuesday afternoon in the Ladies' Parlors. Mrs. Carley gave an impartial and comprehensive survey of the views and suggested plans of various well-known people, and groups of people. In her talk, the speaker stressed the need for the individual to think of the contribution he himself could make toward a lasting peace, and to begin thinking and planning the methods of making that contribution.

Mrs. R. L. Hale was guest soloist, and sang "I Come to Thee," and "Abide With Me," accompanied by Mrs. L. M. Brooks. Mrs. Vernon Foster's group was in complete charge of the program and refreshments. Mrs. C. Cadd gave the Bible reading.

Mrs. I. T. Lillico president, was in charge of the business meeting, when Mrs. E Hawley, social convener discussed plans for serving the delegates to the Bay of Quinte Conference being held in Peterborough June 6 to 9 A contribution from the Auxiliary to the Victor Home Mission was announced, and a donation to the Auxiliary, from the St. Andrew's Bowling Club, was gratefully acknowledged. The vote of thanks to the speaker and soloist was moved by Mrs Harry Wightman.

PeterboroSailors Said Missing

Gnawing anxiety and weeks of waiting face the families of the two Peterborough boys, Chief Petty Officer Williams and A. B. Anthony Bianco, who have now been reported missing, following the sinking of the tribal destroyer H. M. C. S. Athabaskan on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Williams, 263 Engleburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bianco, Park Hill road, parents of the boys, were notified on Tuesday that their sons have not yet been accounted for. The Germans announced that one of their destroyers picked up about 85 survivors from the stricken ship, and if the sailors were among this group it will take about three months for the Red Cross to send the information to their people.

Both men have been in the Navy for more than two years and this was not their first taste of action. C.P.O. Williams, who had served on the Athabaskan for many months, had been torpedoed before, but his ship limped into port. AB Bianco, joined the destroyer in November, 1943. Beside his parents, C.P.O. Williams has two children living at R. R. No. 4 Peterborough, Gordon, 10, and Geraldine, 11.

The two men were unscathed after heavy fighting a week ago in the English Channel when three Canadian destroyers and a British ship took on some German destroyers, sinking one. After returning to port, the Athabaskan shortly set sail again to keep a date with destiny.

175 Dog Tags Are Issued To Owners

The police department have an idea that the citizens of Peterborough are so interested in the Sixth Victory Loan drive that they have overlooked the formality of taking out licenses for their pet dogs.

The old licenses expired with the end of last month, and any canines not wearing 1944 tags now are without the law.

So far only some 175 tags have been sold by the department. As the dog population of Peterborough is now estimated to reach the neighborhood of the 1,000 mark, it is obvious that the majority of owners are delinquents.

Good Neighbors Near $900 For War Victims

In their most commonly accepted meaning, the words "Good Neighbors" would be understood as applying to those who live in one's own vicinity, and when this title was first chosen as a fitting one to represent the group in the southend of the city at that time, it was prompted by the fact that it really commenced with a desire on the part of [illegible] Townsley, who live next door to each other on Ware Street, to work jointly on behalf of the sufferers from air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund.

From this start, their labor of love extended itself through a loyal support for the cause being given them by quite a number of ladies in various parts of the city, through whose co-operation the work has extended itself to such proportions as to become one of the outstanding features of work done on behalf of the fund, the scope and sphere of their good work enlarging the meaning of their titular words, so as to include people living thousands of miles away who have now every reason to call them really good neighbors for the amount of help they have given to relieve the wants and necessities occasioned by a merciless attack from the skies.

They Now Reach Total $890.

Through the holding of small parties in the homes of the various members of the group, these ladies have raised close to $900 on behalf of the fund, their latest contribution of $31 recorded in today's receipts making the total count stand actually at the splendid sum of $890.05.

This latest contribution was made possible through parties held in the homes of Mrs. M. Brown on Dalhousie Street, Mrs. R. McCabe on Crescent Street, Mrs. E. Crowe on Ware Street, and Mrs. H. Ralph on Ware Street, each of whom by loaning their homes for the occasion, had a prime part in its raising, for which a measure of extra credit is due.

Another penny box has again done its bit toward helping the fund along, this time the one located at Northam's Bakery is responsible for $2.15 listed in its name today, which was collected by the secretary of the fund on Tuesday morning.

Lt. Wallace Dies With Tank Unit

Lieut. John K. C. Wallace of Ottawa, formerly of Montreal and Peterborough, who was killed in action recently in the Italian campaign, was attached to an Armored Regiment.

Lieut. Wallace was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. H. Wallace, 153 Acacia avenue, Rockcliffe, Ottawa. His father was for some years district manager of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, until 1930 when he was transferred to Montreal.

The young officer enlisted from Queen's University, where he was a student, and went overseas in July 1942. He was twenty-three years old at his death. The family moved from Montreal to Ottawa in 1935, where Lieut. Wallace was graduated from Ashbury College. He was keenly interested in sports, especially rugby, boxing, tennis and cricket. He was a member of the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, and attended Chalmers United Church.

Lieut. Wallace was a grandson of the late Major General Sir John W. Carson, C.B., and of Lady Carson of Montreal. He is survived by his parents and his sister, Sarah.

The Peterborough friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will extend to them deepest sympathy in their bereavement of their only son who was a little boy when the family lived on Dickson street in this city.

Three Speakers Discuss "Action Now"

Members of the Peterborough listening groups of the Citizens' Forum were guests of the Educational Committee of the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening, for a discussion of the radio topic, "Action Now." This was the last of a series of broadcasts sponsored by the Canadian Association for Adult Education, under the general topic, "Things to Come." Special speakers heard on the broadcast were Miss Bessie Touzel, executive secretary of the Toronto Welfare Council, Mr. Gratton O'Leary, assistant editor of the Ottawa Journal, and Mr. Clarence Straight, of New York, editor of "Union Now."

The broadcast concerned what the citizen could do to see that action was taken in post-war planning. Pressure groups were suggested as one method of bringing the problem of prompt action and planning to the fore. Mr. D. G. H. Melton, chairman of the rehabilitation committee for Peterborough, speaking of the employment to be offered returning men and women, explained that plans were already under way for the rehabilitation of members of the armed forces. He especially mentioned the opportunities for continued schooling and training to be offered young men and women, with free medical and hospital care for a time, until they were completely well.

Mr. R. H. Parsons, city engineer, spoke briefly on the plans the city had made for post-war construction, and said that financial help would be needed from the provincial government to carry through the projects such as the completing of the sewage disposal plant, finishing of the Ashburnham memorial park, the airport, a new hospital, the arena and the new city buildings.

Mr. Harold Scott, M.P.P., gave further information about the plans for the airport, and discussed the problem of reforestation, stressing the need for expanding the natural resources of the country. Mr. T. J. Carley, another guest, warned the group that they should not lose sight of Canada's position in international affairs. He said that it was certainly right that Canadians should be interested in the improvements of their own communities, but that it was a poor citizen who did not make sure that Canada would take her place with other nations in the post-war planning.

Dr. Lorna Cotton Thomas was chairman, and led in the discussions. Miss Grace Sargent, on behalf of the Y.W. Educational Committee, welcomed the guests.

Inspector Reports Woods Are Very Dry

"I don't ever remember seeing the woods so dry at this season of the year," Fish and Game Overseer Vernal Windsor of Apsley remarked the other day. The water in the northern lakes, with the ice now out, is also at an unusually low level.

Smith Second To Monaghan In Loan Score

North Monaghan regained its leadership of the city and county Victory Bond campaign when the totals for eight days were computed last night.

They are second only to the soldiers at the Peterborough Training Camp and the men and women employees of the city's industries comprising the payroll savings section.

The suburban township was showing 68.87 per cent of its objective this morning as compared with the required 44.44 per cent at the eighth day of the drive.

Smith township was a strong second with 60.55 per cent; Ennismore was in third place with 54.5 per cent and Dummer with 43 per cent of its quota was so close to the required percentage that it might as well be included in the "overplus" group at the top.

Trailing In The Total

The grand total for the county, and that embraces everybody, leaders and trailers, was $1,663,100 of the total objective of $4,500,000 at Tuesday evening; that was a percentage of 36.96 as compared with the required 44.44 per cent.

The city and county general canvass had produced in these eight days $778,600 of their joint quota of $2,150,000, or 36.2 per cent.

The general canvass in the city indicated $572,200 of the urban quota of $1,550,000 or 36.92 per cent and the general canvass in the city was $206,400 of the rural quota of $600,000 or 34.4 per cent.

Townships and Villages

Going down the list from Dummer's 43 per cent, the city's general canvass was in fifth place with 36.92 per cent; Norwood sixth at 33.1 per cent; Havelock seventh with 32.8 per cent; Lakefield eighth with 26.6 per cent; the northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos ninth with 26.44 per cent; Belmont-Methuen tenth with 24.4 per cent.

Otonabee showing 24 per cent is in eleventh place; Douro is twelfth with 16.1 per cent and Asphodel thirteenth with 10.66 per cent.

Cossar was returning from his 24th operation over enemy territory when the accident occurred. He received rather serious injuries to the right eye, but the sight will not be impaired.

W. O. Cossar has recently been mentioned in despatches from England. He received most of his training in Hamilton and Victoriaville, graduating as an air gunner from Mont Joli in April 1943. For five years prior to enlisting, he lived at Warkworth.

Peterboro Boys Meet In Prison Camp

A soldier walked into a barbed wire enclosure in a Nazi prison camp and with a whoop of excitement threw his arms around a young airman, both chattering as fast as the words could tumble out. They were Kenneth Cooper and William Jones, old Peterborough chums who had not seen each other since before the war.

"It was wonderful to walk in and see Bill standing there. We talked until we were hoarse, and our tongues were wagging that night long after lights out sounded. There were so many things to catch up on and it was wonderful recalling old times," Pte. Cooper wrote his mother.

Pte. Cooper was the first Peterborough boy to be taken prisoner by the Germans while he was serving with the British Army. William Jones was captured after air operations about 1½ years ago. They are the first Peterborough prisoners of war reported to have met in a German camp. Pte. Cooper was only there a short time because he is with a mobile camp learning a trade. Both are in good health.

Col. Elizabeth Smellie Tells Benefits of Nurses' Training

The campaign for the soliciting of scholarships to be awarded to student nurses, received its first great boost Tuesday evening, when James Dutton announced that the city council was sponsoring an annual scholarship open to both Peterborough Hospitals. The only provision made was that the winner should take a course in Public Health Nursing. This announcement was made at a dinner held in the Empress Hotel, when Col. Elizabeth Smellie, until recently matron-in-chief of nurses in the armed forces, now with the Victorian Order of Nurses, was guest speaker.

Mr. Dutton brought the greetings from the City of Peterborough, in place of Mayor James Hamilton, who was not able to attend. In his brief, address, Mr. Dutton paid tribute to the nurses who were carrying such a large burden in these arduous times and wished them every success in their recruiting campaign. Mrs. E. Breckenbridge, in her chairman's remarks, expressed the hope that scholarships would be offered to encourage a greater enrolment in Peterborough's school of nursing, since "the times demand some action."

Col. Smellie was introduced by Dr. G. S. Cameron, who explained that he was just returning a favor, since Col. Smellie had introduced him to a gathering held some years ago in Ottawa. In his remarks, Dr. Cameron gave a brief outline of Col. Smellie's life, dwelling principally on her work during the last war, and in the present war.

Excellent Training.

The excellent opportunities for future life, and the invaluable training offered girls who choose to take up nursing as a profession were emphazised by Col. Smellie as she discussed the subject, "Why Be a Nurse?". She said that nurses learned initiative and quick-thinking, alertness, and patience, in a vocation which offered excellent opportunities both within its boundaries, and without.

She stressed, however, that parents should allow girls to make up their own minds about entering nursing, since only students keenly interested in nursing, with a willingness to share responsibility and a keen sense of honor had the essential qualifications for good nurses. She spoke of the advantages of nursing schools, and explained that girls, contrary to the general belief, usually thrived at school. She said that it was true that they certainly had heavy duties, but that the regular, supervised life of a student nurse was really an advantage.

Smaller Schools Good.

In speaking of smaller schools of nursing, Col. Smellie said that she thought that they really had an advantage over the larger institutions, because they offered the student more chance to become acquainted with all phases of nursing. She explained that in large hospitals, there was not the same scope of activity. She said that the public judges a nurse by her human qualities, and that the training given by smaller schools offered a greater chance to learn the "little things," which meant so much to sick people.

The speaker also dealt with the nurses in the services and those in industrial work. She explained that the armed forces did not intentionally call essential staff members from small, crowded hospitals, but that they were taken on a volunteer basis. She praised the work being done by the medical branches, and gave special mention to the way the nurses in England were carrying on in the face of great difficulty. Col. Smellie spoke of the excellent work done by Miss Agnes Neill, and told of meeting her on her trip to England.

In conclusion, Col. Smellie expressed the hope which she felt was first in the hearts of everyone. She explained that during her trip to England last year, she had noticed a prayer tacked on the wall of the room in the bombed town in which she was staying. The prayer asked for help to do everything that was asked or required, and, in the end, for the grant of the "gift of sleep."

4,000 To Few.

Miss Margaret Dulmage, recruiting officer for Ontario of the Registered Nurses' Association, gave a brief outline of her work during the last few months. She told of her visits to approximately 155 secondary schools, and her talks to the students. Statistics which she gave showed that over 50,000 girls enrolled in secondary schools in Ontario, only about 4,000 would enter nursing schools. She felt that this percentage was not high enough, but that the nursing profession had to be made more attractive to average girl. Scholarships, she said, were certainly a great incentive.

Mrs. Howard MacDonald moved the vote of thanks to the speakers, and Miss C. Wilson presented Col. Smellie with a bouquet of roses. For a musical interlude, Mrs. P. Hooper, accompained by Mrs. Charles Renaud, played a violin solo.

Seniors Present Song Recital

The green room of the Y.W.C.A. was filled Wednesday evening for the song recital presented by the senior pupils of Olive Searles, A.T.C.M. Wartime Orders Bewilders British People

BY ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 3 — (CP) — If things keep on and the government continues to issue controlling orders there's no telling what will happen to the British people.

Some have become completely converted to life by order. Others live in terror of unwittingly breaking one or another order.

But others detest orders. These are the ones who suggest that the business of life by order may even lead in the end to a crazy inefficient state of society entirely inimical to the ordinary free-minded citizen who has a great hate in his heart for orders.

In Britain today there is little enough anybody can do that is not controlled by government order.

A baker, a man of iniative who thought he'd dress up his doughnuts, had sugar for them, just enough, but he held some of it back to sprinkle on top.

They turned out just dandy. But he was brought before a Magistrate and fined. An order forbids embellishing cakes in this manner because it uses up extra sugar, even though in this case the sugar had been saved from the doughnut ration.

The courts have become cluttered with petty cases resulting from order-breakers while the informer is living these days in a sort of paradise where he can count almost daily on some new order on which to catch his fellows.

Better Stay in Bed.

There is the story of the girl who came into possession of a slaughtered pig. She kept it on a small-holding instead of at her home, and was fined. It didn't matter that her home was just a room.

Then there was the man who drew a fine for giving a piece of pork to his daughter, and four farmers who were summoned for not signing their identity cards, an act which probably millions have neglected. The judge discharged them when he found he hadn't signed his card either.

The situation prompted Lord Caldecote, Lord Chief Justice of England, to refer to the "multitudinous and complicated wartime regulations and say of those who break them: 'There, but for the Grace of God, go we.'"

If you want always to be within the law it's really dangerous from the time you get up until you go to bed. If the ligh shines through the window into the early morning darkness look out. After shaving, don't leave the tap running or the bathroom light on. Don't use more than five inches of water in the bath. And if the toast is burned, don't throw it out. The paper read, don't burn it up or use it to wrap garbage in.

It's really easier if you do not get up at all.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

BABY IS MOTHER'S OWN CARE

Has No Right to Leave It With Grandma or Neighbor While She Goes To Work.

DEAR MISS DIX—In my neighborhood there are several young mothers who have drafted me as nurse for their children. Every afternoon they dress themselves up, dump their young ones on me, and go shopping and to the movies. And I am sick and tired of it. I have reared four children without calling for the help of my friends and relatives and acquaintances, and I think they should do the same.

I am a middle-aged woman, not very well. I do my own housework and I like to spend my afternoons resting, reading, or working in my garden. But I can't do it when I have a lot of crying babies to look after, and restless kids to keep out of my flower-beds. I have tried hints in vain. What can I do to rid myself of these little pests? I don't want the job of nursemaid at my age.

TIRED NEIGHBOR.

Baby Is Mother's Responsibility

ANSWER—You will have to stiffen up your backbone and frankly tell these young women who have shifted their burdens on to your shoulders that you are not running a free creche, and that they will either have to stay at home and take care of their own youngsters, or else send them to a day nursery. Certainly you are very foolish to permit yourself to be victimized by your selfish neighbors.

A woman's babies are her own individual responsibility. She brought them into the world and it is her duty to look after them. That it is an arduous task does not alter the situation. That she gets worn out following restless little feet that are never still; that the ceaseless cry of M-a-m-a gets on her nerves; that she gets bored to extinction with changing didies and fixing formulas; that she is young and craves amusement and excitement, and that she wants to dress herself up and go out and see and be seen, is easy to understand. It is only in books that babies are a wellspring of joy, as the poet says. In real life they are a 24-hour job at hard labor.

But, all the same, that does not give a mother the right to wish them off on Grandma, or any kind neighbor, while she goes off to enjoy herself. And Grandma and the kind neighbor are simply chumps not to stage a rebellion.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—When I was 17 I married a boy of 20 and we were together only five months before he went into the service. I don't know whether it was the Navy or women, in general, who changed him, but now he says that while he loves me he also loves other girls and thinks he has a right to go around with them. He tells me the details of his affairs with them and when I get sore he says: "Isn't it better to be honest and frank about it?"

I can't stand it any more, so shall I divorce him before he leaves for overseas or wait until he comes back?

MRS. JAMES B.

Time May Rekindle Love

ANSWER—You will have to settle the divorce question for yourself. Something is to be said on both sides of the question. If you are absolutely certain that there is no chance of salvaging your marriage and making a go of it and you have determined to get a divorce, you should tell your husband so before he goes overseas so that he will not cherish the vain hope of coming back to a loving wife and a home.

On the other hand, if you put off getting a divorce until after the war, you may find that absence has made the heart grow fonder and you may want him back after all. And the discipline of war and the sobering experiences he will have gone through may have made him see how wrong and foolish his conduct was in running around with other girls, and made him realize that you are really the ONLY ONE.

At any rate a man who expects his wife to enjoy hearing the details of his affairs with other women has little intelligence and knowledge of life.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a 15-year-old schoolgirl and want to use lip stick and cosmetics. My father objects to it, but he says I may do it if you approve of it. What do you think?

ADELE.

ANSWER—I see no objection to your using cosmetics, provided you do it artistically. Go to a beauty shop and get them to show you how to put on your make-up.

C.C.F. Faces Test Next June In Saskatchewan

By GEORGE FINLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA, May 3.— (CP).— First important test of the C.C.F. since the Ontario election last August is looked for in Saskachewan in June, when Premier Patterson's Liberal administration, with 38 members in the 52-seat House, seeks return to office.

Administration of relief, standby election issue of the drough-depression years, has been superseded by discussion of plan for post-war recontruction. Wartime prosperity, born of recent good crops and high prices in Canada's biggest grain-producing province, has changed the pictures.

The Liberal government's program calls for expenditure of $100,000,000 on public buildings, highways soil surveys and other agricultural projects. Liberal spokesmen claim that a C.C.F. win would mean a "policy of regimentation."

C.C.F. speakers call for a new economic order and the Progressive Conservatives for a chance in the Liberal administrative policy. But the lines will not be clear until the party manifestoes are issues, probably shortly after tre election writs are issued.

Contest Every Riding

The service vote will be taken on a basis unique in Canada though complete details have not been announced. Three additional members will be elected to the Legislature, representing Saskatchewan voters in the Forces—one for Canada, one for Great Britain and one for the Mediterranean. Service personnel in the province on voting day will vote in the constituency where they are stationed.

Forecasts place the likely election date at mid-June, just six years after the last election of June 9, 1938.

The C.C.F. which had 10 members in the last House, proposes to contest every constituency. Rev. T. C. Douglas, 40-year-old leader, will resign as federal member for Wesburn to contest a provincial seat. The Social Credit party, which ran 39 candidates in 1938 and elected two, will not be a challenge, but will have candidiates "where there is a demand."

The line-up of the last house is completed by two unity members, with five seats vacant.

The Progressive Conservatives go into the fight under a new leader, 44-year-old Rupert D. Ramsay, Professor of Agriculture at the University of Saskatchewan.

Plan 400 Passenger Plane For After War To Transport People Across Atlantic Ocean

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 3—(AP)—The AW-Commanding wooden skeleton of a post-war dream plane—a 400-passenger liner that will cruise over the Atlantic in peace days to come—was previewed by aviation writers here.

The craft was displayed in full-scale wooden fuselage design at the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. plant. The new plane, known as Consolidated Model 37, will not be built until after the war. Then it is intended to fly from New York to London non-stop with ample fuel reserves to reach alternate airfields on the European continent.

Model 37 has a wingspan of more than 200 feet. It will be powered by six huge Pusher engines. The fuselage, of an amazing length, is built in two levels.

Henry Growald, project engineer for the plane, said 16 major companies and about 400 other companies are contributing to the design and contemplated production.

Except for the fact that its Pusher-type propellers are on the trailing edge of the wing, Model 37 is of conventional design.

Lamb Stuing

In Norway it's "STUING" . . . in Canada it's "stew". But regardless of its name, it's delicious, when made according to this new wartime recipe.

Brown 3 cups of cooked lamb, cut in pieces, in 1 tablespoon of fat and place in a greased baking dish. Add 1 cup of cooked, cubed carrots, 1 cup of cooked potato balls and 8 small, cooked onions. Mix 1 tablespoon of H. P. Sauce with leftover gravy and combine with meat and vegetables. Add enough hot water to moisten. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover and bake in a hot oven about 400 degrees for about 25 minutes.

Buy a bottle of H. P. Sauce today and try this recipe. H.P., that grand, English type sauce, adds a wonderful flavour also to meats, fish, salads, fowl and sandwiches.

An estate can seldom if ever, make good any losses; it is not like a profitable business, which can repair its position. For this reason among others you need an executor who knows from experience what steps to take and what mistakes to avoid. This trust company has been administering estates for over sixty years; you can rely on its methods and judgment as your executor.

Keene Auction Raises $40,300

Pledges to buy War Bonds totaling $40,300 were made at the fourth and last of the farm auctions sponsored by the National War Finance Committee in the Village of Keene on Tuesday night. The figure topped by $800 the high recorded at Norwood the previous night. All told, $129,250 in bond subscriptions have been obtained by means of these auctions in the Sixth Victory Loan.

Once again the hall where the auction was held was crowded to the doors, and Graydon Sheldon's Orchestra, along with several popular entertainers, contributed their services voluntarily to add to the fun and frolic of the evening.

For a pair of horse clippers $6,500 as paid in bond pledges, while a Brinton carpet brought $6,000. One hundred chicks, purchased for $3,000, were put up for auction again by their winner and brought an additional $1,000.

Brisk for the most part as the total subscriptions collected amply indicate, bidding at one time, when Gordon Hancock, the auctioneer, was offering a hay fork to the audience, subsided to the vanishing point. Not to be defeated, Mr. Hancock immediately threw in a half-day's labor to go with the fork from two of the auctions' organizers, Andy Rutter, McDonnel Street, and Garth Braund, Aylmer Street. This changed the picture considerably, and the fork then sold for $600.

Approval Given To Changing Of Bus Stops

As a means o improving traffic convenience and safety, several changes in the bus stops at George and Simcoe Streets, as recommended by the Legal and Transportation Committee, and approved by the Council, will become effective when the new signs are painted.

The changes affect only the present stands on George Street, which are respectively to be moved forward to the opposite corners.

The buses now stopping at Zellers Limited will cross Simcoe St. to Kresge's. And on the east side of the street, the buses stopping in front of the Dominion Bank will continue to the north side of Simcoe Street in front of Payne's drug store and the Chesler shoe store.

The changes in the "no parking" signs are proposed as follows: "The sign on the east side of George street be placed 100 feet north from the north side of Simcoe Street, and the sign on the west side of George Street be placed 100 feet south from the south side of Simcoe Street, on George Street."

The committee conceived an improvement for traffic if the buses were pushed along the street one hundred feet, instead of crowding up to the corner and reducing the angles of vision.

The Sands committee also recommended that an account from Ira Althouse for $9 repairs to his automobile be paid. A wheel and front axle were bent in a hole near the C.G.E. Albert Street curb by springtime settling of surface drain dug two years ago.

Council also approved the recommendation that a by-law be passed prohibiting in any way the erection of private tourist camps within the boundaries of the city.

Parks Committee

Proposals of the Parks Committee which were approved:

That Alderman Curtis, the City Engineer, and Mr. Burgess be authorized to make inquiries regarding the purchase of digging equipment and report.

That the Civic Arena Committee be informed that the committee is in favor of having the arena used as a community centre for the introduction of all sports, carnivals, and conventions.

That a letter be written to the Cities Service Oil Company informing them that the renewal of the agreement between the City of Peterborough and the Shell Oil Company is being considered and that one of the terms of this agreement is that the gate leading to their property must be kept closed and that unless the city can have some guarantee from the Cities Service Oil Company that this proviso is observed the agreement will not be renewed.

That the men of the Board of Works be paid at the same rate as the men on the garbage collection system when working on the garbage collection system.

After-Church Series Of Services Concluded

The last of a series of thirty after-church evangelistic services sponsored by the Peterborough Christian Business Men's Committee was held last Sunday evening with the Regent Theatre filled to capacity. Fred May, a Toronto business man, was the speaker and the soloist. Mr. May brought several instruments and demonstrated his ability to bring out wonderful harmony from all. With the piano accordion he led the audience in many old-time favorite hymns, the singing of those present showing they responded to the influence of a master musician especially when the tunes chosen were Gospel melodies learned by many in childhood and youth. The solovox and the theremin (an instrument played without the touch of a human hand) were also played with skill and ability.

Mr. May in his address referred to the text John 3, 16, so often referred to as the great Gospel text of the New Testament, but in his humble opinion there was another text that seemed to wrap up the Gospel story even more completely, Timothy 1, 15: "This is a faithful saying worthy of all acceptation that Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners." "To-day the world is doing much thinking, trying to reason out why it is in such a sorry plight," but as the speaker pointed out, it is more believing and less thinking that we need today. "I may not understand all that is involved in the statement 'Ye must be born again,' but I believe it to be true. It is not my church or your church that will save you; it is Calvary. Paul told us that 'I am determined not to know anything among you save Christ and Him crucified.' Intelligent acceptance of the story of His birth, His life and His death is not enough. We must trust Him and take Him at his word completely. The world says we will not have this Man to reign over us if we are truly saved we will give Him complete control over our lives," Mr. May said.

During the evening the secretary-treasurer of the committee gave a brief financial report covering the work done from October 1 to April 23, 1944. It is expected the meetings wil be resumed early in the fall. During the summer months the committee expects to conduct similar meetings in the towns and villages adjacent to Peterborough. The first will be held on May 14 at Millbrook. Special reference was made to the outstanding help Ashton Fife has given to the success of these meetings by his playing the piano. The committee is very grateful. The next meeting to be held in Peterborough, sponsored by the C.B.M.C., will be in George Street United Church on July 16 at 11 a.m., when R. G. LeTorneau the chairman of the International C.B.M.C., will be the speaker.

Prizes Awarded For Best Photos

A competition for amateur photographers, suggested as a means of obtaining desirable pictures of the city for booklet illustrations and other purposes, was approved by the council Monday night in adopting the report of the manufacturers committee read by Alderman Bradburn.

The motion follows: "That the chairman (Alderman Bradburn) be authorized to secure photographs of the city as may be deemed necessary for publication in a booklet to be printed at a later date; that a competition be held inviting amateur photographers to submit pictures and negatives of places of interest in and around the city, that a fund of fifty dollars be provided for prizes; that the following be asked to act as judges: R. Faryon, D. G. H. Melton and Horace Steggles; pictures and negatives submitted to be the property of the city, and the time for receiving such entries to expire on July 31, 1944."

Photographers were reported to be busy with other work and to be hampered by a crimp in supplies, with a result that it was not as easy as formerly to obtain professional work. As an expected means of tapping another source the amateur competition was suggested. Pictures of industries, parks water scenes, street scenes and so on, the kind of striking photographs that would reflect in a booklet some of the attractions of Peterborough. It was felt that negatives might be stored for use if needed at some later time.

Property Committee

The report of the property committee by Alderman Swanston, chairman, was also adopted, including the following:

That the city treasurer be instructed to bill those persons living outside the city whose garbage is collected by the city at the rate of $6 per year, these accounts being payable yearly in advance.

That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare an amendment to the building by-law prohibiting the erection in the City of Peterborough of all buildings of wooden construction for commercial purposes.

That a committee composed of the chairman of this committee, the city engineer and the city assessor be appointed to make recommendations for amendments to the building by-law covering the construction of private dwellings, having regard to the location of the dwellings on the lots.

That the chairman of this committee be authorized to purchase a Plymouth sedan from Gillespie garage at a price of $1,600 for use in the garbage collection department.

That accounts for shoeing the horses in the garbage collection department, and any other horse accounts, be paid on the certificates of the chairman of this committee and the superintendent of the garbage collection department.

That W. F. Hetherington be granted permission to use the city lot west of 191 King street for gardening purposes for one year unless it is required either by the city or is sold.

That the chairman of this committee be authorized to advertise for sale the smoke stack and the old incinerator building in whatever periodicals he deems best for this purpose.

That the city solicitor be instructed to draw a new lease of the bus barn property in favor of the Peterborough Bus Lines, the term of this lease to coincide with the term of the company's franchise.

That the chairman of this committee be authorized to call for tenders for the supplying of coal for the winter season 1944-45 for all buildings under the council's management.

That the council grant a new lease to George Kent for certain property along the right-of-way of the Canadian National Railway Company between Sophia and James street at an annual rent of $1, this lease to be terminated at the pleasure of the council.

Courage Galore

IPSWICH, May 3—(CP)—Twelve British Tommies and a 75-year-old woman risked death to rescue the crew of a United States bomber that crashed in Suffolk. The Fortress, carrying a full bomb load, crashed near the cottage of Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, wife of a farm laborer. She cared for the injured airmen as they were brought from the burning plane by the soldiers. One, the most injured, she half-carried to her kitchen shelter, while the frail cottage rocked with explosions.

Expensive Error

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 3.—(CP).—Mrs. Mary Hardwig, Los Angeles has filed a $500,000 damage suit against the South Hoover Hospital charging that attendants told her that her baby born April 27, 1943, was a boy, but upon arrival home she discovered the child was a girl. The doctor who delivered the baby said in a deposition he made a mistake in the baby's sex when it was born.

READING A DOUBLE

AN INFORMATIVE or takeout double of one major suit indicates almost positively that the doubler has strength in the other major. That should not be forgotten by the partner of the doubler if his side winds up on the defensive. He should generally base his defensive play on the idea that the doubler is ready for a lead of that major suit.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East

After that short, sharp, incisive bidding, West opened his club K and, seeing the danger of ruffs in the dummy, switched to a trump. South then finessed the diamond Q. The diamond A and ruff of a diamond set up the rest of that suit, on which two spades were parked. That left South only one loser in spades, so he made his contract plus an extra trick.

What an easy contract for East to set! If he had been on his toes, he would have overtaken his partner's Club K lead with the A and then fired back the spade J, with full confidence that his partner's honors, indicated by the double, would raise hob with anything South had in the suit. If he had done that, three spade tricks would have come in quick succession, just as quick as was the bidding, and the declarer would have been wrecked before he got started.

Dr. H. A. Bruce Criticizes Faith Healing

OTTAWA, May 3.—(CP).—Dr. H. A. Bruce (PC-Toronto Parkdale), in a criticism of Christian Science practices, objected to-day at a meeting of the Commons Social Security committee to public funds being made available to Christian Science practitioners under the government-proposed health insurance plan.

Dr. Bruce also threatened to withdraw from the committee if a suggestion of the chairman, Hon. Cyrus MacMillan (L-Queens), that his remarks should be made in camera was enforced.

After a 45-minute discussion, Dr. Bruce was permitted to make a 10-minute statement. He said the Christian Science viewpoint had been presented by J. W. Fulton of Toronto at an open meeting and had received "considerable publicity" and that the reply also should be made in an open meeting.

In support of his argument for an open hearing, Dr. Bruce said Mr. Fulton's claim that there had not been a prosecution in Canada in 25 years against a follower of the Christian Science faith was "untrue." Dr. Bruce cited the case of a prosecution in Manitoba in 1925.

A definite procedure was followed by practitioners to avoid prosecutions under the criminal code.

"If a patient is very ill and about to die a medical practitioner is called in and he signs the death certificate,' Dr. Bruce said. "Then it does not come before a court."

"Then the doctor is liable," said C. E. Johnston (SC-Bow River).

"I think the doctor acts improperly in such a case,' Dr. Bruce replied.

Protect Taxpayer.

"We should protect the taxpayer against paying out money for the kind of treatment some of us believe has no value and, I might say, against fraud," he went on.

"If any individuals are willing to pay their healers for "so-called treatment, well and good, but I object to them receiving public funds," he said at another point.

In his formal reply to Mr. Fulton's statement, Dr. Bruce said the matter was not one of religion because priests of all faiths visited their people when they were ill and pray with them. Christian Science did not rely on prayer, but on a repetition of a formula introduced by its founder, Mary Baker Eddy.

Dr. Bruce quoted from a volume based on a survey of Christian Science practices in the United States which claimed that it was, from a medical standpoint, a "cruel failure" and led to suffering and death in many cases.

From his own experience as a medical man, he related the case of a woman of 60 suffering from cancer who had no medical treatment until her friends insisted when the disease had reached an advanced stage.

Lull Remains Along Soviet Front

Localized Fighting Wipes Out 600 Nazi Soldiers

LONDON, May 4—(CP)—In sharp, localized fighting Russian troops killed 600 Germans in crumpling Nazi attacks southeast of Stanislawow and south of Tiraspol yesterday, but elsewhere on the eastern front the prolonged lull in operations remained unbroken, Moscow announced today.

Eight enemy tanks and two self-propelled guns were burned out or disabled in the fighting near Stanislawow, a town in the southeast corner of old Poland, the war bulletin said, adding that 400 Germans were wiped out there.

Attempting to recover lost positions south of Tiraspol, 50 miles northwest of Odessa on the Dnestr River, the Germans were met by heavy fire from Soviet troops and forced to make a hurried retreat, the communique said.

A Romania communique broadcast by the Bucharest radio reported heavy fighting in the Targu-Frumos area about 35 miles west of Iasi, where important oil fields are located, and declared that sharp Russian attacks had been repelled. About 160 Soviet "fighting vehicles were knocked out, the communique said.

The Soviet war bulletin made no mention of activity in that sector, however.

Widespread Russian air raids on Tuesday night and early yesterday were listed in the communique which said long-range Soviet planes hit German troop trains concentrated at the junctions of Lwow and Sambor in Poland, while other Russian bombers struck airfields in the areas of Lwow, Stanislawow and Roman in Romania, 37 miles west of Iasi.

The Lwow raid, the second in succession on the city, started about 20 fires, including five particularly large ones, acompanied by explosions, the Russians said.

A Moscow dispatch pictured the Germans and Romanians in besieged Sevastopol as putting up a fierce resistance and using all the guns they had saved in their retreat through the Crimea. Eventual annihilation of this pinned-in force was predicted as their supplies become exhausted

Haida's Skipper Awarded D.S.O.

The citation said Cmdr. de Wolf, who directed from the bridge of H.M.C.S. Haida during the flaming battles received the award "for gallantry and leadership as senior officer."

The Haida joined with her sister Canadian Tribal class destroyer Ashanti and the new British cruiser Black Prince in the destruction of a German destroyer last Wednesday. One of the new Elbing class, the German ship was sunk at the western end of the English Channel.

Within three days the Athabaskan was sunk and the Haida not only figured in the rescue of survivors but quickly avenged the loss of her sister ship by forcing the German ship to be beached in flames.

British Troops Beat Off Japanese Attacks

KANDY, Ceylon, May 4 — (CP). —Allied troops have repulsed a series of Japanese raids in the vicinity of the Indian frontier base of Kohima and have successfully beaten off two enemy counter-attacks in Northern Burma, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Headquarters annonuced to-day.

On the southern end of the Burmese front, meanwhile, a communique said, the Allies now are in firm possession of high ground overlooking the Maungdaw-Buthedaung road, for which the aJpanese have been battling with great determination.

"Near Buthedaung the Japanese, who had penetrated one of our positions, were driven out in a counter-attack supported by the tanks," the bulletin said.

No change was reported in the situation around the Indian base of Imphal, 60 mile s south of Kohima, on which the Japanese invaders have been maintaining pressure.

The communique said R.A.F. medium bombers destroyed a "U-boat" with depth charges which they had sighted last Tuesday in the Indian Ocean southwest of Socotra. This British island is some 200 miles off the coast of Italian Somaliland. It forms part of the Aden Protectorate and formerly was a British coaling station.

In North Burma Chinese forces successfully repulsed a Japanese counter-attack at Manpin 32 miles northwest of Modaung and east of the Modaung river, the war bulletin said, adding that severe casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

A surprise Japanese attack at Warinkaung, south of Tiangzup, also was driven off, the communique said.

Curtin Wants Empire Secretariat

Would Keep Empire Better Informed On Major Questions

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, May 4 — (CP Cable). — Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia renewed his proposal for an Empire secretariat here to-day, and asserted if all the component parts of the Commonwealth failed to agree on it he would proceed with those that did.

Speaking to a press conference, he said the British Foreign Office was well informed on European affairs, but in some cases European developments led to a war which, when one part of the Commonwealth was involved, meant involving all the other parts. Therefore, he believed the Empire should more he believed the Empire should be more fully informed than under the present system.

Asked what would happen if all components failed to agree on the formation of the secretariat, which he first urged last year, Mr. Curtin said: "I'll go on with what I can get. If I can't have four brethren but can have three, then three is better than none."

Mr. Curtin was asked if that meant he had in mind, if necessary, a secretariat representing less than all the Dominions, he replied that was something for all to decide whether such would be worth while.

"But," he added, "I believe in the principal of an editorial board—that an editorial board is better than an editor sitting alone."

He drew attention to the fact that on an editorial board the editor decided things if a dispute rose. However, Mr. Curtin had no answer to a question who would be the editor in the hypothetical case he posed in this instance.

Mr. Curtin said consultation between the Commonwealth components was much better since the war started and he hoped it would im-

Paper Predicts Major Offensive

NAPLES, May 4—(AP).—Imminent, large-scale operations in Italy are predicted by both the newspaper Il Corriere of Naples, and enemy sources.

Il Corriere, despite the routine censorship restrictions forbidding speculation as to future operations, said there was "feverish activity" in Italy in preparation for major operations, and predicted that attacks in this theatre would coincide with invasion of western Europe and a new Russian offensive.

The German-controlled Rome radio claimed the Allies in Italy "are continually receiving support in men and means. These preparations are on an unusual scale and show clearly that the enemy command intends to launch a new attack. The preliminary phase would appear to be over."

MAJ.-GEN. H. MURCHIE

General Murchie Named Chief Of Staff

OTTAWA, May 4 (CP) — Maj.-Gen. J. C. Murchie, C.B.E., 46, of Ottawa, Vice Chief of the Canadian General Staff has been appointed Chief of Staff with the rank of Acting Lieutenant-General Defence Minister Ralston announced today.

Lt.-Gen. Murchie succeeds Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, 52, of Kingston, Ont., who will concentrate on his recent appointment as Chief of Staff at Canadian Military Headquarters in London.

The Defence Headquarters announcement did not elaborate but a military spokesman said the appointment meant a division of authority, with Gen. Murchie responsible for forces in North America and Gen. Stuart responsible for forces overseas.

Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, 56, Hamilton, is commander of the First Canadian Army and will lead this army in the invasion. It is made up of a Canadian Corps—believed to be in command of Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, 40, Kingston, Ont.—and possibly British formations.

Canada's other overseas force is the Canadian Corps under Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, 46, of Ottawa, now fighting in Italy.

Gen. Murchie went overseas in January, 1941, and served as Brigadier, General Staff, to for upwards of a year at Canadian Military Headquarters, London. He was called back to Canada in 1942 to assume the position of Vice Chief of the General Staff with the rank of Major General and for nearly two years served in that post.

Huge Night Flying Armadas Smash Mailly, Bucharest Americans Raid Netherlands

20th Consecutive Day Of Aerial Attacks Damages Axis Holdings At Vital Spots Behind Atlantic Wall

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 4—(AP).—American heavy bombers, blasting at Hitler's waning air power in the 20th consecutive day of pre-invasion aerial assaults, today followed up heavy R.A.F. night assaults on Europe by bombing a German airfield in the Netherlands. The new blows by American heavy bombers coincided with morning attacks by both British and American bombers on German anti-invasion installations in northern France.

They fell only a few hours after two great armadas of night-flying R.A.F. bombers hit targets in Bucharest from bases in Italy and the big military depot of Mailly southeast of Reims from British bases.

The Canadian bomber group did not participate in last night's operations but many Canadians flew in R.A.F. squadrons.

250 In Swoop.

A preliminary U.S. announcement indicated that today's bomber formation which slammed explosives into the airfield somewhere in the Netherlands probably numbered less than 250 planes. It made no mention of fighter escort.

Nevertheless, the combined assault by this stream-lined force and the lighter bombers brought to around 6,000 tons the weight of bombs loosed on the Continent by something like 1,750 bombers last night and today.

Not a single plane was lost from the morning American medium bomber attacks on numerous installations in northern France, and R.A.F. and American fighter pilots who escorted them said such vast clouds of smoke and dust arose from the targets that they were unable to estimate the damage inflicted.

American fighters, making a sweep over the Hanover and Brunswick areas of Germany while the heavy bombers were over the Netherlands, saw only one German plane—which was shot down promptly by Capt. Frank O'Connor, of San Francisco.

Airmen back from northern France encountered no fighters, but reported heavy flak over the targets.

The R.A.F. heavy bombers which flew from British bases in bright moonlight met fierce German fighter opposition, the Air Ministry announced, and 49 planes failed to return from the operations, which included an attack on the often-battered western German chemical centre of Ludwigshafen.

In addition to Mailly, other French targets hit by the British bombers were aircraft stores and equipment at Montdidier, 23 miles southeast of Amiens, and an ammunition dump at Chateaudun, about 30 miles northeast of Orleans. The Air Ministry said that "several enemy aircraft" were destroyed by gunners on the bombers.

The 49 bombers lost last night constituted the largest R.A.F. loss since the record of 96 on the March 30 raid on Nurnberg.

While there were no official figures on the number of British-based R.A.F. planes involved in last night's attacks or the bomb tonnage dropped, the communique's announcement that the operations were conducted "in great strength" usually means that a total of around 750 planes took part.

Opposition Fierce

Since the targets were a comparatively short distance from the bombers' home fields it is possible the British planes dropped loads totalling something in the neighborhood of 3,000 (long) tons.

Of the R.A.F. attack fleet was concentrated on the Mailly depot, where the Nazis obviously are piling up stores for use in combatting the coming Allied invasion from the west.

The Germans hurled swarms of their much-needed fighters against the attackers. Returning bomber crewmen said the fighter opposition was as fierce as any met for some time.

Large fires were started and there were some big explosions while the Mailly attack was going on, the air ministry said.

Planes from one base reported shooting down at least two Nazi fighters and damaging a third.

The German radio, in one of the few instances, where it has made claims lower than losses announced by the Allies, said 40 British bombers were shot down.

Tito Bitterly Opposed To King

LONDON, May 4 — (CP) — The leader of a military mission dispatched to London by Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) declared today there was no possibility of an agreement being reached between the Yugoslav National Liberation Council and King Peter until the war is over.

Young Maj.-Gen. Vladimir Velevit spoke bitterly of the king and his government and asserted neither he nor his mission would have anything to do with them during his stay in England.

"There is no chance that we will have any agreement with the king," he said. "It has been laid down by our council that only the people in a free election after the war can decide they want a monarchy."

The General declared that Gen. Draja Mihailovic, War Minister in King Peter's cabinet, was the number one enemy of Tito's forces, even before Milan Nedic, the Yugoslav puppet Premier.

"Mihailovic has been fighting on the side of the Germans against us," he declared firmly. "King Peter's government has decorated the very men who are fighting against us and who therefore are fighting against the Allies. How can we be expected to deal with such people?"

The General also expressed hatred for the Anti Pavelic's Croatian Ustashi Army of about 20,000 and said that when one is taken prisoner "we put him before a court and then shoot him."

Detective Lieutenant Vincent Hastings said Isidore V. Company investigators said they have been trailing Wolfsohn for 20 years.

Canadians Must Invest Daily Forty Millions

OTTAWA, May 4 — (CP) — Purchasing $88,251,250 in Bonds yesterday—ninth day of selling in the three week $1,200,000,000 drive—Canadians brought total sales in the Sixth Victory Loan to $641,868,800 at the half way mark.

The cumulative total compares with approximately $643,000,000 which had been reached in the Fifth Victory Loan at the same stage.

On yesterday's total, $33,468,450 came from individual Canadians to bring their total to date to $259,-882,850, much less than half of the $604,000,000 which they purchased in Fifth Victory Loan Bonds.

Large corporate buyers purchased a total of $54,782,800 to reach a cumulative total of $381,986,000. They are a little below 50 per cent of the approximate $779,000,000 they bought some six months ago.

Chairman Appeals

The half-way mark of the loan was signalized by a message to Canadians by Graham F. Towers, Chairman of the National War Finance Committee, urging individual buyers to invest to the limit. Mr. Towers, in an analysis of the figures, said that for the remainder of the canvassing time the individual buyers must reach an average of $40,-000,000 daily to match the total of the Fifth Victory Loan.

As a result of earlier reports received from overseas, the number of purchasers in the present loan, at the half-way mark, was well in excess of the number at the same stage in any previous loan. Yesterday's total of buyers was 154,384, bringing the aggregate to 1,108,237 applications. This compared with the total then, approximately 950,-000.

Armed services activity was featured by the Royal Canadian Navy going over the top with $3,739,100, for 107 per cent. This gave a combined grand total of $33,691,000, including $11,609,700 from the Air Force and $18,342,200 from the Army an amount $240,000 in advance of its record for the whole of the Fifth Victory Loan.

Fear Strike To Spread At Windsor

Call Mass Meeting Friday Night To Discuss Action

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINDSOR, May 4—(CP)—A general strike among members of all Windsor locals of the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO) today appeared a possibility unless an early settlement is reached in the dispute which has placed $14,000 production workers of the Ford Motor Company of Canada in idleness.

President Alex Parent of U.A.W, Local 195, sent a telegram to government and labor officials in Ottawa saying union committeemen and stewards decided last night to call a mass meeting of members Friday night to discuss assistance to the Ford workers. The telegram concluded: "Important if production to continue settlement be reached immediately."

Later a spokesman for the official board of local 195 said every effort would be made at tomorrow night's meeting to convince the members that they should not engage in a sympathy strike. He also issued a statement saying that last night's meeting was informed by George Burt, Canadian U.A.W. director.

That "supporting Ford by striking would result in breaking contracts and will not be supported" by the International Union.

Enemy Must Capture Imphal Before Monsoons Start Or They May Perish

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Japanese invasion of India across the northeast frontier from Burma has developed into a fierce and dangerous race against time —an effort to capture the big Allied base of Imphal and the small neighboring base of Kohima before the Monsoon deluge turns the jungle into a steaming morass about a fortnight hence.

It's a tense situation. The Japanese commander has issued an order of the day saying it is vital that these bases be captured—so important that its achievement might end the war.

The commander's pep-talk is a gross exaggeration, for these captures couldn't be decisive. However, it's true that even possession of Imphal would provide the invaders with headquarters in which they could weather the storm—one of the world's worst—and be ready to strike at Allied communications between India and China when the Monsoon ceases in the Autumn.

Should the Nipponese fail, the entire expedition of some 30,000 men would be in danger of death, if not from the Allies, then from being marooned in the flooded jungle. It would be an army cut off from its base and all supplies.

New Delhi tells us that the British and Indian forces in the Imphal theatre hold sufficient advantage so they may be able to annihilate the Japanese if the enemy does not retreat ahead of the onrushing Monsoon. In any event, the invaders have failed at least for the time being in the two prime objectives of their offensive, namely:—

1. To capture Imphal and use it as a base from which to cut the railway, river and highway communications that run from Bengal through Assam to northeast India and form an integral part of the Chinese life-line.

2. To start a revolution in India by representing that the invasion force was composed largely of Indians marching in the army of freedom, led—so Tokyo has trumpeted—by the Indian traitor, Subhas Chandra Bose.

Actually, the Japanese operation never was a major threat either militarily or politically to India proper. It certainly was a military threat to the all-important Allied communications in the Imphal theatre, but that menace is rapidly receding.

The Japanese invasion was a daring gamble but it wasn't without reason. The Burmese back-door to China is a vital part of Nippon's total defence against the Allied offensive which is closing in from all directions. It is the direct route between China and India—and India is not only the greatest Allied base in the east but it is the arsenal of the Orient.

Quebec Revises Text Books

Member Raps Chaloult For Speech

QUEBEC, May 4 (CP)—Appointment of a commission to revise all school text books in Quebec province, was announced in the legislative assembly by Provincial Secretary Hector Perrier last night following a discussion on education between Mr. Perrier and Rene Chaloult, Nationalist member for Lotbiniere.

The debate was touched off by Mr. Chaloult's motion calling for tabling of correspondence dealing with revision of text books. The motion was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Chaloult quoted from text books used in the province, with particular reference to a geography which, he said, stated that "there are two official languages in Canada because Canada was colonized by the French and Canada now belongs to England."

The Lotbiniere member protested against "such errors" and added that Canada "is a Canadian country, belongs to Canadians only and is constitutionally independent and free." He said that after the war Canada should join the Pan-American Union, because "we are closer to South American countries" and there was nothing to stop Canada from breaking away from Great Britain.

Mr. Perrier said he "deplored" the errors reported by Mr. Chalout but added "there are things worse than certain text book errors to cause disunion and I protest against certain people who preach hatred and disunion and try to spread the false statement that we belong to England."

Say All Soldiers Can Vote

Parties Agree Age Should Be No Bar

OTTAWA, May 4—(CP).—Canadian political parties are agreed that any Canadian considered old enough to wear the King's uniform is old enough to vote, but some party members hesitate to agree that the vote should be extended to all civilians 18 years of age instead of 21 as at present.

The Ontario section of the C.C.F., at a recent annual convention, suggested 18 years be the minimum age for voters.

C.C.F. national officials in Ottawa said party's opinions was that all Canadians should be entitled to vote at 18, for if they were "old enough to risk their lives for democracy, they are old enough to take part in the fundamental process of democracy."

Liberal spokesmen said that at a national convention of Young Liberals being held in Winnipeg on May 29 and 30, the ages of those attending will be from 18 to 30 years instead of "from 21 years up."

They suggested that this was "significant" in indicating the party's attitude towards votes for those of 18 years.

Progressive Conservative spokesmen said they agreed thoroughly with the present provision that any person, irrespective of age, should be entitled to vote if he or she were serving in the armed forces.

Post-War Survey Reveals Rosy Picture

TORONTO, May 4 (CP)—A recent survey conducted in the twin Ontario cities of Kitchener and Waterloo indicates that during the first two years after the defeat of Japan there will be 146 more jobs than workers in that area, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce reported today.

But the survey, carried out jointly by Kitchener-Waterloo Boards of Trade, quoted businessmen as saying they anticipate their post-war payrolls will be "reduced below 1943 payrolls by something like one-sixth," although sales are expected to be within 1½ per cent of last year.

In its concluding chapter, the survey said:

"If . . . the percentage of payroll expenses to gross income from scales is appreciably larger than that which these firms expect, their opportunities for providing employment in this (two-year post-war) period may be less than they now believe."

This survey now is in the hands of the printers and will be made public in full soon, the Chamber of Commerce said in its summary issued today. Aim of the Kitchener-Waterloo study was to provide factual information as a basis for post-war planning, and the estab-

Suspend Sentence On Assault Count

Echoes of a neighborhood battle in the Park Hill Road division of Housing were heard in police court this morning when Mrs. Ruth Hesmond, Park Street north, was found guilty of assaulting Mrs. Evelyn Abraham.

Mrs. Hesmond was allowed to go on suspended sentence on payment of the witness fees, amounting to $4.50.

Thomas Abraham, husband of the complainant told of Mrs. Hesmond coming to the door of their place, and after some words over a garment she had lent Mrs. Abraham, striking his wife in the face with her fist and then running away.

Mrs. Abraham told a similar story and W. J. Tranter, a painter who had been working in the neighborhood said that he had seen a woman come to the Abraham door and later strike Mrs. Abraham, after which she had run away.

Mrs. Hesmond admitting striking the other woman but said that she had done so because of a vile expression she said had been used by Mrs. Abraham. She swore that Mrs. Abraham had then chased her and had thrown a stone at her which struck her on the leg.

Magistrate Langley registered a conviction, pointing out that the accused had been in the wrong.

In her annual report to the society, Miss Rachael Young, superintenent, stressed the problems of juvenile delinquency and of unwanted children. Speaking of the former, she said that a great deal of work towards improving the situation had been done by men's service clubs, but that supervised recreation would be the only lasting solution. In the latter case, she said that she could see no real solution, since four and one half years of war had weakened marriage ties; and children were a burden to a woman who, because of misunderstanding and loneliness, was seeking other friendships.

Another group of children with which Miss Young dealt in some detail were those 14 and 16 years of age, who were starting to work. She felt that work or home permits should not be issued until the child had shown ability to accept the responsibilities of employment. "Too many of these youngsters under 16 who are working, are wandering from job to job—some not adequate for the job, others failing to find the romance they expected and looking for greener fields," her report read.

A total of 578 families came to the attention of the society during the year, an increase of 9 per cent over the previous year. She described some of the problems to be met when a child is admitted to the shelter, and outlined the steps taken to teach him to re-adjust himself to a normal life. The thanks of all members of the board was voiced by Miss Young, when she told of the kind gifts of time and effort, and treats for the children, given by interested persons, many of them board members.

The financial statement showed a net expenditure of $530.36 over the revenue during 1943-44. The capital account of the society shows a balance of $25,057.36, after the addition of a legacy from the estate of M. I. Walker, amounting to $1,000, and the deduction of the expenditure over revenue for the year, and the depreciation on buildings and the car.

The report of the sewing committee at the shelter, submitted by Mrs. G. R. Marshall, convener, showed a total of almost 900 articles, mended, or made over, or newly made. The report thanked all those who had helped in work and in donations, and said that everything was used. Ladies who assisted at various times were Mrs. G. Allison, Mrs. A. Greystock, Mrs. E. Lawrence, Mrs. L. Yeotes, Mrs. J. G. Fanning, Mrs. R. Ross, Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge and Mrs. V. Hamilton.

The matron's report, submitted by Mrs. B. MacMillan, stated that 3,716 days care had been given to 60 different children and that 14,736 meals had been served. Five cases of whooping cough and three cases of measles were reported, and two severe cases of infectious diseases. All children have attended school and Sunday School regularly, and have taken advantage of swimming and other activities offered by the Y.W. and Y.M.C.A's.

A SURPRISING turn of events may result in matters of far reaching returns affecting the fortunes and destinies. This precipitate chain of events may cause a radical uprooting of all the old adventurers, traditions and routine affairs, of an unforeseen and unpredictable nature. Dramatic and thrilling as well as romantic, there is danger of the best and most progressive promises being hampered by an innate tendency to squander the substance, financial and emotional to the disturbance of the highest ambitions. Home, romance and personal social relations claim undue attention.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very exciting and adventurous year. The new, irregular, probably radical and unorthodox, may lure to irregular and unconventional activities, with rash changes and wild extravagances. Funds lavished on social functions, domestic celebrations and other lavish indulgencies may undermine excellent prospects.

A child born on this day may have much originality and creative ability, in arts, science and drama, of exceptional merit and inspiration. Its tendency to reckless expenditures on domestic, social and affectional indulgences may prove its undoing.

Put Victory First

There was no cheering in the office of the National War Finance Committee when reports of the sixth Victory Loan campaign half way mark or for the ninth day came in. The general canvass increased $65,750 and in the county the increase was $55,400.

Smith Township canvassers are setting the pace and have already reached 81.28 per cent of their objective turning in $18,650 for a total to date of $73,150. Gordon Hancock alone reported $14,450.

North Monaghan although well up, the canvassers reported a poor day with only $2,200 while no reports were received from Ennismore or Otonabee.

W. H. Stabier boosted Lakefield's subscription $19,850 or 36.09 per cent. Some $2,000 was added to Havelock's total bringing that village up to 38.93 per cent while Norwood's one sale reported $1,350 to bring total to $20,750 or 35.78 per cent.

Dave Miller and W. Darling of Dummer turned in a good report for a total of $10,050, bringing Dummer's per cent up to 76.5 with $22,950 of the $30,000 objective already secured. There was added to Belmont and Methuen's total $2,150. Douro $6,550. Asphodel $3,850 and Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruthers and Chandos $2,150.

In the city's general canvass the team of A. J. McClellan, Art Cauley and Stan Darling has again taken the lead with total of $62,750. Stan Darling was the top salesman turning in $7,200 for the team's total of $11,250.

In second place are Walter Metheral, Jim Juby and Vic Tully who reported $6,300 for a campaign to date total of $58,450 and in third position are R. Irwin, J. D. Anderson and Fred Revoy with $51,800.

Rufus Payne, Lou Brooks and W. Roberts reported 24 sales for a total of $2,650. Jack Curtis, Bruce Sergent and Jim Harkness 26 sales or $1,850. J. Mackness, George Heron and W. S. Rose had 18 sales for $1,450; S. G. Cole, John Lee and W. P. Kinlin 18 sales for $2,650 and C. A. McFadgen, C. A. Gallagher and A. Smith 10 sales for $800.

Victory Loan headquarters received a story this morning which tends to show the feeling of patriotism on the part of some people. Mrs. Marjorie A. Rendall, mother of two children, works for the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company approximately fifteen and a half hours a week. She looks after the cleaning and polishes floors, but her total hours of employment run just over the fifteen mark. From her small salary, she has managed to buy a $50 Victory Bond every issue.

Are You a Sufferer From Rheumatic Pains?

These pains come from an inflammation in the muscles and are generally caused by a deposit of poison in the blood called uric acid which produces the irritating and painful effect that causes many days and nights heavy with pain.

During the past 60 years Canadian people have found that by purifying the blood stream, Burdock Blood Bitters aids them to enjoy freer body movement with less rheumatic pain, as B. B. B. helps to tone up the system and clear up the uric acid in the blood, and probably help fortify the system against future attacks.

Curtin Wants

prove after the war.

Australia Satisfied

He hoped also that there would be frequent meetings of Prime Ministers, such as the present gathering.

There should be an intense study of the situation, as it affects the Empire, by a Secretariat so that when governments changed in the Dominions full and well-backgrounded information would be at hand for the incoming leaders, he said.

Mr. Curtin answered questions after reading a statement saying Australia was satisfied with the Churchill-Roosevelt decision to prosecute the Pacific war with the same vigor as the European conflict and was grateful to the United States and Britain for aid in men and supplies in the 1941-42 crisis.

Mr. Curtin met British, Dominion and foreign correspondents in the first of a series of conferences being arranged with prime ministers attending the commonwealth prime ministers meeting. Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand will be heard tomorrow.

On general strategy, the Australian prime minister said his government accepted the 1941 Churchill-Roosevelt decision to defeat Germany first but felt with a relatively small additional effort in the Pacific the Japanese could be prevented from dangerous consolidation. Hence there was satisfaction with the "ultimate decision" for equal vigor in both war theatres.

Mr. Curtin gave these highlights of his country war effort: Australia has more than 40 per cent of her male labor force in the armed forces or in direct war work; one of every two men between 18 and 40 is in the forces; the country has suffered 74,000 battle casualties; reverse lend-lease reach $3,000,000,000 or one-sixth of Australia's total war expenditure this year.

Councils Keep Hospital Open At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 4 (ENS) —The Campbellford Hospital has received "a shot in the arm" that will probably keep it going, at least temporarily. At a meeting attended jointly by the entire councils of Campbellford and Seymour, as well as local doctors and dentists, a subsidy amounting to approximately $75 monthly was assured the hospital management.

Considerable discussion proceeded actual passage of a motion making the grant, and Mayor F. F. Long occupied the position of chairman in the group of twenty men, all of whom were convinced every effort should be made to prevent its closing. That this town was not the only place where hospital difficulties occurred, was shown in the remarks of Dr. H. B. Longmore, who recalled that in some Toronto maternity centres it was necessary to order a room seven months in advance. In fact he believed there had actually been several maternity cases brought from Toronto to Campbellford for accommodation. He knew of at least two that had been brought from Peterborough, and Dr. E. A. Stuart who had operated and managed the hospital for the last nine years, verified its place as a maternity centre, stating the stork had paid more than a hundred visits there last year.

Can't Delay

To the suggestion that something of a temporary nature be undertaken and plans for a post war Memorial Hospital deferred, Dr. W. W. Baker pointedly referred to a similar action having been taken during the last war "and were still waiting for something to be done. The trouble is we're looking for something for nothing. Now is the time to take action."

Deputy Reeve Fowlds voiced agreement with this suggestion, declaring, "I think we should go after the government now." Interested in the financial aspects of hospital operation Reeve MacMillan asked, "Why don't hospitals pay their way?" This was answered by Dr. H. B. Longmore who suggested the chief reasons were the large staff required (overhead) and indigent patients whose maintenance costs were not met in full by government and county grants.

Councillor William Duncan of Seymour, expressed the view that if the hospital was extended to government specifications, county and provincial grants would be made. He commended Dr. Stuart for founding the hospital and in his selflessness of operating it at a loss in order to serve the people of Campbellford and Seymour. Mayor Long explained that any grant given by the council was merely designed to make it possible for the hospital to carry on as at present till the war's end.

Not Needed?

"Do we need the hospital at all?" asked Seymour's Deputy Reeve Frank Lee. "There were babies born in this vicinity long before that hospital was heard of, and they probably will continue to be."

Dr. H. B. Longmore answered this saying he had won the race with the stork some fifteen hundred times and never in his experience had it been so difficult for the woman in the house to get any extra help.

Following more discussion Mayor Long asserted he planned to attend the post war planning meeting called by Premier Drew in Toronto and that on his return from that he would call another meeting when a definite program for a post war memorial hospital could be made. Both Seymour and Campbellford councils unanimously supported a motion made by Donald and Fowlds that Campbellford council grant the hospital $25. a month plus free water, light and rent, and that Seymour council grant the hospital the sum of $25. a month. As he had come to the meeting asking for nothing, but at the same time desirous that there should be a hospital in Campbellford, Dr. Stuart made it clear that though he was perfectly willing to cooperate under these new circumstances, it was merely because this appeared as the only alternative to closing it entirely.

Some Canadians To Be Freed

OTTAWA, May 4—(CP)—An External Affairs Department spokesman said today an exchange of war prisoners mentioned in the British Commons by Foreign Secretary Eden is the same one announced here Monday night and is expected to include a small number of Canadians.

Monday night's announcement, coinciding with a statement from Washington, said a further exchange of seriously ill and wounded prisoners and surplus protected personnel —principally medical personnel—is expected to take place at Barcelona, Spain, in the "near future."

The exchange will be the second to be carried out between Canada and Germany in co-operation with Britain and the United States.

30 Girls Begin Work For Garden Contest

COBOURG, May 4 — (ENS) — Thirty girls in the age group of 12 to 26, started their garden brigade activities at a meeting held recently at Grafton. Since they came from the entire front west of Brighton it was decided to call the group the West Northumberland Gardeners. Miss Jean M. Scott of the Women's Institute branch, outlined the culinary side of the project and agricultural representative, Ralph C. Banbury, discussed garden plans.

The Wooler Club, which consists of 15 girls, has been assisted by the donation of seeds and generous prizes by the Couch and Newton Co. of Trenton. The gardens will be judged in July and the exhibit made in September.

Burnbrae YPU Plans To Continue Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, May 4—(ENS) —Burnbrae young people met for monthly session on Tuesday when President Kenneth Milne presided for a varied program which may not be the final one of the season. Unlike other young people's groups in the township, the Burnbrae Society made no definite arrangement to conclude their season's activities and the question of meeting again and arranging the June program was left with the executive.

The program of the evening was highlighted by a reading from Mrs. D. McKay. The story concerned a boat trip to many lands and at various points the group sang appropriate hymns. Other items included a reading by Mrs. Frank Haig; vocal solo, Mrs. William Craighead; reading, John Coggins.

The Odd-Job Auction

Last night, on behalf of the Victory Loan campaign, Peterborough held a very successful Odd-Job Auction, the first of its kind to be conducted in this Dominion. The procedure was simple; a number of prominent citizens offered their services as odd-job workers, and members of the audience bid for those services by purchasing Victory Bonds. In this way everybody had an extremely good time, and $107,000 was realized for the Victory Loan.

We feel that a word of appreciation must be said for the citizens who offered themselves for auction in the good cause; they showed excellent sportsmanship, and it should be remarked that it was worth a good sum in Bonds to see their ingenious and picturesque costumes. As a matter of historic interest, we wish to record that pretty girls fetched even higher prices than industrialists of proven ability.

There was only one thing wrong with the Odd-Job Auction: it did not have a big enough audience. The people who stayed away missed seeing a first-rate, splendidly organized show, and they also neglected to support a purely local enterprise. In these days of canned entertainment we all tend to sit back and let a few highly paid entertainers in the big cities supply all the entertainment part of our patriotic campaigns. But by doing so we miss a great deal of fun which only a local show can give.

Next Tuesday night at the P.C.V.I. Auditorium the Victory Loan Committee will present Peterborough's own Victory Loan Show, as a means of stimulating buying during the last week of the campaign. We sincerely hope that it will be well attended for, as with the Odd-Job Auction, a large number of local people are working hard to make it as good as it can possibly be.

The Great Guessing Game

The journalists of the United Nations are doing very little guessing about the date of the invasion of Europe: Nazi journalists are guessing frantically. They have discussed every possibility in detail. They have given repeated warnings that the fight will be a hard one when it comes. They have pointed out several places from which it would be hard to oust the Allies if they once established a beachhead there.

There is so much journalism of this sort in Germany at present that it is suspect. It is true that in the past eighteen months German propaganda has lost much of its power, but it is still one of Germany's best weapons. There is method in this apparent burst of confidence about the invasion.

In the first place, it is probably intended to give the German public a feeling that the government and the press is being extremely frank with it. They are hiding no secrets. They insist that the invasion fight will be a hard one, and by doing so they hope to strengthen the resolve of Germans and satellites to resist the invaders.

Then again, the Germans are fishing for information. If they make a statement and an Allied source denies it, the denial may contain some crumbs of information which would mean little to the general public, but which might mean a great deal to the efficient German intelligence service. The Germans have used this trick of provoking denials in the past with good effect, and indeed it is one of the oldest of propaganda tricks.

And another advantage of this journalistic harping on invasion is that it gives the Germans the advantage of seeming to be omniscient. Having pointed out all the possible avenues of invasion, it is an easy matter for them, when invasion comes, to say 'You see, we predicted all this some time ago; there is no cause for alarm, as the situation was foreseen and the matter is well in hand'.

But so far as the people and the press of the United Nations are concerned, the question of when the invasion will begin is no longer a desperate one. As the New York Times observes, the invasion has already begun. Daily air attacks, increasing in size and fury, are the first moves of the invasion, and they are immensely effective, although the airplanes are only able to destroy, and not to occupy. The means used for invasion have already been revealed; it is promised that air-borne troops will be dropped on the Continent in numbers never before attempted by any army. These troops will carry with them 75 millimeter guns, bazookas, 37 millimeter anti-tank guns, explosives, jeeps and even small bulldozers. This information has been revealed, and the enemy knows all about it.

But what the Germans do not know is where the blow will come. They are having a taste of that nagging worry and fear which the British suffered during the days of 1940, when invasion seemed at hand. The German forces, to be really effective, would have to be everywhere at once. Now the German military genius shows to best advantage in a carefully planned battle in which they choose the ground and dictate all the conditions of fighting; they are much less adept at improvised and surprise battles. It is now our turn to choose the ground and dictate the conditions, and they will have to accommodate themselves to our convenience. That, and not fear of any surprising new weapon, or any unsuspected force, is what is worrying them.

Divide Wealth Or Create It?

Speaking to the annual meeting of shareholders in the C.P.R. on Wednesday, Mr. D. C. Coleman, the president of that organization, made some remarks which deserve the attention of the public generally, and of young Canada in particular. He said: "In this country, as in others, there is considerable activity in the ranks of those who maintain that the fruits of prosperity can only be properly distributed through measures of rigid state control, and that free enterprise, as we know it, should be systematically extinguished... Class, occupational and sectional jealousies are being fostered and our young people encouraged to form themselves into organized pressure groups to struggle with the state and with each other for the sharing of wealth—wealth which they are not urged or encouraged to create... If those behind this movement were entrusted with executive power, they would find that to satisfy the appetites they have inflamed, and to reconcile conflicting claims which they have encouraged, would be a task beyond their powers. The trouble with their teaching is that they place all the emphasis on dividing rather than on creating wealth... Injustices in division or distribution, as they become manifest, should and must be corrected, but it should be fairly obvious that if our standard of living it to be improved, or even maintained at its present level, more wealth must be created for ultimate division".

Canada is a very scantily populated country. Yet it contains great natural wealth, and it provides excellent opportunities in most lines of work for men who have one good idea, or several good ideas, and who are prepared to give all their energies to putting those ideas into action. Under socialism, ideas of any scope have to be put in action by the government, and governments are notoriously slow to act; they are too cluttered with men of mediocre or routine intelligence to be good clearing-houses for new and original ideas. Under socialism Dickens' Circumlocution Office would rise to greater power than ever before. Even in Russia the lesson has been learned that the individual must be given plenty of scope and a hefty share of the profits if he is to do his best work. As G. K. Chesterton pointed out fifty years ago, the great curse of socialism is its sterility. Or, in Mr. Coleman's words, it is more intent upon division of what exists than on the creating of new wealth.

NOTE AND COMMENT

D Day is coming. But today is B (for Bond) Day.

The suggestion has been made that we enrich our Canadian lakes so that they will produce bigger fish. We fear the consequences of this. It's the big ones that always get away.

The National Gallery at Ottawa now houses an exhibition of paintings and drawings done by members of the R.C.A.F. in training; soon it will have another exhibition of wood-carving, block-printing and model-making from the same source. Are these the "gay and gilded" Canadian activities which have alarmed Group Captain Denton—"the Preaching Penguin"—Massey?

The Case For The Hunter

(A LETTER TO THE EDITOR)

SIR: May I again have space in your columns to express some further views on the Provincial Park question. I shall in this letter deal with the question from the stand point of the hunter, in fact one of them who for years has hunted in the proposed park area.

I should like to make it clear at the outset that the type of park I am in favour of is a Provincial one similar to Algonquin. From the letters published by Mr. Harold Scott, M.P.P., it does not appear that a Federal type of development, with its much greater restrictions, is desirable or possible under local conditions, nor that there is any likelihood of getting one, at least on a scale large enough to be of any great value as a wild life sanctuary.

IN my experience I have never seen any worth while public development that did not adversely affect some people. Few will dispute the value to the country as a whole, of good roads so located as to shorten the distance between centres of population and with the best possible grades. Yet to get these results it is frequently necessary to cross private property. Hydro lines and railways also do this and it is true that the owners suffer some loss or inconvenience no matter how well they are paid for it. It would in my opinion be as unwise to turn down the chance of getting this park as it would be to build no roads, Hydro lines or other public works because a few people would be affected adversely while many would benefit.

What legitimate hunting interests would be injured by the establishing of a Provincial Park in the area suggested? I have given a good deal of thought to this question.

Let us keep clear on this point! Wild life is the common property of the people of this province, regardless of where it is located. True we cannot legally trespass on private property to hunt or trap it. Neither can the owners of private property kill it at will simply because it happens to be on his property.

MY reasoning is that the only interests that will be adversely affected are those of the various groups who have built hunting camps within the proposed park area. I do not suppose any of these expected that government regulations would ever be passed that would depreciate or wipe out the value of his holdings. Never-the-less when they built a camp solely for the purpose of hunting they took that chance, the same as the chance that fire would wipe it out or the game become extinct or so scarce as to make it valueless.

I have discussed with a number of hunters who operate in different sections of the proposed area the question of the number who hunt in the area from organized camps. The opinion is that between one hundred and fifty and two hundred so hunt. A large number, difficult to estimate drive out, park their cars along the roads and hunt for a few hours or a day, coming home at night. A large percentage of those hunting from camps use cottages that are used for fishing or holidaying in the summer time and would continue to be so used if a park were established. As a rule camps built solely for hunting are of cheap construction and while I can see some loss to these people I am sure it is relatively very small.

ANOTHER angle to this as I see it is the fact, and I am certain it is a fact, that with the increasing numbers who hunt our present small Crown Game Preserve comprising an area between nine and ten miles square cannot possibly continue to keep this county stocked with game particularly in view of its location, close to the Peterborough Hastings Counties border. A substantial amount of the game propagated within this preserve overflows eastward into Hastings County. Hunters in Coe Hill and Tongamong Lake area in that county frankly admit that the Peterborough County Crown Game Preserve has greatly improved their hunting. I am neither County nor Provincially minded, and if there were no better location in Peterborough County for a game preserve and also if Hastings County did not have within its borders suitable areas for that purpose I would not raise the question. However, neither of these things is true. If the Peterborough Crown Game Preserve were located in the proposed Park area that is the central section of the county the over flow of surplus wild life would pass out of it on three sides and still be within this county. Hastings County possesses a very large area similar to the northern section of Peterborough, unsuited to agriculture and like the latter of value only for producing timber and wild life. Doubtless if the residents of that county wanted a Game Preserve they could have one.

Close observation has convinced me that our supply of deer in this county is definitely on the downward trend and unless we have a larger protected area it is only a matter of a few years when we will require closed season periods of several years to get them back, the same as other once good hunting districts in this province have had to do.

THE main hunting carried on in the proposed park area is for deer and partridge. The deer season for years has been of two weeks duration. The partridge season in years when the supply permits one at all is usually of one to two weeks. Usually one week of the partridge season is held during the deer season. A fair estimate of the average time each hunter uses this area for that purpose would be not more than eight to ten days. Is it logical or fair that the relatively small group who use this area for hunting purposes and for such a short time each year should want to, or be permitted to over ride the needs and wishes of the vastly greater number of people who would use and enjoy it at least for several months yearly and probably for the year round, for this district has real possibilities as a year round play ground?

Bear this in mind that by providing a park where none may kill, the hunters themselves would have an equal chance to enjoy it with the non hunter and by the very act of establishing and maintaining such a place the hunter is assured of the sport he enjoys in the surrounding territory because the surplus once it becomes stocked steadily overflows to the areas where hunting would be permitted. Unless the amount of protection is in proper relationship to the rate of kill only one thing can happen—wild life steadily and surely disapears.

Thanking you, I am. Yours very truly.

FRED C. MARSHALL.

HITLER PEP TALK —By Thomas

A World Monetary Plan

(NEW YORK TIMES)

NOWHERE will international co-operation be more imperative after the war than with regard to national monetary systems and stable exchanges. Unfortunately, the proposal now announced for an $8,000,000,000 international stabilization fund misconceives the real nature of the problem to be solved.

The text of the joint statement begins with the assertion: "It is the consensus of opinion of the experts of the United and Associated Nations who have participated in these discussions that the most practical method of assuring international monetary co-operation is through the establishment of an international monetary fund". On the contrary, the most practical method of assuring international monetary co-operation is through sound economic, budgetary, credit and currency policies within each nation. If these exist, a huge international stabilization fund will be unnecessary. If these do not exist, an international monetary fund, no matter how large, will be worse than ineffective. It could not, in the end, support an unsound currency; but in attempting to do so it would drain part of the resources of the countries with sound currencies. To that extent it would make it more difficult for them to maintain their own soundness.

A huge world stabilization fund for the type now proposed is no more than a method by which the nations with strong currencies make loans to the nations with weak currencies. Each nation will be at any moment a net creditor or a net debtor to the fund. To the extent that the loans go bad, the net creditors will be the net losers. When nations wish to borrow abroad through private international channels, the private lenders, risking their own funds, can judge the probability of repayment with a purely business eye. They sometimes agree to make loans only if the borrowing country will change its economic or financial policies in this respect or that. Now, it is one thing for the private citizens to indicate distrust of a nation's currency; it is quite another thing for foreign Governments to do so. It is also embarrasing for foreign Governments, even though acting through a general fund, to demand minimum internal financial reforms within a nation before they will lend that nation money. An international stabilization fund could increase the sources of international friction rather than reduce them.

THE principal need for world currency stabilization is sound internal policies in each country, not more international machinery. Each nation must want a stable currency enough to accept its necessary consequences. The greatest single contribution that the United States could make to world currency stability after the war would be to declare its determination to stabilize its own currency. It could do this by balancing the budget and by announcing that the dollar was no longer on a "twenty-four-hour basis," and subject to every rumour, but firmly anchored to a fixed quantity of gold. This would in turn give an anchor to other nations.

Other nations also would have to give up their faith in internal inflation as a cure for their ills. Our London correspondent reports the existence of an influential body of opinion in Great Britain that "currency stability would be gained at too high a cost....if the supply of currency be tied to a rigid international standard when the internal situation demands a policy of expansion." But a nation cannot have currency stability and currency inflation at the same time. Nor can it expect other nations to underwrite its own expansionist policies by giving it a heavy drawing account on a fund to which they have contributed. Each nation should give up the fallacious idea that it is to its own advantage to devalue its currency and that it is hurting itself and conferring a favour on other nations when it does not. Each nation should give up the fallacious idea that it gains when it erects huge barriers to imports and losses when it lowers them; that it gains when it blocks its currency or forbids its citizens to export gold, capital or credit. Each nation should give up the fallacious idea, in short, that it gains when it makes economic war upon its neighbours.

Not until this ideological reform is achieved will currencies be stable. If it is not achieved, any international stabilization fund must eventually break down. If it is achieved, complicated international machinery or huge funds will not be needed.

Distribution Easy

"You must concern yourself with the distribution of wealth," says Sir William Beveridge. Most people are better at that than they are at accumulating it.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

Legislate Tolerance?

We doubt that anyone can legislate tolerance into our lives. It is the wrong approach. All law-givers tend to solve their problems on paper and to overlook the imponderables of the minds and spirits of men. Only the will of man can overcome prejudice and intolerance. They will be set aside, if at all, only through the highest education of the people and their consecration to the good of mankind.—Montreal Gazette.

Weather Forecasts

The war and the tremendous increase in air transport have caused a great expansion of weather reporting and forecasting in Canada. This is one service that should not be cut down when peace comes. Whatever millions annualy such a service costs the country it could and often does save many times the figures by saving lives, cattle and other stock on the prairie, forests and fishing craft and by enabling transportation services to make preparations.—Edmonton Journal.

Pot of Gold

If finding is not keeping, it must seem nearly as good to a small boy in Berkshire. This Master Kellie was engaged in watching the gardner remove a withy tree from an ancient wall. When an earthquake pot fell with the ruins of the wall, the grown-up went on with his job, but the child, being gifted with curiosity, discovered the golden stream of sovereigns pouring from the magic vessel. A coroner and jury have awarded him 30 per cent of the find. It is all the pleasanter to hear a story about a pot of gold with a happy ending because these stories are traditionally sad.—London Times.

Political Factors in Strikes

Undoubtedly in Britain, as else-where, there are malcontents able to make big grievances out of small ones and create serious situations out of nothing. One need merely remember the number of strikes over trivial matters in Canada a year and two years ago and recall that there were political factors influencing labour actions then. That is possible in Britain as well.—Regina Leader-Post.

Canada and China

Canada's present treaty provides for the signing of another treaty with China within six months of the end of the war—a general commercial treaty. A country like Canada, looking anxiously to benefit from trade with other countries, should not underestimate the importance of our future relations with China. We are neighbours across the Pacific, Canada with great productive capacity, and China destined to import in a large way as the development of her resources proceeds. The policy of the United Nations after the war in giving help in economic development to the countries that need it, will undoubtedly apply to China. If she obtains the industrial equipment and the co-operation which she needs most, it should be the beginning of a great economic expansion. Canada will be wise to seek the best possible relations with a country with such potentialities.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Just Tagging Along

Canada will never supply her own coal needs so long as antediluvian methods prevail, so long as we are content to dig coal out of the earth and shovel it raw into fire-boxes, wasting many of its most valuable properties. Why, apart from a few installations to burn pulverized coal, we are no farther ahead today than we were in our grandfather's times. It's just the same old process of dig it out of the ground, hoist it to the surface, dump it into cars or boats—and then go about hat in hand pleading for "markets." In one breath the "It Can Be Done" brigade call for "markets" and in the next tell us there isn't enough coal to go round. Well, at least we might be working out effective plans along modern lines to mine and distribute within Canada what we can supply. And we might be giving some positive thought to greater improvements in the use of what we can mine, in processing, in methods for the extraction of by-products, for the production of electrical energy, for the integration of our coal policies with those affecting other forms of fuel also produced in this country.—Halifax Herald.

WHEN FATHER RETURNS

A delightfully human story was told by Mrs. G. Abbott, organizing secretary of the Women's Gas Council, at the Bradford Fuel Economy Exhibition. Her four-year-old grandson, who has never known anything but a world at war, was overjoyed when his Daddy came home recently and father and son met for the first time.

In Sonny's view Daddy was the perfect playboy, and it was a delighted small boy who rushed to his mother and announced "Mummy! What do you think?—Daddy says he'll come and live with us after the war!"

But Sonny's opinions underwent a change when, as midnight approached and he had shown no signs of settling down in his cot, Daddy began to exercise his authority.

"Now look here, we've heard quite enough from you. Lie down and go to sleep!" he ordered.

Ignoring the order, Sonny looked at his mother. "Put him outside Mummy—we don't want him here," he said.—Yorkshire Post.

RECALLING MITCH STORIES

In March, 1942, when Karl Homuth, the Ontario Conservative, was speaking about Ontario, Mr. Cruickshank (George Cruickshank, Fraser Valley) interrupted: "What did you get? You got Mitch."

Mr. Homuth: "No, we never got Mitch. Mitch just happened."

The mention of Mitchell F. Hepburn opens up an indigenous vein of wit. On one occasion, Angus MacInnis, the Vancouver CCFer, remarked: "We cannot afford to leave this matter to the gorillas who are at the present time running the Province of Ontario."

In Toronto, Mitch replied: "He probably got us mixed up with himself. Have you ever seen him?"

But my favorite story about Mitch Hepburn is one which he tells on himself. In the 1934 campaign he arrived at a farm to address a crowd, and the only stand for him to use was a manure spreader. So he mounted and said: "First time I've ever been on a Tory platform."

A scornful Tory at the back of the crowd shouted: "Throw her into high gear, Mitch, she's got the biggest load on now she'll ever have."—Winnipeg Free Press.

A Bible Message

And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof. And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beast of the field; but for Adam there was not found an help meet for him.

And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof; and the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man. (Gen. 2: 19-22.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Landlady: "Good-morning! I hope you slept well?

New Boarder: "Not very. Your cat kept me awake. Can't you—"

"Oh, surely you are not going to ask me to have the poor thing killed?"

"Not at all—but perhaps you could have it tuned."

The little church was full, but the marriage ceremony seemed in danger of being stopped, for the bridegroom was deaf and could not hear the important question: "Wilt thou have this woman for thy lawful wedded wife?"

"Eh," said the deaf man.

The clergyman raised his voice: "Wilt thou have this woman for thy lawful wedded wife?"

This seemed to annoy the bridegroom.

"Oh, I don't know," he said. "She ain't so awful. I've seen worse than her that didn't have half as much money."

Business Must Improve Distribution

MONTREAL, May 4 — (CP) — Canadian business must re-organize and improve its distributive system to the same extent it has improved its production techniques and methods during the war years if it does not wish to find itself "in serious trouble," Hugh A. Mackenzie, of London, Ont., said Wednesday in an address to the Montreal Advertising and Sales Club.

Mr. Mackenzie, vice-president of John Labatt, Ltd., and former director of simplified practice for the Prices Board, said the high cost of distribution and selling was "part of our economy which generally speaking has escaped the criticisms directed against the high cost of consumer goods."

This "complicated and unwieldy system gobbled up nearly 65 cents of the consumer's dollar," he said, and urged "co-operative commonsense by business" to overcome the problem.

A practical example of efficient distribution was the newspaper, "the most perishable commodity, processed, distributed and sold to the consumer." It overcame severe competition, sudden changes in public demand and numerous uncontrollable factors.

NEW YORK, May 4 — (AP). — First report of trading athletes on the battlefront comes from marine combat correspondent who tells how Capt. Roscoe (Torchy) Torrance, vice-president of the Seattle Coast League club, was talking baseball with Bill Veeck, Milwaukee president, and moaning over his team's need of a shortstop....Veeck said he thought the Brewers had one to spare and wrote Charley Grimm to try to fix up a deal.... And from the same territory Capt. Ernie Nevers, who hopes to head a National Football League club, sends this word: "Tell Curly Lambeau I finally made a deal for his big fullback Frank Balazs, only the deal was with another marine squadron and Balazs didn't cost me a cent."....When Nevers coach the Chicago Cardinals he tried to hide out Balazs in the pro draft, but Lambeau took him and would not listen to Ernie's offers.

LONDON, May 4—(CP). — From Cairo comes word that Cpl. Don McDiarmid of Ottawa, who won the Canadian singles tennis title in 1940, lost out in the quarter finals of a crack open tournament in that city.

McDiarmid, on the staff of the R.C.A.F. base post office at Middle East headquarters, was beaten 6-2, 7-5, by M. Talaat, a smooth volleyer not further identified. In the previous round the Canadian ace trounced the Palestine champion, J. Finkelkraut, in straight sets.

News of the tourney came from Sqdn. Ldr. John Clare, Air Force public relations officer in that theatre and former Toronto and Western Canada newspaperman.

The squadron medical officer paces the sidelines when playful (?) members of the city of Edmonton Mosquito Intruder Squadron engage in little bouts of Mayhem with a rugby ball at their English base.

No picked teams and anyone joining the fray takes a position on whatever side appears to have the least players. Tackles are hard, so is the ground and, since players don't wear regulation rugby uniforms, the toll on shorts and trousers, confidentially, is terrific.

Prize booters of the Intruders include Flt.-Lt. Al Eckert of Seaforth, Ont.

Little Giants Trounce Leafs

By The Associated Press

George Souter, unheralded freshman shortstop, appears to have stolen the spotlight from such highly prized Jersey City charges as Carroll (Whitey) Lockman, Lajeskie and Schemer.

The Little Giants won their fifth straight yesterday from the Toronto Maple Leafs 9-1, after having lost four of their first five. In the last six games, Souter has made 13 hits out of 24 at bats for an average of .542. Among his hits are three doubles, a triple and a home run, and he has batted in six runs. In the field, he has accepted 23 out of 24 chances. In addition, he stole two bases. All of which should give him the title as the "player of the week."

Baltimore Orioles helped the Buffalo Bisons inaugurate their season before a throng of 14,798. It turned out to be a gala event for the Orioles as they combed four Buffalo hurlers for 14 hits for a decisive 11-5 triumph, to take possession of first place in the International League race. It was the fifth straight defeat for the Bisons.

Bobby Maier, Bison third sacker, was struck in the head by a curve ball thrown by George Hooks in the second inning and was carried from the field. Later he was removed to a hospital for observation although physicians expressed the opinion he was not injured seriously.

Newark-Montreal and Rochester-Syracuse were not scheduled.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

City League softball teams have about a week and a half to get ready for the opening battle for it was decided at a meeting of the league Wednesday night to pry the lid off the season with the first game billed for Riverside on Monday May 15. No new teams were represented at the meeting and there is a possibility that the DeLaval team which entered a week ago may not function. However that has not been definitely decided upon yet. The biggest item of business was the adoption of a constitution by the league, something that has been lacking for some time. A protest committee composed of Ald. J. E. Sullivan, Ted LeBarr and Nagle Phelan was named to deal with any protests that may come up during the season. The matter of appointing a secretary-treasurer was left over for the time being and Fred Scates is carrying on until the appointment is made. With the date of the opening of the season set the teams are settling down to practice and should be in good shape by the week after next if the warm weather continues. Plazas will be one of the teams in the opening game and will be opposed by either Switchgear or Soldiers it is expected. There will be a meeting of the executive next Monday night to make the final arrangements.

Baseball fans who remember Angus Macdonald, son of the former manager of the Quaker Oats Company, when he was a hard-working member of the Peterborough Central Ontario League club will be interested in learning that Angus is a lieutenant in the United States Navy and at present stationed at Alameda, Cal. Angus played with the Petes for a number of seasons, after he had some training in baseball at Yale, and was always a popular member of the Central League squad, both as a left-handed pitcher and also in the outfield where he was sometimes used. He was a prime favorite with the players and there was never a more willing worker in a Peterborough uniform. He cheerfully tackled every job to which he was assigned and took the chore of pitching for batting practice just as seriously as he did any other duty he was asked to look after. Remembering his loyalty to the team and his willingness ball fans will have no hesitation in thinking that in Angus Macdonald Uncle Sam's Navy has gained an officer who should turn in a real job.

A Four-Game Winner

One of the factors in the success of the St. Louis Browns this season has been the gilt-edged pitching of Jack Kramer. Rejected by the United States Navy Kramer is a permanent fixture with the Brownies and he promises to be one of the outstanding twirlers of the season. Yesterday he became the first pitcher in the majors to win four games this season when he held the Detroit Tigers to eight scattered hits and St. Louis won the argument 7 to 4. Kramer has yet to lose a game. Hank Borowy of the Yanks is another heaver who is obviously in for a big year. He picked up his third straight win yesterday, allowing only six hits while the Yanks were beating the Philadelphia Athletics. Old Luke Hamlin, last season with the Leafs pitched a neat game himself allowing only seven blows but the New York squad took the verdict 3 to 1. Boston Red Sox won a knock-him-down-and-drag-him-out argument from Washington 11 to 10 with Manager Joe Cronin and Bobby Doerr slamming their first homers of the season. In the other American League game on yesterday's card Mel Harder, Cleveland's veteran curve-baller annexed his second win as against no losses when he triumphed over Chicago White Sox 9 to 4.

* * * * * *

Rip Sewell and his dipsy-doodle ball are apparently not working so well this season for the Pirates with Sewell on the mound were beaten 5 to 1 by the St. Louis Cards and that was his second loss in three starts. Whitey Kurowski was chiefly responsible for he drove two homers out of the park, the second one coming with two on the runways. Philadelphia with Lee delivering a neat five-hitter stopped the Giants effectively 7 to 1 with the only Giant run coming on a homer off the bat of Manager Mel Ott, his third circuit clout of the campaign. Ace Adams was the losing New York pitcher. Brooklyn Dodgers chased three runs across in the final frame to beat the Boston Braves 4 to 3 with Gregg getting credit for the triumph after going in in a relief role. Cincinnati Reds, rattling off 17 hits hadn't any great difficulty in knocking off the hapless Chicago Cubs. Paul Derringer had no luck in trying to control his former teammates while Tom Dela Cruz, one of the International League stars of last season came through with a neat pitching performance as the Reds won 10 to 4.

Run Into A Snag

The attempt by Kitchener and Waterloo enthusiasts to secure a Kitchener-Waterloo auditorium and hockey arena at an estimated cost of $300,000 has run into a snag. The proposal was that the proposition should be a joint undertaking with Kitchener providing $240,000 and Waterloo the remaining $60,000. However the Waterloo council has flatly refused to endorse the scheme, declaring that it was too ambitious and that in any event $60,000 was more than Waterloo could toss into the pot. Against that argument it is pointed out that Kitchener now spends $30,000 a year on the maintenance of one park alone and that the annual expenditure in Waterloo on the town park is $6,000. The Kitchener-Waterloo scheme has been developing for some time and it had got to the stage when it was felt that the time for action had arrived. The estimated cost with a main arena and auditorium 80 feet by 200 feet was $300,000. It had been proposed that each municipality's quota would be on a per capita basis with Kitchener putting up four-fifths of the total. The idea was part of the required amount would be raised by private conscription and that the balance should be secured through bylaws to be submitted to the Kitchener-Waterloo electorate at the end of this year. That is apparently out now so far as the Waterloo council is concerned.

* * * * * *

With Peterborough planning a similar enterprise it is interesting to note that the Kitchener-Waterloo promoters have been suggesting that the proposed auditorium would serve a lot of purposes. The Kitchener Record outlines them as follows: hockey, assembly hall, with a capacity of not less than 6,000, the building to be heated, air-conditioned and having properly arranged acoustics, a musical centre, amateur theatricals, manufacturers' products exhibitions, conventions, catering facilities for large gatherings, dancing and cold storage lockers. Says the Kitchener writer: "At the present time facilities are not available to promote sufficient entertainment for the thousands of industrial workers and with more leisure time in sight for workers in the post-war period it is felt that the auditorium would help promote various forms of entertainment not now possible."

HE SCRAMBLED DERBY PICTURE—By walking away with the Chesapeake Stakes at Pimlico, Baltimore, Md., Mrs. A. J. Abel's "Gramps Image," shown with Leonard Bowers in the saddle, has thrown a monkey wrench into the Kentucky Derby dope. The horse was 29 to 1 for the Pimlico classic and was rated only a slim chance for the Blue Grass classic, but the current performance by the horse, who got his name through a real or fancied resemblance to his grandsire, the great Man O'War, puts him squarely among the horses to be reckoned with.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Teams of the National Hockey League, with squads of 25 players, would be playing 80 scheduled games in a season after the war through the adoption of air transportation and might even have double-headers on occasion, it was predicted by Mervyn (Red) Dutton, managing director of the major hockey circuit in an interview at Winnipeg yesterday.

With 25 players available, a club could participate in double bills while an 80-game schedule would not be too strenuous. "The average player does not get in much more than 10 or 15 minutes of action a game," Dutton declared.

With Derby Day only a couple of days off, activity among the 18 candidates for the Churchill Downs classic was restricted to walking exercise while trainers watched for any sign of ailment that might keep an entrant from facing Starter Reuben White. John Gaver, trainer of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up, was one who wished for some rain because this favored horse can step in sloppy going.

Rejected by Army.

Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians, yesterday was rejected at Chicago for Army service because of an arthritic condition of his left ankle, fractured twice in baseball in ten years. His rejection left Joe Cronin, 37, of the Boston Red Sox as the only big league pilot liable to draft call.

Jockey Ted Atkinson of Toronto rode three straight winners at Jamaica before a crowd of 25,179, including a half-length victory on Col. C. V. Whitney's Jeep in the Youthful Stakes, five-furlong feature for two-year-olds. Two of Atkinson's mounts were trained by Andy Schuttinger.

R. K. Dawson, of Guelph, president of the Inter-County Baseball Association last night called an emergency meeting of representatives of senior and junior clubs for Galt on May 10 when it was learned that Army clubs are barred from playing against civilian teams.

Soldier teams from London and Brantford were included in the schedule of the senior league.

Brooklyn Beats Boston By 4-3 Count

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Gaudy pitching strings by the Yankees and Phillies served to-day to help the orphaned Chicago Cubs escape attention in their continued tunnelling under the National League cellar with 10 straight defeats.

While the Yankees have allowed the enemy only five runs in winning their last four games and the Phillies have yielded only six scores in the same stretch, the St. Louis leaders have had reason to take a hurried look back over their shoulders.

Luke Sewell's Browns can't afford to let up for the New Yorkers are ready to take control in the American and the Phils, although tied for second with Cincinnati, are only a game and a half back of the Cards.

While the Cub owners checked the list of managerial possibilities, the Bruins failed to be inspired by a tongue lashing from acting manager Roy Johnson and stumbled before Cincinnati, 10-4. Tom De La Cruz of the Reds bagged his second big league victory with the help of 17 hits.

Big Bill Lee was the latest Phil to stand up and shine. He missed a shutout after having two out in the ninth when Mel Ott homered, but he had little trouble trimming the Giants 7-1. He gave five hits.

Lloyd Waner dropped down perfect squeeze-play bunt in a ninth-inning rally that gave Brooklyn a 4-3 edge over Boston. Augie Galan's double with the bases loaded had tied it up to set the stage for the strategy.

Hits 2 Homers.

Whitey Kurowski went on a one-man rampage against Pittsburg and bopped Rip Sewell for two home runs in St. Louis' 5-1 triumph. The "blooper ball" expert gave only six blows, but the two he gave Kurowski cost him four runs and the ball game.

Hank Borowy stretched his personal holdover streak to 10 victories in a row by parcelling out six Athletics bingles in a 3-1 Yankee decision over Luke Hamlin. With pitching by Borowy and Ernie Bonham showing the way the Yanks now have won their last four games but scored a total of only 12 runs.

Boston had its fourth different first baseman of the year yesterday and he may get the job. Manager Joe Cronin took over and sold himself a bill of goods by driving in three runs in the Red Sox 11-10 walloping of Washington. A homer and two singles were included in Cronin's bag.

Mel Harder will be gunning for his 200th major league victory next time out. The veteran made it 199 yesterday with a 9-4 edge over Chicago. Roy Cullenbine made it easier with three doubles and a single.

Jack Kramer became the first big leaguer to win four games, but had to be told about it in the clubhouse. Al Hollingsworth and George Caster each retired one man in stemming a ninth-inning Detroit rally for St. Louis' 7-4 victory.

THIRSK, England — (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stone were killed in bed when a British plane fell on their cottage near Thirsk, Yorkshire. A passer-by and two of the plane's crew were also killed.

By HYE BOSSIN

Television is so certain that producers are putting clauses about it in actors' contracts. . . Signe Hasso, originally from Sweden, is quite a girl. She speaks several languages, writes a newspaper column, makes her own hats at a cost of from thirty-five cents to $1.50, and eats all the ice cream and cake she feels like eating. . . One of the finest films of the year is "Memphis Belle," a short Technicolor feature that tells the story of a flying fortress over Germany. It was filmed right from the plane and is a classic. . . It has been suggested in the Ontario Legislature that a child psychologist be employed to select films suitable for showing to children. Some papers have opposed it. Put two psychologists together and you have two different opinions. It's almost impossible to get enough films to exactly suit each juvenile age and mental level. It doesn't pay Hollywood to make them or the theatres to show them. Might make an interesting experiment just the same. . . Heroism in this war is growing commonplace. It was planned to make a film of the rescue of Captain Ed Rickenbacker but so many brave things have been done by so many people that there is only minor interest now.

Darryl Zanuck, the producer who made "The Purple Heart," ran across this story while doing research on the film. A visitor in a military hospital asked one soldier how he lost his legs. "I didn't lose them," was the reply. "I exchanged them for a clean conscience." I hope you bought a Victory Bond. . . They say that "Chopin," with Merle Oberon and Paul Muni, is a great film. Films about great musicians haven't been very successful to date. . . This is Hollywood today: a group of male dancers were needed for a scene and it turned out that the youngest was sixteen and the oldest fifty-six! They changed it to a novelty number and had the boys wear beards. . . That wise-cracking Pete Smith, the Shorts producer, was walking along a studio street when he passed some extras from the cast of "Kismet," an Arabian story. One of them hailed Smith and pointed out that he had worked for him five years ago. "Do you remember me?" he asked. Replied Pete, "Sorry, I don't recall the name but the fez is familiar."

It's a pleasure to hear that a submarine crew has chosen a pin-up boy instead of a girl—W. C. Fields. They'll laugh instead of sigh. . . Hollywood makeup men are now paying eighteen dollars per ounce for hair that used to cost seventy-five cents. Wanna haircut? . . . Dennis Morgan threw his knee out and is on crutches. It's tough if he's one of those singers who straightens out his knees when reaching for a high one. . . Fellow asked for a derby hat. Asked what size, he replied, "Any size—I want it for my trombone". . . Who do you think will play Johnny Nolan in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn"? None other than your old friend James Dunn. A good break, for Jimmy has been fighting his way back for a long time. . . "As Time Goes By" was just a mild song hit when it first came out. After "Casablanca" it sold a million copies. With the screen having such power to sell, you would think that theatre owners might rent their screens for advertising purposes. They won't, preferring to make the theatre a restful and enjoyable refuge. . . Chili Williams, whose picture in a magazine brought 40,000 requests for photos and 210 proposals, will make her screen bow in "Having Wonderful Crime."

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 4 — (CP). — Red Dutton and his N.H.L. statisticians have come up with just the right spring tonic for winter weary hockey fans in the league's 1943-44 year book, a hefty volume of 50-odd mimeographed pages with all the past season's records and a lot of other information about hockey through the years.

Usually fans had to wait months before he could get his hands on the facts and figures he needed to compare his favorite stars, until the league's managing director got busy. Of course, with all the details available, it's going to cut down a lot on the fun there used to be when everyone had different figures they were sure were right.

The book gives complete 1943-44 scoring and penalty records for every player, goalkeeping records, penalty records by teams, scores of all games and the record of each club against every other, and a complete list of all players on the reserve and negotiation list of each club, a new and welcome feature.

Besides records of the N.H.L., the American Hockey League also is covered. Then there are records of the past such as all Stanley Cup winning teams and players, winners of the various trophies, play-off results year by year for the past few years, 200-goal scorers, and a mine of other information.

Modern N.H.L. and Stanley Cup play-off records are an important part of the book, and it's interesting to note Montreal Canadiens just about cleaned up in the play-off record department as well as in the actual games. Modern records set by them this spring were Toe Blake's most goals and assists, 18; Maurice Richard's 12 goals; Richard's five in a game; Elmer Lach and Toe Blake with most assists, 11; the highest-scoring line; fastest five goals in play-offs; the highest shut-out; and consecutive game record.

Sportwriters' dean:

Walter McMullen, veteran sports commentator of the Hamilton Spectator, has completed 40 years in the business, which just about makes him the dean of his ilk. "Mac" is 63 years old, and started in sports away back at the start of the century when he worked eight months with the old Toronto World, being succeeded by Eddie Allen.

On May 1, 1904, he became sports editor of the now-vanished Hamilton Herald, moving to the Spectator in 1913. He was president of the old Ontario Professional Baseball League in 1931, and is an exceptionally keen follower of the races.

70,000 Expected To Watch Derby

LOUISVILLE, May 4 — (AP)— Within 48 hours all the folks the office of defence transportation said couldn't get to the Kentucky Derby because of travel restriction will be in or around Louisville awaiting the 70th running of the historic event Saturday.

A crowd of 70,000 spectators will be here, according to estimates today. This would be an increase of 10,000 over the attendance of a year ago, when the event was restricted mainly to residents of the Louisville area.

There will be no special trains from distant points, as in pre-war years, or extra pullmans attached to regular trains entering Louisville; yet, everybody wanting to get here will do so. Already hotel and transportation facilities are taxed to the limit.

Bomb Tonnage Nears 100,000

LONDON, May 3 — (CP) — Allied air forces based in Britain and the Mediterranean area dropped nearly 100,000 tons of bombs on German-held Europe in April during history's greatest aerial offensive.

The bomb tonnages delivered by the various Air Forces:

R.A.F. Bomber Command, Britain, including R.C.A.F.	37,000
Eighth U.S. Air Force, (Britain)	24,000
Ninth U.S. Air Force (Britain)	8,800
Mediterranean Air Force (British and American units)	30,000
Total	99,800

Tonnage of the Russian Air Force which bombed Polish and Romanian objectives were not announced.

BLAMEY REPLIES — Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, Australia's commander-in-chief, now in London, has replied to Lieut.-Gen. Gordon Bennett, formerly Australian commander at Singapore, who alleged that Blamey had driven him out of the Australian army. Blamey says their interview has been gravely distorted.

MORE ABOUT—

Post-War Survey

lishment of methods and models for similar surveys elsewhere.

Too Good to be True

For Kitchener-Waterloo, said the summary, the post-war prospect seems "too good to be true."

"But, the report emphasizes many factors can alter this prospect among them being government policies not yet known, the degree to which optimism affected the estimates of interviewed employers, and the basic fact that the immediate post-war years will be no more "normal" than the present-day conditions."

The survey should not be regarded as a finished post-war plan, said the summary, but as a basis on which to begin planning. It could be repeated elsewhere "to the permanent advantage of Canada."

More than half the anticipated $38,000,000 of spending in the first two post-war years will go toward buildings, houses and other forms of construction, said the summary.

"With 5,000 men and women from this area gone to the armed services, with war-created conditions showing farm population cut while more than 8,000 new workers had gone into industry in the survey area, the report points out the post-war problem:

"It is not only necessary that the demobilized veteran and the demobilized war workers . . . be provided with work and wages; their effort must be guided into the most productive channels.

"The first objective of all post-war planning is the prevention of mass unemployment. Since in this Dominion there has never been a time when everyone had enough of the right foods, sufficient and appropriate clothing, adequate and convenient housing, or means for the full utilization of leisure, it is upon the provision of these things in abundance that we must concentrate in the days ahead of us."

Payrolls Up

Kitchener-Waterloo payrolls between 1939 and 1943 increased from an average of $1,120 a year to $1,663. It was taken for granted the population of the area was living better now than before the war.

The average farmer planned to spend $2,133 in the first two post-war years, mostly for deferred maintenance or farm improvement; he expected a shrinkage of 17½ per cent. in his income; and he expected to rehire 700 hired men who have left the farm in the war years, plus at last 75 more.

"Of the total expected post-war expenditure of $5,330,000 by farmers, almost two-thirds will go toward renovation of farms, or capital expenditure," said the summary. "Further, farmers will spend less than one-sixth of the amount planned by urban residents on themselves for such things as housing, radios, furniture."

It said that "with no assistance predicated on Provincial or Federal help, local government expects delayed construction of "fire halls, subways, etc." to provide work for 770 persons for a year; churches and hospitals another 160; and public property 95 men on delayed maintenance.

Employees of business firms, on the basis of the survey, are expected to number 18,192 compared with 18,235 now; municipal, church and hospital employees will need 365 additional workers; domestic help will number 631 compared with 342; and employees in the armed services expected back by former employers number 2,437. At the same time 1,972 persons are expected to withdraw from employment, leaving a net post-war increase of 146.

These figures, said the summary, "do not take account of self-employed, including active practising members of the professions.'

Soldier's Wife Beaten In Brawl

TIMMINS, Ont., May 4—Charles Raymond Latham, 34, of Shawville, Que., was remanded without bail for one week when he appeared before Magistrate Atkinson in Tisdale police court at South Porcupine Tuesday morning.

He is charged with assault causing actual bodily harm.

Latham was arrested by Tisdale police Saturday night after Mrs. Mabel McDonald, of South Porcupine, a soldier's wife, was removed to hospital suffering from a fractured skull, two broken ribs, a punctured lung and other less serious injuries.

Police say the woman was beaten by the accused in a rooming house brawl, which followed a drinking party.

Doctors today described the condition of Mrs. McDonald as "critical."

The union claimed, however, that labor board provisions for grievance procedure had been placed in the settlement terms without consulting U.A.W. officials, and at Tuesday night's mass meeting of the union a further work stoppage was agreed upon until a "satisfactory solution" of grievance procedure is reached.

HE DOESN'T CARE

The soldier overseas in Italy ducking bullets and shell fragments in a muddy slit trench isn't doing much worrying about whether he gets maple syrup for breakfast or has a nice soft bed at night. His job is one of survival so that he can carry the war into the enemy lines. A Victory Bond salesman said today, that one woman who was approached to lend her money for victory, declared she was buying no more bonds. A friend of hers had been accustomed to make her a present of maple syrup each year, and this time was unable to spare the coupons. She laid this at the door of the government and this was her way of "getting even."

Boy Stole Ring From Roommate

The story of a stolen diamond ring was related by Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher in police court this morning in giving evidence in a case in which sixteen-year-old Gerald McAdams, Havelock, had pleaded guilty to stealing the ring from Gordon Tucker, Rink Street.

Detective Sergt. Meagher stated that young McAdams had secured a job at the C.G.E. and a room in a house on Rink Street sharing it with Tucker who also was employed at the C.G.E. one working the night shift and the other in the daytime.

Each of the two had a drawer in the dresser for his personal goods and the first opportunity McAdams had, when he was alone in the room the witness stated he had rummaged through Tucker's belongings. He had stolen the ring, bought five years ago for $35 and had tried to sell it at work. Unable to find a buyer he had attempted to sell the ring in a pool room the next day and was arrested.

"I have nothing to say" young McAdams told the court. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. stated that there was no record of the youth in the finger prints department at Ottawa but that McAdams had been placed on suspended sentence last year in a charge involving gasoline coupons.

Magistrate Langley decided to defer the passing of sentence for a week, until the particulars of the other case could be obtained. He informed the prisoner that when he sentenced him he would take into consideration the time spent in jail.

Cpl. Hallihan enlisted in August, 1940, and went overseas a year later, having spent much of his training period in Nova Scotia. SOME OF PARTICIPANTS IN "ODD-JOBS BOND AUCTION"—Peterborough on Wednesday night had its first "Odd-Jobs Bond Auction" and the results were a complete success with $114,250 worth of bonds being taken out at the banks in the city today. The auction was organized by John Stuart, Jr., of the Quaker Oats Company, and its success is due to the great amount of organizing work he put into the program. Some of those who participated in the program are shown above. (Top Left) is an off stage shot; Mayor Hamilton is demonstrating just what kind of a nurse-maid he would make; (Top Right) Jack Stuart is being given a "hair-do" by Mrs. Don Moore, whose services went for $2,000; (Lower Left) is auctioneer Jim Wharry and Harold Scott, M.P.P., whose services as a carpenter brought $3,100, and (Lower Right) Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Fanning, whose services as washerwoman and assistant brought $3,100, along with director of ceremonies, Stan Francis. (Photos by Bert Krugel)

Canada's First "Odd Jobs Auction" Yields $114,250 In Victory Bonds

Canada's first Odd-Jobs Bond Auction, held in support of the Sixth Victory Loan and to help raise the quota assigned to Peterborough, collected $114,250 in War Bond pledges at an enthusiastic rally held in the Collegiate Auditorium Wednesday night.

Thirty-seven citizens, leading off with His Honor Mayor Hamilton, who appeared upon the stage with a sheaf of notes prepared to make an address and was then bid $400 to not say a word, came on one after another dressed in the costume appropriate to their chosen calling, were put through their paces and then knocked down to the highest bidder.

Jim Wharry and Andy Rutter ably filled by turns the function of auctioneers, and Stan Francis, well-known radio figure, acted as master of ceremonies. The program began with a concert given by the R.C.A.M.C. military band from Camp Borden, part of which was aired over CHEX, and the portion of the auction between 10 and 11 was also broadcast.

Best Bid Of Evening

The high bid of the entire evening was $7,100 and it was brought in by Miss Betty Richardson, who volunteered her services as a sitter. As a class the sitters, of whom there were several and all very attractive young ladies, performed remarkably well and to the audience at least no explanation beyond their dignified appearances, dolls in arms, was required. The bidding for Miss Richardson was the most competitive and fastest of the show, with several aspirants to the honor of winning her services—practically all of them gentlemen—having their hands raised at one and the same time. Miss Margaret Wood brought $2,000, Miss Isobel Milliken $5,500, and Mrs. W. B. Brown $3,000.

As a team the remarkable duo of Jim Wharry and Andy Rutter were tops, their clowning portrayal of baby-wheeler and baby respectively, a sight beyond the poor power of the pen to describe and only to be believed possible when and if seen, netting the Victory Loan the fat sum of $10,000, $7,000 of which was placed upon the broad shoulders of the competent Mr. Wharry and the remainder on the somewhat constricted youngster reclining in the carriage.

Drew Contest Winner

In the middle of the program Mayor Hamilton, previously banished to the wings without having a chance to get his speech started, was called back for the purpose of making the draw for the salesmen identification contest, and he pulled the name of Mrs. J. Andrew Knox, of Norwood, whose canvasser was H. Morgan, from the hat. Mrs. Knox will be rewarded with a $100 bond.

Mrs. J. G. Wharry was unsentimentally auctioned off by her husband along with Mrs. Alex Sollitt for $4,500, the two forming a cook and scullery-maid team. Reg. Faryon, president of the Quaker Oats, who offered himself in the capacity of a landscape gardener, was also auctioned of by Mr. Wharry, diffidently prefacing his task with the assertion that it was "one of life's darkest moments to have to auction off your own boss." Nevertheless, he worked hard and got $2,500 for him.

$2,100 For Bootblack

Gordon Matthews, chairman of the 6th Victory Loan, made his appearance as a bootblack and, suitably costumed in a long white apron and equipped with the necessary polish, was knocked down for $2,100. Paige Rowell, porch cleaner extraordinary, was very informally attired in a manner befitting his occupation, and the demonstration he gave on the stage of his technique no doubt helped to swing the bid of $3,500 which was put in for his services.

H. L. Garner, general manager of the Examiner, qualified to the tune of $3,500 as a window washer. He was equipped with all the regulation articles of that seemingly precarious trade, and in addition had a parachute pack—just in case—strapped on. Harold Scott, M.P.P., one of whose ambitions it was, the master of ceremonies announced, to become a loyal member of the Liberal party, attracted a bond pledge amounting to $3,100 for his services as a carpenter.

Hugh Campbell, ably demonstrating his skill at mixing a cocktail compounded of milk and eggs, was another of the many volunteers who went under the hammer. The bidding at first was mild for Mr. Campbell, but when it was announced that after the show something would be added to the cocktail mix "and it won't be vanilla," the bidding was immediately stimulated and the proficient bartender went for $3,500.

$1,500 For Garden Hoer

Chris Hughes, whose costume as a garden hoer, curiously enough, included a pair of overalls from Grafton's, sold for $1,500; Mrs. Nancy Stewart, decked out as a waitress and looking like one you perhaps wouldn't mind a bit coming home to, brought $3,500; J. K. Hughes, every inch a chef, went for $2,100; and Miss Florence Leach, a very popular nursemaid, was worth a pledge of $4,500.

Many others participated and here are their names, the jobs they undertook to perform, and the War bond subscriptions that were bid for their services: J. F. Strickland, K.C., a butler, $3,900; Robert Abbott, carwasher, $4,500; John Stuart, Jr., garden plower, $4,500; Mrs. Bonnie McCrady, typist, $2,000; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fanning, washwoman and assistant $3,100; Mark Crough, gigolo, $1,000; Tony Johnston, a lesson in fancy dancing, $2,000; Charles Cummer, dish wiper, $2,000; Chris Graham, dog walker, $2,000; John Vernor, car washer, $3,000; Charles Levine, remover of storm windows, $1,700; Mrs. Catherine Gordon, table decorator, $3,000; Ian McRae lawn cutter, $3,500; Adam Sands, child picker-upper, $2,000; Samuel Whitehouse, victory gardener, $2,000; Mrs. Moore, hair stylist, $2,000; and Ed. Riley, button sewer, $2,500.

Farmers Back Tilling Soil

The Ontario farmer is back on the land, beginning a new season of work with the tilling of the soil and sowing of seed in the immemorial practice of agriculture, according to the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture as compiled from reviews by county representatives.

A great many young cattle are now on pasture in Victoria. The number of spring lambs is average with few losses. With the possible shortage of alfalfa, there seems to be sufficient seed to meet requirements. Labor is decidedly short.

Seeding is in progress in Northumberland where canning crop men are busy transplanting tomato plants into greenhouse flats.

Work has become general in Hastings county, and cheese factories are reporting a heavier flow of milk than a year ago. In Durham feed supplies are running short, but on the other hand pasturage is making rapid progress.

Grade cows sold up to $200 at a sale in Lanark recently. That area expects a surplus of seed Byng barley. Prince Edward Island has been buying Holstein heifers in Leeds.

Generally throughout the eastern section of the province, and in fact in most directions the land "has dried out wonderfully" leaving conditions favorable through most of last week and especially with the beginning of May.

On the western border, Lambton says there are no single farm laborers to be hired at a wage farmers feel they can pay. Board and $60 to $70 a month is being offered.

Waterloo concludes that fall wheat came through the winter in excellent condition. Perth is beginning the new season with a small surplus of turnips. And Peel reported "the labor situation is critical."

Citizen Anxious To Have New City Hall Built In Ashburnham Facing Park, River

An Ashburnham site for the city hall, at Burnham and Hunter street, overlooking the expansive park across the river, has been proposed to Alderman Swanston in an anonymous letter signed "A Citizen."

"I would like to see our new city hall built of grey stone and set apart amid grass and trees after the style of St. John's Church. If it is built on the present market block it will necessarily be associated with the stores and have no individuality of its own. I would suggest the east side of Burnham Street opposite the "bowl". This is close to the business section, is in line with the expanding growth of our city, and the view is not bad.

There would be lots of parking space near at hand, and it also would remove some houses that are not of modern architecture. Move the service station and purchase the former Hogan hotel and what better site would you want."

Alderman Glover suggested Monday night that citizens be requested to send site suggestions, with reasons, to the city clerk. "We might get something out of it, and it should stimulate interest of citizens in the location that has to be decided before long." The council accepted the suggestion.

Garage Group Gives $50 To War Victims

Quite some time ago, when scrap metal was badly needed to help carry on the war effort, the Garage Operators of the City and District banded together in the Garage Operators Association helped in no mean way, the facilities that lay at their hand being put to a wide use, with the result that much of the needed commodity was gathered together, the financial returns from which were then given by them to help in other channels of the war effort.

Reminiscences of a colorful and happy occasion at the Kawartha Club at this time were recalled by the secretary of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, who was present on that occasion and received a cheque from them for $100, was recalled through a further gift of $50 they have now made to help the victims of enemy air raid attacks over Britain.

With the passing of opportunties for raising money in this same manner, due to the easement of the scrap metal needs, besides the fact that not so much scrap metal was now available for such purposes, it is obvious that if they wished to again assist in the objects which this fund seeks to serve, they would have to adopt other means to provide the money for this purpose.

On Wednesday, April 26, at a meeting presided over by W. E. Robinson, their president, this was done by a vote from their own funds for the amount named, at which time they also voted another $50 to a similar cause to assist the war effort, and since it involved something in a more personal sense than the passing out of extra funds raised in other manners, there is also an extra measure of credit due to them for this action to give other a helping hand.

Lord Mayor Sends Thanks

His Worship Mayor Hamilton has just received a letter from Sir Frank Newson-Smith, Lord Mayor of London, in response to the last donation of £500 sent at the end of March which says in part: "It is with great pleasure that I received your cable and have now received from the Bank of Commerce the sum of £500 being a further donation from the citizens of Peterborough and District towards my Air Raid Distress Fund, for which I enclose herewith official receipt 105734.

I am deeply grateful for this further generous gift, and will be glad if once again my warm and sincere thanks can be conveyed to your citizens for the splendid support they continue to give to my fund."

A newly issued leaflet giving details of the increased need occasioned by a renewal on a larger scale of enemy attacks from the air was also enclosed, details of which may be given at a later date.

Building Permits Show Increase Over 1943

April building permits amounted to $37,593 as compared with $16,367 in the same month last year; and totals for four months were $58,943 this year against $34,657 from January 1st to April 30 a year ago.

Thirty-two permits last month were as follows: 5 garages, $2,135; 2 dwellings, $6,300; 25 miscellaneous permits, $29,158—total, $37,593.

In April last year 19 permits were: One dwelling, $3,800; 18 miscellaneous, $12,567, for a total of $16,367.

An interesting observation from the two monthly statements from City Engineer Parsons' office, one apart, is that dwellings are being constructed in the three to four thousand dollar brackets.

Citizens Pledge $1,841,500 Of Loan Total

Half way through the Sixth Victory Loan, that means the 50 per cent mark on the time index, Peterborough City and County had subscribed only 40.95 of their objective up to Wednesday night

Th salient and uneasy facts are:
Objective—$4,500,000.
Subscribed—$1,841,550.

Two and a half million dollars to be converted into Victory Bonds in the remaining nine days of the campaign. That was the problem facing the city and county this morning.

The county has overtaken and passed the city in the general canvass division. The cold figures are:

City General.
Objective, $1,550,000; subscribed, $637,950; percentage, 41.16.

Rural General.
Objective, $600,000; subscribed, $261,800; percentage, 43.63.

City and County.
Objective, $2,150,000; subscribed, $899,750; percentage, 41.85.

Smith Strides Ahead.

Bonds bought by Smith farmers in the last two days have carried the municipality within striking distance of their $90,000 objective. The township made a long gain yesterday in the score column, to first place with 81.28, as against the 50 per cent. required for the ninth day.

Dummer farmers really gathered their forces together this week in a combined effort that was reflected with 76.5 per cent of their $30,000 objective. Both these townships splurged into action to thrust North Monaghan from the top rung to third with 71.37 per cent. Anyway Melville Johnston's township has been setting most of the pace in the general canvass, and they have only about the last quarter of their route to bring them level with their goal.

Ennismore is in fourth position, with 54.5 per cent, pacing along abreast of the time requirement. The other municipalities are under par with the city in fifth place, showing 41.16 per cent of its generan canvass requirement.

Havelock with 38.93 per cent is sixth; Lakefield seventh with 36.00 per cent; Norwood eighth with 35.75 per cent.

At the half way mark, some of the municipalities showed less than one-third of their quotas and others were down to less than one-quarter.

Douro was ninth, showing 34.86 per cent, and Belmont-Methuen was tenth at 34.2 per cent.

Police Are Checking Riders Of Bicycles

Bicyclists should take notice that the police checkup on dangerous traffic practices is not confined to automobiles but includes riders of bicycles.

"Many of them are ignoring traffic lights, riding two on a bicycle, travelling four or five abreast and in some cases riding on the sidewalks, Acting Chief John Thompson stated today in announcing the fact that the police are going to keep an eye on all that kind of thing.

"One of the worst practices that cyclists have developed," he continued, "is cutting across service station corners. They shoot out into the street again, often narrowly missing pedestrians as they pass. The officers have been instructed especially to see that this habit is stopped."

Norwood Seaman Machine-gunned By Japs Following Sinking

A NEWFOUNDLAND PORT. — One soggy biscuit and one mouthful of condensed milk during 30 hours afloat an in improvised life-raft in the Indian Ocean— that's the meagre Easter diet which tasted "better than chicken and champagne" two years ago to lean, dark-haired Lieut. Sydney J. Breckon, R.C.N.V.R., of Norwood, Ont

LIEUT. SYDNEY J. BRECKON

Breckon, now on the staff of Captain "D" in this Atlantic base of the Royal Canadian Navy, was aboard the British heavy cruiser Dorsetshire when she and her sister ship H.M.S. Cornwall, were sunk by Japanese dive-bombers in the Bay of Bengal on Easter Sunday afternoon in April, 1942. He was among the 1,000 survivors who were rescued 30 hours after dodging a murderous machine-gunning by the Jap planes which swooped low over the water.

"I lost my lifebelt during the bombing," Breckon said. "The ship was a shambles. When I finally went over the side, Dorsetshire was listing so steeply that I just had to step over the rail into the water.

Machine-gunned by Japs.

"Less than 10 minutes later, both ships had gone down. I grabbed a piece of wreckage. The water was filled with bobbing heads as far away as I could see. Then the Japs —a few of them—roared down and spattered us with machine-guns. We all dived under like a bunch of ducks, and I was lucky. The bombers then took up mass formation and flew away—and to this day I'm convinced that the machine-gunning of the survivors was just a pre-arranged, cold-blooded signal that the show was over.

"I swam around from one piece of debris to another for two hours before I found a floating lifebelt. It was then about four o'clock in the afternoon. As darkness came on we huddled together in scattered groups Fifteen of us spent a night clinging to a big lumber framework torn from the top of a potato bin. Some of the lifeboats had food aboard, and it was divided among us. My share during the 30 hours was one biscuit and enough sips of diluted condensed milk to total about one mouthful—and did it ever taste good."

Rescued Next Day.

The survivors were rescued next morning by three British warships and taken to a base in the Indian Ocean. Breckon didn't know until then that his right leg had been lacerated by a steel splinter.

Lieut Breckon's father, S. S. Breckon, is a High School principal in Norwood, near Peterborough. The officer joined the Navy in the spring of 1941 after graduating from Queen's University at Kingston with a degree of Bachelor of Science in Physics. He took special courses at the University of Toronto and in Britain before going to West Africa in a cargo ship to join the Dorsetshire in November, 1941.

Lab. Produces New Quinine

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 4—(AP) —A chemical method of duplicating quinine, identical in every respect to the anti-malarial drug extracted from the bark of cinchona trees, has been developed after almost a century of attempts by chemists, the Polaroid Corporation announced Wednesday.

The plan for synthesizing the complex drug, the corporation said, was originated by Dr. Robert B. Woodward, a Harvard instructor in organic chemistry, in collaboration with Dr. William E. Doering, now an instructor in organic chemistry at Columbia University.

The corporation added that "military interest in the new process relates to its possibility as a replacement for the vast quinine-bearing cinchona tree plantations in Japanese-held Netherlands East Indies. These plantations were formerly the chief source of quinine supply for the world. It is by no means certain, however, that the synthetic drug can be manufactured on a large scale for use during the war."

The two chemists, the Corporation said, devised their method of duplicating the cinchona drug by arranging carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen and oxygen atoms in precisely the same relationship as nature's arrangements of these atoms within the molecular structure of quinine.

2 American Airmen Talked Too Much

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN, May 4—(AP)—Two airmen of an American bomber were reported to have talked too much before the last attack on Berlin have been grounded and probably will be court-martialed.

Their names were withheld. It was reported that shortly before the takeoff time, they were overheard to mention in a place where the conversation might be heard by the wrong people that Berlin was the target.

A Nice Fellow

TORONTO, May 4—(CP). —Oliver Knox, 57, yesterday was fined $25 and costs in police court on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Lydia Ford, 72, a tenant in his home. "He twisted my arm until he broke it," said Mrs. Ford, explaining there was an argument over a baby carriage belonging to her granddaughter being left on the front walk of the Knox home.

YOU'D NEVER BELIEVE SHE IS 48....

She's one of the peppiest, happiest-spirited women you ever saw. At the time when most women think life is passing them by—she's right in the midst of things—always ready to go places and do things ... as popular with the men as girls half her age. To look at her you would never believe she was a day over 38.

How does she do it? She gives the credit to Dr. Williams Pink Pills ... for well she knows how important it is to have plenty of rich, red blood during those years when so many women are "pulled down" in health by bodily changes.

If you feel "always tired", if you look pale and dragged out, if you are suffering from a feeling of nervous exhaustion, are jittery and irritable, you may be paying the price of poor blood make-up. Don't wait—start Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They contain an easily assimilable form of iron—fortified with a generous amount of Vitamin B_1—and are wonderfully effective in helping to build the rich, red blood so necessary to vigor and energy. 52 Quilts Made In Four Months

ROSENEATH, May 4—(ENS)—The Roseneath Branch of the Red Cross shipped to headquarters on Tuesday a quota of articles as follows:—18 pairs army socks, 18 pairs of gloves, 13 pairs of boys' stockings, 31 girls' jersey dresses, and 31 matching panties, 20 boys' coats, 32 girls' blouses, 32 girls' skirts and 42 quilts. The quilt convener, Mrs. Frank Brown, announced 52 quilts have been made and shipped since January, 1944. Several whole quilts, and all tops were donated.

These reports were presented at the regular meeting of the branch held Monday night. It was decided to hold a dance in June, the executive to arrange the etails.

Letters of thanks for overseas parcels were read by the secretary, Mrs. G. L. Tucker, from Vernal Linton, Jack Pacey, Frank McGrath Jim Smoke, Alvin Hagar, Cecil Tobico, Frank Mouncey, Melville George, Jack Arber, Jack Beaver and Ewart Tucker. Capt. D. P. Rowland, chaplain of the Irish Regiment, acknowledged receipt of a parcel for Wilburn Chubb, who died of wounds received in action in Italy.

Two letters of thanks were received and read from nursing sisters Capt. Elva Honey, in Italy and Deema Houghtailing in England. Capt. Honey told of meeting for the first time, a home town boy, Ewart Tucker, in Italy.

James S. Brown, treasurer, reported receipts for the past month as follows: from North School $27, Roseneath W.I. $30, and a donation of $10 from the Roseneath students attending Cobourg Collegiate. The donation was made from the proceeds of a dance and euchre sponsored by the students.

Mr. Brown announced $425 forwarded to headquarters.

A fancy quilt donated to the society by the honorary president, Mrs. Frank Nichol, was on display, and it was decided to sell tickets on the quilt, the draw to be made at the June dance.

LIKE THE ARMY—Reginald Palmer and his two sons have all been serving in the Army during the present war. The father (Right) served with the Veterans' Guard for 13½ months in this war, until poor health forced his discharge. At present he is employed at Genelco and lives at 597 Charlotte Street. His oldest son, Jack (Left), who is serving in Italy with the Irish Regiment of Canada, was wounded in February, and is returning to hospital again for further treatment. He is suffering from shrapnel wounds in the left hand. Pte. Palmer, 19, enlisted at Port Hope in July, 1940, and went overseas in March, 1943. Following his arrival overseas, he transferred to the Irish Regiment of Canada. Pte. Charles Palmer (Centre), the youngest boy, enlisted January 29, and took his basic training at Cornwall. He was formerly employed at the C.G.E. Both boys were formerly Examiner carrier boys at Bethany. The two are following in family tradition. Their grandfather, John Waker, 84, of Bethany, had three sons in the last war.

Original Oddfellows Member Given 50-Year Jewel

MILLBROOK, May 4—(ENS)—The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Oddfellows in Millbrook, which began on Sunday with Grand Master Byron E. Dundas, of London, as guest of honor, was continued on Monday with a banquet at 6.30 p.m. at St. Andrew's church. Over 250 guests sat down, and the Women's Association catered.

The colors of the hostess fraternity, red, white and blue, were carried out in the red roses, and the fluted runners on the white cloths, the head table being centred with the three-tiered birthday cake, with its quota of fifty tiny candles, and the emblems of Oddfellowship done in gold on the sides of each tier.

The Noble Grand of Millbrook Lodge I.O.O.F. No. 308, Rev. A. L. Sisco, was toastmaster for the occasion, the Grand Master being seated at his right, and the guest of honor, George E. Burnham, the only surviving member of the ten candidates who were initiated into the Lodge on its opening night, seated at his left.

The chairman read from the original minute book of Millbrook I.O.O.F., the fact that the Lodge was instituted by William H. Hoyle, Grand Master of Ontario, on May 1, 1894, that its charter was granted on August 1 of the same year, and that the first meeting was held in the Forresters' Hall. The original seven necessary to the institution of the Lodge included names familiar in community history: W. S. Given, editor of the Reporter for many years, and later elected Noble Grand; A. A. Smith, who practised law in the village for more than forty years, elected financial secretary; S. W. Clarke, recalled by older residents for his dental practice here; David Hampton, principal of the local school for more than half a century, elected treasurer; T. G. Harkness, George Fletcher, and W. O. Leach, elected recording secretary, whose father, Alfred Leach, was a druggist from pioneer days; and T. Newton. None of these now survive.

Presents Jewel

The Grand Master presented Mr. Burnham with his fifty years' veterans' jewel. Mr. Burnham recalled that on the night he was initiated, members of Otonabee Lodge arrived by special train from Peterborough, bringing with them 'an honest-to-goodness' goat, which they paraded down King street to the I.O.F. hall. "Twelve of us were slated for initiation that night, but when the time arrived, two were absent, having developed cold feet from the fear they might have to 'ride the goat' during the ritual."

A strong recommendation to young men seeking Lodge affiliation to link up with Oddfellowship and give it loyal support, concluded the guest of honor's remarks. In introducing him, prior to the presentation of the jewel, the toastmaster had recalled that Mr. Burnham was Noble Grand of Millbrook I.O.O.F. in 1899, had filled every other office within the Lodge, and in 1901 was the District-Deputy Grand Master. Pinning on the jewel, the Grand Master suggested he be sent as delegate to Grand Lodge in the current year, and mention was also made that the Grand Secretary, L. Brooks, had pinned on his veteran's jewel after twenty-five years of service.

Among those present were: P.D. D.G.M. Jos. Lancashire, of Peterborough, E. J. Padgham, D.D.G.M.; C. Hutchison, Grand Marshal, of London; Grand Herald S. Rowe, of Peterborough; Past Grand Chaplain, Rev. Gordon M. Maxwell, of Campbellford, who had pronounced the blessing before the banquet.

Following this, Wilfrid Elson, secretary of the local Lodge, proposed the toast to the Grand Lodge and to Oddfellowship, and G. T. McPherson, V.G. the one to the W.A., the president, Mrs. P. I. Bentley, responding.

War Project

The Grand Master's address had particular reference to the hospitality extended, advantages of Oddfellowship and the latter's war project of raising $50,000, the objective being almost reached. The fine work of the Rebekah Order; and the outstanding value of the I.O.O.F. Home at Barrie, was also discussed. His real address, Mr. Dundas said, would be saved for the later gathering at the I.O.O.F. hall where candidates had been initiated in the afternoon, and where a still larger number were put through at night, following the banquet, the degree team from Peterborough, under P.D.D.G.M. J. Lancashire, putting on the work.

As a final gesture before adjournment, the guest of honor cut the birthday cake. At the Lodge room an item of peculiar interest was the presentation to Millbrook I.O.O.F. of the handsome inlaid pedestal, constructed by S. Rowe, of Peterborough, during his term as D.D. G.M., and given annually to the Lodge in the district having the largest percentage of increase in membership during the year. The D.D.G.M., E. J. Padgham, made the presentation.

20 Jap Barges Sunk By Allies

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 4—(AP).—Allied planes, swift patrol torpedo boats and ground forces systemically are liquidating by-passed Japanese groups in north New Guinea while bombers ranged westward to neutralize enemy reinforcement points.

Allied headquarters today announced 20 Japanese barges, laden with supplies and troops, were sunk or damaged between Wewak and Aitape on New Guinea, an area in which 60,000 enemy troops were by-passed in the recent invasion of Hollandia.

A fairly large number of enemy soldiers were encountered by patrols in the Aitape area southeast of Hollandia. On April 28 one patrol met 200 Japanese at Kanti village eight miles south of Aitape and killed 59. The others fled.

Australian patrols, headquarters said, were pushing westward from Alexishafen and passed Rempi, five miles out, without meeting opposition. Fifty-eight booby traps were found buried on the Alexishafen airstrip.

Cost Of Children's Aid Small Dr. Vivian Says At Meeting

Of 50,000 children in Ontario last year who came under the attention and also under the ministration in some form or other of the Children's Aid Societies, only 4,500 entailed charges on municipalities, Honorable R. P. Vivian, M.D., Minister of Health in the Provincial Government, emphasized as guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society at the Empress Wednesday night.

Of those 50,000 children, an approximate number, there were 1,700 in complete adoption, 2,900 were children of unmarried parents; 32,000 were received into the charge of the societies, and 12,000 other children were actually in their care.

Examining that latter group of 12,000 children, Dr. Vivian said that 3,000 of them were not wards of the C.A.S., but the 9,000 others were in the care of the societies with approximately half of them placed in free homes with no obligation on the municipalities. Only that other half, or approximately 4,500, became charges on the municipalities, Dr. Vivian explained.

"The total of forty-nine or fifty thousand children received the excellent protection and the sympathetic attention and understanding of our Children's Aid Society in this province," the Minister said. "I feel that every community, whatever its size, must have an adequately planned program to look after such families in difficult circumstances in times of need. But, money becomes a local problem, and we have received many requests for increased grants to Children's Aid Societies. The minute you pass over your privileges as a society in exchange for financial help, you lose the greatest asset you or any other society possesses."

Dr. Vivian said that the ideal plan was found in a system of voluntary aid in association with some money obtained through taxes. And, he added, any community that could not meet its essential responsibility in this direction should have an examination of its heart, if not of its bank.

Large Attendance.

Hon. Dr. Vivian congratulated the members of Peterborough's Children's Aid Society on their large attendance at the dinner, reflecting their interest in a splendid and indispensible social enterprise. "The fact that we have been listening to your fifty-first annual reports assures me that this community of Peterborough has been deeply interested for many years in one of the problems that is closest to my heart in many jobs that come within my Department. Miss Rachel Young's magnificent report tops anything I've heard in a long time. I wish to pay tribute to all those in Peterborough and the district who have made the Children's Aid Society a thorough going concern."

Alderman Dutton, president of the society, was the dinner chairman, and among those with him and the Minister of Health at the head table were Mayor Hamilton, Bishop J. R. MacDonald, Judge S. L. Smoke, Magistrate O. A. Langley, Harold R. Scott, M.P.P., T. J. Carley, K.C., C. S. Cummer, A. W. Archibald, E. B. Fowler and Miss Young.

Ladies were numerically prominent in the dinner assembly.

Referring to the statement by Mr. Dutton that it was a great satisfaction to know that the Department of Health was re-establishing mental health clinics, Dr. Vivian said that the mental instability of a large number of our people was a serious problem "and we might as well realize it and face it. It is one of our greatest problems. The rejection of many of our men called for military service is due to that one fact."

The Minister said that many failures in life "should be laid at our doorsteps because we have failed to provide necessary education through which the mental health clinic could play a part. By its agency something helpful could be done toward better emotional development and adjustment and to assist clinical cases toward self-understanding that would enable such persons to take a place in life in which they could earn their own living."

Dr. Vivian also suggested that the social accomplishment of the Children's Aid Society encouraged the idea of its extension from particular families and children to a more general family service that would cover the needs of more individuals and more members of families than dependent children.

Work Increased

"With our present staff it is impossible to do adequately the work that needs to be done," said Mr. Dutton in a presidential summary of last year's activities.

On behalf of the Society, the chairman extended a broad sweep of gratitude to all those who had assisted, members of the city and county councils, the police department and the civic staffs generally, to the Community Chest Fund, and finally to the Department of Public Welfare for its help and guidance.

Mr. Dutton expressed appreciation of the action of the city council in re-asserting the curfew restriction. The number of young girls on the streets at nights, even to late hours, was causing every member of the Society and citizens generally anxiety for the welfare of the young people. The danger was that they were "laying themselves open to the way of temptation that was bound to come to young girls" without protection in the circumstances of companionship and youth. "We think the council has moved in the right direction, and we feel that we will have the prudent cooperation of the authorities in seeing that these dangers are lessened in so far as it lies within their care and supervision."

Alderman Dutton also mentioned the advisibility of establishing a family relations court which could extend its agency from Peterborough to Lindsay and Cobourg, in a joint community service of which the need was becoming more urgent. To Miss Young and to Mr. and Mrs. McMillan at the Children's Shelter, and to the other members of the staff Mr. Dutton expressed appreciation for their co-operation in a busy year of responsibility.

578 Families Attended

Miss Young reported that 578 families came to the attention of the Society in the year 1943-1944, an increase of nine. For the Department of National Defense 356 investigations were made, an increase of 95 over the previous year. The administrations of the Dependents Allowance Cheques involved $5,202.23. "Quite a number of requests come from the Dependents Allowance Board and from chaplains in regard to home situations to help alleviate the fears of fathers and husbands overseas.

Besides the 17 children who were placed in the Shelter by the Police, pending Court or other action, 42 children received care at the Shelter. Of these 42—19 were temporarily in the Shelter when found without supervision or during the parent's illness; the rest were our wards, of whom 13 have been placed in foster homes; one returned to his parent and 9 are at present in the Shelter. A total of 3,716 days' care, an increase of 146 days, was given during the year. To Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan I wish to express my appreciation for their interest and co-operation in doing a difficult job.

"In the 578 families, involving over 1,000 children, with whom we came in contact, it was necessary to make only 15 of the children wards—4 of these being permanent wards. It should not always be a source of satisfaction that only a few children are made wards but the difficulty in proving neglect makes it necessary to leave children in situations which are far from happy. We would like to emphasise that we believe a child's own parents are the most precious possessions as long as they accept their responsibilities but there is a point beyond which no child can get benefit from living in its own home. It is our feeling that sometimes we have to go far beyond this point before neglect can be proven. In this too, the citizens are sometimes critical of us and fail to recognize our position.

"The need for foster homes for the placement of illegitimate children pending some permanent plan has at times more than exhausted the homes available. To give these babies a good start in life the Society must assist in the securing of foster homes. The mother often emotionally upset, is sometimes unable to make her decision as to what her future plans will be and wishes placement of her baby for a period of time. If this seems best for all then as a Society we must accept the responsibility. A total of 15,618 days in boarding home care, an increase of 1,044 days, was given during the year.

"Thirty-four adoptions as compared with 19 in the previous year were completed. The demand for babies for adoption is much greater than we can meet. In their great longing to get a child we find that, through other sources, adopting parents become interested in a child whose background makes it totally unsuited for that home. Occasionally children get into homes without the knowledge of the Society. necessary papers are not signed by the mother, there may have been neglect in the registration of the birth or the birth may have been registered in other than the mother's name. These things do not always come to light until at the conclusion of the 2 year period when final papers are to be secured. It is unfair to the mother of the child who has to have the whole question opened up and it is also unfair to the adopting parents who sometimes have a fear that the child who has become very much a part of their family may not become legally theirs.

"We are fortunate in the foster parents who have offered to provide a home for our children. The pride taken in these children; the interest in their welare and the feeling on the part of the child that he is wanted are valuable assets.

"With the average of 50 children to keep clothed, many wearisome and fruitless hours were spent in shopping. The difficulty and, in some instances, impossibility of securing clothing was often overcome by the donations of children's clothing and the passing on from child to child outgrown clothing.

Unmarried Parents

There was no increase in the unmarried parent work during the past year. Exactly the same number of cases were referred to us.

As in the previous year we have, however, put considerably more time on the work and we feel, have been of more assistance in planning with the girls. Very few girls have wished any assistance in securing maintenance from the putative father. Where the man has not volunteered to give that help, the majority of the girls wish to be independent. This has been comparatively easy when employment has been so plentiful and it has also indicated that, contrary to many reports, the girls will accept their responsibility if there is work to be secured."

A vote of thanks to Hon. Dr. Vivian who had been introduced by Harold Scott, was moved by Mrs. James Wharry. Mrs. Lawrie Mitchell delighted the dinner company with a vocal solo.

Airman Has Corns Discovers It's Money

DARTMOUTH, N.S., May 4—(CP).—A hobbling airman at an R.C.A.F. station here complained that corns on his right foot were "killing him." The examining medical officer found what seemed to be a bump of padding under the inner sole of the airman's boot.

He pried up the lining to discover a cache of $50 bills. The airman confessed to having $2,000 hidden in the boot—and a quick count proved it.

The M.O. advised the airman to invest the money in Victory Bonds, adding: "It will earn you dividends instead of corns." The boy took his advice.

Fire Department To Get 22 New Uniforms

Purchase of 22 uniforms for the fire department from Grafton & Company, Limited, $43.75 a suit and extra trousers, was authorized by the council Monday night in the report of the fire and light committee by Alderman Sullivan, chairman, Monday night. Only one tender was received.

Grafton & Company also submitted the only bid for shirts and caps. Purchase was left to the chairman and Chief Gimblett "with power to act."

Five tenders were received for supply of 1,000 feet of 2½ inch fire hose. The committee recommended equal distribution of the contract, 200 feet from each firm at $1.70 a foot.

The tenders, identical in price at $1.70, were received from: Campbell & Best; Peterborough Automotive Supply; F. H. Johnston, McDonnell and George street; J. J. Duffus Company; and J. K. Hughes.

Other clauses in the light committee's report were:

That to facilitate the get-away of fire apparatus from the fire station, the east curb of Aylmer street be moved back two feet in the space between the entrance to the laneway to the tree in front of the entrance to the Salvation Army Young People's Temple.

That the two old pieces of fire apparatus be sold but that the body of No. 2 apparatus be retained to be mounted on a new chassis.

That a new truck chassis be purchased for the fire department, tenders being called in accordance with the specifications to be given by the fire chief."

City Planning

The report of the special committee on city planning was adopted as follows:

That the following committee of citizens be appointed to study and recommend upon technical matters concerned with the preparation of a town planning plan for the city: Alderman James Dutton (chairman), J. W. Pierce, A. G. Northover, A. J. Girdwood, R. H. Parsens, Hubert Eastwood, Walter Blackwell, R. J. McGrath, Gordon Monkman, Ross Dobbin, Ald. G. F. Curtis, and that this committee make its recommendations and reports to the council's special town planning committee, arrange its own meetings and recommend what technical asistance it requires in order to complete its surveys satisfactorily.

The Board of Education be asked to place at the disposal of the town planning committee, if required, the room in the South Central School formerly used for civilian defence purposes.

May Go On Air

Prospect of radio talks by the members of the council was outlined in the following report of a special committee by Alderman Sands:

'Hal. Cooke, manager of Radio Station CHEX, informed your committee that as a public service the radio station was desirous of giving as much as 15 minutes daily, between 6 and 6:15 o'clock in the evening to the city in order that members of the council and officials of the city might discuss public questions and outline the work and problems of the council and its departments. A discussion followed relative to the wide number of topics that might properly be used on the program, and also as to whether it should be a daily program and if a daily program if the period of time used daily might be better reduced to five minutes.

We recommend that the city council accept the fine offer of Radio Station CHEX to grant the city up to 15 minutes free-time daily at 6:00 o'clock in the evening for a program on civic matters, and that the details in respect to arranging such a program be referred to the council for decision."

Dynamiters Displace 35,000 Tons Of Rock

HAVELOCK, May 4 — (ENS) — About thirty-five thousand tons of trap rock, enough to provide summer employment for a gang of quarry workers, was displaced at the Annual blast, engineered by the Ontario Rock Quarry, three miles east of Havelock.

Nearly six tons of dynamite, proportioned in 36 charges, ranging in size from 3 to 12 cases each were used in the project.

This makes the 15th annual blast conducted at the quarry under the Superintendent, Harry Scott. His brother, Clifford Scott, was in charge of tunnelling operations and the electric wiring. The dynamite charges were wired in four series, with 12 to a series. Success of the undertaking was attributed to careful engineering of the Superintendent who doubled the wires of each series to ensure simultaneous explosions.

Limestone and shale taken from the quarry every year is used as a road surface for provincial and municipal highways, and also the finer prticles for roofing products.

Students Give Show At Literary Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, May 4—(ENS) —A varied musical program featured the entertainment provided by Form II pupils of Campbellford High School, at the regular meeting of the Literary Society on Monday.

Described by the critic as short, but entertaining, the program was warmly received by the school audience. It opened with a chorus singing, "I Met Her By the River of the Roses," followed by two other popular numbers, "It's Love, Love, Love" and "San Fernando Valley." Donna Owens offered a vocal solo, "I Just Kissed Your Picture Goodnight" and encored with, "My Heart Tells Me," after which Muriel Osborne contributed a humorous article entitles, "The Groom Gets a Write Up." A skit that bore the announcement, "Given At Joe's" provided a feature attraction which took the form of a jam session by Jean Wood and Barbara Rowe and the concluding number was a solo on an instrument described by its player, Douglas Free, as a flutina.

Tragedy Comes Twice In Day

LONDON, Ont., May 4—(CP)— Shortly after Mrs. G. R. Hill and her family had found temporary shelter at a neighbour's house after being evicted from their own home Monday night, she was handed a telegram informing her that her son had been killed in an airplane crash near Winnipeg.

He was 21-year old Harold Gordon Hill, a staff pilot at No. 5 Air Observers' School at Winnipeg, fatally injured late Sunday night when his plane crashed near Neepawa, Manitoba.

"This is a terrible blow," said the mother last night, "coming as it does after being evicted from our home. During the excitement of being evicted Monday I fainted and suffehed a partial stroke which paralyzed one side of my face. Now this terrible thing has happened."

Mrs. Hill said she was going to put up a tent to live in, but had been restrained by a neighbour, Mrs. E. Yorke, who took the family in.

"It was raining hard and I have had a bad chest cold so I guess it was just as well we didn't put up the tent," said Mrs. Hill.

Shannick Home Saved From Spreading Fire

BANCROFT, May 4—(ENS)—The farm home of Mr. Gustave Shannick of Monteagle was threatened Sunday afternoon when fire destroyed the large barn and two other adjacent buildings on his farm.

Mr. Shannick was lying down at the time the fire broke out. His son had come in later in the afternoon to have a rest and it is thought that perhaps the fire started from a cigarette dropped in the dry grass. It spread quickly to the large new barn and neighbours seeing the blaze hurried over. Mr. Shannick and his son with their help were able to extricate all the stock from the blazing buildings as well as most of the farm machinery but he lost approximately five hundred bushels of wheat as well as a large quantity of hay.

Mr. Shannick lost his home several years ago by fire and has a practically new home in which he now resides. He is quite handicapped at his farm work as two of his boys were in the armed services and one son has been killed in this war. The other son is on duty in Canada while a third is working in Hamilton.

Personnel of the Department of Lands and Forests situated at Bancroft seeing the fire from one of their towers despatched two of their men with apparatus to help stem the blaze. They were able to keep it from spreading to the dwelling and the nearby bush.

Star Class Plans Picnic

Mrs. Harold Nicholls, McDonnel street, was hostess for the May meeting of the Star Class of George Street Sunday School. The theme for the evening was "Mother." Mrs. Robert Kitchen and Miss Violet Lowes sang a duet, "My Mother's Bible," and "Mother's Day" readings were given by Mrs. L. Brown, Mrs. Ernest Beatty, Mrs. P. Hetherington, Mrs. Harold Nicholls, and Miss Gladys Walker.

Mrs. W. Young read the scripture during the devotional period, and Mrs. Ernest Beatty, who presided, led in prayer. Plans were begun for a picnic, to be held in June. After a contest, in which all joined, refreshments were served. Mrs. P. Hetherington, class teacher, moved the vote of thanks to the hostess.

Members of the choir, which presented the Easter cantata, and the women who helped make the robes for the choir boys, were entertained at a social evening Wednesday, in the basement of St. George's Church. Games and community singing were enjoyed, and refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Cole and her committee. During the evening, Mrs. W. White, convener of the sewing committee, was presented with a gift by Rev. E. C. Moore, on behalf of all members of the choir. Rev. No Medicine Ever Helped Me Like Syntona Did, He Says

. . . the Only Thing That Gave Relief From Itching, Burning Eczema On Hands and Face. Also Suffered With Stomach Gas, Acidity, Dizzy Spells and Headaches.

MR. JOHN NICHOLSON

The great popularity of Syntona is not surprising, for this medicine actually does give wonderful results, as vouched for by the many reputable men and women who have used it. Compounded from no less than 12 of Nature's Finest Medicinal Herbs, Roots and Barks, Syntona is a safe tonic for the whole family at this season. It is pleasant to take and many say that even after the first few days the whole system takes on a new feeling of energy and vigor. To-day we quote the experience of Mr. John E. Nicholson, 312 Dundas Street, London, as reported recently:

"For more than ten years I was troubled with acid indigestion, gastritis, and biliousness. I was subject to throbbing, blinding headaches, and dizzy spells. Itching, burning eczema would break out on my hands and face and I tried all kinds of ointment and medicine, but couldn't get rid of it. My condition kept me awake nights, so I became very nervous and irritable.

"A friend advised me to try Syntona, but I had been disappointed in so many medicines that I didn't think it would help me. Finally, however, when I had a particularly bad spell, I made up my mind to take Syntona, and I am surely glad I did. It rid me of that indigestion, biliousness, and headaches. Then, my nerves became relaxed and I began to get my proper sleep. Soon I found the eczema was subsiding and my complexion began to clear. Now I am feeling just fine once more. I think it is just wonderful the way Syntona has helped me, and I am only too glad to be able to recommend it to any one who is troubled similarly."

Make up your mind to begin taking Syntona to-day. See how much better you, too, will be feeling in just a short time. Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Mr. F. Whatley presented the prizes to the winning teams: Agnew Surpass, first; City Hall 1, second; and Maher, third. City Hall 2 won the consolation prize, and one was also given to Braund's 2, the last team in the league standing.

Milliken won the prize for the high average, with 193; Margaret Parker was winner of the high three, with 827; and Jean Thomas won the high single, with 334. In the men's bracket, Harold Mesley was tops for high average with 215; Clare McGillen led the field in the high three, with a total of 823; while Roy Penrose won the high single with a score of 426. Members of the executive also received gifts. Mr. W. Jeffery, who retired as president, was presented with a gift on behalf of the League by Mr. M. Armitage; Mrs. H. Cawker, secretary, was presented with a gift by Mrs. P. DeWolfe, and Mr. J. Stuart, retiring treasurer, received his gift from Mr. W. Moorhead. Lily Lake W.A. Conducts Service

Members of the Lily Lake Women's Association conducted the service of the Lily Lake Sunday School last Sunday. The original president, Mrs. Gordon Hancock, acted as superintendent and offered the opening prayer.

Mrs. Hancock, on behalf of the W.A., thanked the superintendent, Mr. Arthur Hancock and the directors of the Sunday School for the opportunity to meet together in a group and take charge of the Sunday School. She extended an invitation to any woman in the community to join the society.

She said that the text chosen for the initial meeting five years ago, "Take heed now for the Lord hath chosen thee to build a house for the sanctuary; be strong and do it" was even more timely today than it was then. She pointed out that the materials and tools were at hand and each must do his own share. It might have been only a word, a dollar or a kind deed, fulfilling a need.

Mrs. F. W. Rowland gave the Scripture reading and Mrs. Hancock offered prayer. Mrs. Harry Fowler sang "Home Sweet Home," accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Nelson Foster. Mrs. James Shields passed the collection plate, while Mrs. J. A. Middleton, former teacher in the Sunday School told the children a story, 'Pure Clean Through." Mrs. Ernest Ireland drew attention to the flowers placed in memory of the late Mrs. C. J. Hancock and Mrs. Stanley Blewett and stated the flowers would be sent to Mrs. Thomas McIvor, who was unable to be present because of illness. Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss, a Sunday school teacher, gave a commentary on the scripture lesson. She told of the five talent class of people, the two talent class and the one, illustrating her points by narrating stories and giving biographies of well-known people.

The hymn, "Though Your Sins Be As Scarlet," was sung by a trio consisting of Mrs. Robert Falls, Mrs. Orville Young and Mrs. Arthur Beardsmore, accompanied by Mrs. George Middleton.

Mrs. James Hatherly distributed the Sunday school papers, while the regular secretary, Miss Audrey Hatherly read the report. The attendance was 70. Mrs. Walter McKee was pianist and Mrs. Hancock pronounced the benediction.

Butler-Southgate Vows Pledged

Ferns and snap-dragons formed a floral background in Mark Street United Church Wednesday, when Rev. E. W. Rowland united in marriage Shirley Marie Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Butler, Sophia street, and James Southgate, son of Mrs. Charles Lowe. Mrs. E. W. Rowland was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white triple sheer over taffeta, with a smocked yoke, and shirred waist band. Her shoulder-length veil of white net was caught to her head with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and gypsophelia.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Edna Butler, as bridesmaid. She was frocked in white triple sheer over taffeta, with a lace yoke buttoned to the waist with tiny self-covered buttons. She wore a wreath of pink blossoms and blue ribbon in her hair, and carried a bouquet of baby pink carnations.

Mr. Clifford Lowe was best man, and Staff Sgt. F. A. Worsencroft was the usher.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received, in green printed silk, a black hat, and a corsage of pink roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in mauve crepe, with a sand hat, and a corsage of pink roses.

For a trip to Huntsville, the bride chose a gold and blue silk jersey dress, beige coat, and blue accessories. On their return, the young couple will live at 188 Reid street.

MONEY VITAL IN MARRIAGE

Happiness Comes Only When Love Is Abetted By Ability to Meet Expenses.

CONSIDERING that happiness in matrimony is largely a matter of money, it is strange how difficult it is to combine the two successfully. Somehow marriage and money just don't seem to mix well, and this is true whether there is too much of it or too little, or which hand totes the pocketbook.

The traditional attitude towards this matter is that money has nothing to do with love's young dream, and that there is no price tag on romance. Misled by this false propaganda, thousands upon thousands of penniless boys and girls rush to the altar in the fond belief that if they can only have each other they will never hunger or thirst again, or take an interest in clothes, or desire any other amusement than just billing and cooing and taking the temperature of each other's affections.

Living Expenses Require Money

But, alas and alack, it does not take them long to find out that even wedding rings have to be paid for, and that whether a marriage turns out happily or not depends, to a large extent, upon its financial backing. For none of us are concerned with the state of our hearts when our stomachs are clamoring for steaks, nor do we take any interest in asking our mates "do you love me?" when the burning question is where the money is to come from to pay the rent. Angelina isn't so glamorous when she can't afford a fresh wave or a new frock, and when she looks at shabby, run-down-at-the-heel, discouraged Percival, she wonders what made her do it.

Of course, love isn't for sale over the counter and you can't buy matrimonial felicity with money but neither is there any happiness in the homes where the wolf is always howling at the door.

Certainly there is no topic that provokes so many bitter quarrels in the family circle as the money question. The average husband resents the cost of supporting a family, and the average wife writhes under the humiliation of having to go like a beggar to her husband for the money she has earned a hundred times over by her labor in the home. So they fight like a cat and dog over the bills, and dread the first of every month as they do the Judgment Day.

Poor Boy, Rich Girl Affair Poses Problem

Curiously enough, one of the insoluble problems of marriage arises when a poor boy and a rich girl fall in love and want to marry each other. He is a fine, independent lad with plenty of ability to succeed on his own, and he can't bear to think of himself degenerating into being nothing but a pensioner on a rich wife. But if he marries the girl he loves that is his inevitable fate. So which shall it be, love and money, or independence without love? And there is small chance for happiness in either choice.

"Give me neither poverty nor riches" prayed a wise man of old. That prayer goes double in matrimony, for the happiest marriages are those in which love and money are mixed. About half and half.

Peter Robinson IODE Plans Rummage Sale

Mrs. W. Fitzgerald and Mrs. James Heffernan were named co-conveners for the rummage sale being sponsored by the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the meeting of the chapter Wednesday evening. The sale will be held May 18, in the vacant store opposite Hood and Cummings Motors, on George street.

The announcement was also made of the garden tea, being held June 14 at the home of Mrs. W. Derry. The draw for the basket of groceries will be made then, and other features will include apron sale, a home-cooking table, and a new type of white elephant table.

Mrs. H. Steggles, war convener, asked that mitts for the Corvette Peterborough be handed in, because they were urgently needed. Mrs. G. Ham and her group were in charge of the Monday evening dance at the Y.W.C.A., the last of the season. The Chapter however, will have charge of the Thursday evening entertainment at the Uptown Recreation Centre for the month of May. Mrs. V. Selkirk's group has charge of the first Thursday; Mrs. R. Lewis and her group, the second Thursday; Mrs. M. Hardill and her group, the third Thursday; and Mrs. S. C. Warne and her group, the fourth Thursday.

Mrs. W. L. Hardwicke is supervising the Opportunity Chest, another project of the chapter. Members all send donations of knitted articles, or something equally hard to get, and they are sold. It was announced that the Training Centre hospital was well supplied with reading matter, but that magazines to be sent to Halifax were urgently needed. Members were also asked to help with the Hospital Penny Sale, on Saturday, May 27.

The bridge tournament winners received their prizes. Winners in Mrs. I. H. Keefer's group were Mrs. C. S. Browne and Mrs. J. A. Dewart, with Mrs. G. E. Putnam and Mrs. S. Braund as runners-up. Mrs. B. V. Moore and Mrs. W. Belleghem were winners in Mrs. C. L. Upper's group, and Mrs. C. H. Spearin and Mrs. H. White, were runners-up.

After reports of the recent convention in Hamilton had been given by Mrs. K. G. Currie, Mrs. M. H. Ingram and Mrs. C. L. Upper, the regent, refreshments were served to the members, and non-members who had played in the tournaments. Mrs. N. Hamley and her group were in charge. Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, accompanied by Miss Musa Cox, sang "In the Glad Spring Time," and "Tommy Lad." C. H. Huffman gave two readings, "Bargain Day," and "How the War was Settled."

Quick And Easy Company Dinners Are Requested

By MARY MOORE

"Dear Mary Moore: This letter is long overdue.." (This reader doesn't want her letter quoted but since the need is such an universal one I'll outline her trouble: Quick and easy company dinners, when you have two small children, a large house and no help.

This ambitious lady finds entertaining quite a chore yet loves to do it. She wants dishes that can be prepared, at least, partially, the night before.

Another thing she asked for were luncheon suggestions for pre-school children one of whom complains, "What, mummy, eggs again!"

Theories and generalities are the safest thing for me to give you, Mrs. J., because you know what is available in your stores and what you can afford—but specific menus are the most helpful.

I fit into your category quite nicely and recently served the two meals I am about to describe to two different groups of guests.

Company Menu No. 1

Standing Ribs of Beef
Riced Potatoes
Macedoine of Canned Vegetables
Chopped Celery Moulded in Tomato Jelly on Lettuce
Mayonnaise
Jam Pudding — Sweet Cream Sauce
Coffee

You will note the jam pudding calls for only ⅓ cup sugar, butter is optional; the vegetables are canned but available, and the salad and sauce are prepared day before. The pudding can be partially mixed day before too.

A nice mixture of vegetables, which need only to be heated, mixed together in top of double boiler are kernel corn, peas, green beans.

A nice addition to the mixed vegetables is a tablespoon chopped pimiento—if you can buy this or grow them in the summer it can be worked nicely. Butter could be added just before sending to table—the liquids would be drained off of course.

Celery in Tomato Jelly

To make the jelly soak 1⅓ tablespoons gelatin in ¼ cup tomato juice 5 minutes. Heat 1¾ cups tomato juice with ¼ cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 bay leaf, ½ teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon cayenne for 5 minutes. Strain. Add to gelatin while hot, stirring to dissolve it. When almost cold but not set add 1½ cup chopped celery, or mixed celery, cabbage, and green pepper.

Jam Pudding

One-half cup good quality shortening (or ½ shortening, ½ butter), 3 beaten eggs, 1 cup jam of any kind, 1½ cups flour, ⅓ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup buttermilk, ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Cream the butter with the eggs and jam. Add flour slowly, beating to blend. Add sugar and beat light. Add cinnamon. (Up to this point the pudding could be made day before.) When ready to steam, dissolve the soda in the buttermilk and beat into batter. Turn into greased baking pan, and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes. Serve hot with Cream Sauce: (which may be made ahead of time). Three-quarters cup sugar, 1 egg white, 3 egg yolks, 1 cup cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Combine all ingredients and beat until light. Heat over hot water, beating until foamy when yolks will be cooked. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Stir well.

Company Dinner No. 2

Stewed Chicken with Dumplings
Shredded Carrots
Tossed Green Salad
Orange Charlotte — Coffee

The dumplings would have to be added to the stew after the guests arrive. Your husband would have to entertain the guests while you gave them their last mixing with milk, and dropped them in. While waiting you could pass some tomato juice flavored with lemon juice and salt in the living room.

The carrots could be shredded and barely covered with water and a lid in the morning of the day you entertain. They may be cooked in this soaking water and water can be used for soup.

The tossed green salad may be prepared in a large bowl nice enough to use as a centre-piece in your table. Put in it finely sliced radishes, plenty of head lettuce, pulled into small pieces by hand, diagonally cut celery, fine slices of tomato, and as soon as ready moisten it with either French dressing or mayonnaise to coat all cut surfaces and preserve vitamins. Cover tightly while it stands.

Orange Charlotte

Two tablespoons gelatin, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ⅓ cup sugar, 1 cup orange juice (or carbonated orange beverage), 1 egg white beaten stiff. Soak gelatin in 1-3 cup cold water and dissolve over boiling water. Stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice and sugar. Cool. Add orange juice. When mixture is nearly firm beat very well. Add white of egg folding into mixture. Line a mould with strips of stale cake, lady fingers, or vanilla wafers and pour into mould and chill. Turned out on fancy plate this looks very attractive, and may be made well ahead of time.

Children's lunches will be dealt with next week.

QUESTION—I want to copy without appearing to. A friend of mine makes a spaghetti ring and fills it with chicken ala king mixture—it is very good, and the chicken stretches farther than it would on toast I think.

Now I have a notion noodles would be nice with salmon too. Have you heard of such a combination? If so would you send it on to me, My family is very fond of fish and I like to make a one-piece hot dish for lunch. Thanking you for past help.

DOT. S.

ANSWER—A casserole of mixed salmon and noodles is a grand dish.

Baked Salmon and Noodles

Three cups cooked noodles (the ¼-inch wide flat noodles may be bought from Italian fruit shops), 2 cups cooked flaked, or canned salmon, 1 1-3 cups milk, 1 egg, buttered bread crumbs. Put one-third of the noodles seasoned with salt and pepper in a buttered baking dish. Cover with half the salmon, dot with butter. Repeat with noodles, salmon butter and noodles. Top with buttered crumbs and pour in about ½ to ¾ cup boiling water (tomato juice is also nice). Bake until browned about 25 minutes. These amounts serve 6.

Creamed salmon containing plenty of parsley and grated rind of lemon would be very good in a noodle ring.

QUESTION—You often mention a lemon pudding in your menus, but I wish you would print a recipe for it. There's one lemon pudding where the crumbs are mixed with the pudding but rise to the top when baked. Have you it? If so I'd like to have it very much.

MRS. OAKES.

ANSWER—The baked lemon pudding I like best follows:

Lemon Crumb Pudding

Two cups scalded milk, 2 cups dry bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg well beaten, grated rind one lemon, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon melted butter. Pour scalded milk, over fine bread crumbs and remaining ingredients. Mix and pour into a shallow greased baking dish. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes. Serve hot with soft custard sauce, cream or top milk.

QUESTION—Years ago you gave us a recipe for a brown sugar angel food cake, and now I see a very high class bakery in our district is making an orange angel food, and my husband wants one. They cost 75 cents and my budget can't cope with that. Please come to my help again.

ANSWER—My orange sponge cake is a pretty grand affair when the topping is considered. I'll give you the works and let you decide whether you will make the topping or not—It's definitely a company spread.

Orange Spongecake—With Orange Topping

Five egg yolks, 1¼ cups sugar, ½ cup orange juice, ½ cup water, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon grated orange peel, 5 egg whites. Beat egg yolks, sugar and orange juice for 10 minutes with rotary hand or electric beater. Add water, and beat 2 minutes. And flour, sifted with baking powder and salt. Beat about 1 minute, or only until the dry ingredients have been quickly and thoroughly blended into mixture. Fold in the grated peel and egg whites beaten stiff but not dry. Bake in 9-inch ungreased tube pan at 350 deg. Fahr. for 70 minutes. Serve plain or cut in 3 layers spread with:

Orange Topping:

¼ cup cold water, 1 tablespoon gelatin, 4 egg yolks, ¾ cup sugar, 1 cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 4 egg whites, ¼ cup sugar. Soak gelatin in cold water, cook yolks, sugar and orange juice together, stirring, until thick. Add gelatin, stirring, then rind. Cool. Add beaten whites to which sugar is added. Chill. Grated fresh cocoanut is an attractive garnish.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Like the skyscrapers that dare to soar 80 stories high, New York fashions have the assurance to dare to challenge the world. The opportunities, the competition, the inspiration of the greatest city on earth attract the top creative talent with dramatic results. There is a brightness to New York fashions because the critical eye of this great metropolis demands it. There is a freshness to the New York fashions because the stimuli of the city inspire it. There is an authority to New York fashions because one of the most exacting cities accepts them. For your spring wardrobe of 1944 choose your styles from the city of fashion, from discriminating New York to discriminating you.

A striking example of the new town cottons. A cool, sophisticated two-piece with nipped in waist and peplum fullness to give you an intriguing figure. Carry this out in white stripes, on either black or navy. The skirt is plain, the waist with peplum and tie belt. Short sleeves and V neck with pique collar and cuffs and white pique coller beret hat. Another smart suit, a combination of cotton and rayon crepe. A plain black rayon skirt, topped with a black and white plaid cotton jacket. The jacket is collarless and has a two-button fastening. A white lace jabot is worn at the throat, white gloves, and a large flat brimmed sailor hat in black coarse straw with plain band and bow.

The new milk-maid bonnet is the last word in millinery. A tiny scoop brim frames your face with flowers at the side to give it that worldly touch. This is shown in either felt or straw with or without the flower trimming.

Another very new hat in white felt, small, double brimmed sailor, with a rose fastened on edge of brim in front, and it rests against the forehead.

The new forward visor beret in natural straw, with cluster of pink roses in front. A forward tilting butter plate pill box of toast straw braid with eyebrow veil of chantilly lace. A bonnet of turquoise blue felt, worn very much forward, its only trimming being three bows of satin ribbon, poised on top of the bonnet. A nose veil of black is worn. These are just a few of the very new styles in hats that will soon make their appearance, as the smartest styles to be worn between early spring and midsummer.

IN MEMORIAM

SCULLY—In loving memory of my dear mother, Annie Catherine Scully, who passed away, May 4, 1939.

Your faint last wish we would like to have heard,
And breathed in your ear one last parting word,
Only those who have lost are able to tell
The pain of the heart in not saying farewell.

—Sadly missed by daughter Amy, Ed. and family, Toronto, Ont.

SCULLY—In loving memory of my dear mother, Annie Catherine Scully, who passed away, May 4, 1939.

Five years have passed, dear mother
Since you were called away,
How well do we remember,
That sad and weary day.

—Sadly missed by her daughter, Millie, Ted of R.C.O.C. overseas and children, Toronto.

SCULLY—In loving memory of my darling mother, Annie Catharine Scully, who passed away May 4, 1939.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are past.
In silence she suffered, in patience
she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer
no more.
Two little words not hard to write
But I'll remember them all my life,
"My Mother".

—Nettie.

Air Cadet Sqdn. Holds Smart Inspection

HAVELOCK, May 4 (ENS) — The Annual Inspection of Air Cadet Squadron No. 149, Havelock, was a highly successful event on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The first part of the program was held at the Town Hall where an extensive array of posters, showing the accomplishment of the local Squadron and loaned material from the Royal Candian Air Force for training purposes.

The first booth held a display of Meteorology, dealing with the science of weather, and atmosphere, with climatic conditions and causes for storms explained by the Cadets. In the Navigation booth, instruments, including altimeters, band indicators, prismatic compass and computers, such as are used by modern aircraft navigators were viewed by several of the Cadets. Those in the Squadron, who are interested in shooting, were thrilled to display the "Cooey 22" rifles, correct sighting methods and targets used for winter practise, in the Armament Section. Knots, lashings and hitches of different types and for many uses, were displayed with great enthusiasm.

In the Anti-gas equipment, visitors were priviledged to go into the gas chamber, where tear gas was quite evident. Gas masks, capes, ointment, etc., were on display. In the signal department, guests observed the proficiency of the Cadets in operation of signals, buzzers and the Aldis lamp.

Know Their Work

The display table of airplane models made by the Squadron showed particular talents in the aircraft recognition department. Also a lamp was displayed for showing slides on the screen of operational aircraft.

First-Aid is of the greatest importance to aviators, with special lessons in St. John Ambulance work, bandaging, artificial respiration and stretcher work.

A sample Aero Engine, loaned through the kindness of the R.C.A.F. was completely dismantled and described, showing the functions of push rods, and rocker-arms.

Reviewed By Commander

The highlight of the afternoon was the March Past, and Ceremonial Review, commencing at 3.45 p.m. Led by the 21-piece Drum and trumpet Band of No. 164 Squadron of Peterborough, the parade marched from the Hall to the reviewing base of the playground, where they were inspected by the Reviewing Officer, Squadron Leader D. H. Currie, the senior Command Cadet Officer.

After the March Past, the Squadron formed a hollow square for Ceremonial review, when Flt.-Lieut. T. H. O'Rourke presented the Air Cadet Ensign, which was dedicated with prayer by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson. In presenting the ensign Flt.-Lieut. O'Rourke highly congratulated the Squadron for the progress they had made under the guiding hand of Commanding Officer R. W. Goheen and Adjutant G. E. Jones. The secret of Air Cadet movements popularity is the fact that Cadets receive instructions and experience that places them in a preferred status should they wish to enlist with the R. C. A. F. in later years, he declared.

A banquet, under the supervision of the Women's Auxiliary was served in the United Church. In the evening an entertainment was held in the Town Hall in the form of a Quiz Program, under the direction of H. Jamieson, after which dancing was enjoyed.

Germans Launch Fear Campaign

LISBON, May 4 — (AP) — Nazi authorities have launched a fear campaign throughout Europe in an effort to keep civilians from reading propaganda leaflets dropped by Allied raiders.

The Nazi stories tell of explosive fountain pens and even of "poisoned" soap wrapped with propaganda leaflets.

Official warnings emphasize that possession of subversive leaflets dropped by Allied planes is punishable by death. Nazi officials, however, appear to be worried at the prospect of ten of thousands of civilians picking up precious cakes of soap and priceless packages of cigarettes wrapped in propaganda explaining that there are plenty more such things where these came from.

Man Gets 3 Months For Bicycle Theft

LINDSAY, May 4. — (ENS):— George Ernest Graham was sentenced to 3 months definite and 3 months indefinite in the reformatory in Magistrate E. A. Gee's court this week, when he pleaded guilty to stealing a bicycle from the village of Omemee.

Graham rode the bicycle to Lindsay, damaged the wheel and was arrested later in Omemee by Constable R. E. Brooks. A few months ago Graham was let off on suspended sentence in Peterborough, when he was found guilty of writing a threatening letter and sending it to his employer.

"There has been too much stealing of bicycles lately and this should be a warning to others," remarked Magistrate Gee.

Golfers Will Play For Bonds

NEW YORK, May 4 — (AP). — The play-for-pay golfing divotees will be in there pitching and putting for more than $200,000 in war bonds this year.

Fred J. Corcoran, P.G.A. tournament manager, announced today that six tournaments offering more than $120,000 in bonds are definitely on the summer slate, and that a half-dozen more than "decided probabilities."

Corcoran said the winter tour paid off some $100,000 in bonds to the professionals, and resulted in the sale of more than $20,000,000 in bonds. He predicted the summer events would eclipse both winter records.

The summer's opening tournament is the Philedelphia Inquirer Invitational, June 5-11, at the Torresdale Frankford Country Club, in which the 21 low scorers for the 72-hole medal play test will split $17,500 in bonds. The winner gets $6,250.

Other tournaments already sealed include the Tam o' Shanter sponsored by George S. May, scheduled at Chicago August 24-27, which carries a record purse of $42,500 in bonds. The Tam o' Shanter also offers the highest first prize ever known to golf—$13,446.67 in war bonds.

Use Of Word "D-Day" Tells Enemy Nothing

NEW YORK, May 4—(CP)—The military expression "D-Day" is a verbal camouflage.

It is an army's way of referring to a time previously and secretly fixed for an action—a jump-off on a local front or the beginning of an invasion. To bring it down more precisely, fighting men also use an "H-Hour," "M-Minute," for the exact hour and minute for the action on "D-Day."

The expression, origin of which seems to have come from the United States army, is a convenience in military discussions. During discussions the men-in-the-know mention invasion time only by "D-Day," so, even if the walls have ears, they would also have to have eyes to learn the secret.

GOOD DETECTIVE WORK

IT REQUIRES good detective work to spot a declarer in the act of preparing for a squeeze play against your partner. Even if you catch him in the act early enough, it requires keen foresight to figure out how to thwart his nefarious machinations. Most of the time, your best chance to beat him, if he gives you a chance to do it, is to whack at the suit which ultimately will be needed for an entry from his hand into the dummy, or vice versa, when the squeezing play arrives.

North: ♠ A 8 3 2 ♥ K 2 ♦ 8 3 2 ♣ J 10 3 2
West: ♠ Q 9 5 4 ♥ A 3 ♦ K J 9 ♣ Q 9 5 4
East: ♠ K 7 ♥ 8 6 5 4 ♦ A Q 7 6 5 ♣ 8 6
South: ♠ J 10 6 ♥ Q J 10 9 7 ♦ 10 4 ♣ A K 7

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1♥	Pass
1♠	Pass	2♥

All chance to beat this contract was forfeited at two duplicate tables when West picked the unfortunate lead of the club 4. That enabled the 10 to win a trick for declarer and made sure he would not have any losers in that suit. It left him only five potential losers, two in diamonds, one in hearts and two in spades. In each case the declarer tried to build a squeeze to cut down one of those and gain an extra trick. One succeeded.

At each table, after winning the first trick, South led the heart K to the A and a second club was won by the A. East meanwhile giving a high-low with the 8 and 6. Next each declarer scored the heart Q, J and 10, then led the spade J. West refrained from covering and East won with the K. Then at one table East scored his diamond A and led to West's K, for the fourth trick by the side. West, who had discarded a diamond on trumps, had left only two clubs and two spades. A spade return would have given the declarer two tricks right there, so a club lead was mandatory.

South won with the K and led the heart 9, which squeezed West. He either had to throw away his club Q and set up the J, or break his two spades and give dummy two tricks there, which he did, but it made no difference.

At the other table, when East was in the lead after winning the spade K on the seventh trick, he returned the spade 7. This resulted in knocking the A out of the dummy, and ending the last link of communication from South to that holding, so that a squeeze was rendered impossible. Hence, the declarer was compelled to lose two tricks in spades and five all told, getting no extra. East had broken up his squeeze in advance.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 9 8 7 6 4 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ J 10 7 ♣ K 5

South: ♠ A K ♥ K Q J 10 9 ♦ A K Q 9 6 ♣ 7

What is the key principle underlying correct play of this hand at 5-Diamonds by South after he ruffs the second club?

202 Missing From Athabaskan

Believe Germans Picked Up 85 Prisoners

OTTAWA, May 5—(CP).—The Royal Canadian Navy last night issued a list of 202 officers and ratings, reported missing after the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan was sunk during a naval clash last Saturday in the English Channel.

A previous list, issued Tuesday night, gave the names of 46 officers and men known to have survived after the Athabaskan, accompanied by a sister Tribal destroyer, the Haida, clashed with German naval units.

Three Peterborough boys serving on H.M.C.S. Athabaskan when it was sunk Saturday, have now been reported missing. E.R.A. 4th class Kenneth Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Williams, 263 Engleburn and A. B. Anthony Bianco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicola Bianco, 284 Park Hill road are both of Peterboro. Stoker 1st Class Elmer Howard Stevenson, is the husband of Mrs. Doris I. Stevenson, Havelock.

Last night's list included 15 officers, 185 Canadian ratings and two Royal Navy ratings.

German broadcasts have claimed that 85 men from the Athabaskan were taken prisoner. There was no indication in last night's official list of how many of the 202 men might be prisoners; all were listed as "missing."

(Navy Minister Macdonald said in the Commons Monday that "it will be some time" before the names of those taken prisoner are available. It often took as long as three months for the government to be informed of the identity of war prisoners.)

Lt.-Cmdr. J. H. Stubbs, of Kaslo, B.C., one of the officers reported missing, was awarded the Distinguished Service Order in 1942 for "gallantry, devotion to duty and distinguished service under fire" while officer commanding H.M.C.S. Assiniboine, which destroyed an enemy U-boat.

Juvenile Robbers Smash 50 Dozen Eggs Devastate Interior Of Butcher Shop

TORONTO, May 5 (CP) — Two boys, eight and nine years of age, who told police they had great fun smashing fifty dozen eggs when they broke into a Church street butcher store over the week-end, appeared in Juvenile Court today. They were charged with shop-breaking and theft.

Police said the boys broke into the shop and after stealing $7 from the cash register, took the butcher's knives and sliced steaks. When they got tired of this they stuck the knives into quarters of beef and cut them to pieces. Other large pieces were taken from the hooks in the refrigerators and thrown on the floor.

"The store looked as if a bomb had hit it," said Police Inspector Robert Davie. "They took the eggs and threw them all over. The walls were running in yolks." The juveniles were arrested by constables Thomas Duffy and Matthew Henderson.

School Boy 13, Weds Girl 21 Says Can't Live Without Her

DENVER, May 5—(AP).—A story of courtship conducted "after school and on holidays" was told in Denver county jail by a 13-year-old bridegroom and his 21-year-old wife where they awaited today the arrival of Los Angeles authorities. The bride, Elaine Monfredi, asked "What difference does it make about our ages? We're in love." Her youthful bridegroom, Ellsworth Wisecarver, asserted his devotion, declaring "Elaine is my first and only sweetheart—I don't know how I could live without her."

The couple had only 40 cents when Denver detectives, in response to requests by Los Angeles police, accosted the pair as they inquired about a telegram at a Denver hotel yesterday.

Her mother, Mrs. M. McEntee, told Los Angeles police she received a telegram from Elaine Wednesday from Albuquerque, N.M., saying: "Mom—broke—wire cash immediately to Denver, Colo."

Detective Captain James E. Childers, said the young woman told him that she had only lived as a common-law wife with James Monfredi in Compton, Calif., and that she had not married him. It was in Compton that the couple met, Ellsworth being a student near her home.

Elaine and Ellsworth, both giving their ages as 21, were married April 29 in Yuma, Ariz. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mildred Wisecarver, filed a child-stealing complaint in Los Angeles against her son's wife, declaring "I want him brought back home."

To which young Wisecarver commented:—

"I don't want to go back to Compton and I don't want our marriage annulled."

Has 2 Children

His wife told Childers she is the mother of two daughters, Elaine, two, and Judith, six months.

In Los Angeles, Monfredit said:—

"She can choose between me and this boy— she can stay away or come back."

Monfredit added that he "supposed" he was married to Elaine.

"Sometimes in 1941," he told newsmen, "we went to Uno, Nev.,

Premiers Study Foreign Policy At Empire Meet

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 5 —(CP Cable)— Foreign policy was under review today by commonwealth prime ministers and it seemed certain that at some later stage of the meeting Prime Minister John Curtin would raise the question of an empire secretariat which he supported strongly at a press conference yesterday.

There was speculation, however, whether Mr. Curtin's positive avowal of the secretariat plan in advance of conference discussion of it might complicate things in view of prospective opposition from Prime Minister Mackenzie Kng of Canada and, perhaps, others.

During newsmen's questioning on this subject Mr. Curtin said: "If I can't have four brethren but can have three, then three is better than none," thus implying dominions unwilling to participate might be left out. However, he qualified this by saying he expected to give and take and was more concerned with obtaining closer consultation than with any particular formula.

One Difference

One reason for difference in Australian and Canadian ideas was apparent when Mr. Curtin said consultation within the empire before the war was "not so good" but since then Australia had no complaints. The Canadian government, on the other hand, has always expressed satisfaction with existing methods which may have worked better in Canada's case because that dominion is closer to London.

Another possible divergence in the Australian and Canadian viewpoint was indicated in Mr. Curtin's reference to tariffs. The Australian Prime Minister said his country gave "general subscription" to the free trade principles of the Atlantic charter but would insist on protecting and developing industries essential to Australia's people. He added Australia's tariff must be made by Australians and the same principle applied to other countries.

Meanwhile today's foreign policy talks related to plans for post-war settlements, armistice terms, the ultimate status of enemy countries, means of settling boundaries and ultimate establishment of a permanent peace set-up.

Athabaskan Chief Last Seen Singing "Wavy Navy" As He Clung To Life Raft

3 Survivors Tell Of Narrow Escape From Enemy Ships As Engine Faltered Near French Coast

By ALLAN NICKLESON—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 5—(CP Cable).—A motor cutter launched by the Canadian Tribal class destroyer Haida to rescue survivors of her sunken sister ship, H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, has returned to Britain with her crew of three and three survivors after a 100-mile dash from near the French coast. The cutter, manned by Leading Seaman W. McClure and Stoker William Cummings of Toronto and AB. Jack Hannam of Victoria, B.C., was launched after the blazing Athabaskan sank stern-first during an engagement early on Saturday with two German destroyers, one of which had to be beached.

2 Washed Overboard.

They rescued six men, including two of the Haida's crew who had been washed overboard before the destroyer headed for Britain, survivors related today. Three of the rescued men made the trip to Britain in the cutter and the others were taken aboard the Haida.

The three men taken to Britain in the cutter were: PO. George Casswell, Victoria, formerly of Toronto; Sgmn. Tom Eady (123 Burgar St.), Welland, and AB. Andre Audet, Montreal.

The other survivors, who were with them today and had been picked up by the Haida, were: Leading Cook Alfred Richardson, West Dover, N.S.; Leading Sgmn. Ray Chadsey, Vancouver, and Engine-Room Artificer William Howard (2333 Culp St.), Niagara Falls, Ont.

The rescues were made in broad daylight only three miles off the French coast, although the cutter's engines were failing and three German minesweepers were bearing down on the small craft. Suddenly the engines roared and the cutter began her dash for Britain.

Narrow Escape

Seamen, pulled into the cutter by her crew, said they thought they were going to be taken prisoner when the enemy minesweepers appeared. Two minesweepers stopped to pick up remaining survivors but a third chased the cutter for some time, although it didn't fire. Then it turned back.

The cuter's engines failed several more times before a British air sea rescue launch took it in tow after being sighted by Allied planes a few miles off the English coast.

During the tedious, bouncing journey, the cutter crew saw planes and fired flares but the aircraft proved to be Messerschmitt 109s. However the enemy planes didn't fire.

The young seamen told of the courage and fortitude of the Athabaskan's skipper, Lt.-Cmdr. J. H. Stubbs, D.S.O., of Victoria, who clung to a Carley float and calmly sang the "Ballad of the Wavy Navy" as he watched his chance of rescue disappear into the predawn darkness. The commander's fate is unknown but it is considered possible he was among the 85 survivors the Germans claimed to have taken prisoner.

15 Hanging On.

Richardson who clung for a while to the same float with Stubbs and between 12 to 15 others said "the captain told us he didn't know how he got into the water. He said he must have been blown off the bridge. I think his hands were burned but that didn't seem to bother him."

"He was singing and talking and got the rest of us to sing," Richardson added. "He told us to keep together as much as possible because the Haida, which was chasing the German ships, might be back to pick us up. Sure enough the Haida came back but couldn't stop for more than a few minute. That was when she lowered the cutter."

Chadsey said the Haida started

Japs Mustering Many Fliers To Repel Allies

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, May 5 (AP)—The invaders of Dutch New Guinea were on the alert today against expected counter blows by Japan's well-trained navy fliers.

As headquarters announced two amphibious landings which pushed the Americans as far as 40 miles west of Hollandia, a spokesman sounded a precautionary note. He said there were indications the Japanese are throwing their naval aviation strength—their best pilots are reputed to be navy fliers—into northwest New Guinea sectors guarding the approaches toward the Philippines.

(Aneta, Netherlands news agency, said in a New Guinea dispatch that Japanese air bases were being reinforced at Geelvink Bay, which is more than 200 miles from Holandia, and on the Halmahera Islands, to the south of Mindanao.)

Today headquarters disclosed that a week ago a small amphibious group landed at Demta, a village 40 miles up the coast from Holandia and 16 miles beyond the previous westernmost holding at Tanahmerah Bay. Another amphibious force landed the same day at Torare Bay, 12 miles west of Hollandia. That is between Tanahmerah and Humboldt Bays, the points where big invasion forces opened the swiftly-concluded pincers drive into Dutch New Guinea April 22.

The two new landings were so lightly opposed that they resulted in the killing of only two Japanese.

Victory Loans Exceeds $700,000,000

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP). — The $1,200,000,000 Sixth Victory Loan sales leaped $12,000,000 ahead of the Fifth Loan total for the same period yesterday when Canadians purchased $73,115,950 worth of bonds for a cumulative total of $714,984,750, Loan officials announced to-day.

While figures in this Loan have twice before been above the Fifth Loan, the gain was not held, and yesterday morning, when salesmen started their 10th day of canvassing the Loan was down approximately $2,000,000 from what it was six months ago.

The total on the same day of the last Loan was approximately $703,000,000, while yesterday's sales compared with a total of $59,840,100 on the same day six months ago.

Gratifying Change

"This is most gratifying for the start of the second half of the canvassing time," a Loan official said. "If this trend can be maintained the record will have been kept intact and a new all-time high will have been established when this Loan ends."

Of yesterday's total, $32,752,900 came from the individual purchasers. This brought their purchases for the first ten days of the Loan to $292,635,750. It means that with 55.5 per cent of the selling time elapsed, individuals have purchased 48.3 per cent of the $604,000,000 they bought in the last Loan.

Chinese Troops Hard Pressed

CHUNGKING, May 5—(AP)—A new threat to the Chinese base of Loyang through Japanese capture of Linju, 60 miles southwest of Chengshien, was announced today by a Chinese army spokesman as the enemy continued a two-day drive along the north-south Peiping-Hankow railway.

The spokesman said the Japanese were trying to locate the main strength of the Chinese forces for "a decisive battle" in the area of Loyang, important junction on the east-west Lunghai railway 65 miles west of Japanese-held Chenghsien. Japanese bombers have been attacking Loyang.

The spokesman confirmed a previous statement from the Chinese high command indicating the Japanese invaders had seized all but about 60 miles of the Peiping-Hankow railway.

Driving both up and down the rail route, the enemy has advanced to Kioshan in the south and to Yencheng on the north.

Close University

NEW YORK, May 4—(AP). —The Chungking radio said today a student reported Japanese police had closed the Catholic University of Peiping March 26 and had arrested four professors, two lecturers and a physical education director. Administered by the Society of the Divine Word, the university had an enrolment up to 1,200 in recent years. The Chungking broadcast was reported by U.S. Government monitors.

Russian Front Remains Quiet

LONDON, May 5 (AP)—German probing attacks southeast of Stanislawow and south of Tiraspol were thrown back yesterday for the second successive day as the lull in ground fighting continued along other positions of the eastern front, Moscow announced today.

Near Stanislawow in the southeast corner of old Poland German attempts to reconnoitre Soviet positions were beaten off in the morning and a Nazi attack against one Russian unit was hurled back in the afternoon, a Soviet communique said. It asserted that about 800 Germans were killed and 12 Nazi tanks were destroyed.

Sixty Germans were declared to have been killed and wounded when Russian troops threw back an enemy reconnaissance detachment south of Tiraspol, a town 50 miles northwest of Odessa on the Dnestr River.

The broadcast communique, recorded here by the Soviet Monitor, listed no essential changes on the land front but declared that long-range Soviet planes bombed and strafed German and Romanian troops pinned in the besieged Crimean city of Sevastopol Wednesday night.

The Russian planes were declared to have inflicted heavy losses on the enemy and to have started at least 10 large fires and caused many explosions. The communique said many enemy batteries were silenced.

A terse German communique said the Russians attacked throughout yesterday in successive waves east of the Siret River in Romania but were thwarted. German planes were said to have destroyed 26 Russian mortars, which were lobbing shells into Sevastopol.

U.S. CASUALTIES

WASHINGTON — The Armed Forces of the U.S. have suffered a total of 197,841 casualties since the country entered the war, on the basis of the latest reports by the Army and Navy. This is an increase of 5,005 over the total announced a week ago.

Allied Bombers Out 3rd Day Without Loss

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON May 5 (AP)—American heavy bombers pounded the "Invasion Coast" of France again today in a pre-breakfast blow and then Allied medium and fighter-bombers and fighters took over the 21st consecutive day of the relentless pre-invasion bombing of Europe with attacks on rail lines feeding Hitler's Atlantic wall.

Not a plane was lost in the several hundred sorties flown today, the third day heavy bombers have battered France and the Netherlands without loss. Of the few German planes that challenged the invaders, Canadian Spitfire fighters escorting R.A.F. Mitchell bombers shot down four.

The Berlin radio said Allied Mediterranean bombers were over Romania this afternoon after last night's R.A.F. raid on Budapest in Hungary but the report of the daylight attack had not been confirmed by Allied headquarters. The broadcast said the afternoon raiders penetrated the Balkan kingdom under a heavy cloud cover and were attacked by German fighters in sharp battles.

The American bomber assault was the fifth heavy bomber blow on rail, anti-invasion installations and airports in Northern France in six days.

The R.C.A.F. announced that Canadian planes last night laid mines in enemy waters and all aircraft returned safely. Neither were any Canadian planes lost in yesterday's daylight operations which included the bombing of key Nazi military targets in France and the Netherlands by Allied bombers of all types.

Fighter-bombers of the 9th U.S. Air Force attacked rail yards at Valenciennes and Somain in northern France under escort of Thunderbolt fighters. Once again, the Germans failed to put up even token resistance. Flak was only moderate. Returning pilots said not a single Nazi fighter was seen in the moderate overcast skies.

Allied Bombs Batter Mandalay

KANDY, Ceylon, May 5 — (CP-Reuters) — British troops attacking at all points around the Indian frontier base of Kohima are making satisfactory progress and inflicting heavy casualties on the Japanese, a communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters said today. Chinese troops in north Burma captured Inkangahtwng on Wednesday, the communique added.

In the mountains east of Mogaung Chinese units succeeded in driving into Japanese positions at Kauri.

Meanwhile Allied Air Forces, stepping up the intensity of their attacks, heavily raided Mandalay, old capital of Burma and Japanese supply centre, as well as a number of other important railway junctions.

The communique said railway yards at Maymyo as well as road bridges at Natkyigon and Hpaungzeik and a depot northwest of Tonzang also were raided.

Post-war Picture Contains Explosives

Atlantic Charter May Be Revised To Meet Unusual Circumstances

By DEWITT MACKENZIE,
Associated Press War Analyst.

Some people are inclined to display too much emotion— too much violence of thought—in their efforts to pre-judge the great post-war situations involved in the remaking of the world into a brave new home for mankind.

There are numerous controversial issues involved in the post-war readjustment. Among them are territorial claims, some of which already have been laid down definitely by our Russian ally, and others that patently are devoloping. Then there are a considerable number of cases where self-determination is sought, both in Europe and in North Africa.

Now, every one of these cases is filled with high explosives. This is especially true since in each instance all the big three—Britain, the United States and Russia—have at least a sentimental interest. Ordinary horse-sense dictates that explosives be handled cautiously.

Thus it behooves each of us not to sound off to violently in public in laying down the post-war law. We have to remember that we are in partnership.

Our ultimate war objective, I take it, is to establish a just and enduring peace. That certainly involves a high degree of altruism. It means acceptance of the thesis that we are indeed our brother's keeper —within realistic and practical limits. We must remember that impractical zealousness in our fraternal mentorship over small nations may bring them disaster and perhaps wreck the chances of enduring peace.

The consensus of Allied statesmen is that world peace depends on solidarity among the big three. A split in the partnership would mean another war ultimately.

Solidarity doesn't involve subservience on the part of any one of the partnership. It doesn't demand sacrifice of principle. It does call for a high sense of realism in working out post-war readjustments. It involves the view that world peace is more important than is the outcome of any single claim that is of restricted significance.

But what about the Atlantic Charter? Well, practical-minded Prime Minister Churchill recently gave us a lead on that. He was asked in the House of Commons for a clarifying statement "in view of doubts which exist as to what territories the principles of the Atlantic Charter were to apply." To this he replied:

"It is evident that as the changing phases of the war succeed one another, some further clarifications will be required of the position under the document . . . The Atlantic Charter stands as a declaration of the spirit and purpose in which its signatories are waging this war . . ."

This has been interpreted generally as meaning that while the charter stands for broad ideals, it must be adapted to meet unusual circumstances. If we accept that as the common sense view, then we must approach the various complications without undue emotion and with realism— a realism not dissociated from the reasonable self-interest which the Allies are entitled to sustain.

Lauds Seaway Power Plan

Senator Says Development Inevitable

WATERTOWN, N.Y., May 5 —(AP). — U.S. Senator George D. Aiken (Rep., Vt.) declared to-day that development of navigational and Hydro-Electric resources of the St. Lawrence River is "inevitable in our time."

Opposition steadily is diminishing and support for the seaway-power plan is growing, the Senator said upon his arrival here to address a seaway meeting to-night.

In reply to opponents who term the project a "new deal" program, Aiken asserted "Coolidge was the first President....to emdorse it, followed by Herbert Hoover. Governor Dewey and former Minnesota Governor Stassen, both Republicans, have also added their support."

Dr. James C. Bonbright, chairman; Maurice P. Davidson, a trustee, and Ralph G. Sucher, counsel of New York State power authority, accompanied Aiken.

Bombs Go In Front Door

Best Bit Of Precision Bombing To Date

LONDON, May 5 — (CP). — Aneta, the Netherlands News Agency, said to-day that the house destroyed by R.A.F. Mosquito bombers in what the Air Ministry News Service called "probably the most brilliant feat of low-level precision bombing of the war" has been revealed by Netherlands circles here as the former Kleykamp Art Gallery in The Hague.

It was also disclosed that the house contained documents of great value to the Germans.

The Air Ministry announcement said the Mosquito squadron came in at a height of about 50 feet and the bombs from the leading plane went "right in the front door."

A German-controlled Netherlands newspaper received here to-day said 62 persons were killed in the bombing, and that it took place on April 11.

The Kleykamp Gallery was one of the most famous private art galleries in Holland.

Ford Strike Nearing Settlement

Union Leaders Prevent Spread Of Strike

By FRASER McDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINDSOR, Ont., May 5 —(CP)— Office employees and executives of the Ford Motor Company of Canada passed rain-bedraggled pickets today to go to work for the first time since Tuesday as the work stoppage called by Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) went into its third day.

This return to work followed announcement last night by Local 200 that its pickets now would permit thet office employees to go to work after having stopped them for two days. The office workers were idle Wednesday and Thursday while executives carried on their work from a downtown hotel. Decision to allow executives through the picket lines was announced Wednesday night after they had been stopped that morning.

First Ford feeder plants to be affected by the stoppages which has closed the Ford plants for all but two days since April 20 is that of Gotfredson, Limited, which announced it laid off 225 men yesterday afternoon and 100 more this morning.

Meanwhile, hopes for settlement of the dispute which has put 14,000 Ford production workers in idleness ran higher today following the announcement last night by Bernard Rose of Montreal, resident umpire in the dispute, that Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor, chairman of the National Wartime Labor Relations Board will arrive here tomorrow morning in a personal effort to negotiate a settlement.

"The men should be back at work soon," Rose said in announcing that Mr. Justice O'Connor would present to the company proposals in connection with grievance procedure in an interim arrangement for union-company relations pending negotiation of a new collective bargaining agreement.

Judge to Come

Mr. Rose declared that in a telephone conversation last night Mr. Justice O'Connor had said that he had received suggestions from Mr. Rose and from J. L. Cohen, national counsel for the union, in connection with grievance procedure. Mr. Justice O'Connor "felt it justified his coming to Windsor to submit the suggestions to the company," Rose added.

The announcement that the Labor Board chairman is making the trip served to ease tension among members of two U.A.W. locals not directly connected with the dispute—Loc. 240 organized among Ford office workers, and Loc. 195 which has a membership of about 7,500 in 35 other plants including the Chrysler Corporation and General Motors.

Members of Loc. 240 met last night and decided not to take any immedi-

11,000 Deserters Being Sought

OTTAWA, May 5.— (CP).—Nationa Defence Headquarters announced yesterday that the Canadian army, seeking to solve the mystery of absentees and deserters, is sending out letters to the next-of-kin of the men involved seeking information.

Officials said the check was directed at men who had actually worn uniform and deserted or were absent without leave. Latest figures showed the total of army deserters at about 11,000.

Inquiry bureaus and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will continue investigations tracing men who have failed to obey compulsory military regulations under the National Resources Mobilization Act. Men "unaccounted" for under these call-up regulations number 49,000, Labor Minister Mitchell said in the Commons this week, but J. G. Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) said about 390,000 were not accounted for after receiving calls for medical examinations under the regulations.

An increase of $92,350 in the city general canvass and $35,050 in the county was reported on Thursday. In the rural section most of this increase came from Otonabee when Peter Mather turned in $23,150. Norwood added $2,450, Lakefield $1,350, Smith $1,900, North Monaghan $3,000 and Harvey, Burleigh Anstruther and Chandos $450.

Jack Curtis, Bruce Sargent and Jim Harkness were the top team for the day with $7,800 on 22 applications to bring their total to date to $43,600.

A. J. McClellan, Art Cauley and Stan Darling still retain the lead with $69,600 having added $6,850 on 18 sales. Walter Metheral, Jim Juby and Vic Tully added $3,200 on 12 sales to make a total of $62,400. Rufus Payne, Lou Brooks and W. Roberts reported a $3,450 on 23 sales, while G. Mackness, George Heron and W. S. Rose turned in $2,600.

With 203 the team of McClellan, Cauley and Darling lead the field in the number of sales but while Payne, Brooks and Roberts are not up in the top bracket as far as amount of money they along with Curtis, Sargent and Harkness are in second place with 187 sales recorded.

Jack Curtis with $6,000 was top salesman of the day while Stan Darling had $4,600. Jim Juby $2,050. A. Smith $2,050 and Lou Brooks $1,550.

Although Mrs. Edith Jopp, 291 Rubidge street, has made a great contribution to the war with three sons in Italy and one in the Army in Canada, she is an enthusiastic supporter of the Victory Loan. When Victor Tully, canvasser, called on her she told him that she was paying the mortgage off her farm, but was saving enough to put into a bond.

James Gifford, Ennismore canvasser, has found things looking up in his territory, it was announced today. Their quota is set at $12,000 and already more than 50 per cent, $6,550, has been collected.

Many Peterborough firms have reached 100 per cent or more of their quota in the past two weeks, and one of the highest of these, proportionately, is the W. R. Turner Heating store. Operating under the Group Payroll plan, they oversubscribed their quota with $800, their pledges totalling $1,800. This is 180 per cent of their objective.

Allied Weapons Reported To Be Superior

LONDON, May 5 (CP)—An announcement of the development of battle equipment superior or equal to the enemy's and a German claim of "a hidden host of unknown preparations" behind Hitler's European west wall were thrown today into the invasion war of nerves.

"If you want to call those secret weapons, you can," declared Brig.-Gen. Henry Sayler, chief ordnance officer of the U.S. Army in the European theatre, in revealing something of arms improvements.

The German claim came direct from the pen of Hitler's ace propagandist, Propagana Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels. His article in this week's edition of the German magazine "Das Reich," broadcast by the Berlin radio, said "there exist innumerable defence measures and weapons so far unknown."

Gen. Sayler said troops storming into Europe will have "the finest artillery, small arms with performance better than anything the enemy has used and ammunition with higher explosive charges."

Writing yesterday in the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes, Sayler said his report was "no pep talk to boost morale" and added:

"When the day of the forthcoming operations arrives every American soldier taking part may be assured his weapons, ammunition, tanks and vehicles will be superior, or at least equal, to those of the enemy . . . Some Ordnance will be used for the first time after being developed and tested thoroughly at proving grounds in America."

Admitting the Germans had some superior weapons early in the war, the General declared that improvements to those now available for the Yanks "combine the best features of our own weapons and those captured from the enemy."

Large buyers bought $40,363,050 in bonds yesterday, highlighted by a $17,500,000 purchase by the Canadian Pacific Railway. This raised the total of large purchases to $42,349,000 or 54.2 per cent of what was raised in the last Loan.

The overall picture now is that 51.8 per cent of the fifth loan's total of $1,383,000,000 has been purchased. The number of purchasers continued to show an increase yesterday, making a total number of 1,262,205 applications received at Victory Loan headquarters to date. This compares with 1,087,000 at the same stage in the last loan.

Saskatchewan has reached 75 per cent of its objective of $20,150,000. Up to noon yesterday 5,869 buyers had contributed a total of $14,721,750 toward the provincial objective.

The Armed Service total of $35,338,600 includes $3,967,550 from the Navy; $19,232,550 from the Army, and $12,138,300 from the Air Force.

moving after Cmdr. Stubbs yelled from the darkness, "Get out of here Harry. Don't wait."

"Harry" was Cmdr. H. G. de Wolf, of Halifax, commander of the Haida, who received the D.S.O. yesterday for this and a previous channel action in which a German destroyer was sunk.

Chadsey said shell hits brought the Athabaskan to a stop and soon she was blazing for and aft.

"Morale was perfect all the way through," he added. "The first hit demolished the pom-pom platform. Despite the fire and burning oil we were getting ready to have the Haida tow us when a torpedo smashed into the boiler room. The explosion heeled the ship down on one side and she sank low in the water.

Sank In 20 Minutes.

"We jumped into the water and I remember a mast toppling into the sea in flames with debris flying about."

Twenty minutes later the blazing destroyer stood up on end and disappeared.

The six survivors looked fit despite their ordeal but Eady had bandages on his hands, burned when he put them over his face as protection from burning oil just before he jumped into the sea.

Eady said every survivor with whom he talked praised the new type of life jacket issued only a few days before the action.

"They protected our bodies from flying debris when we were on the ship and the automatic blinking light affixed to them guided the Haida back to us after she had chased a German destroyer on the rocks," he said.

Chadsey said he stayed on board five minutes after the order was given to abandon ship, and one of his last duties with the chief yeoman of signals, T. Goldsmith of Victoria, was to throw the ship's books overboard in weighted bags and chests. Goldsmith is among the missing.

Otonabee Annexation Discussed Further

GORDON H. Munro and Norman McConkey attended the meeting of Otonabee council Monday at which the proposed annexation by the township of the southeastern corner of the city advanced through a further stage of discussion.

The township council recently interviewed the finance committee of the city council, a second meeting by which, with ample time for decision, the Otonabee members are thoroughly investigating the involved undertaking and the properties affected. So far, no point of issue has arisen in the conversations by the two municipalities, and it is desired that every ratepayer in that suburban area east of the road north from Downer's Corners be consulted.

The Otonabee council passed its tax rates. The county rate is estimated at 14.11; township rate 3.79 mills and the general rate 17.9 mills. The general school rate and the local trustees' levies are in excess of the general rate.

The road superintendent was authorized to order the calcium chloride that will be used on township roads this summer.

A by-law naming Will E. Patterson as tax collector was given its several readings and passed.

Due to the fact that the assessing is being done in the summer their will be no dog tax but each person who has a dog will be required to purchase a dog license from Will E. Patterson at the time he takes the assessment or on or before the first day of September, 1944. A notice to this effect will appear in the Examiner shortly.

Moved by Mr. Dawson, seconded by Mr. Spears that the following accounts be passed.

Jap Admiral Killed On War Front

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP).—The Tokyo radio announced today that Admiral Mineichi Koga, commander of the Japanese combined feet, had been killed on active duty, less than a year after his predecessor, Admiral Isorotu Yamamoto, had met a similar death.

A broadcast recorded by U.S. Government monitors quoted an Imperial headquarters communique as saying the Koga had "died at his post in March of this year while directing general operations from an airplane a tthe front."

The wording of the communique bore a striking similarity to a Tokyo communique of May 21, 1943, announcing Yamamoto's death in a warplane the previous April "while directing general strategy on the front line."

Koga, who was 59, had generally been regarded as a sound but not brilliant naval officer noted for tenacity rather than for his initiative. He lacked the reputation of his predecessor, who was known as the man who torpedoed the London Naval Conference in 1934, planned the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor and once boasted he would dictate terms in the White House.

Before reaching head of the combined fleet Koga had served as commander of the Yokosuka naval station and before that as commander of the Japanese fleet in Chinese waters. He also had been vice-chief of the naval staff from 1934-37 and was naval attache at the Japanese Embassy in Paris in 1926.

He already has been succeeded as commander of the combined fleet Tokyo said by 58-year-old Ad-

Law Provides Protection For Animals

Provisions of the law, both prohibitive and regulatory, which govern the treatment of animals and set penalties for those who are guilty of wanton cruelty or other mistreatment of dogs, cats and livestock, were the subject of an instructive discourse given the Peterborough Humane Society at its annual meeting held Thursday night in the Chamber of Commerce.

The speaker of the evening was Magistrate R. B. Baxter of Port Hope, who outlined to members the general intent and application of the specific sections of the Criminal Code and various Provincial statutes dealing with the treatment of animals. "Since anmials are," Magistrate Baxter stated, "as much a part of the universe as we are, they are just as certainly entitled to protective legislation."

In the course of his talk, the speaker, who was introduced to the Society by John Bradshaw, mentioned several interesting aspects of the law that are not common knowledge to many persons. Among these was the fact that a letter written a farmer threatening to do harm to his cattle was a serious offense and carried with it a maximum sentence of two years' imprisonment; and that any loss incurred to livestock through the actions of dogs not belonging to the owner of the cattle must be reimbursed by the municipality, which may then proceed against the owner of the dogs for the cost of the loss, if the owner can be discovered.

Magistrate Baxter, who emphasized that there are always disgruntled parties who will come forward with complaints if prosecutions are initiated or if they are not, said that all the provisions of the law are available to inspectors and to the humane societies. "This is a work," he said, referring to the watch that humane society officials keep over the welfare of animals, "that is for people with very large hearts." Mr. Baxter was thanked for his talk by Rev. F. W. Craik.

337 Dogs Killed

The reading of the report of Gerald Dunford, inspector for the society, revealed that 337 dogs were destroyed in the electrical chamber between Feb. 5, 1943, and March 31 of this year. In the same time, 35 dogs were killed on the streets of the city, homes were found for 26, and 52 were claimed by their owners. Five hundred and twelve cats were destroyed, with homes found for three and only one claimed by its owner.

Seven horses unfit for work were taken off the streets, nine ordered to be properly shod, while three cases of actual cruelty were discovered and five horses were found with faulty blinkers, a cause of early blindness. The shipping of cattle on railways was supervised as to watering, bedding and overcrowding, and in the period one animal was trampled to death owing to overcrowded conditions.

Five cases had been prosecuted in police court, convictions being obtained in three of them, the others being dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence. The Society has been asked by the City Garbage superintendent to watch for any cases of cruelty or overloading.

Small Membership

The society at present contains only 26 members, it was stated by Mrs. Ada Young, reading the secretary's report, but its finances are in good shape with receipts in the past year exceeding $1,000, over $500 of which came from the tag day. Mrs. Young paid tribute to "the tact, energy and faithfulness" of Inspector Dunford, and mourned the loss of the late Stratford Martin, one of the founders of the Peterborough Humane Society.

The financial report was read by Miss E. Wood treasurer, who revealed that the Society has $877.62 in the bank as of the present date. The salary of Mr. Dunford was $980.45.

Re-elected president unanamiously was C.E. LaBranche with Mrs. E. S. Martin 1st vice-president M. V. Powell 2nd vice-president, Mrs. W. A. Young secretary, Miss E. Wood treasurer, and F. Holmes auditor. Messrs. LaBranche, Powell, Holmes, Burnham and Miss M. Collins comprise the executive for the coming year. C. E. LaBranche presided during the meeting.

This map indicates areas which have been mentioned by some experts as logical striking points for possible invasion.

Partisan Units Storming Town

LONDON, May 5—(CP).—Partisan forces have surrounded the Yugoslav town of Mrkonjicgrad and are laying siege to the German garrison, which is offering strong resistance, a broadcast communique from the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) said today.

The war bulletin also told of Partisan units smashing their way into Uzice, 75 miles west of Sarajevo on the main railway to Sofia, and wrecking the station, destroying the town and killing many enemy troops.

Marshal Tito's men have gone over to the counter-attack in Slavonia near Vocin and forced the Germans and Ustashi to withdraw, the communique said.

Meanwhile a demand by King Peter's Yugoslav government in London for surrender of a $9,500,000 deposit of Yugoslav funds has been rejected by the National Bank of Brazil in an apparent victory for the Partisan government of Marshal Tito.

A Partisan broadcast April 5 said the Tito-led Yugoslav National Committee of Liberation had asked banks in Washington, London, Rio de Janeiro and Ankara to stop paying out funds deposited in those banks by the Yugoslav National Bank.

Bombers Hit Budapest Rail Yards

Fight Their Way Through Night Fighters

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 5—(AP).—R.A.F. four-engined Halifaxes and twin-engined Wellingtons from Italy struck a sharp blow last night in support of Russian ground forces by attacking Budapest, capital of Hungary, it was announced today.

Fighting their way through a screen of German night fighters, the British bombers poured blockbusters and incendiaries on Budapest's Rakos rail yards on the main east-west line from Germany and Vienna to the Romanian front.

Two violent explosions and many fires were observed.

The Budapest attack followed up a raid the night before on rail yards in Bucharest, capital of Romania, by British Halifaxes, Liberators and Wellingtons.

Although bad visibility hampered operations in daylight yesterday, medium bombers attacked rail bridges at Grosetto, Albino, Toree and Fabriano—all in Italy—and fighter-bombers hit rail communications at Terni, Sulmona and in the areas northeast and south of Rome, the bulletin said.

Four Allied aircraft were reported missing from all operations, embracing about 1,100 sorties. One enemy plane was destroyed.

Ground activity in Italy again was limited to artillery fire and patrol activity, the communique said.

Youths Over 18 To Be Called To Boost Army

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 5—(CP)—The pool from which Canada draws her manpower supplies for the armed forces is sinking to the point where youths reaching 18½ years of age will form the main source of supply, Labor Minister Mitchell said yesterday in the Commons.

Mr. Mitchell said six men had to be called now to supply one for the army, and he said he thought that when all possible draftees had been taken from industry under examinations now in progress, future call-up requirements would be met by men reaching the age of 18½ years.

"I think we are through with essential industry. We are at the end of the road, except for those just coming of age," the minister said in reply to questions of Howard Green (PC-Vancouver South) during continued debate on the Labor Department's war estimates.

"I do not want to inject the theme of conscription into this debate, but I think it is fair to say that without conscription this country is as well organized as any country on the side of the United Nations—and let us be clear about that," said Mr. Mitchell.

About 100,000 young men reached military age last year and the minister said he could guess that about 50,000 of these would be available for compulsory military service under the National Mobilization Act.

Few Older Men

Mr. Green said he thought only a small number could be called in the older age groups and he said he wondered if the government proposed to call men into the service at 18 years rather than 18½.

Mr. Mitchell replied he could not tell what the future would bring. Men were called at 18 in the United States. However, he believed no more persons could be taken from the farms if the necessary foodstuffs were to be provided. Men would also have to be kept in basic industries.

More compulsory labor transfer orders could be expected to move men from non-essential industry into essential jobs. Seven such orders already have been issued.

The manpower debate, which occupied most of the House's sitting, was preceded by an announcement than an inter-departmental external trade advistory commmittee had been established to assist prompt decisions on trade policy during wartime by faciliating discussioins among departments.

The announcement was made by Justice Minister St. Laurent, Acting Secretary of State, who said the Mutual Aid Board, the Prices Board, the Foreign Exchange Control Board as well as several departments were represented on the committee which would study export and import trade matters and supplies available for trade.

A New Board.

Earlier first reading was given to a bill concerned with the establishment of an Air Transport Board. Transport Minister Michaud said the bill was a companion bill for a measure that will provide for taking control of commercial air services from the Board of Transport Commissioners. The new board would operate separately under the Transport Department.

In the Senate, Senator Athanese David (L-Quebec) moved that the forthcoming Dominion-Provincial conference would be urged to name a committee of the "most impartial and competent historians as such recognized in each province" to prepare a text book of Canadian history which could be accepted by all provinces.

The time had come when the teaching of history should be altered, said Senator David. "The way it has been done in the past has created too much quarrels, friction and chauvinism," he added.

The question of whether Canada had conscription was revived in the Commons by J. S. Roy (Ind.-Gaspe), and it aroused the ire of Mr. Mitchell.

Mr. Mitchell replied that "we have the military call-up for the defence of this country."

"If my honorable friend wants to call that conscription, that is his business, not mine," said the Minister. "If it is any advantage to him politically to use that language, he is entitled to it. But this is still a free country because men have the courage to go out and defend it."

Frederic Dorion (Ind.-Charlevoix-Saguenay) said 31 per cent of the manpower liable to compulsory military training were called in the province of Quebec in April, compared with 28 per cent in Ontario. He said he wondered why the Quebec rate should be higher.

"He's trying to break down the loyalty of this country on a percentage basis—and it can't be done," said Mr. Mitchell.

Fred Rose (Lab. Prog. Montreal Cartier) said that in the discussion of men who failed to report for medical examination he saw an unworthy attempt to slur the province of Quebec. The fact certain people did not report for military service could be blamed on political parties which had said in Quebec that young men would not have to go to war.

Why Not Find Them

G. S. White (PC-Hastings-Peterborough) said he wondered if everything was being done to locate men who failed to respond to call-up notices. Police could find citizens wanted for minor infractions of the law, but little seemed to be done about the men who disobeyed call-up regulations.

Mr. Mitchell said everything physically possible was being done to trace the men who failed to respond to the notices.

Mr. White said Mr. Mitchell had stated that 49,000 men were unaccounted for under the call-up regulations, and this figure was open to question and might be higher. The police could find citizens wanted for minor infractions of the law, but little seemed to be done about the men who had disobeyed call-up regulations.

Mr. Mitchell said he believed J. G. Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), who said earlier this week that it appeared 390,000 men had failed to report for medical examinations under call-up laws, had become lost in a maze of figures. His figure of men unaccounted for was 49,000 and he stood by it.

SERVING CANADA in WAR and PEACE

[The 63rd Annual Meeting of Canadian Pacific Shareholders was held in Montreal on May 3rd, 1944.]

Remember how pleasant it used to be to travel on Canadian Pacific trains and ships . . . to stay at Canadian Pacific hotels and resorts?

That was before Hitler unleashed his mad ambitions. It's different now. It has to be—for the World's Greatest Travel System has a big war job to do—and is doing it with characteristic efficiency.

When that job is done—and peace returns—Canadian Pacific will be ready to serve you as before . . . and even more completely.

Already plans are being made for the construction of new, improved locomotives and coaches . . . sleeping cars . . . parlor cars . . . diners; for the improvement of road-bed and tracks; for the renovation of stations and hotels; for the building of a new fleet of ocean vessels to replace those lost in war service.

This post-war program means much more than the mere restoration of pre-war travel facilities. It means the introduction of travel on a new scale of comfort, convenience and speed!

And more than that. It means a substantial amount of post-war employment and prosperity all over the Dominion, because the program itself will provide years of steady work at good wages for tens of thousands of Canadians.

This is one way in which Canadian Pacific is planning to meet the challenge of peace—while continuing to do a vital war job at home and abroad.

Canadian Pacific
THE WORLD'S GREATEST TRAVEL SYSTEM

CANADIAN PACIFIC PRODUCT OF FREE ENTERPRISE

LOYALLY AND EFFICIENTLY serving Canada for 63 years, the Canadian Pacific exemplifies the initiative and resource of free Canadian enterprise. The Dominion's first transcontinental railway, it was pushed to completion by a group of farseeing citizens who backed their faith in Canada's future with their personal fortunes. Thus, Canadian Pacific has played a major role in the development of the Dominion.

THE WARTIME ACTIVITIES of Canadian Pacific have been indispensable to Canada's contribution to victory. Rail freight traffic has doubled and passenger traffic has increased threefold compared with peacetime.

Canadian Pacific's ocean fleets on the Atlantic and the Pacific have been at the service of the United Nations since the outbreak of war.

From Canadian Pacific shops have come tanks, guns and other munitions of war to a total value of $125,000,000. Today approximately 18,000 Canadian Pacific employees are serving in the Armed Forces.

CANADIAN PACIFIC is rightly proud of these records, made possible by the free association of three important groups, each contributing vitally to mutual Canadian interests:

ITS PATRONS—throughout Canada and many other parts of the world.

ITS EMPLOYEES—totalling over 75,000, whose wages and working conditions set a high standard for Canadian labor.

ITS SECURITY AND STOCKHOLDERS—numbering more than 200,000, who have risked their savings as evidence of their faith in the Canadian system of free enterprise.

A copy of Canadian Pacific's Annual Report for 1943 will be mailed to you on request.

Waste Paper Salvage Is Vital

The Minister of National War Services has asked the press of Canada to explain to the public the extreme need for waste paper salvage. The Dominion collection campaign has been greatly increased, and unless the waste paper is forthcoming several aspects of our war effort will be hindered.

The use of paper and cardboard containers in war are many. For instance, in landing operations large quantities of materials are flung overboard, either to float to shore or to be picked up at low tide; these materials are contained in special containers of heavy, processed paper. Containers are used to protect medical supplies, blood plasma shipments, emergency rations, gas masks, and countless other supplies of the Army, Navy and Air Force. On many fronts now, and on many more when the invasion gets under way, supplies and food are dropped to men in isolated positions in paper parachutes. A special type of paper container is used to hold naphtha, benzine and other solvent vapours of high volatility. Electric wires are being laid in conduits of treated paper which replace the clumsier wooden and metal ones. Shells, grenades, fuses, and scores of types of ammunition are protected by paper wrappings. By shipping dehydrated foods in paper packages hundreds of square feet of shipping space is saved; indeed, the saving in this sort of shipping as compared with ordinary shipping of undried products in wooden cases is reckoned to be 85 per cent. In shell and explosives factories paper containers are used for transporting powder. And for shipping everything—bombs, airplane propellors, ack-ack shells and a thousand other things—paper wrapping and paper containers are needed.

Naturally none of these containers which are sent abroad can be salvaged. Therefore we must not waste a scrap of paper on the home front. Your duty is to keep your papers and cardboard boxes, and to prepare them for collection by the salvage workers. The importance of this work cannot be exaggerated. Please take it seriously and salvage all the paper you can.

A Realistic Prelate

The Archbishop of York, who has been visiting this country and the U.S. made an interesting statement in Toronto on Tuesday; he said that he did not think that the churches would be directly represented at the peace conference after the war, and he made it clear that he was not at all disturbed by that prospect. He said: "I am not at all sure that I would have any great confidence in a peace made by ministers of the gospel". And he continued, "The fundamental task of the church is to call the people to pray".

No one is likely to accuse the Archbishop of York of lacking respect for the church. Nor would anyone in his senses imagine that an Archbishop of the Church of England lacks first-hand knowledge of politics and politicians. Therefore it is significant that he is ready to trust the settlement of a just peace to the men who have had long and intimate experience of statecraft, and that he believes that those men will give concrete expression to their Christian principles in that settlement. This is a far cry from the opinions of those clergymen who would like to involve the churches vigorously and intimately with politics.

Clearly Dr. Garbett puts the spiritual duty of the church before its social duty, and is not confused by the sophistry which insists that the one is invalid without the other. The fundamental task of the church is to call the people to pray, to open the path to God, and not to fuss about balanced meals, or an eight-hour day, or pinball machines and burlesque shows. He who has God, has all, and he who has Him not, has nothing. The church's primary duty is to open the way to God. To many people, perhaps, the Archbishop's view may seem Oriental and mystical; they must be reminded that the church and Christianity are also Oriental and mystical, and that our attempts to turn the church into a benevolent business, and Christianity into a code of business ethics, have not been conspicuously successful. Being a realist, and not merely a pseudo-realist, Dr. Garbett puts the emphasis where it is needed.

Seizure Of Montgomery, Ward

Canada, as well as the United States, will be greatly interested to see what will come of the seizure of the large Chicago mail-order house of Montgomery, Ward by the U.S. government, with the forcible removal of the manager, Mr. Sewell Avery. The seizure followed the refusal of the company to renew a contract with a labour union at the order of the War Labour Board; the firm of Montgomery, Ward, speaking through Mr. Avery, refused to do so, because the government was using compulsion against it, and had not used compulsion against John L. Lewis, the leader of the union in question, when it asked him to sign a contract last June. Indeed, the company's protest was against the arbitrary methods used by the Administration in dealing with employers, as opposed to the vacillating and conciliating methods it uses in dealing with the labour unions.

On the surface, the case seems to be a clear one. Montgomery, Ward refused to comply with a government order, and under orders from the President as Commander in Chief, the firm was seized by the military and will be operated by the government. But under the surface many vexing questions of civil rights, and particularly of favouritism toward unions, have been stirred up. The response of the American people to this action, as reflected in the press, is mixed, but there is a persistent note of criticism of arbitrary action, the legality of which is open to question.

There are those who, like one Canadian newspaper, insist that Montgomery, Ward imagine themselves to be above the law because they are a very rich business concern; but there are many others who see the protest of the firm as a protest against illegal action taken under the guise of wartime necessity, and a show of bravery on the part of the Administration which was decidedly lacking when the dispute was with a labour union. When Mr. Sewell Avery remained in his office until the last possible moment, and then was carried from it by two soldiers under the command of a sergeant, he made an extremely shrewd move. The picture of this peculiar little procession has now been seen everywhere on this continent, and it has been observed that Mr. Avery is composed and stern, but that the men who carry him look very foolish indeed. The American Revolution began as a protest against an arbitrary use of power, and Mr. Avery has not forgotten it. Whether or not he can prove his case remains to be seen.

Dangers Of Sulfa Drugs

The sulfa drugs which are being used with such good effect these days are very dangerous, and should never be taken except under explicit orders from a physician. We read of their wonders almost every day; they are beneficial in a great variety of ailments, and they have reduced the danger of some serious diseases, such as pneumonia, very markedly. But we also read of people who have injured themselves severely, or who have killed themselves, by taking sulfa drugs without proper instruction.

These drugs are not like aspirin tablets, to be taken with impunity by everybody and anybody. Their effects may be fatal if they are carelessly used. Many physicians leave only the sulfa pills which they want their patients to take, with careful instructions about taking them: but there are other physicians who prescribe more pills than are actually needed, with the result that their patients have the drug in the house, and are sometimes tempted to take it on their own responsibility. That is where the danger lies.

Minor Warships And Coastal Craft

By
FRANCIS McMURTRIE A.I.N.A.
(Editor of "Jane's Fighting Ships")

IN a modern fleet a variety of minor vessels will invariably be found, their use being governed by the exacting requirements of naval warfare.

Attack on commerce by submarine has called for the production of escort vessels in vast numbers. These are of differing types according to whether required for the protection of ocean or coastal convoys, or to accompany fast or slower ships. Though destroyers are essential in the case of fast convoys, others can be entrusted to the protection of ships of less force, such as sloops, frigates, corvettes or submarine chasers.

Sloops, an old type modified to suit the requirements of today, are vessels which in the British Navy range from about 1,000 to over 1,200 tons, with speeds of from 16 to nearly 20 knots. In the case of the latest design in service, the Wren class, they are armed with six 4-inch guns on high angle mountings, with numerous smaller weapons and depth charge throwers. In 1943 the names of several of these ships, notably H.M.S. Starling, Whimbrel, Wild Goose, Woodpecker and Wren, have figured prominently in accounts of U-boats destroyed in vain attacks on convoys.

FRIGATE is another name of sailing ship days revived for modern use. Actually in the old days a frigate was a ship of much superior force to a sloop, but this is not so today. From photographs that have appeared, the modern frigate would appear to be a ship little inferior to the sloop in size, but with armament less than half as strong. It may be that she has some advantage over the sloop in speed, but figures for frigates have not yet been released.

A numerous class of frigates named after British rivers is in service, and an improved type, named after naval captains of the past, has since been under construction in the United States.

Somewhat similar to frigates, but of smaller size and lower speed, are the corvettes. The majority of these belong to the "Flower" class, of which some have been built in British shipyards and others in Canada. Of 925 tons displacement, they are armed with a single 4-inch high angle gun, a pompom, and sundry machine guns and depth charge throwers. Names of about 200 "Flowers" have been published, including some transferred to the Royal Norwegian, Royal Hellenic, Royal Netherland and French Navies. In 1940-41 these useful little ships bore the brunt of the Battle of the Atlantic, in which most of them are still operating.

FOR the purpose of escorting coastal convoys, vessels of smaller fuel capacity can of course be used. Though on occasions destroyers and minesweepers have undertaken such duties, they are more often performed by armed trawlers. Some of these are genuine fishing trawlers, taken over by the Admiralty for the duration of the war; but quite a considerable proportion have been specially designed and built for naval purposes; and are of a type differing somewhat in appearance from the normal type of commercial trawler. A particularly numerous group of such trawlers is the "Isles" class, all named after islands in British or Canadian waters. From photographs they seem to be vessels of about 600 tons armed with a 4-inch gun, machine guns and depth charges.

For escorting coastal trade along the Atlantic seaboard of the United States, a type of motor launch known as a submarine chaser is employed. Of these there are two main groups, of which one is built of steel and the other of wood. The former, known by numbers with the prefixed initials PC or PCE, are of between 300 or 400 tons, with a speed of 25 knots; and the latter, whose numbers are prefixed by PSC or SC, are of from 100 to 250 tons, with speeds of 20 knots or more. Units of both groups have been transferred to the Royal Norwegian Navy, Royal Netherland Navy, Royal Hellenic Navy, Brazilian Navy and Soviet Navy, under the Lend-Lease scheme.

GUNBOATS, designed originally for service on the Yangtse or other Chinese rivers, have been utilized for other operations demanding ships of shallow draught during the present war. Thus the Ladybird (since lost at Tobruk), Aphis, Cockchafer and Scarab have been active in the Mediterranean carrying out bombardments of enemy positions on the African and Sicilian coasts. All four are of 625 tons displacement, with a draught of only four feet (say 13 metres). Their speed is 14 knots, and they mount the relatively heavy armament of two 6-inch guns, with a 3-inch high angle piece and ten smaller weapons.

Another of these river gunboats, H.M.S. Mosquito, 585 tons, armed with two 4-inch guns and a 3.7-inch howitzer, was lost during the evacuation from Dunkirk. She had a draught of 5 feet (16.2 metres) and a speed of 17 knots. A sister ship, the Locust, is still in service.

Other small ships prominent in short range operations are what have become known as coastal craft. In this term are comprehended motor torpedo boats, motor gunboats and motor launches. These are vessels of the same general character, of high speed and light draught, with torpedo tubes as the main armament in the case of the first-named and numerous light guns, such as Oerlikons, Vickers or Bofors 20 mm., in the second. Motor launches are usually somewhat larger, slower and less heavily armed, being used to some extent for escorting coastwise mercantile traffic.

In the English Channel and North Sea British motor torpedo boats and motor gunboats are out on patrol most nights, seeking to interrupt the enemy's coastal communications. Service in such high-speed craft, many of which exceed 40 knots without difficulty, is quite a specialist job, requiring the utmost alertness; and certain keen young naval officers have received well-earned decorations for their successes against the Germans. It is seldom that the latter venture far from their own side of the Channel or North Sea, and the balance of losses in the night encounters which are so frequent is decidedly against them.

FOR nations with smaller navies, coastal craft of the above descriptions should be ideal weapons. They can operate from shallow bases which would be unsuitable for larger ships, and require only small crews. Experience in the present war has developed engines of various types which have been found suitable for such craft, without undue complication and reliable under sea conditions. Combined with vessels of the corvette and trawler type, their use should render coast defence problems simpler for the lesser navies after the war. There is no doubt, too, that the big navies will also continue to use them in peace time, as they will be valuable for training young officers in handling ships at high speed.

Other minor war vessels in use at present include boom defence craft, capable of laying barriers which can close an anchorage against submarine or surface torpedo attack. These are vessels of from 500 to 700 tons, with speeds of from 10 to 12 knots. Heavy bow lifting gear for raising the material of which the boom is made up is a conspicuous feature of these little ships, which usually carry an armament of one 3-inch high angle gun and machine guns.

There are sundry other specialized types used for disembarking troops and military material, known as landing craft. These vary very greatly in size and characteristics, and full information concerning them has still to be released.

Hold Your Hats

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THE appearance of some Swiss magazines containing pictures of extravagantly large, Paris-styled hats, has thrown the Fifth Avenue fashion dictators into a tailspin and the jitters seems to have reached the American capital. It seems that some one in the hat designing business could not resist copying these creations, which use more veiling and other material than wartime law allows. Customers bought them. The contrast to the pancake austerity of other chapeaux created a storm in cafe society.

The Millinery Stabilization Committee sounded the tocsin in Washington and sent telegrams warning member of the industry to be on their guard. The FBI took a look at the insidious magazines. A WPB spokesman — whose name couldn't be used—was quoted thus by a New York paper:

"The third 'Swiss' publication featuring Paris styles to come within two weeks has dispelled the last doubt that the Nazis are waging psychological warfare against he American fashion industry. The purpose of their scheme is to introduce styles in America which cannot be produced within the limitations of government material conservation orders...."

All this, in case you were looking the other way, actually happened. Now into this tempest in a shallow hat crown Rosette Hargrove has dropped what seems to be a sensible explanation. Mrs. Hargrove is a Paris-born American war correspondent, stationed in London. A former Paris fashion writer, she has been in touch with a former colleague who escaped from France within the past two months. In short, she should have a fair idea of whether Paris hats are the Nazis' long-feared secret weapon.

Her explanation is that the fanciful creations are just another subtle nose-thumbing at the Germans, who have declared French fashions to be decadent and degenerate, and have tried to shift the style capital from Paris to Berlin and Vienna. She learned that these "Nazi-inspired" hats were a year old.

The perturbed Washington authorities might have figured out something of the sort without Mrs. Hargrove's help. It's underestimating a resourceful enemy a bit to think that, on the eve of invasion and with his back to the wall, he could dream up no better psychological weapon than a picture hat.

We think it is time for the officials who reacted so violently to the new hats to stop looking under the bed, and refuse to listen to any more millinery atrocity stories.

We Go By Train To Machynlleth

AN invitation came to spend the day at Machynlleth with some old friends of the family. When Arthur pulled a face at the idea, I naturally said: "Then why go?" But it was almost of the type of a royal command, for they knew we had nothing to do, and any trumped-up excuse would have wounded their feelings. "Well, let's just go to tea", I suggested. Again Arthur shook his head: "Mother would think that a shocking waste of railway-fare".

A distance from door to door, that a car could comfortably manage in half-an-hour today, consumed over two hours on the railway, even when things went reasonably well. The trains were few, and not invariably late. An hour was the usual time for them to be behind schedule, and if this could have been relied on we could have fallen comfortably in with the plan. But sometimes they would be punctual! Now in order to be in time for lunch at Machynlleth, our feast of obligation, we had to get the 8 o'clock train from Aberdovey. This meant breakfast at 7, because Mrs. Hughes liked to start at 7.30, so as to be on the safe side. Meanwhile, Arthur stayed behind....

Mrs. Hughes and I sat on the platform and amused ourselves as best we could, and were quite cheered to see some kind of odd train doddering in from Towyn—a goods or something. To our dismay we discovered that it was our own train, actually up to time. And of course no sign of Arthur.

"There. What have I always said? I knew he would be late, running it so close. We must go without him, that's all", said Mrs. Hughes as she climbed into a carriage. I wanted to wait for the next train, but she said the people at Machynlleth would be at the station to meet us, and it wouldn't do to disappoint them. Reluctantly I got in too, and hoped that there would be the usual delay in departure. I hung out of the window to see if Arthur were in sight. Yes, there he was far back along the road, running hard, for he had evidently seen the train. Then the wretched thing started. All I could do was to wave regrets to Arthur, but he was otherwise occupied. To my alarm I saw him turn from the road, vault the fence, run on to the line and wave his arms in front of the engine. We stopped, and in another minute he was scrambling into the carriage.—From "A London Girl of the Eighties", by M. Vivian Hughes. (New York: Oxford Press.)

Like a Goblin

A grizzly, twisted, and gnarled old tree that looks like a goblin, the baobab has the girth of a giant, the hide of a rhinoceros, and twigs like fingers clutching the air. In spite of its formidable appearance, it is the friendliest tree of the North. It provides man with food, water, a house to live in, fiber to clothe him, fodder for his sheep and cattle....In all nature there is no other tree, with the possible exception of the coconut palm, that has so many uses. The Adansonia Gregorii, related to the African baobab, flourishes in a zone of one thousand square miles skirting the coast between Broome and the Victoria River....

Water stays in the knotted hollows of the tree, fresh and clear, for weeks and sometimes months after the wet season; and when it disappears in the long, merciless dry season, the pith ripped from beneath the bark and wrung like a cloth into a pannikin provides a clear, cool, and tasteless drink that is often a wanderer's salvation. The rind of the pods, chopped and mixed with water, makes a bitter but nourishing food that or station....The pollen gum supplies the blacks with an efficient glue and a tough pitch for sticking spearheads and stone tomahawks to their hafts, and for the feather tufts used in the corroboreee. The stranded bark makes a rope superior to Manila hemp, and the natives carve the velvety pods into figures of birds and fish to sell to tourists in the ports.

But the baobab is loved by the bagmen of the Northwest chiefly because it is their first and last camp, their station homestead, post office, store, and resting place. The gigantic trunks, often thirty feet in diameter, are hollow and provide a natural shelter for travelers. At Calloman Yarda, in the Lennard River country, I saw a baobab homestead in which a sheepman and his sister had made their home for twenty years. From "Australian Frontier," by Ernestine Hill.

Let Patton Fight

If General Patton had deliberately tried, he could hardly have produced in small compass a bigger batch of propaganda for the Nazis, the Japanese and the Chicago Tribune than he did in his speech opening a club for American soldiers in England.

But others will hardly accept as settled Government policy the thoughtless bombast which came out the first time the General has had a chance to blow off since the unhappy soldier-slapping incident last July. United Nations efforts to win the war and organize the peace will not be thrown askew by an assertion that Britain and America are destined to "rule the world."

If the Sioux tribe were asked to provide an Indian name for the General, they would doubtless come up with something like "Chief Foot-in-Mouth." General Patton fights well; his superiors should keep him at it.—Christian Science Monitor.

NAZIS ONLY SYMBOL

The Nazis are merely a symbol in Germany—a symbol of the national spirit of the German people nutured for generations upon the belief that might is right, that anything short of a cruel, uncompromising, unprincipled total war is a sign of weakness. Prussian militarism is an essential part of the code of ethics of Germany as a nation, and this along with the Nazi Party will have to be completely stamped out before Germany is fit to take her place as a free nation of Europe.—Guelph Mercury.

LINOTYPERS AND OPERA

One of the young men who won $1,000 and a Metropolitan Opera contract the other day in a singing contest is Morton Bowe of Plainfield, N.J., a linotyper by trade. Well, we think being a linotyper is pretty swell training. Most of the ones we have known have been better than fair singers, excellent in quartet work. They have a regard for their work which is the mark of the true artist in any profession. They produce, in the whir of the linotype machines, something that is grand music.—H. I. TOURIST TRAFFIC

The Ontario conference on tourist problems, sponsored by the Provincial Government, seems to have been a very successful affair. It brought together people interested in the tourist trade and it made possible a frank discussion of methods for encouraging that trade. How valuable this may be to Ontario was indicated in an address made by the United States consul-general, who declared that hundreds of thousands of people in the American republic have "earmarked their savings for post-war trips to Ontario."—Sault Daily Star.

A Bible Message

Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat....

And the Lord God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou? And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself....

And the Lord God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat. (Gen. 3: 1-6, 9, 10, 13.)

"No, thanks; I had that this morning."

"Well, then, tongue, sir?"

"No thanks; I'll get that tonight."

Board Considers Railway Wage Increase

OTTAWA, May 5 (CP)—National War Labor Board Thursday tackled the largest application since wartime wage control was introduced—a request from 17 railway brotherhoods for a general increase for 100,000 railway workers, employees of seven Canadian railways.

Estimates of the annual cost of the increases sought run up to $100,000,000—the equivalent of all wage increases, apart from cost-of-living bonus adjustments, granted by War Labor Boards.

The brotherhoods ask that wage rates for running trades—engineers, firemen and conductors—be brought up to the level paid on Eastern United States lines and that all other workers be paid an increase of 23 cents an hour.

Basic rates paid Canadian passenger engineers now range from $6.16 to $7 a day, compared with $8.54 to $9.54 in the United States. Firemen on Canadian passenger lines get $4.56 to $5.25 against $6.82 and $7.56, and conductors have a basic rate of $7.08 compared with $9.12.

Big Difference

Rates for mechanical trades on Canadian railways, vary from 56 cents for helpers to 79 cents for skilled journeymen. Comparable United States rates are from 72 to $1.04 cents.

The case opened with Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor, board chairman, presiding. Other board members hearing the case are Leon Lalande of Montreal and John A. Bell of Toronto.

Howard Chase of Montreal, vice-president of the Railroad Engineers Brotherhood, opened the case for Brotherhoods which is presenting a 57-page brief supplemented by voluminous statistical exhibits.

Railways in the case include: Algoma Central and Hudson's Bay; Canadian National; Canadian Pacific; Essex Terminal; Temiskaming and Northern Ontario; Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo; Toronto Terminals.

The Brotherhoods said in their brief "just and reasonable" settlement of the wage dispute was "essential to the National welfare." With 100,000 railway workers directly concerned, the case indirectly affected some 500,000 Canadians.

The Brotherhoods reviewed the history of their efforts to gain wage increases starting with an application to the railways last July. The railways said they could not meet the request.

The Brotherhoods said railway wage rates in Canada and the United States had been closely linked over a long period. Workers involved in the application had received no general increase in 15 years while workers in other industries had received as many as our increases.

Soldier Finds His Grandmother Twice Bombed Out Of Her Home

Back at home in Peterborough after two years and seven months overseas, Gnr. Albert E. Hawkins, R.C.A., is spending a month's leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hawkins, 61 Orpington Road, before reporting to Kingston for a reboard in June. He returned to Canada this week in a medically unfit category, arriving on Tuesday.

GNR. ALBERT E. HAWKINS

With a Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery from the time of his enlistment on March 3, 1941 until he was ordered home, Gnr. Hawkins trained at Petawawa before leaving for England late in September of 1941. Most of his time overseas he has been stationed at points along the southeast coast of England, the hot spots as far as incoming German raiders were concerned.

Gnr. Hawkins is one of three out of the four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hawkins who have enlisted in the Canadian Army and gone overseas, and he was the first to join up. The others, both overseas at the present time, are Pte. Alfred Hawkins of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, who was married recently to an English girl; and Driver Wilfred Hawkins, who is with the Transport Section.

Air raids are an old story to Gnr. Hawkins, who said he chose the anti-aircraft branch of the service because guns were always a hobby with him. He has been in the thick of many, especially in his first months abroad, when German raiders were still very regular and deadly in the visits they paid to English soil. Even when on leave, Gnr. Hawkins was not altogether able to avoid taking an involuntary part in the visitations of the Luftwaffe, for several times he got to London on short furloughs just in time to find the bombs falling around him.

This soldier, who is only 21 years old now after more than three years of service in Canada's forces, found the English people "very nice" and enjoyed his association with them. His ties with Britain are closer than is the case with many Canadian lads going overseas, for both his mother and father were born in England and his grandmother and other relatives are still living there.

He made a point of visiting his grandmother, a courageous old lady of 85, living in London, who epitomizes the pluck of thousands of civilians who endured the horrors of the Battle of Britain. She had twice been bombed out of her home and buried in the ruins, on the second occasion being pinned beneath rubble for a whole day before rescue squads could get to her. And yet she lived on hale and hearty and not a bit afradi.

Before joining the Army, Gnr. Hawkins worked for about six months as a delivery boy for John Allen's Grocery Store on George street. Returning to Canada with him on the same ship was Pte. James Sisson, also of Peterborough, who stopped of in Toronto to visit relatives before coming to the city.

Signals Mixed, 2 Planes Are Lost

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 5—(AP)— The Rabaul area on the northeast tip of New Britain returned to the Pacific war spotlight Monday when heavy bombers, attack planes and fighters unloosed an effective 88-ton bombing and strafing assault. The raid was announced to-day. Two American planes fell victim to anti-aircraft fire.

On Northern New Guinea activity was limited to occasional patrol clashes.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur blamed an apparent failure to recognize signals as the cause of an accidental clash between American fighter and PT boats Monday at Cape Lambert near Rabaul. Small enemy vessels frequently are encountered in the area.

A spokesman said a fighter attacked a PT boat stranded on a reef, and was shot down by the little craft's guns. Other fighters flew in as support. A second PT boat came to the aid of the craft in difficulty, and shot down a second fighter before it, too, was wrecked. Some casualties resulted.

Sluggers And Yanks Get Win

On Wednesday night the Tigers and Sluggers battled it out for the first time and the Sluggers proved to be the superior team by handing out a defeat of 11-1.

Stars for the Sluggers were Conlin (captain) who pitched the 7 innings and was instrumental in the defeat. F. Lucano also was good behind the plate. Both F. Connelly and John MacDonald starred on third and first bases. In all the Sluggers proved the superior team.

The Tigers blame their lack of pitching for their defeat. They started out with Legrow pitching, who was relieved in the second by Sullivan. Sullivan in turn was relieved by Legrow who pitched the remainder of the game. The team itself showed plenty of fight through the game, with B. Sheehy catching, K. Ferren on first and Don Griffin on third.

On Wednesday afternoon the Sharps and Yanks played their first game of the season. The Yanks came out victorious with a score 10-9.

The Sharps were in the lead up to the sixth but in the last half of the sixth the Yanks batted their way up to tie the game 9-9 and gained their winning run in the last of the seventh.

Conroy starred for the Yanks by pitching the whole game and doing some fine hitting also. J. Wade also did a fine job behind the plate and contributed some good swatting. Bill Rudkins starred at first.

Stars for the Sharps were Daly, pitcher, L. Corkery, catcher and D. McIsaac on third base.

There was no dearth of players at the opening practice of the U.E. entry in the City League when the new club worked out at Riverside Park Thursday evening. No fewer than 20 aspirants for the team put in an appearance, and the Union outfit are hopeful of being able to field a fighting club. Among the pitchers out was Don Isaacs, the youngster who pitched good ball for the Cardinals last season in spite of disheartening support and Anderson who also saw some action with the Cards late in the campaign. There were a number of new faces in the array of players who reported for the initial workout. The U.E. team will stage another practice Monday night and any players who want to try out will be welcomed. All the positions are still wide open, it is announced. The Union club held its [illegible] meeting early in the week and elected officers. The list includes Rich Jackson as president, Art Hewitt as manager and G. Pearce as secretary-treasurer. Incidentally the players report Riverside Park as needing immediate attention. The diamond of course is calling for a manicuring and the field should be rolled as soon as possible. The official opening of the league is called for a week from Monday so the park authorities should mark this chore down in their "Must" list.

For the past two weeks the St. Peter's School Softball League has been going strong with its inter-grade and high school competitions, the Athletic Association has made plans for a big season. Between the High School and lower school nineteen teams have been organized, as well as two more from grades 7 and 8 of St. Mary's Convent. Three sections of the teams are made up of the boys and and the fourth of girls. The school grounds will be the scene of two games each evening of the school week and three contests will be staged on Saturdays. All in all it looks like a big season of softball for for St. Peter's scholars and those in the future St. Peter' Church team which will be principally made up of High School students. With this fine organization in St. Peter's and with the public schools of the city running their own school leagues in addition to inter-school competition, the youngsters of Peterborough are getting a real chance this summer to play organized softball and to learn the game from the ground up. The policy should bear important results in the future and we would be glad to be able to report that other sports in Peterborough had such a nursery of players to depend upon.

The Whipper Coming

Peterborough wrestling fans are going to get another opportunity next Tuesday night to see Canada's No. 1 wrestling star and logical claimant for the world championship, Whipper Billy Watson in action. Promoter Frank Tunney announced yesterday that he had signed the Whip for the main bout here and that he was casting about for a suitable opponent for the British Empire champion. "Watson has to meet Wild Bill Longson within 30 days in a match for the world title," Tunney said, "and he is anxious to keep in shape by facing a number of tough opponents. Peterborough will get a chance to see one of these battles and I predict that popular as is the Whipper there now, he will be even more so after the fans have watched him go. Watson is at the peak of his form, heavier than he has ever been before and he has gained that extra poundage without sacrificing a fraction of his speed. If anything he is faster than ever and the St. Louis fans have acclaimed him as the most sensational performer they have seen face Longson on his own home grounds."

* * * * * *

The announcement of the coming of Watson will be acclaimed here. The Whipper is tops with Peterborough enthusiasts and the largest crowds of the season have gathered at the Brock to see him perform. He is big, fast, powerful and clean and he has a variety of quickly applied holds that keep his opponent always guessing as to what is coming next. Probably his most effective weapon is the unconscious commando hold that has won many matches for him but his Canadian avalanche, that starts with a stepover toe hold and winds up with a cartwheel is the most thrilling of all his holds, along with the spectacular "Whip" from which his nickname has been derived. No matter who may happen to be his opponent next Tuesday night, a worthwhile battle can be expected for no bout in which Watson has appeared has ever been dull. He has a flair for pleasing the crowd and no matter what the opposition may be like the Whipper continues to provide plenty of excitement and thrill.

What About Cooper?

One of the mysteries of the big league race so far is what has happened to Mort Cooper, ace pitcher of the St. Louis Cards. The big righthander has started three games this season and judging by the way the Cards have been travelling that should have meant three wins for Cooper. Let he has yet to win his first victory. In two of the games he started the St. Louis star had to take the loss; in the other battle he failed to go the route but escaped being tagged with the defeat. Cooper tried against the Pittsburg Pirates yesterday but once again he was chased to the showers and Brecheen had to be called upon. Max Butcher pitched for the Pirates who took the decision 6 to 3. There was only one other game in the National League yesterday and that saw Boston Braves toss the Giants for a loss by 8 to 4 with Hutchinson getting credit for the victory although he failed to go the full distance. Pyle started for the Giants and he too had to be relieved. It was his second loss as against no triumphs so far this season.

There was only half a schedule in the American League too, yesterday. St. Louis Browns, getting a five-hit exhibition by Potter, shut out the Detroit Tigers 2 to 0. Rube Gentry, formerly of the Buffalo Bisons made his second attempt of the season to grab off a win for himself but failed in spite of the fact that he pitched good ball and allowed but six hits. The Brownies' satisfaction over the cleancut win was probably tempered considerably by the announcement that Steve Sundra one of the stars of their pitching staff had received his military callup and was due to report for examination on May 9. If Sundra measures up to the physical requirements his loss will be felt by the Brownies. In the other game on the American League card yesterday the Chicago White Sox although outhit 9 to 6 by the Cleveland Indians managed to eke out a close win over the Tribe, taking the verdict 2 to 1. Rookie Eddie Lopat was the Chicago pitcher and Kennedy and Poat did the tossing for the Indians with the loss being chalked up against the latter.

Plenty of players go through their whole career without ever having had the thrill of a circuit clout with the bases clogged.... Yet young Cicero does the trick twice in one afternoon....Nels Potter of the Browns has already won three games this season with only one loss marked against him....It always happens—Connie Ryan, formerly of the Giants led the assault against his old teammates yesterday with a homer and two singles, driving in three runs....The wrestlers had a holiday this week so far as Toronto was concerned....The only tossing around in the Maple Leaf Gardens has been done by the bronchos in the rodeo.... Johnny Hopp of the Cards has been rejected for military service.

Train Kills Two

BRANTFORD, May 5 — (CP) — An inquest is to be held in the death of six-year-old Frank Kandas and seven-year-old Andy Kish, two South Norwich Township boys, who were killed near Tillsonburg. An eyewitness reported that the boys were killed by a eastbound train while they were watching a train approaching from the east.

JERSEY CITY DEFEATS MAPLE LEAFS 9-1 IN OPENER—Centrefielder Zontini of the Toronto Maple Leafs slides into third, just behind the ball, on Tyack's infield hit, as Umpire Tobin shouts "You're out!" at the Canadian baseball opener in Toronto. Jersey City "Little Giants" won the game, 9-1.

Dr. H. Reilly Athlete Dies

BROCKVILLE, May 5—(CP)—Dr. Harold A. Reilly, 43, probably the greatest all-around athlete Brockville ever produced, died suddenly at his home last night shortly after his return from his dental office.

He was a member of the University of Toronto Intercollegiate and Dominion champion football team. He played hockey with Toronto Dents, captained the U. of T. water polo team and starred at speed swimming.

After graduation in 1923 he was coach, manager and player on the Brockville team in the O.R.F.U., stroked B.R.C. novice fours to Dominion championship at Royal Canadian Henley and coached Magdeomas, Brockville's crack hockey team of the middle 30's. He was unmarried and is survived only by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Reilly, here.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

For the second year the Kentucky Derby, $75,000 highlight of the racing season scheduled for Saturday at Churchill Downs, is to be largely a home-town feature for Louisville and environs because of travel restrictions but the expectation is 50,000 fans will crowd the stands for turfdom's historic event. Yesterday the track was soaked by rain but fair weather was promised for today so that a good track was in prospect for tomorrow.

Among the Louisville gossipers the word continued to be that Stir Up is the horse to watch and Mrs. Payne Whitney's entry was quoted 8-5 favorite in preliminary wagering. Not more than 14 or 15 horses are expected to go to the post.

Commissioner W. G. Bramham of the Association of Minor Baseball Leagues declared yesterday at his Durham, N.C., headquarters he deprecated the signing of high school students for pro ball, adding that the practice of securing youths before they finished their school term was not a credit to the sport.

Expected to become the regular shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Gene Mauch yesterday was optioned, along with two others, to the Montreal Royals of the International League. Accompanying the infielder in the move were Pitchers Dick Weaver and Al Zachary.

St. Louis Cardinals and the St. Louis Browns yesterday announced a new policy through which negro patrons are no longer restricted to the bleachers and pavilion at Sportsmen's Park but will be permitted to buy seats in the grandstand.

Denny Galehouse, employed in a rubber plant at Akron, O., yesterday was signed as a part-time pitcher by St. Louis Browns to be available for week-end games. He replaces Steve Sundra who has been ordered to report Tuesday for military service. Sundra had won two games already this season and last year had a record of 15 victories against 11 losses.

Gallahadion, a 35-1 shot, scored one of the greatest upsets in the history of the Kentucky Derby when he won the 65th running of America's classic race four years ago today. Driven through along the rail by Jockey Carroll Bierman, Gallahadion took the lead 50 yards from the finish line and stunned a crowd of 60,000 by finishing a length and a half in front of the favored Bimelech.

A Buckingham is the mildest cigarette you can smoke, because it is mild, where mildness counts most—in the throat. A Buckingham is "Throat Easy" because it is blended from tobaccos that are naturally cool-burning, cool-smoking.

Cooper Slipping Fails To Finish Game

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

What's the matter with Morton Cooper is the big question in the National League today as the big righthander's St. Louis mates take on the second-place Cincinnati Reds in the first big series of the 1944 campaign.

Cooper, who won 21 games last year and hurled 24 complete games in 32 starts, has failed to go the route in three outings including yesterday's 6-3 loss to Pittsburgh.

An injured ankle suffered when he was hit by a line drive in an exhibition shortly before opening day may be the answer. Pittsburgh and Cincinnati knocked him out of the box in two starts and he faded for a pinch-hitter with his team trailing by one-run in yesterday's effort.

While Cooper was having his trouble, Max Butcher was breaking into the victory column for the first time ofter surviving a jittery first inning in which he allowed three runs on four hits and a walk. The tall West Virginian allowed only four more hits in the rest of the game as the Bucs pulled St. Louis down to within one game of Cincinnati and the Phils, tied for second.

Phillies Near Top

Those Phillies can tie for the top if Cincy knocks off the Cardinals today and might sneak out in front all by themselves while the western rivals are quarrelling. Freddy Fitzsimmons' Jays were idle yesterday but move into Brooklyn today where they could make life rosy for fat Freddy with a series victory over his old mates.

Boston slid the New York Giants down the shoots for their fourth straight defeat, 8-4, with Connie Ryan, a former Polo Grounder adding to their embarrassment with two singles and a homer that accounted for four runs.

The Cincinnati-Chicago game in the National was postponed and Brooklyn like Philadelphia, was not scheduled.

Rookie Ed Lopat of Little Rock knows how it feels to win his first big league game after hurling Chicago's White Sox to a 2-1 edge over Cleveland's Ray Kennedy. Wally Moses crept up on the leaders by stealing two bases, one of which figured in the Sox two-run spurt in the fourth inning.

St. Louis took advantage of the open date in the eastern half of the American League to tighten its grip on first by a 2-0 job against Detroit. Nelson Potter parcelled out five Tiger singles for his third triumph to one loss and the Browns' 12th victory in 15 starts.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 5 — (CP). — Devotees of the gentle art of dart tossing in Timmins, Ont., are looking forward to a golden age for the game in Canada after the war. Canadian servicemen in Britain, they reason, have been having a lot of fun these last few years heaving the feather-tipped darning needles into boards at the other end of cosy British "pubs" and theyre going to bring back with them a great enthusiasm for the game.

Only drawback we can see at this distance is that the game may wither and die when transplanted from its tropical habitat in Britain's public oases. After all, a game of darts is really a secondary consideration in mind when a man enters a pub for shelter from the inclement English weather and might not do so well as a main feature.

Post-war sport:

An extensive sports program for the troops overseas between the time the armistice is signed and men finally are demobilized has been suggested by Harry (Calgary Albertan) Scott. It may be a little too early for such thoughts, but a program as envisioned would help the fighting men over the tough hill to civilian life by giving them a new interest. And it would revitalize a sport scene that may be quite lackadaisical by then.

Sportsmen's Mecca:

Downtown Toronto will be a drab and dreary place for visiting athletics, sportsmen and camp followers now that Benny Stockley's gymnasium, social club and tourist centre is being converted into a warehouse. Fighters and athletes of all descriptions have trained in Stockley's establishment, and gone out across the country bearing the tales of it and its genial host. The great man himself, who just last week celebrated his 64th birthday by challenging any or all comers to go a round with him, will retire to the outskirts of the city to set up anew his rudely-shattered establishment.

Friday fritterings:

Manager Bill Sootheran of the Niagara Falls Cataracts was turned down by the Army because of defective vision. Now Clayton (St. Catharines Standard) Brown gleefully prophesies he is in for a rough time this summer, for how can he argue with the ump over a strike when the fans know his peepers are not just what they should be?....Dave (Regina Leader-Post) Dryburgh says the Winnipeg amphitheatre is the only major hockey rink in existence where the goal judges still stand on the ice behind the nets....Incidentally, Johnny Petersen has been named manager of the aforesaid amphitheatre, succeeding W. J. Holmes who retired after 44 years in the business.

Newark Swamps Royals 17-8 With 3 Homers

By The Associated Press

Rookie Joe Cicero, outfielder of the Newark Bears, isn't expected to show much improvement on his opening performance.

All Joe did yesterday was hit three home runs, two with the bases full and the other with two on, to drive in 10 runs, as the Bears swamped the Montreal Royals 17-8.

Cicero is no callow youth, however. He is 33 years old, and has spent a number of years in the Eastern League, mostly with Elmira. He also had a trial with the Boston Red Sox. The Bears signed him earlier this week as a free agent.

All this lusty swatting availed Joe no records. However, Bobo Seeds also of Newark, hit four home runs against Buffalo, batting in 12 runs in 1938. However, Cicero outshone Tom Daly, Jersey City catcher, now Boston Red Sox coach, who hit two home runs with the bases full against Baltimore in 1927 and Dan Howley who did the same thing for Montreal against Toronto in 1915.

The victory enabled the Bears to vacate the International League cellar and tie for sixth place with the idle Buffalo Bisons.

Rochester celebrated its home inaugural by defeating Syracuse 7-2 before 12,100 fans to take over first place in the standings. They lead Baltimore by 11 percentage points, .636 to .625.

Bill Trotter gained revenge on Jim Konstanty, who blanked the Red Birds and Trotter with one hit on opening day. Red Schoendienst blasted a home run with two on to highlight a four-run rally in the sixth inning. Schoendienst also made a single and stole two bases.

Former Movie Star Wins Flying Award

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, May 5—(AP)—Maj. James Stewart has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his leadership in the American raid Feb. 20 on Nazi aircraft factories at Brunswick, Germany.

The former Hollywood film star piloted the first bomber over the target, it was announced yesterday during the presentation ceremony in an empty hangar.

Fingering the decoration, Stewart drawled:

"I guess I'd best send it home. I'm mighty proud of it."

Stewart, who only a month ago was promoted from squadron commander to operations officer of a Liberator bomber group, already held the Air Medal and Oak Leaf Cluster for other exploits, several of which included flying the lead plane over the day's target.

Fifteen Horses Likely To Run In Derby

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLLE, Ky., May 5—(AP)—A breath-taking two minutes will tick off the 70th running of the Kentucky Derby tomorrow, but owners of the prospective starters were talking in short breaths today over the prospects of the first muddy track for the event since Clyde Van Dusen wallowed home to victory 15 years ago.

The names of 12 to 17 thoroughbreds were expected to be dropped into the entry box when the deadline arrived at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

A 14-hour rain that quit for a while and then resumed again last night left the Churchill Downs racing strip a sloppy mess. However, unless more rain falls today, or tonight, the track may drain off, making it at least slow, if not muddy.

John Gaver, trainer of Mrs. Payne Whitney's favored Stir Up, said rain or mud would make no difference.

Ben Jones, trainer of the Calumet Farms' Pensive, also said he didn't care about the conditions.

Although horse lovers and betting men alike are all stirred up over the prospects of a stand-out triumph by Stir Up, there is plenty of interest in Challenge Me, Skytracer, Broadcloth, Autocrat, Alorter, Bell Buzzer, Gat Bit and others, all good mudders.

"ATLANTIC WALL" GETS PRE-INVASION INSPECTION — "Eleventh Hour" inspection tours of the vast Axis coastal defences known as Germany's "Atlantic Wall" are being made by Marshal Rommel, according to news dispatches which say that Hitler has made personal "pre-invasion visits." Rommel is reported making day-by-day tours of areas shown in the above map which provides a general picture of the "coastal fortress." The broken line indicates the territory referred to as "Rommel's defence zone." Swastikas indicate points which have been mentioned as "Rommel's command forts" and are reported to be specially fortified.

Steers, Heifers Down 15-25; Sheep Off $1

TORONTO, May 5 (CP)—Local Packing plants were running behind schedule in slaughtering all classes of livestock here this week. In trade on the market, steers and heifers were 15 to 25 cents lower in slow cattle dealing while cows and bulls were steady. Veal calves lost 50 cents cwt. on lower grades and sheep were down $1 cwt. Hogs and lambs were steady.

After the close of trade it was announced following a meeting of representatives of Packers, Commission firms and the Union Stockyards that: "Due to an accumulation of hogs and shortage of labor, no hogs will be accepted at Toronto, or at local packing plants, after midnight Thursday night until midnight Tuesday, next."

The opening cattle trade was very dull with a holdover of 1,450 head. Light runs followed allowing reduction of the holdover to about 200 head by the close Thursday. Weighty steers were down 25 cents cwt. at a top of $12.25 for choice with small lots up to $12.40. Butcher steers sold at $11.50 to $11.70 for tops with heifers mostly $11.25 down. Fed yearlings closed at $11.50 to $13. Butcher cows were steady at $7.50 to $9.25 and canners and cutters were $5 to $7.25. Bulls ranged in price from $7 to $9 cwt. ate action in connection with the Ford stoppage, though earlier it had been reported they might call a sympathetic strike. Actually the office workers have been idle for the last two days but a union spokesman said this was because they were prevented by pickets from entering the plant. The stewards of Loc. 200 however decided last night not to stop administration office workers going to their jobs today.

Members of Loc. 195 are holding a mass meeting tonight to discuss their position. Union members predicted yesterday there would be agitation for a sympathy strike by this local, but a spokesman said the executive would do its best to persuade the Loc. 195 members to remain on their jobs.

In this they have the support of George Burt, Canadian director of the union, who arrived yesterday from an international board meeting of the U.A.W. at Minneapolis and took part in some of the discussions with Mr. Rose. Burt on Wednesday had telegraphed stewards and committeemen of Loc. 195 advising against a sympathetic strike, which he said would not be supported by the International Union.

The picket lines remained at the gates of the big plants with no incidents reported. The company was said to have asked the Federal Government for help by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police but at Ottawa last night Justice Minister St. Laurent declined to confirm or deny this report. He said that a competent R.C.M.P. inspector had been sent to Windsor when the stoppage began and that his reports indicated "everything is proceeding in good order."

"Goldtooth" Given One Month In Jail

John "Goldtooth" O'Brien put up quite a verbal battle in police court this morning when he was charged as a second offender with having been drunk, but as usual Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had the last word.

O'Brien, who is not an unknown quantity in police court circles, was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or a month in jail.

When the charge was read he pleaded guilty to having been drunk but for some time he declined to admit his previous conviction.

"I paid a fine," he told the magistrate.

"I don't care whether you paid a fine or not," replied the court. "What I want to know is whether or not you were previously convicted."

O'Brien finally admitted that he had been. "I wasn't drunk, however," he declared. "I was pinched for vagrancy that time. Couldn't you let me go with ten days?" he pleaded. "The nice weather is coming on and there is plenty of work."

Magistrate Langley pointed out that the Liquor Control Act didn't provide for a ten-day sentence under the circumstances, and O'Brien, not looking any too well pleased over the whole proceedings, was conducted down to the cells.

Train Hits Car Injuring Driver

Boyd Wilkinson, 40, 501 Sherbrooke street and driver for J. Frank Goselin, grocer, Park street south, sustained several broken ribs and facial cuts at noon today when the panel truck he was driving came into collision with a C.N.R. freight car at Perry and Aylmer street.

Wilkinson was driving the truck north on Aylmer street as the C.N.R. shunter with a box car ahead approached the crossing from the northwest. He applied his brakes when he saw the freight car nearing the intersection but trainmen said that the truck skidded on the wet pavement and was struck squarely at the driver's window.

The truck was dragged some 25 feet south of the crossing before the train stopped. The left side of the motor vehicle was badly damaged.

Wilkinson was taken to the Clinic Charlotte street and afterward removed to his home.

Becoming suspicious a little later she telephoned to the fur store and discovered that the firm had not sent for the garment.

Phil Marchildon Given Promotion

PENETANGUISHENE, Ont., May 5—(CP)—Word has been received here that Pilot Officer Phil (Babe) Marchildon, ex-Toronto Leaf and Philadelphia A's pitcher, has been promoted to the rank of Flying Officer overseas.

One Threatened Eviction For Rent Arrears Government Reimburses Legion For Help

"We have had only one case of rental arrears resulting in threatened eviction by the landlord, and that one was quietly taken care of," said G. A. Gillespie, chairman of the local district Soldiers' Dependents Board, in a reference to the city council discussion Monday night of municipal liability for Wartime Housing rents which might be incurred by the families of men in the three services.

"In that one case which I remember, there was poor management in the home, accounts got out of hand, and the soldier's wife got behind in her rent. The landlord threatened to put her out, but the Canadian Legion paid the rent account, and in due time we paid the Legion. That was the only little ruffle in our experience. Our Board has wide powers, if need be, and for the general purpose of looking after the families and other dependents of men overseas, to keep them relieved of any worry about their loved ones at home."

The council's discussion related to a Welland resolution asserting that it was "deplorable" that tenancy of Wartime Housing dwellings by soldiers' families should become a municipal liability if any of these families incurred arrears of rent.

As far as the oppositeness of the word "deplorable" appears, the fact is in this Wartime Housing town that in the memory of the Soldiers' Dependents Board there has been only one instance of rent arrears, and it was absorbed first by the Legion and ultimately by the Federal Government, through the agency of the Board. It is understood that this exception was not an occupant of Wartime Housing.

Garden Supplies At Market For Aid To Fund

The past few days really fine weather, so suitable for getting a good start for this year's decorative and victory gardens will create a need for supplies, a little of which it may be possible to procure at this Saturday's market, and at the same time have 100 per cent of the money you pay for them, go in its entirety to help the sufferers from air raids over Britain through the local and district fund which operates for that express purpose.

For the past two weeks, the stall made available to the fund by the city fathers has been in operation again on its behalf, last Saturday two senior girls from Queen Alexandar School, Clara Althouse and Mildred Whatman acting as sales clerks, offering packaged seeds for sale, from which they raised the sum of $3.15 most of which was at 5 cents a package.

This Saturday two of the senior girls from King Edward School through the kind arranging of Don Crawford their principal, will be on hand with a somewhat wider variety to offer, among which will be some gladiolus bulbs, kindly donated by Harold Ball, president of the Eastern Ontario Gladiolus Society, from his own choice stock, some white runner beans donated by Richard Ford which are a most edible variety and can be used both for green beans and as a winter bean of the lima type and an assortment of vegetable and flower seeds, besides some Iris plants of a better type from the secretary of the fund's own garden, with two only remaining lots of Montbretia bulbs left over from last Saturday.

Draw for Maple Syrup

In addition to this, the fund has been presented with a jar of maple syrup containing close to a gallon, for which the preserve coupons have already been given, and there will be tickets for sale for a draw on it at 10 cents each or 3 for 25 cents. This syrup comes from one of the good producers in this county, and makes a prize well worth the winning.

Two personal gifts are included in today's list of receipts, coming from Harland Keefer and a young lady who wishes to be acknowledged as "M.H.", both of whom have given a helping hand to the fund on more than one previous occasion.

Central School Again Helps

Only a short time ago the pupils of Central School, of which F. H. Dearborn is the principal, were represented in this column with a gift for the fund, and now another donation of $5.00 appears, this coming from Grades 5 and 6, to add to the good credit their school has received for raising money for the same purpose.

Then another group who have also assisted this cause on previous occasions are back once more with further aid, credit in this instance going to the Young Peoples' Union of Mark Street United church, who thus extend their field of service to others in need, thousands of miles away.

Warm Sunshine Brings Rockery Into Bloom

Bright sun and high temperature this week have suddenly brought forth a mass of blooms in the rockery of I. H. Keefer, 611 Walkerfield avenue. And alongside of the cultivated flowers several of the various early spring wild flowers have also shown their heads.

Among the cultivated flowers which are already in bloom are irises, rock phlox, daffodils, tulips and hyacinths; while the wild flowers include hepaticas, blood root and trilliums.

"They have all come out in the two days," said Mr. Keefer, who speculated on the possible causes for this early appearance, such as the mild winter Peterborough has had this year. Mr. Keefer said also that his garden has a southern exposure, and that he has observed wrens building their nests 12 days ahead of the time they started last year.

PINCH HITS AS NAVIGATOR—His navigator killed and the pilot wounded during an attack on Stuttgart, Germany, recently, Sgt. Norman Ranson, bomb-aimer from Lindsay, filled in to navigate the big Halifax aircraft safely back to Great Britain. The target was thoroughly blasted, however, before the RCAF flyers set course for home. (RCAF Photo)

The young airman, 27, is well, known in Peterborough. For three years he was a member of Mose Yokum's orchestra, and visited in all sections of the district. Enlisting in February of 1942, Flt. Sgt. Eason went overseas in June 1943 as a bomb aimer. As far as his family is aware, he had not yet started on bombing operations over Europe. He attended school in Keene and later came to the Collegiate here.

British Tars Visit City

Two British sailors who visited Peterborough for a short time Thursday saw much to interest them but their attention was centred to a great extent upon the lavish display of fruits in George street stores, and to the well filled window of a nut shop. "You can't get many of those things over home" one of the British tars declared. "Nuts have been off the market since early in the war."

The two Royal Navy men who have been loaned to the Canadian Navy and who have been serving in the Canadian destroyer Assiniboine for the past year are enjoying a leave in Canada. The two Leading Radio Mechanic W. K. Moore and Leading Seaman Telegraphist John Braddon visited Saskatchewan first, will spend a few days in Toronto, a week in New York and windup with a Montreal visit before returning to their ship.

Several Peterborough boys are shipmates of the two in the Assiniboine and one of them Telegraphist Walter Wheeler is closely associated with them.

The two served some time in the Royal Navy before being transferred to the Canadian Navy. Braddon was on H.M.S. Rodney for some time and afterward was in the cruiser Emerald.

Both speak highly of their treatment in the Canadian Navy. For months they were engaged on convoy work on the North Atlantic and one of them had made 20 round trips.

Peterborough Doctors Advocate Blood Donations

At a recent meeting of the Peterborough Medical Society, a resolution was unanimously passed, urging all healthy adults, between the ages of 18 and 60 to regularly donate blood at the Blood Donor Clinic.

Experience has proven to their complete satisfaction, that the quantity of blood given in the average donation in no way harms the donor, and is rapidly replaced.

There is urgent need for more and more plasma. It takes four average donations to make one pint of processed plasma, and many a wounded soldier may require several pints, if his life is to be saved.

Medical science has produced no greater boon to suffering humanity than the elaboration of processed blood.

Your local medical practitioners urge you to do your full part.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

The other day I came across a recipe for a lovely one plate dinner and I am going to pass it on to you for I am sure you will try it. You will not only try it but like it and serve it many times. It is so nourishing and so easily cooked. This one plate meal with a simple dessert would please the whole family.

Hamburg Balls, Potatoes and Tomatoes

1½ lbs. round steak chopped, 1 cup suet, 2 small onions peeled, 3 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, tomatoes, 2 tablespoons horseradish, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons green pepper (minced) 2 tablespoons tomato ketchup, cooked potato, 1 egg-yolk. For the hamburg balls, chop together round steak, suet and onions. Add salt, Worcestershire sauce, horseradish, dry mustard, minced green pepper and tomato ketchup. Form into balls and cook on all sides in a hot frying pan. For the spiced tomatoes, wash good-sized tomatoes, remove the stem end and make a cross cut in the top of each tomato. Place in a 400 degree F. oven and bake for 10 minutes.

For the potato Vienna style, freshly cooked boiled potato riced. Beat the riced potatoes until light and creams and if necessary add a little milk. Have the mixture dry rather than too moist. Shape into portions similar to a Vienna roll, with the ends tapering. Score each roll three or four times and brush over with the yolk of an egg beaten and diluted with one tablespoon of water. Set in a 400 degrees F. oven, to thoroughly heat and brown the surface of the roll. Place two hamburg balls on each plate, with a celery curl made by fringing the end of a piece of celery three inches long and allowing it to stand in cold water before using. Place a Vienna roll and a spiced tomato on each plate, place a spoonful of mayonnaise dressing on the top of each tomato.

Lemon Souffle

4 egg yolks, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 teaspoons lemon rind, little salt, 4 egg whites.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Gradually add ½ cup sugar, beating constantly. Add lemon juice, rind and salt. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry, fold in remaining sugar. Fold in egg mixture pour into greased shallow baking dish. Bake in moderate oven 325 degrees F, 50 minutes. Serve immediately. This will serve four people.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Dear Mary Moore: I want a recipe for a Banana Tea Bread I saw in a picture magazine. We like banana cake when I can get bananas, but a tea bread would take less sugar I figure and slice nicely for lunches.

In return I would like to give you my way of making

HAMBURG CASSEROLE

Two tablespoons butter, 2 sliced onions, 1 pound ground beef, 1 cup canned tomato soup (juice can be used), 1½ cups canned corn, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 1 beaten egg yolk. Melt butter in pan. Saute the meat and onions until brown. Add soup and corn. Mix thoroughly. Put into a greased baking dish. Cover with potatoes. Brush top with egg yolk. Bake in hot oven of 450 deg. Fahr. until browned. One cup boiled macaroni mixed with ⅓ cup grated cheese may be substituted for the corn.

There are many variations that can be made in the above dish—that is why I like it—I can keep my leftovers used up. Agnes Smythe.

Your requested recipe for Banana Bread will be printed next week. Thanks for this week's contribution.

Nursing Display Covers Complete Work

An excellent series of displays, showing all phases of nursing, was shown in the Recreation Room of the Y.W.C.A., in connection with the current drive, sponsored by the Registered Nurses' Association of Peterborough, to encourage the recruiting of nurses. The exhibits covered all aspects of nursing service, from Public Health, through industry, and the V.O.N., to the administration and supervision in hospitals.

Miss Margaret Dulmage, chief recruiting officer for Ontario, who has been making a tour of Ontario secondary schools, gave a brief outline of her work, and of the talks she gave to the students. Stressing the great opportunities offered by the nursing profession, Miss Dulmage showed by statistics, that the percentage of girls taking nursing was very small in proportion to the advantages offered.

She showed pictures of nurses in their various duties, from the nurse in the remote sections of the north country to the nurse in the operating room of a great hospital, and said that these various fields of endeavor were open to all. Speaking of the minimum educational requirements for entrance to a nursing school, Miss Dulmage explained that beginning in July, the minimum requirement will be a Grade 12 graduation. She said that this was instituted for various reasons, one of the chief of these being that girls without this standing could not take post-graduate work.

A skit, prepared by the Toronto Department of Health, in conjunction with Peterborough Department of Health, was presented by Miss C. McGinnes and Miss C. Vale, of Toronto, assisted by members of the Peterborough Department. The playlet told the story of the treatment and care given a family in case of tuberculosis, dealing with the preventive measures taken, the treatment given to the patient.

The tea table in the Green Room was centred with a huge reflector, set with a silver basket filled with spring flowers, for the refreshments served after the program. The centrepiece was flanked with silver candelabra, set with green and pink tapers, and the large silver urns were placed at either end. Mrs. R. A. Kelly and Mrs. Dever poured tea, and several nurses from each hospital served. Miss H. Talbot of Nicholls Hospital, and Sister Benedicta of St. Joseph's Hospital, were in charge of the displays. Mrs. E. Breckenridge was convener for the tea. Sister Gonzaga of St. Joseph's and Miss Edith Young of Nicholls, also briefly spoke during the afternoon.

MENTAL ILLNESS NEEDS CARE

Straying Husband May Be Restored to Home and Family Joys By Patient Wife.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a married woman with two small children. For the ten years we have been married my husband has been the grandest husband and father that ever was. But the other day he told me that he had fallen in love with a girl in his office and was having an affair with her. Now, what I want to know is shall I continue to live with him, or divorce him?

He begs me not to leave him and break up our home and says that he loves me, too. He is a most unhappy man right now because he feels that he has let me down. Of course, he has, but I feel that it is a case of infatuation and will pass, for I know he thinks a great deal of me and the children, and I am sure that I can forgive him and live with him as if nothing had ever happened.

Yet I don't know what to do. Should I leave him for a while, or stay and let him know that I love him and can forget?

A WORRIED WIFE AND MOTHER

Wrecked By His Own Folly

ANSWER—The same mail that brought this letter from the wife with an erring husband brought another letter written by a man who had fallen for the blandishments of a pretty young girl in his office, and whose heartbroken and outraged wife had left him and divorced him. This man wrote:

"I am a man wrecked by my own folly. I had a wife I loved and who was all that a husband could ask for in a wife. I had children who adored me and looked up to me and who were my very heartstrings. I had a beautiful and peaceful home. But I was flattered at thinking that a girl young enough to be my daughter had fallen in love with me. I imagined I was in love with her and had an affair with her that ended in my wife divorcing me, in my home being broken up, and in my losing my children.

"I am not defending myself, nor blaming my wife, but why couldn't she see that I was mentally sick and nurse me through it as she would have done if I had had a bodily illness? Why didn't she have a little more patience with me and show me a little more understanding and a little sympathy? It would have saved us all so much sorrow. For we middle-aged men DO get over these attacks of infatuation. We DO snap out of our brainstorms. And if our wives have stayed by us and saved us we are permanently cured."

I think this letter answers this wife's question better than I can.

DEAR MISS DIX—Not long ago I met a woman who led me to believe she was 29 and we got married. She is very good-looking and very popular with everyone. She is a wonderful housekeeper and cook. We are very congenial and have a lot of fun together and are very much in love. But I have found out she is 35, though she does not look it or act it.

We are very happy now but do you think we will be later on Why do women lie about their ages?

JOE.

Women Falsify Ages For Men's Sake

ANSWER—Mainly because men are so silly that they make a point of it and pass up anything feminine who is over sweet sixteen. Men are to blame for women falsifying their birth certificates but when they do it, it is just one of the white lies on which the Recording Angel drops a tear and blots it out.

If your wife has all the good qualities you enumerate, don't bother about how many candles she has on her birthday cake. A mature woman will make you a lot better wife than a giggling school-girl would. There are no women who are such husband-spoilers as those who are married to men who are younger than they are. It keeps them on their tiptoes to offer a line of attractions that will offset the youth and good looks of the Jills.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a college graduate, hold a good position, but because of an inherent fear of people, and particularly talking to them, I am never at ease. There is no reason for this. How can I overcome it?

PERSEVERENCE.

ANSWER—Simply quit thinking about yourself and what impression you are making on others. Concentrate your interest on them and [illegible] to please them. Forget yourself. They are probably just as much afraid of you as you are of them.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON
(Society Editor of The Examiner)

Now that warmer weather is here, spring cleaning is well under way, and the housewife is beginning to store all heavy winter clothes for another year. Since moths are most plentiful from May to July, extra care should be taken in storing precious woollen articles, as they cannot be replaced.

Moths generally lay their eggs in folded-away blankets and woollen articles; and breed in dark, neglected corners. The first step, therefore, is to wash the cupboard or closets where the clothes have been placed for the winter, to avoid any chance of moths breeding there.

Before storing, it is wise wherever possible, to wash or dry-clean all articles being put away. If this is not feasible, they should be thoroughly brushed and aired in the sun. A good moth spray on furs and woollens insures safety from moth danger, provided the directions are followed carefully.

Reliable moth crystals in sufficient quantity to vaporize in a closed space, such as a storage chest or closet, are also excellent moth preventitives. Before wearing again, however, articles that have been sprayed must be aired well, to avoid skin irritation. Moth crystals have no damaging effect except a slight odor, which quickly disappears when exposed to air.

CLOCKING YOUR CLOTHES.

Although the business girl may displease her boss by watching the clock when it's close to noon hour, or closing time, the housewife has every right to watch her clock, and its very good idea on wash days. The time element is important to the family wash since clothing left too long in the washer absorbs the dirt from the water and becomes soiled again.

Most of the new washing machines have explicit instructions about the length of time to be allowed for different materials, but a great many women, because of the war shortages, do not have this advantage and are using antiques of about 1925 vintage. It is therefore wise to know approximately how long to leave precious materials in the machine.

Three to five minutes in the machine is long enough for silk or rayon; five to ten minutes for slightly soiled cotton or linen is sufficient. Very soiled cottons or linens need about fifteen minutes, and if they are not clean in that time, another washing in clean water will usually do the trick. Four to five minutes is generally enough time to allow for wool blankets.

KEEP UP SUPPLY.

Here's a tip for blood donors who regularly give their blood to help save the life of a fighting man. Iron-rich foods help to maintain the blood at the required level for donations, and therefore have a special value to donors. Some of these are: dried fruits, (figs are just as rich in iron as prunes); liver, kidney and heart; dark green leafy vegetables, egg yolks, potatoes, whole grain breads and cereals.

PASTRY STRETCHERS.

What to do with not-so-fresh cakes and cookies is always a problem. One good way to utilize leftover dainties is to cut cake fingers, adding fruit and uncooked custard mixture. Set in a pan of hot water and oven poach until set. Another tasty tidbit can be made by filling baked apples with stale cookie or cake crumbs, and flavoring with spices.

A pastry cloth and a rolling pin cover are easy way to avoid the toughening of pastry by rolling too much flour into it. The purpose of these covers is to hold excess flour, but they also enable the baker to roll pastry of cookies out really thin, without the usual danger of sticking.

LINEN PROTECTION.

It is hard to keep dust out of the linen cupboard and it always seems to settle on the towels and sheets at the bottom of the pile, making more work for the housewife. To eliminate this problem, try rotating the linens, placing the freshly laundred articles to the top, are used, washed, and fresh again. This rotation insures more uniform wear and longer lasting.

CONSERVATION TIPS.

To soften shoe polish which has hardened, and thus make use of every scrap, pour a little turpentine over it.

Waxing the feet of furniture will help protect the polished floor from marks and scratches, and insure a smooth finish.

To keep dust from getting into pictures, and marring their appearance, always be sure to examine the backs to see that there are no breaks in the paper covering them. Unless paper is pasted over the back of the frame, and is sealed tight, dust will manage to sift in.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, May 6

THIS DAY MAY be notable for the breaking away of long thwarting or static situations impeding all hope of progress or any sort of worthwhile accumulation of property, funds or other sound investments of time, effort and ability. It is likely there may be vicious antagonism, quarrels or tempestuous moves to menace this definite progress, but with poise, patience and well executed plans it is certain there will be real attainment, with financial increase and stability, with several personal rewards for work well and intelligently done. Keep emotions and funds under firm control.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which very definite and concrete progress may be made in breaking up old obstacles congestions antagonisms and other impediments to make way for a stabilizing of the finances, credit, real possessions and other worthwhile accumulations. This may be against malicious and organised opposition, with enmity, strife and rash or impulsive attack. By control, patience and sound tactics there may be such rewards as attention from influential sources, generously ready to lend full support to diligence, perseverance, patience and practical skills. But keep emotions and resentiments under control and do not squander funds, either on personal or business [illegible]culations or chances.

A child born [illegible] day may have many soun[illegible] [illegible]orthy ambitions, and skills, winning support from those in high places against malicious opposition.

Pat Brandino Clips Classy Boxer

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP). — Ottawa sport fans, who like a little referee baiting, reflected to-day on what they enjoyed most at the Canadian Army boxing finals here last night — the brief but snappy bouts which saw 14 champions crowned or the novel experience of riding a referee they couldn't see..

The majority of fights went to boxers representing Eastern Canada. In the open class Eastern scrappers won six of the seven bouts and in the novice class the Westerners came off best 4-3.

Tr. Len Wadsworth, Timmins, Ont., and Pte. Vern Escoe, Toronto, fighting in the open middleweight and heavyweight, respectively, scored technical knockouts. The rest of the winners won by decision.

In the novice class Cpl. George Paul, Chilliwack, B.C., a lightweight, and Lieut. William Haynes, Edmonton, Alta., a welterweight, scored technical knockouts.

At least 6,000 persons watched the cream of Canada's Army boxers meet in bouts of three two-minute rounds.

Behind a microphone outside the ring sat Capt. Gerry Goodwin of London, Ont., the Army arbiter who has refereed 115 bouts in the last 17 days.

Tickled Fans.

Every once in a while the crowd heard his amplified voice over their own uproar giving instructions to the fighters to break, stop or "box on" This tickled them and they hooted.

In lightweight open match was between the experienced Toronto battlers, Pte. Patsy Brandino, representing M.D. 2, and Rfm. S. (Honey) Waithe, representing Pacific Command. Fighting professionally under the name of Honey Simeon, the colored Waithe was in the same stable with Beau Jack and Sammy Angott, and had beaten Johnny Dundee and dropped a close decision to Johnny Greco.

Last night he started out as though he had 15 rounds ahead of him instead of three and Brandino got his score in early and won in the biggest upset of the night.

Here are the champions:

Open.

Heavyweight — Pte. Vern Escoe, Toronto (Eastern Canada).

Light heavyweight — Cpl. Ronald M. Whatley, New Westminster, B.C. (Western Caanda).

Middleweight—Tr. Len Wadsworth, Timmins, Ont. (Eastern Canada).

Welterweight—Pte. Alex Boguski, Lethbridge, Alta (Eastern Canada).

Lightweight—Pte. Patsy Brandino, Toronto (Eastern Canada).

Featherweight—Sgt. Bobby Robertson, Toronto (Eastern Canada).

Bantamweight—Lieut. Joe Gagnon, Montreal (Eastern Canada).

Novice.

Heavyweight—Pte. (Aldon Cassidy, Islington, Ont. (Eastern Canada).

Light heavyweight—L.-Cpl. Fredrick Bates, Cumberland, B.C. (Western Canada).

Middleweight—Pte. Wm. Evans, Kelvington, Sask. (Western Canada).

Welterweight—Lieut. W. Haynes, Edmonton, Alta. (Western Canada).

Lightweight—Cpl. George Paul, Chilliwack, B.C., (Western Canada).

Featherweight—Gnr. John Joudrey, Stellarton, N.S. (Eastern Canada)

Bantamweight—Tr. Tom Walsh, Toronto (Eastern Canada).

Personal Opinion

This department's view is that Judge W. G. Bramham, the minor league boss, took a big step to aid baseball when he put the blast on ball clubs that sign high school and college boys and then suspend them, contrary to baseball rules, until school is out and they can report.

Parachute Chief Shifted To Atlantic Wall

LONDON, May 5 — (AP) — Adolf Hitler has shifted his parachute troop expert, Lt.-Gen. Kurt Student, from Italy to France and also has moved battle-hardened parachute and airborne troops from Italy to the "Atlantic wall," the German radio said to-day.

Declaring that Nazi airborne forces have been stationed in special "danger zones,' the broadcast said Student has just completed an inspection of the Atlantic bastions and that troops in those positions are awaiting the expected Allied attack.

The broadcast predicted that the Allies will try to land "troops behind the well-fortified bastions," and claimed that the invasion forces will be met by Germans "tested to the last in the bloody fighting on the south Italian front."

The London press yesterday quoted the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet as saying that German reconnaissance pilots had observed "Allied invasion troops embarking in invasion vessels at British ports ready to sail on several occasions, but the troops later landed again."

Merely Feints.

The Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper added that "the embarkations were not intended to test the speed with which they could be carried out, but to increase the invasion fever on the Continent and as a feint to lure the Germans into taking premutare countermeasures."

In connection with the enemy and neutral invasion rumors it was recaled that Prime Minister Churchill on March 26 said that "in order to deceive and baffle the enemy as well as to exercise the forces, there will be many false alarms, many feints and many dress rehearsals."

Jean Paquis, commentator of the German-controlled Paris radio, said yesterday:

"The Allies are bombing railways to isolate the Atlantic wall. They will then drop large armies of parachutists in the rear and feed them with reinforcements, hoping to draw and engage large number of Germans. At the same time, they count on those French who will be waging civil war. The hour of decision is drawing near. Great concentrations of shipping are anchored off the southern coast of England."

A PRETTY PRICE TO PAY

FOUR TRICKS is a pretty high price to pay for a single mistake. But it is the simple mistakes that cost the most, and they can be that expensive every once in a while. Failure to make an ordinary safety play can bring terrific punishment, especially such a basic one as discontinuing trump leads in order to leave one in dummy as protection against a ruff which [illegible] wreck you if you have to make it in your own depleted hand.

South ruffed the second club lead with the diamond 6, then brought in the diamond J, K and A and led the heart K to the A. West returned the club J, which South ruffed with the diamond Q. Then in consternation, he realized that, with his own trumps now gone, West had the diamond 8 left. He saw he was ruined. To save something from the wreck, he laid down the spade A and K, but West ruffed the latter and then raked in his club 10, 9 and 6, setting the contract four tricks before giving up the last one with the heart 8 to the Q.

South could have made his contract easily. After the second diamond showed what he was up against, he should have left the J or 10 in dummy while he switched to hearts, leading until West scored the A. If a club came back then, he could have ruffed it with that trump which he left in the dummy, then could have come to his own hand with the spade A and dropped West's last two trumps. He could have finished the hand then with heart tricks plus the spade K, having lost nothing except one trick in clubs and one in hearts.

TownshipCouncil Of Emily Sets Work Rates

OMEMEE, May 5 (ENS)—Wages for men working on the Emily roads shall be 40c an hour and 60c an hour for a man with team, effective as of May 1, it was decided by the Emily municipal council, meeting this week in the Farmer's club rooms. It was also determined that the wages for tractors dragging the roads be $1.25 an hour.

The township clerk was instructed to advertise for tenders to purchase the township crusher and accessories, tenders to be made separately for the crusher, bins and conveyer or in one tender for all three. The final date on which tenders will be received by the clerk was set at June 5.

A by-law is to be prepared providing a bonus of 40 cents per rod on wire fences along the township roads with a proviso that, before the bonus is paid, approval must be secured from the council or the road superintendent.

On motion Reeve P. J. McGuire was instructed to declare Wednesday, June 7, a public holiday for the school children in order that they may attend a public picnic at Fenelon Falls.

The council has decided to buy $3,000 worth of Victory Bonds in the present drive, the purchase to be divided between the three salesmen. Road accounts in the amount of $551.66 were approved and paid, and also school accounts as follows: No. 7, $100; No. 11, $250, and No. 12 $100. Other accounts paid were the salary of David Weir $100, and T. H. Laidley for stamps, $1.20.

Among the communications received was one from Premier George Drew, inviting the heads of all municipalities to a meeting in Toronto for the purpose of discussing procedures for co-ordinating and guiding the Provincial Program of Guiding and Development.

Inflation Makes Life Hard For Chinese

MILLBROOK, May 5—(ENS)—The visit of Archdeacon G. W. Andrew, B.A., for over twenty years in charge of the Honan Diocese, China, to the village the early part of the week brought a large gathering to St. Thomas' church to listen to his address.

The news of Rev. William Simpson, son of Archdeacon Simpson, formerly of Millbrook, which the visiting clergyman brought, having had him as a co-worker in Honan for the past four years, was especially interesting. Archdeacon Andrew paid high tribute to the steadfast courage and faithful service, under bombing by the Japanese, and other trying circumstances, of this young missionary worker.

Before leaving on furlough last October, the Archdeacon had married Mr. Simpson to a worker sent out by the Women's Auxiliary in Canada, and the minister also spoke of Miss Clarke, of Omemee, whose furlough was due last year but who elected to remain on the field where there is so much need of her services. The city of Jung-Shien, where the workers are chiefly located, is now in Japanese hands, as well as two-thirds of Honan province. The same is true of all the Chinese coast line, so they have not one harbor from which vessels may sail. Railways have been blown up to stop their progress,, but bombing, looting and atrocities continue making the missionary endeavor hazardous and difficult.

Can't Carry Valuables

Not being prepared for the invader, the Chinese plan has been to make a stand, then retreat, make a stand at another point, then again retreat, thus harrying the Japanese and to some extent at least, impeding their progress. All roads have been bombed and machine gunned, and the people have had to get out and leave their things behind, as they go, like the Israelites of old, to a land they know not and try to establish new homes.

Inflation has added to the general distress, a second-hand sewing-machine, for example, costing $25,000, the equivalent of $1,000 in Canadian money. Trains are crowded, outside and in, and tickets run into thousands of dollars in the inflated currency, while food is poor and difficult to procure. The need of help from outside with armaments, ammunition, and many other commodities was stressed, and the spirit of the people to finally repel the invaders was said to be strong and indomitable.

"I was absolutely amazed," stated Bishop Andrew, "When I arrived in this country, to find that there is no lack of anything, and that you are really suffering no privations on account of this war. Coming from what I have seen and endured in China, that was my first, and strongest, impression."

Kiwanian Stresses Need For Youth Work

LINDSAY, May 5 — (ENS). — Kiwanian Ed Mitchell of Toronto was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club, speaking on the necessity of co-operating in work among underprivileged boys and girls. The speaker has been connected in an executive capacity with the boys and girls' work conducted by the Kiwanis Clubs in Toronto for several years, especially with the summer camp work.

He told of the five camps being operated for boys by the Kiwanis Clubs in Toronto and the four camps being conducted for girls. He recited the splendid training accorded the boys and girls and how they are being fitted to become better citizens. He pictured the world of 1974 and how the boys and girls of to-day will be the men and women conducting affairs 30 years hence. Kiwanians everywhere are linked in the common purpose of looking after underprivileged children and giving them the opportunity of becoming the future citizens of Canada.

The meeting was in charge of Kiwanian B. A. Wilson, the speaker was introduced by Past President T. H. Stinson, and the vote of thanks was expressed by Past President R. J. Daw.

Censure Women Who Won't Raise Children

TORONTO, May 5—(CP)—The church should seek a restoration of the family as it was in bygone days and special honors should be paid to mothers who prefer "hearthstone duties," Frank Lawson of Kitchener, Ont., said yesterday in an address to the Synod of Toronto and Kingston, Presbyterian Church in Canada here.

"Canada now is facing the problem of a generation of incubator children; the nursery school feeds them; the school nurse guards their teeth and tonsils; the Sunday school teachers look after their souls," he said. He suggested mothers in industry should have their wages cut in half and added: "It might not be a bad thing for Universities to offer courses to girls with a view to entering the profession of motherhood."

Mr Lawson also criticized recent lessening of beer restrictions, urged greater attention to preaching and a revival of Bible teaching, and declared that although one of the great mission fields of the Anglo-Saxon world is this Canada," the Presbyterian church in Canada had for some time lacked a bold and progressive policy.

Rev. A. N. Miller of Brampton opposed the teaching of Scriptures in Ontario schools, labelling it as the "penultimate step to State dictatorship." He said it was "an iniquitous suggestion that the teacher, who holds the doctrines of his own church, should be required to teach State-approved interpretations of the Bible.

Mr. Lawson in his report described Victor Goggin, chairman of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario as the "Charlie McCarthy of the Ontario government." Mr. Lawson urged that the chairman should be in the legislature where he could be questioned on his administration.

He was presenting his report of the Evangelism committee.

Rev. A. C. Cochrane of Port Credit, objected to the Charlie McCarthy reference as language unfit for a church assembly.

"I think it is fitting," said Rev. R. B. Stewart, "Charlie has more influence than many prominent people."

New Air Route To Aid Tourists

WASHINGTON, May 5 — (CP) — Pennsylvania-Central Airlines told the Civil Aeronautics Board yesterday that an extension of its route from Buffalo, N.Y., to serve Montreal can be operated without harm to any other air carrier and without government subsidy.

C. Bedell Monro, P. C. A. President, said the route, including Rochester, N.Y., and Ottawa, as intermediate stops, would meet business and vacation travel requirements of the area through connection with a present route between Washington and Buffalo.

In pressing for the Washington-Buffalo route extension, he said, P.C.A. would not prosecute that part of its application involving a Washington-Montreal route via the intermediate points of Baltimore, MD., Wilmington, Del., Philadelphia, Allentown-Bethlehem, Pa., Scranton-Wilkes-Barrie, Pa., Binghampton, N.Y., Syracuse, N.Y., and Ottawa.

P.C.A. is not doing so, he said "because it believes that the primary purpose of these proceedings is to provide service between Washington and Ottawa and Montreal."

Munro told the examiners hearing testimony on the applications of eight air carriers for routes in the same general area that granting of P.C.A.'s application would provide needed government, business and vacation travel facilities of the two countries and that the company "can operate the proposed route on a self-sufficient basis, at a service rate of three-tenths of a mill per pound mile, and thus without government subsidy."

Canadians Give Leadership

By C. R. BLACKBURN—Canadian Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, May 6—(CP).—A Canadian Government delegation resolution, seconded by the United States Government delegation, may give prime leadership to the International Labor Conference here in its planning for future operations. One of the main points in the resolution, moved yesterday by Brooke Claxton, a Canadian Government delegate, is the creation of a special committee to consider the following matters:

1. Relation of the International Labor Organization to other international bodies.

2. The constitutional practice of the organization and its clarification and codification.

3. The status, immunities and other facilities to be accorded to the organization by governments as necessary to the efficient discharge of the responsibilities of the organization.

4. The method of financing the organization.

Mr. Claxton offered this resolution at a meeting of the committee dealing with future policy, presided over by Frances Perkins, United States Secretary of Labor.

Avoid League.

Other important points in the resolution, which was prepared jointly by the Canadian and American government delegations and received general approval of the committee, were:

1. The governing body is empowered to authorize direct communications of specified subjects between the international labor office

Loan Nears 800 Millions Farmers Subscribe Heavily

OTTAWA, May 6—(CP).—The margin by which subscriptions to Canada's Sixth Victory Loan, with a $1,200,000,000 objective, is leading the Fifth Loan totals for comparable days was cut by $4,000,000 yesterday, national loan headquarters announced today. Yesterday's sales of $76,458,950 brought the total to date to $791,443,700.

Salesmen had started yesterday—the 11th day of the drive—some $12,000,000 ahead of the comparable figures for the previous campaign but when the totals were added last night they only had a margin of $8,000,000.

An encouraging factor in yesterday's figures was the support from farmers. They helped bring the day's total of individual sales $31,577,300, making the aggregate in this category $324,213,051. It made their total well over half of the $604,000,000 they raised six months ago with 61.11 per cent. of the canvassing time has elapsed.

The large buyers' sales yesterday amounted to $44,881,650. The number of purchasers was brought to a total of 1,405,678 as compared with 1,299,000 in the Fifth Victory Loan. Yesterday, a total of 143,473 applications were received.

"As the loan now stands, the people of Canada in the final seven days of the campaign, must buy a total of $592,000,000 in bonds to reach the total attained in the Fifth Victory Loan," loan officials said. "This means purchases must average $84,000,000 daily. The individual buyers who raised $604,000,000 six months ago still must buy approximately $280,000,000 in bonds to equal that total."

Now $261,400 beyond the $36,950,000 they combined to raise during the Fifth Victory Loan, the three armed services are showing no sign of slowing up. The Navy has better than $4,000,000, the Army $19,775,200 and the Air Force $136,036,200.

Huns Evacuate Italian People

NAPLES, May 6 (AP)—The Germans are reported to have evacuated all Italian civilians beyond the Fifth Army's main front for a depth of 20 miles, Allied headquarters announced today.

It was explained that this meant the evacuation of several sizable towns within the 20-mile belt.

In the lower Garigliano sector of this front an increase in infantry action was reported and in the Upper River Valley an enemy patrol attempting to cross the stream in rubber boats was repulsed, it was announced.

On the beachhead and the Eighth Army front several minor clashes occurred. On the beachhead three German tanks and several buildings were knocked out by direct hits. At beseiged Cassino, several enemy mortars and machine guns were silenced by Allied artillery and machine guns.

Officer Raps Over Confidence

KINGSTON, Ont., May 6 (CP)—Brig. F. Logie Armstrong, officer commanding Military District No. 3 (Kingston), in a broadcast over an Eastern Ontario hook-up (Kingston-Peterborough-Brockville) last night, said some Canadians failed to make any contribution to the National war effort and only a European invasion will awaken them to a sense of the realities.

"Such people are a blight on national conscience and no more worthy of their glorious heritage than Huns or Japs are worthy of forgiveness. Such people, fortunately, are in the minority."

Speaking in support of the Sixth Victory Loan, Brig. Armstrong said: "It is both stupid and arrogant to believe this war is already won."

"It is not nor is it near being won. Today we face the greatest trial in all history. Germany is still militarly strong and quite capable of defending herself for many months to come.

"The enemy we face is powerful, united, determined."

250 Bombers Blast Calais Area

Nazi Planes Over Scotland On Reconnaissance

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 6—(AP)—American heavy bombers dumped bomb loads into German installations in the Pas-de-Calais area of France today as the Allies' pre-invasion air offensive continued for the 22nd day, despite miserable flying weather over the English Channel.

It was the 12th consecutive day of heavy bomber operations from British bases, but once more it was only a small force, probably less than 250 bombers with an equal number of escorting Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs which hopped the Channel to hand Hitler's Atlantic wall emplacements their sixth blow by heavy bombers in seven days.

The daylight blow followed a night in which R.A.F. and Canadian planes laid mines in enemy waters without loss and Canadian-manned Mosquito bombers on an offensive patrol over Northern France attacked and severly damaged parked enemy aircraft.

The jittery Nazis sent the German air force on a reconnaissance expedition over northeastern Scotland last night. The German planes set off a barrage from ground guns but no bombs were reported to have been dropped.

Allied aerial operations from British bases were curtailed yesterday morning by a 60-mile-an-hour gale which swept the Dover Strait.

Returning airmen today said they bombed pin point targets along the French coast, going over in relays with each group bashing a separate objective.

These heavy bombers can carry 8,000 pounds each, and the airmen said they dumped the heaviest type fo bombs on this trip. Thus perhaps close to 1,000 tons were hurled on the German installations by this streamlined force.

Six-day-old Siamese Twins Die At Midnight Doctors Stated Had No Chance To Survive

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., May 6—(AP)—To Joyce and Sandra Stierly, tiny blond girls doomed never to have a separate existence, death came as a release today from the bonds that joined them at their birth six days ago.

Joyce, the large and apparently stronger, ceased her labored breathing shortly after midnight and Sandra, whose circulatory weakness foretold an early end to the struggle for life, died a few minutes later.

Their was the only birth of Siamese twins ever recorded in Pennsylvania and the way in which their gaunt bodies were joined—with heads at opposite ends of the Crub—was said by doctors to be almost unprecedented anywhere.

The twins' widowed mother, Mrs. Mary Stierly, 24, who wept when she learned how their bodies were linked, wasn't to be told of their death until later today. Her husband, Harold, was killed in a motorcycle accident two months ago.

Dr. J. Elmer Gotwals, who delivered the twins, said they were joined "end to end with a common pelvic area. Running out perpendicularly from one side of the pelvic area was one leg which had been fused together from two legs. This fused leg tapered down to a tiny heel and a single tiny toe."

Rommel Promises Surprise To Invading Allied Armies

LONDON, May 6—(CP).—In a speech prepared for delivery today, Capt. H. H. Balfour, Under-Secretary for-Air, said that for all practical purposes some 138,000 Allied airmen already have opened the main battle of the invasion. The British Under-Secretary said that the destruction executed during April "throughout the length and breadth of occupied Europe" by these airmen would make the invasion path from the coast to Berlin more direct.

Captain Balfour's address came as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel added his voice to the invasion guessing din with an assertion that the attack "must be reckoned as imminent" and boasting that the German soldier, "armed with new weapons, is ready for the utmost."

The Allies, Rommel declared in a German broadcast monitored by the Ministry of Information, "will come up against many great surprises."

"This is particularly true of those enemy formations which may try to land by parachute or from gliders behind the coastal front," Rommel declared.

The broadcast said he addressed his commanders after completing a tour of Mediterranean coast defences and quoted him as saying: "My inspection of the interior of the country has shown the existence of an interesting system of tactical measures which can be described as a complete novelty."

For Home Consumption

Rommel, whose forces were driven from Africa by the triumphant Eighth Army troops of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, made a reference to that experience.

"Before the attack on El Alamein," Rommel said, "Montgomery asked his men to kill Germans wherever they meet them. On account of this order wounded and captured German soldiers were murdered at El Alamein.

Labor Officials Arrive At Strike Scene

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 6 — (CP)—Interest in the dispute between the Ford Motor Company of Canada and Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) centered to-day on the arrival from Ottawa of Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor, chairman of the National Wartime Labor Relations Board, in an effort to reach a settlement.

Mr. Justice O'Connor was expected here early in the afternoon and Bernard Rose of Montreal, Board-appointed umpire in the dispute which has left 14,000 production workers idle, said yesterday his first move probably would be to confer with company officials.

Mr. Rose said that a suggested formula for settlement— he described it as simple but would not say what it was—would be submitted to the company and then to members of the union. It deals with grievance procedure over which members of Local 200 called the work stoppage April 20. The plants of the Ford Company here have been idle since then except for two days of work earlier this week.

The Ford Motor Company yesterday denied that the settlement proposals had been formulated by Mr. Rose after conferences with union and company representatives, asserting that Mr. Rose "has not had, nor has he sought, a conference of any kind with company representatives."

Curb Union.

The visit of the Board chairman was used by the union leaders last night as an argument against a sympathetic strike by members of U.A.W. Local 195, representing workers in other plants including Chrysler and General Motors. At a mass meeting Local 195 voted to withhold action "while progress is being made toward a settlement of the Ford dispute."

Kohima Drive Routs Japanese

KANDY, Ceylon, May 6.—(AP)—British and Indian forces striking in a general offensive in the Kohima area of eastern India have cleared the Japanese from a number of important positions and are continuing to advance, headquarters announced today.

A communique said that Chinese troops were forging ahead south of Inkangahtawng, highly- contested Mogaung Valley village in Northern Burma, and also had overcome Japanese defences near the Lahkraw river in the Mogaung valley.

The communique said U.S. fighters destroyed three and damaged two Japanese planes while raiding airfields, and that four more were destroyed and 12 damaged in an unsuccessful Japanese raid on an Allied landing strip in Central Burma.

A Reuters correspondent cables that the Kohima battle "may prove the biggest so far on this front. It may decided the fate of the present Japanese offensive in Assam."

Huge Wall Of Water Floods German Front Lines Opposite British 8th Army

Bombers Fire Ploesti And Turnu-Severin Key Romanian Rail Points 23 Planes Lost In Widespread Raids

By EDWARD KENNEDY—Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 6—(AP).—Allied bombers struck again last night into the Balkans following Friday's spectacular breaching of the Pescara Dam in Italy and daylight attacks by American heavy bombers on two Romanian rail centres. In the overnight blow, R.A.F. Halifaxes and Wellingtons bombed the railway yards and oil storage tanks at Campina, in Romania 10 miles northwest of Ploesti. It was the first R.A.F. raid on that oil field.

Dive-bombing Kittyhawks and Mustangs, flown by British, Australian and South African pilots, executed the attack on the Pescara Dam, spilling flood waters over German communications and defences 10 miles beyond the Adriatic end of the long-dormant Eighth Army front.

Held Back Lake.

In all operations in the Mediterranean theatre yesterday, embracing 1,960 sorties, 16 heavy bombers and eight other Allied planes were lost, headquarters said. Eleven German planes were destroyed.

The dam, 19 miles up the Pescara River from the port of the same name, had penned up a huge lake. At last reports a great wall of flood waters was moving down stream toward Pescara. The Germans had depended on the dam for electric power.

The announcement was the first disclosure here that the American-built P-51 Mustangs now are being used by Allied fliers.

Heavy forces of American four-engined bombers struck into Romania yesterday and hit the oil and rail centre of Ploesti and the railway city of Turnu-Severin. Over Ploesti the bombers and their escorting fighters engaged in a 30-minute running battle with about 100 German fighters.

Light bombers attacked an ammunition dump west of Albano, in Italy, and other aircraft hit roads and railways both north and south of Rome.

The stroke against the dam ranked with the R.A.F.'s successful attack last year on the Mohne dam in Germany. The iron sluice gates were ripped apart by underwater explosions from bombs planted on the upper side of the structure.

Scot Goes First

Sgt. Alexander Duguid of Scotland apparently dropped the first bomb to breach the dam. Ken Richards, an Australian pilot, saw his explosives make another break in the iron walls.

As the last Allied flier left the scene a wall of water followed by five even higher waves already was a mile downstream. The water began flooding over German-occupied Italian cities and the German defences erected opposite the British Eighth Army lines in the Ortona sector, 10 miles below the Port of Pescara.

The attack was carried out by Mustang and Kittyhawk fighter-bombers. In addition to engulfing German positions near the Adriatic, the water was expected to sweep

Chinese Retreat Pincers Closing Across Honan

CHUNGKING, May 6 — (CP) — Japanese forces pushing up the Peiping-Hankow railway have narrowed the Chinese hold on that vital north-south artery to about 40 miles, field dispatches said today.

The dispatches declared that other Japanese troops striking from the south had reached a point within 10 miles to the east-west Lunghai Railway junction of Loyang, 65 miles west of the Peiping-Hankow railway.

A Chinese communique also announced that a third enemy column was pushing toward the southeastern corner of Honan through Anhwei Province after capturing Powyang, on the Yellow River about 60 miles from the Provincial border, April 29.

The Japanese operations in Honan were described as the most extensive since the drive on Hankow in 1938. There was a general feeling here that the enemy was bent on making at least one grand attempt to knock the Chinese out of the war, principally to prevent China from being used as a base by the Allies.

The fall of Loyang might possibly be a forerunner to a westward push to Sian, from which the invaders might take the historic invasion route to Szechwan. The threat, however, was still far removed. It would inevitably entail a battle with the flower of the Chinese Army.

Gandhi's Release Termed Act of Wisdom

Spiritual Leader Holds Great Power Over India's Millions

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Mahatma Gandi's release from internment by the government of India, on the grounds of his serious illness, is bound to be widely interpreted as calculated to deprive him of the martyrdom which could come from dying while imprisoned.

Certainly, without attempting to read the government's mind, we can say that Gandhi's liberation is an act of wisdom, for when his death does come India will be swept with emotion.

The Mahatma is by far the most influential individual among the 400,000,000 of that vast sub-continent. To understand this you must know that his chief hold on his people rests in his spiritual leadership, apart from his political dominance of the All-India Congress. Countless lowly millions regard him literally as divine, and try to worship him, despite his efforts to discourage this.

Gandhi's death would remove one of the great leaders of the masses through the ages. It would take away an influence which, despite its mistakes, has worked wonders for the social and moral uplift of his people. Still, it shouldn't cause demoralization among his followers, for others will carry on, though they cannot fill his place.

I should say that his successor in political leadership will be his great friend and disciple, Jawaharlal Nehru. This 55-year-old Brahmin (the highest Hindu caste) is one of the most brilliant of the Indian leaders and next to Gandhi is the most powerful political figure in the country. Nehru has deliberately kept his own striking personality in the background so as not to detract from the Mahatma whom he reverences above all men. Nehru is popular and is highly respected by British authorities.

Another Nationalist Leader of whom we should hear much is Rajagopalachari. He is one of the Moderates and is one of the best liked men in India, not only by his own people but by the British. He stands for compromise among the warring Indian factions and with the British parliament. His daughter, by the way, is the wife of Gandhi's son Devadas.

I am sure many British officials feel that the chances of a settlement of the Indian political situation will be better with the removal of Gandhi's powerful influence, which has held out against compromise that the government has felt essential to reasoned progress toward India's Sovereignty.

Russians Mass In Poland

Germans Expect Big Offensive Soon

LONDON, May 6 — (CP). — German reports delayed through Stockholm said to-day that the Russians had massed men and equipment "on an enormous" scale in old Poland for a new drive on the path to Berlin.

The reports said the Red Army was concentrated in great strength in the vicinity of Kowel, 170 miles south-east of Warsaw, and also was gathering near Kolomyja, 30 miles south-east of Stanislawow, near the old Czech border.

A Russian Tass Agency military commentator said, meanwhile, that the sectional struggles which have been going on near Stanislawow since mid-April were significant because of strategic railways in that part of former Poland. A Soviet communique said 300 Germans were slain in a two-hour battle in that area yesterday.

The bulletin also said that Russian air and sea units had sunk five more German and Romanian escape ships off Sevastopol in support of the Red Army siege of the big Crimean port.

Of the siege itself, a correspondent with the Red Army said the Russians were "burning and squeezing the enemy out of nearly impregnable stone nests."

Toll Bridges Remain Open

Bridges At Mexican Border Closed

WASHINGTON, May 6 — (AP). — The United States Customs Bureau said last night it is prepared to close nine additional International bridges—all on the Mexican border—Sunday in a controversy over who is to pay custom collectors' overtime wages.

Treasury officials at the same time expressed hope that operators of some of the bridges would reinstate previously cancelled bonds—posted to cover the overtime pay—as an emergency move while Congress acts on the matter.

The Senate Finance committee yesterday reported favorably on a bill to pay the collectors' Sunday and holiday wages out of the treasury, on a retroactive basis since the decision of the Supreme Court in January which touched off the dispute.

The Treasury has interpreted the court decision as meaning the operatoronal bridges and tunnels must pay the overtime. It required posting of Bonds to guarantee payments.

All the important toll bridges on the Canadian border except the Rainbow Bridge at Niagara Falls are remaining open on Sunday, either through posting of Bonds or as the result of Federal Court orders.

Release Gandhi Owing To Ill Health

BOMBAY, India, May 6 (CP) — Mohandas K. Gandhi Indian Nationalist leader, was released today from the Aga Khan's summer palace in Poona where he had been detained since August, 1942.

The government earlier announced its decision to release the 74-year-old leader unconditionally in view of the condition of his health. Mr. Gandhi had failed to recover after an attack of malaria. He had been confined then because of his political activity which was regarded as hampering India's resistance to Japan.

Newspapers of all shades of opinion—Nationalist as well as British-owned—welcomed the action.

The Chronicle, Bombay's leading Nationalist daily, said editorially: "We wholeheartedly congratulate the government of India on its decision to release Gandhi."

The British-owned Times of India said that full credit for the decision must go to Lord Wavell, Viceroy of India, who "once again has shown himself a man of quick decisions when action is called for."

Mr. Gandhi is spending his newly regained freedom at "Parnakuti," the Poona mansion of Lady Vitall das Thackersey, an old friend of Gandhi and a warm supporter of the Indian National Congress of which Gandhi is the driving force.

Crowds of his followers, acting quickly on the news of his impending release, gathered at the gates of the Aga Khan's palace to greet him. Mr. Gandhi looked cheerful but tired and was conveyed immediately to "Parnakuti."

Also released were Dr. M. D. D. Gilder who attended Mr. Gandhi in detention; Gandhi's private secretary, Miss Madeline Lade, the daughter of a British admiral and a supporter of the Indian National Congress for many years, and Dr. Sushila Nayad.

At "Parnakuti," Dr. Gilder and Dr. Nayad issued a bulletin declaring that Mr. Gandhi has "become

Stalin Friendly Priest Declares

By HENRY C. CASSIDY.
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 6—(AP). — The Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski of Springfield, Mass., conferred with Premier Stalin again yesterday and today he described the Soviet leader as "very friendly disposed toward the Roman Catholic Church."

Winding up a 12-day visit to the Soviet Union, the Polish American priest said that Catholicism would remain the religion of Poland and that "Stalin will not tolerate any transgressions in this regard."

(Father Orlemanski's visit to Russia has been sharply criticized by Catholic leaders in the United States.)

Father Orlemanski, pastor of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary Church in Springfield, lauded the Russians as a "wonderful people" and Premier Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov as "great men."

He expressed thanks for the "democratic reception" he had during the visit, which, he confirmed, was made as a guest of the Soviet Government.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 7

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a generally difficult and adverse one, with much need for holding the emotions and inclinations under rigid control, since their indulgence may beget erratic and dangerous conduct. Shun change, travel and all possibilities of peculiar contact. Turn such tendencies into spiritual pursuits.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of strange and erratic experiences quite out of the conventional. Affairs generally may be affected by peculiar imaginary or visionary ideas, with impulses or emotions if excessively indulged leading into situations of entanglements causing grave circumstances. All travel, change or important moves should be avoided until a better or more regular state of affairs is indicated. Self-control and postponements are recommended for a more prosperous and progressive outlook.

A child born on this day may need proper supervision of a temperamental, over-sensitive or emotional nature, although it may have exceptional talents.

For Monday, May 8

MONDAY'S astrological forecast holds auguries of a very active and enterprising day, with major events under high tension for reaching the major objectives and ambitions. There is a noted tempo under which the energies and forces are under great stimuli for aggressive action in wholly constructive directions. However, the accented tendency to "splurge," to be lavish with expenditures in putting over ambitious programs may prove a handicap in attaining desired goals.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves keyed to high levels of attainments, with important objectives pitched to highly stimulated and strenuous efforts, with a determined decision to reach major goals, particularly in new directions. To reach definite security it may be necessary to be sensible with expenditures and all sorts of unjustifiable or showy outlay. Be ready to "go it alone" as help from superiors may be lacking.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, and constructive, with much capacity for important projects, but its extravagant and indulgent tendencies may prove a detriment.

Deputy Minister's Son Given 4 Months Sentence By Judge

COBOURG, May 6 — (ENS) — Voicing his disapproval of bureaucratic administration, Judge J. C. M. German said Friday that he wished that the circumstances of the case warranted suspended sentence, when he sentenced James Marsh son of the Deputy-minister of Labour for Ontario, to four months in jail. Marsh was found guilty of false pretenses in connection with the sale of correspondence courses in stationary engineering. His trial was held last week on the four false pretenses charges and Judge German reserved his decision until Friday.

Also heard was the appeal launched by Marsh against the $500 and costs imposed upon him by Magistrate R. B. Baxter for breach of the Dominion Trade Schools Act. Judge German reduced the fine to $100 and costs.

A. R. Willmott, defence counsel, in speaking to the appeal, told the court that he was not asking for a new trial or protesting the conviction but was appealing against the amount of the fine. The Dominion Trade Schools Act was designed for the purpose of putting teeth into the control of trade schools and that the charge under this act and the false pretense charges were laid for the purpose of making sure that Marsh was put out of business. Under the terms of the Trade School Act Marsh could neither sue for monies owing him on his courses nor could he offer any defence on civil actions brought against him by any who had taken the courses. The ends of prosecution had been served in that he could not operated his correspondence course any longer in this province, Mr. Willmott said.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman pointed out that the court was aware of the province-wide scope of Marsh's sales of the courses and that the magistrate had this in mind when he decided upon the amount of the fine.

Impressions False

"It is evident, Marsh, that you did not have a complete course to sell. Even a year later you have only 75 stencils. I believe that you intended to convey the impression that you were the manager of the correspondence school, instead of the owner, and that you had a staff of technical advisers. These representations were untrue and made to build up a story to sell your courses. You knew that you were not licensed and you knew also that you might be stopped at any time from selling your courses. You were also aware of the fact that you couldn't pass your students in stationary engineering in six months. I trust that these convictions will satisfy matters and that the matter will end here and that you and the public will not be put to the expense of like charges in other parts of the province," stated Judge German.

"I confirm the conviction of the magistrate in connection with the charge under the Trade Schools Act but in regard to the amount of the fine I feel differently. I don't feel that you should be charged with two sets of offenses out of the same circumstances. I consider the amount of the fine imposed, out of proportion to the offense. I would like to eliminate the fine entirely but feel that some punishment is necessary. I therefore reduce the fine to $100 and costs or 30 days.

"In regard to the false pretense charges I would personally be only too pleased to give you the suspended sentence which your counsel has requested, because I don't like legislation by boards and restrictive action imposed by bureaucratic administrations. I would like to show my personal disapproval of these forms of government but I cannot do it. You have had no previous conviction and you may have thought you were conducting your business honestly. I feel sorry for your suffering family. I also have a regard for your father but must do my duty. Four months in jail should satisfy the ends of justice and end the matter. The term will date from April 25," was the judge's sentence.

CheeseMenTake $10,000 Bond

CAMPBELLFORD, May 6 (ENS) —A move to subscribe $10,000 to Canada's Sixth Victory Loan was made by members of the Ontario Cheese Producer's Association during their quarterly meeting held at Belleville Thursday. The motion carried unanimously by the eighteen members present and brought to $40,000 the amount of money the Association has invested in Victory Loans.

Though pasture improvement, artificial breeding, and milk strainers headed the list of problems on their agenda, it was the farm labor question that struck the truest chord of harmony among the cheese men. In their opinion, it was not even yet fully realized (by Ottawa) that farming is essential. A fair price, and not bonuses that can be cancelled the day the war ends, was what these men had in mind and they recognized the need for a more equitable basis (of remuneration) between industry and agriculture. In the opinion of President Montgomery modern farm machinery appeared as the most probable way of putting the farmer in a position that he could compete with industrial wages.

The new type of filter disc strainer came in for a share of criticism, particularly from those using the smaller 8-gallon milk cans. Charles Harkness of Iroquois declared the strainer was "too slow" and added considerable care had to be taken in placing the filter between the two discs—"if you don't get it in place the milk isn't strained." Great care in getting the strainer in place and a willingness to stand and wait for the milk to run through, were the chief requirements to its successful operation. Tieing in with the straining was the sediment test and several expressed the opinion these tests should be made regularly by the Dairy Instructor once each month instead of three or four tests during the entire season, and when completed a copy of the report should be posted at the factory so patrons could see the condition of their milk.

Put Victory First

Canvassers in the rural sections added $50,350 on the 11th day of the Sixth Victory Loan, bringing the county up to 57.87 per cent of its $600,000 objective, but still a few points down on the percentage required for the day.

Dummer Township with canvassers David Miller and W. Darling, have stolen the lead in the county race and the first to go over the top. They added $5,300 on 26 sales on Friday.

Smith Township, where Gordon Hancock and C. H. Hunter are working, are nearing the objective with $81,100 of the $90,000 sought. Mr. Hancock's latest report turned in carried $3,150 and Mr. Hunter $2,400.

J. S. Henderson and P. J. Mather in Otonabee added $6,800, but their township still has not reached the 50 per cent mark.

North Monaghan canvassers added on Friday $1,100; the northern township, $3,100; Asphodel, $5,600; Norwood, $6,500; Douro, $1,150; Lakefield, $3,560; and Havelock, $5,400.

The story is going the rounds that the Norwood auction sale had a lot to do with putting Dummer over the top. One purchaser alone increased his buying from $400 in the Fifth Loan to well over $6,000 in the Sixth Loan.

The banks and canvassers in Peterborough City increased the General Canvass $147,550 on Friday to bring the percentage up to 56.62 with the necessary amount being 61.1 per cent.

McClellan, Cauley and Darling are still in the lead with total of $78,350 on 221 sales, adding $3,750 on 18 sales.

Metheral, Juby and Tully retain second place with a total of $70,500 for 200 sales, adding on Friday $8,100 on 16 sales. Irwin, Anderson and Revoy have reported $55,250 on 158 sales; Curtis, Sargent and Harkness have $52,900 on 203 sales; Cole, Lee and Kinlin report $37,050 for 168 sales; Mackness, Heron and Rose $29,850 on 147 sales; Payne, Brooks and Roberts, $28,600 on 197 sales; and McFadgen, Gallagher, and Smith, $24,250 on 128 sales.

Suggest Japs Be Sent Home When War Ends

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP) — Suggestions that Canada expatriate after the war the 23,636 Japanese now in the Dominion were heard in the Commons yesterday before Defence Minister Ralston expressed belief that the government will forecast this session what course it plans to follow in dealing with the Japanese.

"I believe I can promise the House that a full statement will be made this session with regard to this matter of policy, in so far as it can be forecast at this stage," said Col. Ralston, acting Prime Minister in the absence of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the United Kingdom

He spoke after British Columbia members urged that Labor Minister Mitchell reveal immediately what policy Canada will follow after the war in dealing with the Japanese, 15,982 of whom settled in British Columbia.

"I say that you cannot have responsible ministers simply rising in their places and, right off the bat, declaring what are going to be post-war policies with respect to the Japanese, in view of the situation in which we find ourselves," said Col. Ralston.

No other domestic question could be of any greater importance, as affecting Canada's external affairs, than the question of the Japanese.

"And I saw that any declaration of policy made in respect of that question must be made after the most serious thought and study, and with every word of the statement carefully weighed," said Col. Ralston.

"I make that statement because, as we all know, at the present time there are Canadians in Japanese hands."

He indicated that the government's statement might be made by Prime Minister MacKenzie King, who is Secretary of State for External Affairs, when the estimates of the External Affairs Department come before the House later this session.

Rather Expensive

He said the problems should not have crept into debate on an item the war estimates of the Labor Department, which provided $2,750,000 for the removal of enemy aliens from protested areas.

Col. Ralston stepped into the debate after A. W. Neill (Ind.—Comox-Alberni) joined British Columbia members who urged that Mr. Mitchell make a statement on the policy the government would follow. Mr. Neill said that the people in his riding—and he believed the same applied to other riding in Western Canada—wanted the Japanese removed from Canada after the war. "They want that and they want nothing less," he said.

George Cruickshank (L.—Fraser Valley) said the agreements signed by the federal government with the provinces contained a clause which said the Japanese moved into a protected area would be removed on request after the war.

The agreements said the Japanese would be returned to British Columbia, said Mr. Cruickshank.

"They say no such thing," said Labor Minister Mitchell.

"They certainly do," replied Mr. Cruickshank. "Table the agreements. You are afraid to."

Thomas Reid (L.—Westminster) said the Japanese had come to Canada under a definite plan of the Japanese government, which as early as 1890 had started preparations to gain control of countries in and touching on the Pacific.

Japanese who had been naturalized as Canadians admitted prior to the war that in the event of war their allegiance to Japan would come first.

T. P. O'Neill (L.—Kamloops) said 700 or 800 Japanese had moved into the city of Kamloops, B.C., since they were required to leave coastal areas. White people in Kamloops had no gasoline for joy-riding, but Japanese in good cars were able to go joy-riding on Sundays.

orders to our men which are in crass contrast to military honor."

Looking to the peace beyond the invasion, the London Daily Herald said today that the European Advisory Commission now had "practically completed" a detailed document setting out armistice terms to be presented to Germany.

The Commission, authorized by the Moscow conference, has been meeting behind closed doors since last December 15. Although it is understood to be chiefly concerned with plans for dealing with Germany after the war it is empowered to make recommendations on any matters concerning the conflict.

Reports received here through Stockholm, possibly German-inspired, said the Nazis had sent 20,000 reinforcements into restive Denmark and 30,000 into Norway as anti-invasion moves.

Release Gandhi Owing To Ill Health

BOMBAY, India, May 6 (CP) — Mohandas K. Gandhi Indian Nationalist leader, was released today from the Aga Khan's summer palace in Poona where he had been detained since August, 1942.

The government earlier announced its decision to release the 74-year-old leader unconditionally in view of the condition of his health. Mr. Gandhi had failed to recover after an attack of malaria. He had been confined then because of his political activity which was regarded as hampering India's resistance to Japan.

Newspapers of all shades of opinion—Nationalist as well as British-owned—welcomed the action.

The Chronicle, Bombay's leading Nationalist daily, said editorially: "We wholeheartedly congratulate the government of India on its decision to release Gandhi."

The British-owned Times of India said that full credit for the decision must go to Lord Wavell, Viceroy of India, who "once again has shown himself a man of quick decisions when action is called for."

Mr. Gandhi is spending his newly regained freedom at "Parnakuti," the Poona mansion of Lady Vitall das Thackersey, an old friend of Gandhi and a warm supporter of the Indian National Congress of which Gandhi is the driving force.

Crowds of his followers, acting quickly on the news of his impending release, gathered at the gates of the Aga Khan's palace to greet him. Mr. Gandhi looked cheerful but tired and was conveyed immediately to "Parnakuti."

Also released were Dr. M. D. D. Gilder who attended Mr. Gandhi in detention; Gandhi's private secretary, Miss Madeline Lade, the daughter of a British admiral and a supporter of the Indian National Congress for many years, and Dr. Sushila Nayad.

At "Parnakuti," Dr. Gilder and Dr. Nayad issued a bulletin declaring that Mr. Gandhi has "become

Stalin Friendly Priest Declares

By HENRY C. CASSIDY,
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 6—(AP). — The Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski of Springfield, Mass., conferred with Premier Stalin again yesterday and today he described the Soviet leader as "very friendly disposed toward the Roman Catholic Church."

Winding up a 12-day visit to the Soviet Union, the Polish American priest said that Catholicism would remain the religion of Poland and that "Stalin will not tolerate any transgressions in this regard."

(Father Orlemanski's visit to Russia has been sharply criticised by Catholic leaders in the United States.)

Father Orlemanski, pastor of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary Church in Springfield, lauded the Russians as a "wonderful people" and Premier Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov as "great men."

He expressed thanks for the "democratic reception" he had during the visit, which, he confirmed, was made as a guest of the Soviet Government.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 7

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a generally difficult and adverse one, with much need for holding the emotions and inclinations under rigid control, since their indulgence may beget erratic and dangerous conduct. Shun change, travel and all possibilities of peculiar contact. Turn such tendencies into spiritual pursuits.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of strange and erratic experiences quite out of the conventional. Affairs generally may be affected by peculiar imaginary or visionary ideas, with impulses or emotions if excessively indulged leading into situations of entanglements causing grave circumstances. All travel, change or important moves should be avoided until a better or more regular state of affairs is indicated. Self-control and postponements are recommended for a more prosperous and progressive outlook.

A child born on this day may need proper supervision of a temperamental, over-sensitive or emotional nature, although it may have exceptional talents.

For Monday, May 8

MONDAY'S astrological forecast holds auguries of a very active and enterprising day, with major events under high tension for reaching the major objectives and ambitions. There is a noted tempo under which the energies and forces are under great stimuli for aggressive action in wholly constructive directions. However, the accented tendency to "splurge," to be lavish with expenditures in putting over ambitious programs may prove a handicap in attaining desired goals.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves keyed to high levels of attainments, with important objectives pitched to highly stimulated and strenuous efforts, with a determined decision to reach major goals, particularly in new directions. To reach definite security it may be necessary to be sensible with expenditures and all sorts of unjustifiable or showy outlay. Be ready to "go it alone" as help from superiors may be lacking.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, and constructive, with much capacity for important projects, but its extravagant and indulgent tendencies may prove a detriment.

Indians Liable

QUEBEC, May 6 — (CP) — Indians living in Canada are liable for military training, Judge Thomas Tremblay ruled yesterday when he fined Georges Albert Sioui of nearby Lorette $25 and cost, or one month in jail on a charge of failing to report for physical examination.

Deputy Minister's Son Given 4 Months Sentence By Judge

COBOURG, May 6 — (ENS) — Voicing his disapproval of bureaucratic administration, Judge J. C. M. German said Friday that he wished that the circumstances of the case warranted suspended sentence, when he sentenced James Marsh son of the Deputy-minister of Labour for Ontario, to four months in jail. Marsh was found guilty of false pretenses in connection with the sale of correspondence courses in stationary engineering. His trial was held last week on the four false pretenses charges and Judge German reserved his decision until Friday.

Also heard was the appeal launched by Marsh against the $500 and costs imposed upon him by Magistrate R. B. Baxter for breach of the Dominion Trade Schools Act. Judge German reduced the fine to $100 and costs.

A. R. Willmott, defence counsel, in speaking to the appeal, told the court that he was not asking for a new trial or protesting the conviction but was appealing against the amount of the fine. The Dominion Trade Schools Act was designed for the purpose of putting teeth into the control of trade schools and that the charge under this act and the false pretense charges were laid for the purpose of making sure that Marsh was put out of business. Under the terms of the Trade School Act Marsh could neither sue for monies owing him on his courses nor could he offer any defence on civil actions brought against him by any who had taken the courses. The ends of prosecution had been served in that he could not operated his correspondence course any longer in this province, Mr. Willmott said.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman pointed out that the court was aware of the province-wide scope of Marsh's sales of the courses and that the magistrate had this in mind when he decided upon the amount of the fine.

Impressions False

"It is evident, Marsh, that you did not have a complete course to sell. Even a year later you have only 75 stencils. I believe that you intended to convey the impression that you were the manager of the correspondence school, instead of the owner, and that you had a staff of technical advisers. These representations were untrue and made to build up a story to sell your courses. You knew that you were not licensed and you knew also that you might be stopped at any time from selling your courses. You were also aware of the fact that you couldn't pass your students in stationary engineering in six months. I trust that these convictions will satisfy matters and that the matter will end here and that you and the public will not be put to the expense of like charges in other parts of the province," stated Judge German.

"I confirm the conviction of the magistrate in connection with the charge under the Trade Schools Act but in regard to the amount of the fine I feel differently. I don't feel that you should be charged with two sets of offenses out of the same circumstances. I consider the amount of the fine imposed, out of proportion to the offense. I would like to eliminate the fine entirely but feel that some punishment is necessary. I therefore reduce the fine to $100 and costs or 30 days.

"In regard to the false pretense charges I would personally be only too pleased to give you the suspended sentence which your counsel has requested, because I don't like legislation by boards and restrictive action imposed by bureaucratic administrations. I would like to show my personal disapproval of these forms of government but I cannot do it. You have had no previous conviction and you may have thought you were conducting your business honestly. I feel sorry for your suffering family. I also have a regard for your father but must do my duty. Four months in jail should satisfy the ends of justice and end the matter. The term will date from April 25," was the judge's sentence.

CheeseMen Take $10,000 Bond

CAMPBELLFORD, May 6 (ENS) —A move to subscribe $10,000 to Canada's Sixth Victory Loan was made by members of the Ontario Cheese Producer's Association during their quarterly meeting held at Belleville Thursday. The motion carried unanimously by the eighteen members present and brought to $40,000 the amount of money the Association has invested in Victory Loans.

Though pasture improvement, artificial breeding, and milk strainers headed the list of problems on their agenda, it was the farm labor question that struck the truest chord of harmony among the cheese men. In their opinion, it was not even yet fully realized (by Ottawa) that farming is essential. A fair price, and not bonuses that can be cancelled the day the war ends, was what these men had in mind and they recognized the need for a more equitable basis (of remuneration) between industry and agriculture. In the opinion of President Montgomery modern farm machinery appeared as the most probable way of putting the farmer in a position that he could compete with industrial wages.

The new type of filter disc strainer came in for a share of criticism, particularly from those using the smaller 8-gallon milk cans. Charles Harkness of Iroquois declared the strainer was "too slow" and added considerable care had to be taken in placing the filter between the two discs—"if you don't get it in place the milk isn't strained." Great care in getting the strainer in place and a willingness to stand and wait for the milk to run through, were the chief requirements to its successful operation. Tieing in with the straining was the sediment test and several expressed the opinion these tests should be made regularly by the Dairy Instructor once each month instead of three or four tests during the entire season, and when completed a copy of the report should be posted at the factory so patrons could see the condition of their milk.

Put Victory First

Canvassers in the rural sections added $50,250 on the 11th day of the Sixth Victory Loan, bringing the county up to 57.87 per cent of its $600,000 objective, but still a few points down on the percentage required for the day.

Dummer Township with canvassers David Miller and W. Darling, have stolen the lead in the county race and the first to go over the top. They added $5,300 on 28 sales on Friday.

Smith Township, where Gordon Hancock and C. H. Hunter are working, are nearing the objective with $81,100 of the $90,000 sought. Mr. Hancock's latest report turned in carried $3,150 and Mr. Hunter $2,400.

J. S. Henderson and P. J. Mather in Otonabee added $6,800, but their township still has not reached the 50 per cent mark.

North Monaghan canvassers added on Friday $1,100; the northern township, $3,100; Asphodel, $5,600; Norwood, $6,500; Douro, $1,150; Lakefield, $3,580; and Havelock, $5,400.

The story is going the rounds that the Norwood auction sale had a lot to do with putting Dummer over the top. One purchaser alone increased his buying from $400 in the Fifth Loan to well over $6,000 in the Sixth Loan.

The banks and canvassers in Peterborough City increased the General Canvass $147,550 on Friday to bring the percentage up to 56.62 with the necessary amount being 61.1 per cent.

McClellan, Cauley and Darling are still in the lead with total of $73,350 on 231 sales, adding $3,750 on 16 sales.

Metheral, Juby and Tully retain second place with a total of $70,500 for 200 sales, adding on Friday $8,100 on 16 sales. Irwin, Anderson and Revoy have reported $55,250 on 158 sales; Curtis, Sargent and Harkness have $52,900 on 203 sales; Cole, Lee and Kinlin report $37,050 for 168 sales; Mackness, Heron and Rose $29,850 on 147 sales; Payne, Brooks and Roberts, $28,600 on 197 sales; and McFadgen, Gallagher, and Smith, $24,250 on 128 sales.

Suggest Japs Be Sent Home When War Ends

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP) — Suggestions that Canada expatriate after the war the 23,636 Japanese now in the Dominion were heard in the Commons yesterday before Defence Minister Ralston expressed belief that the government will forecast this session what course it plans to follow in dealing with the Japanese.

"I believe I can promise the House that a full statement will be made this session with regard to this matter of policy, in so far as it can be forecast at this stage," said Col. Ralston, acting Prime Minister in the absence of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the United Kingdom

He spoke after British Columbia members urged that Labor Minister Mitchell reveal immediately what policy Canada will follow after the war in dealing with the Japanese, 15,982 of whom settled in British Columbia.

"I say that you cannot have responsible ministers simply rising in their places and, right off the bat, declaring what are going to be post-war policies with respect to the Japanese, in view of the situation in which we find ourselves," said Col. Ralston.

No other domestic question could be of any greater importance, as affecting Canada's external affairs, than the question of the Japanese.

"And I saw that any declaration of policy made in respect of that question must be made after the most serious thought and study, and with every word of the statement carefully weighed," said Col. Ralston.

"I make that statement because, as we all know, at the present time there are Canadians in Japanese hands."

He indicated that the government's statement might be made by Prime Minister MacKenzie King, who is Secretary of State for External Affairs, when the estimates of the External Affairs Department come before the House later this session.

Rather Expensive

He said the problems should not have crept into debate on an item the war estimates of the Labor Department, which provided $2,750,000 for the removal of enemy aliens from protested areas.

Col. Ralston stepped into the debate after A. W. Neill (Ind.—Comox-Alberni) joined British Columbia members who urged that Mr. Mitchell make a statement on the policy the government would follow. Mr. Neill said that the people in his riding—and he believed the same applied to other riding in Western Canada—wanted the Japanese removed from Canada after the war. "They want that and they want nothing less," he said.

George Cruickshank (L.—Fraser Valley) said the agreements signed by the federal government with the provinces contained a clause which said the Japanese moved into a protected area would be removed on request after the war.

The agreements said the Japanese would be returned to British Columbia, said Mr. Cruickshank.

"They say no such thing," said Labor Minister Mitchell.

"They certainly do," replied Mr. Cruickshank. "Table the agreements. You are afraid to."

Thomas Reid (L.—Westminster) said the Japanese had come to Canada under a definite plan of the Japanese government, which as early as 1890 had started preparations to gain control of countries in and touching on the Pacific.

Japanese who had been naturalized as Canadians admitted prior to the war that in the event of war their allegiance to Japan would come first.

T. P. O'Neill (L.—Kamloops) said 700 or 800 Japanese had moved into the city of Kamloops, B.C., since they were required to leave coastal areas. White people in Kamloops had no gasoline for joy-riding, but Japanese in good cars were able to go joy-riding on Sundays.

Freeing of Paul in Prison Makes Convert of Jailer

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 7 is Acts 15:36-16:40 the Epistle to the Philippians, the Golden Text being Phil. 3:14. "I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.")

YOU WILL remember that in our last lesson we left Paul and Barnabas in Antioch, preaching and teaching the word of God.

But one day Paul suggested to Barnabas that they "go again and visit our brethren in every city where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they do."

Barnabas agreed, but wanted to take Mark John with them. Possibly you recall that Mark John had left Paul and Barnabas at Antioch, against the wishes of Paul. Paul, therefore, objected to taking Mark John while Barnabas insisted, and the two had a sharp disagreement. It was finally settled by Paul taking Silas with him and Barnabas taking Mark John.

They came to Derbe and Lystra, where a disciple named Timotheus (Timothy) lived. His father was a Greek and his mother a Jewess. Paul decided Timothy should go with him, and so circumcised him, so as not to offend the Jews. They went through several cities confirming disciples and establishing them in the faith.

"Now when Paul and Silas had gone throught Phrygia and the region of Galatia," they were forbidden by the Holy Ghost to preach the word in Asia. They also tried to go to Mysia, "but the Spirit suffered them not."

Paul Has a Vision

They came to the town of Troas, and there, at night, Paul had a vision. In his dream he beheld a man from Macedonia, who prayed him, "Come over into Macedonia and help us." Macedonia was a region in Europe, and when Paul obeyed this vision he was taking the gospel to Europe for the first time.

Paul and Silas then went to Samothracia, next day to Neapolis, and from thence to Philippi, chief city of Macedonia. Evidently there was no synagogue in Philippi but the Jews of the town gathered on the Sabbath by the side of the river to pray. Among them was "a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, which worshipped God." She listened to them and was converted and baptized she and all her household. She asked the disciples to come to her home and stay there, and was so insistent that they did.

Now in Philippi was a young woman who was possessed of a "spirit of divination," by which she told fortunes, and brought much money to her masters, as she seems to have been a slave. She followed the disciples all about, crying, "These men are the servants of the most high God, which shew unto us the way of salvation." It grew most annoying so Paul commanded the spirit to come out of her. This destroyed her spirit of prophecy, and her masters, seeing their livelihood taken from them, were naturally very angry.

They caught Paul and Silas, drew them into the marketplace, and complained to the rulers that these men were Jews, and were teaching customs unlawful for good Roman citizens to hear. The multitude also rose up against them, and the magistrates tore off their garments, beat them and threw them into the inner prison, a vile place, and put their feet in the stocks.

At midnight Paul and Silas prayed and sang in their dank cell and the other prisoners heard them. Suddenly there was a great earthquake, and the foundations of the prison shook, the stocks and prison door were broken open and all the prisoners were freed.

Fears Prisoners Have Escaped

Waking out of a deep sleep, the keeper of the prison saw the doors of the prison open, and concluded that his prisoners had all escaped. Afraid of what would happen to him, he was getting ready to kill himself, when Paul cried to him, saying they were all there. The warden was so touched that he called for a light then fell down before the disciples and said, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved, and thy house."

The keeper took them into his own house, bathed their wounds, and was baptized, he and all his. He also fed them. When day came the magistrates had a change of heart and sent to the keeper to free the two men and tell them to go in peace. Paul however, said, "They have beaten us openly uncondemned, being Romans, and have cast us into prison; and now do they thrust us out privily? nay verily; but let them come themselves and fetch us out." They did, too, coming to them and asking them to leave the city.

We have very little room to speak of the letter of Paul to these same Philippians, when he was a prisoner in Rome, probably shortly before his death. Let us quote on thing:

"Let nothing be done through strife and vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem each other better than themselves," he wrote.

St. Andrew's Church to Mark Its 111th Anniversary

The 111th anniversary of St. Andrew's Church will be held next Sunday, May 7, when special sermons will be preached by Rev. S. T. Martin, M.A., D.D., of St. Giles' Church, Hamilton, Dr. Martin has had an outstanding career in the ministry. He has been pastor of St. Giles' Church for 19 years. He came to Hamilton from Montreal, and quickly won his way into the hearts of the people. He is a man with a deep social passion, a painstaking pastor, and a thoughtful preacher. He is greatly beloved by his brethren in the ministry, and was elected president of the Hamilton Conference in 1937. He fulfilled the duties of that high office with credit to himself and profit to the churches in that area. St. Giles' Church has 530 families and 1,028 members, it contributed $9,000 to the recent movement to liquidate the debt on the United Church of Canada.

St Andrew's Church dates back to the early days of the foundation of Peterborough, it has stood consistently for evangelical Christianity and has been noted also for the public spirit of its members. There are many scattered throughout the County of Peterborough who have had connection with the church at some time in the past who would like to join with the present members in this 111th anniversary. They will receive a warm welcome. Trinity Church, with which St. Andrew's has been connected for summer services for many years, will cancel its evening service to allow its members to join in this interesting occasion Special music will eb rendered by the choir and organist of the church, R. B. Harle. The pastor, Dr. E. W. Young, will conduct the worship. Rev. William McDonald of Trinity Church will take part in the evening service.

Spiritual Ears Are Deafened By Things Of This World

They bring unto Jesus one that was deaf and had an impediment in his speech: and they beseech Him to put His hands upon him. St. Mark 7:32.

Have you ever devoured a story and enjoyed it? Hearken to the prophet Ezekiel:—"I did eat the Book and it was in my mouth as honey for sweetness." Why? Because his mind was in sympathy with the story.

We have here a short story full of vivid touches. It is only found in St. Mark's Gospel. It is full of interest. Is your mind sensitive to these thoughts, of so, thank God?

They Bring Unto Jesus. They; his friends. They had heard of the Healer. You may remember that four men carried their palsied friend into that Presence; other friends brought a blind man unto Him. The great Healer was deeply touched with their sympathy and help and they all returned rejoicing at His blessings of health. Can you bring someone who is in trouble into that Presence?

One that was deaf and had an impediment in his speech. How sympathetic we are towards the blind. Yet on the other hand how often we forget the deaf who in the midst of life all around him is very lonely. "An impediment in his speech"; how true to life, for speech comes through hearing. Your baby son speaks his mother tongue because he hears. Have you an impediment in your speech when it comes to speaking about spiritual things? How can you speak of spiritual things when your ears are sealed to God and His Christ?

The beseech Him to lay His hands upon him. They are in the presence of the most sympathetic of Men, Whose heart is full of compassion. They look into the face of the pitiful Christ, to Whom no man ever came and went away empty. "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest" is His constant cry. When you beseech Him for your beloved His ear is open to your cry. Remember He does not always answer as we think He ought to. But He always answers and whispers:—"What I do now thou knowest not but thou shalt know hereafter." In that day you will acknowledge that He does all things well.

He took him aside privately from the multitude. Like all crowds the multitude is full of curiosity; wonder loving people. Also it is good for the man to be alone in order to make a deeper impression upon his spiritual life. The Lord Christ may see fit to take you aside from your business and your family. He desires to come face to face with you in you loneliness. A modern thinker reminds us that the great spiritual leaders of the Church received their deepest impressions of God and His power in the wilderness. Have you had the wilderness experience in your lonely cot and bed chamber.

He put His fingers into his ears. He very probably broke the membrane of the ear giving him pain. Pain brings us very near to God. Your pain, your sorrow very often opens your ears to hear His voice. "The Lord God hath opened mine ear and I was not disobedient" cries an ancient prophet. In your hour of pain you will begin to realize that Our Lord also suffered and that He may be in all things our Elder Brother. He is touched with the feeling of our infirmities. He will flash upon your mind words such as these:—"This is the way, walk ye in it." Above all do not forget that the Captain of our salvation was made perfect through suffering.

He Spat. Saliva was looked upon as healing especially when it came from the mouth of a good man. The Master teaches the man that the healing comes from Him, from His own body.

He touched his tongue. The faith of the deaf man needed every help to develop and grow strong. These visible touches and signs created faith in his heart.

Looking up to Heaven. The eyes of the man are looking into the face of the Healer. The Healer lifting His eyes would teach the man to look to God also from whence came the healing.

He sighed. A sigh of deep emotion. Virtue was going out of Him and His heart was moved with pity. Keble beautifully expresses it:—"He thought of those moral defects of the deaf heart and dumb by choice."

He saith unto him: Ephatha: That is be opened. St. Mark retains the Aramic because it made a great impression upon the hearers. A modern scholar reminds us: "Be opened through and through" and it was so.

Bishop Gore teaches that this miracle is a sign for every generation. Men's spiritual ears are deafened by the things of this world and they will not hear. Consequently they have an impediment in their speech. Very often this spiritual deafness is not intellectual but moral. A man's heart may be lifted up and his mind hardened in pride, that he cannot hear.

THEN THE LORD JESUS OPENED THEIR UNDERSTANDING THAT THEY MIGHT UNDERSTAND THE SCRIPTURES.

Freeing of Paul in Prison

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Golden Text: Phil 3:14

Paul and Barnabas decided to visit the cities where they had preached the gospel. Barnabas wanted to take Mark with them, but Paul would not have him, so Barnabas took Mark and Paul took Silas and they went their ways.

At Troas a vision appeared to Paul in the night; "there stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come over and help us." And after he had seen this vision, the two men endeavored to go into Macedonia.

In Macedonia, when they went to pray, they met a damsel possessed with a spirit, who had made money for her masters by soothsaying. She kept following Paul until he cast out the spirit, which angered her masters.

The girl's masters turned the populace against Paul and Silas and they were beaten and thrown into prison, but an earthquake in the night loosened their bonds and they were set free. GOLDEN TEXT—Phil. 3:14.

Banks And The Victory Loan

There can be few large business agencies in Canada which are not doing their utmost for the Sixth Victory Loan; in whatever way lies open to them, they are all doing their part. Speaking recently in western Ontario the Minister of Finance, the Hon. J. L. Ilsley, paid this special tribute to the banks:

"Not only had the banks and their agents given assistance in raising money for Victory Loans and war savings generally, but they had taken on additional responsibilities in ration banking and as agents for the Foreign Exchange Control Board, all in the face of a manpower situation which has caused enormous difficulties".

This praise is deserved, and we think that anyone who has any knowledge of the inside workings of a Loan will endorse it. The banks have given Loan committees every aid possible, without violating the confidence which depositors place in the discretion of a bank. Bankers, of course, know who has money to invest and who has not, but it is part of their business to keep that information to themselves. They have been particularly helpful, however, in recommending Victory Bonds to their customers as the best of investments.

And in this way, among others, they have done much to make the Victory Loan campaigns successful. There are many people who accumulate large sums in savings accounts, and who never consider the possibility of investing their money. They do not understand the market of stocks and bonds, and they know that the uninformed investor often loses heavily; the very word 'bond' has a doubtful sound in their ears. They are not lacking in patriotism, and they are prepared to back the Victory Loan in a limited way, but they do not think of investing any large part of their savings in Victory Bonds.

The bankers are often able to explain to these people that a Victory Bond is an investment to which no risk is attached; the possession of Bonds is as good as money in the bank, and it brings a higher rate of interest. There are many people who are fully able to lend several thousand dollars to their country out of savings accounts, and who do so on the advice of their bankers, but who would never do so on their own volition. And the advice which the bankers give them is undoubtedly the best that can be offered today.

About People

People are the most interesting study in the world. Frequently items appear in the telegraph news about which an editorial writer can say little, but which are nevertheless of great interest because they are about interesting people. Here are three such items which we picked up at random today.

The Duke of Argyll was convicted and admonished at Dunoon, because he struck the town clerk of Inverary with his walking stick. The Duke, who is 72, is Keeper of the Great Seal of Scotland and Master of the Royal Household in Scotland; the clerk, whose name is Robert Sutherland Corrigal, is 79 years old. The two old gentlemen were arguing a point connected with the department of public health, and in his heat the Duke bashed Corrigal with his stick, and threatened to throw him into Loch Fyne.

We like this whole story; it is redolent of aristocracy and democracy at their best. The Duke, apparently a man of strong opinions and doughty spirit, is so concerned about public matters that he is ready to come to blows over them. The clerk, a hardy democrat, will not be bashed with a stick, Duke or no Duke. The Scottish temper, we are glad to see, is as fiery as ever.

Georges Chavignaud, a Toronto artist who had a considerable reputation both in this country and on the Continent, died on Wednesday. Apart from his celebrity as a painter, he was interesting as one of the founders of the Toronto Arts and Letters Club, which may — for anything we know to the contrary—be the only club in Canada which draws its membership exclusively from practitioners of the arts and crafts.

In its high and palmy days the Arts and Letters Club was moved by the same spirit which possessed the Savage Club of London. Its sole purpose was the entertainment of a group of people who, by strong taste and predilection, were disposed to be entertained. Its older members, of whom Chavignaud was one, have many a tale to tell of its Canadian Nights' Entertainment.

Paul Poiret is dead in Paris; he was 64. Before the last war, and for some years after it, Poiret was the world-dictator of feminine fashion. Designers everywhere wept with delight when he gave them a smile, and trembled with fear at his frown. If Poiret said that skirts were to go up, up they went; if he said they were to come down again, down they came with a rush. The position—nay, the very existence—of the female waist hung upon Poiret's whim. But after 1925 his fame declined, and soon he was living in an attic on seven dollars a week—the French dole—and some magnificent wines which he had salvaged from his great days. Gone were the chateaux, and the three yachts which once were his. He tried his hand at being a bartender, but did not make a go at it. He did not regret; he had tasted the sweets of success, and he accepted his decline with grace.

Landlords Are Human

Before the first of May a few newspapers made a hullabaloo about the housing shortage, and the great number of evictions which were expected on that day. In Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal we were assured that hundreds of families would be driven into the street by heartless landlords. Now we learn that this has not happened, that the actual number of evictions has been very small, and that the hardship caused, though real, has not been anything like as extensive as the calamity-howlers said it would be.

Landlords are no better and no worse than other men. They are rarely inhumane in their attitude toward tenants, and they do not like making evictions. Apparently in this crisis a great many of them, knowing that their tenants literally could not find another place to live, have not proceeded with evictions. But a landlord's lot is not always an easy one; he knows from experience that some tenants will not stir themselves to look for another dwelling until he thretens them with eviction. He also knows that at present the dice are heavily loaded against landlords, and that he is likely to be victimized by unscrupulous tenants unless he guards himself against them. But if he is convinced that his tenants are in a difficult situation he is disinclined to act harshly.

This does not mean, of course, that there is no serious housing shortage in our big centres. But it does mean that the majority of landlords are not going out of their way to make it worse.

Colonel Walter Bapty

During the short time that he was in charge of the Training Centre here Colonel Walter Bapty made many friends and won the admiration of many people in Peterborough. The pleasant relationship which he brought about between the Centre and the city was a marked change from the feeling which was established by his predecessor. Col. Bapty was always ready to co-operate in any community effort; he never refused to do so on any occasion when it was in his power to be of help; he was not merely willing to be friendly toward the city—he sought opportunities to be so. This warmth of feeling was heartily reciprocated by city officials and a large group of citizens.

Col. Bapty served with distinction during the First Great War, and in the present conflict he was put in the training branch of the service because he had shown unusual aptitude in dealing with men, and particularly in establishing a good balance between discipline and freedom. He gave special attention to the recreation of the men under his care, and in this way he maintained excellent morale at the Centre, and saved the city authorities a great deal of worry.

It is not known what Colonel Bapty will do now, but is reasonable to suppose that his retirement cannot be far distant. He leaves many friends here.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"A person who sleeps in a tree is breaking no law", says a Connecticut judge. No, but he rouses some unworthy suspicions.

"Don't uncover your neck if it is bony", says a beauty columnist. Obviously the writer does not know his job. In the lexicon of beauty culture there is no such word as "bony". As a substitute we suggested "fine-drawn".

Diary Of A New Civil Servant

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: A disagreeable neuralgic ailment which haunts me when I work for long under pressure descended upon me today and I spent most of it in bed. The weather outside made a very decent effort to reflect my mood. I believe that when people associate every circumstance of the natural world with their own thoughts and feelings they are said to be egocentric. Well, why not? Our knowledge of the world in which we live is gained entirely from the evidence of our senses; why not be logical about it? I was miserable and the weather was miserable. I appreciate this delicate attention from Nature.... Has a monument ever been set up to the inventor of the hot-water bottle? Has he ever been given an honorary degree? To the sufferer from neuralgia he is a greater man than Marconi.

MONDAY: Passed the whole day in the discharge of business and in the evening went to a movie called "The Uninvited," which was the best spook film I have seen in a dog's age. It is always interesting to see how audiences respond to films which involve the supernatural; they become tense and excited, squeal and giggle and give other evidences of emotional disturbance. Does this mean that people really believe in ghosts, and only pretend that they do not because it is the fashion to be sceptical? I have sometimes thought it curious that the clergy and doctors are usually hostile to belief in ghosts, when they might be expected to keep open minds on the subject, having a professional interest in ghosts, so to speak.... I have never seen a ghost, though I should very much like to do so. I have a theory about them which I should like to try out. Strange that I cannot track one down, when crusty skeptics are always meeting them in dark corners, and having strokes and palpitations in consequence.

TUESDAY: Some small children found their way into my garden today and picked a bunch of what they called wild-flowers. As a matter of fact they were not wild at all, but carefully domesticated and planted in a rockery with tender care. However, I had not the heart to tell them that they had grubbed up some of the prizes of my garden. They said that they were going to take the bouquet to their teacher. Teachers must do very well out of their jobs, what with bunches of flowers, apples and other pickings which they rake in during the year.... My garden looks very promising, as it always does in spring. But August is the month which tells the tale in a garden. If the soil is good enough, and the moisture plentiful enough, to survive a hot August, the garden is a really fine one. Anyone can make a garden which will do well in June; it takes an artist to plan a garden which will last into the autumn. My garden begins to look like a clay-pit shortly after the middle of July.

WEDNESDAY: Completed my Income Tax form today; that is to say, it was worked out by someone who understands such matters, and I signed it. Don't let anybody deceive you—the signing is the part that counts. According to this repulsive document I work two days in every six for the Government. What days shall I give them? I have always hated Mondays, so they can have Monday. And now that I come to think of it, I have always looked upon Tuesday with well-disguised scorn. In future I shall loaf even more than usual on these two days, slumping in my swivel chair, and thinking sneeringly about the boys crouching in the foxholes of Ottawa. Don't expect stepped-up production from me on the first two days of the week! I'm a government man then. Free enterprise gets its innings from Wed. to Sat.... Tonight a hysterical female called me on the phone at 11.20 p.m. to shout her disapproval of an article I had written. She refused to tell me her name. Would that she had been present in the flesh, so that I might have sloshed her in the face with a custard pie. No journalist should ever be without a custard pie, carried in a special holster.

THURSDAY: I see that Bruce Hutchison, writing about Sherlock Holmes, speaks of Baker Street as "a mean street." He is wrong. It is a highly respectable and even fashionable street and was so at the time when Holmes was supposed to live in it. Perhaps Hutchison allowed his enthusiasm to betray him into the bad writer's trick of describing what he does not know. This is what "Time" does when it writes "Big-moustached Joe Stalin finished his coffee and licked the sugar out of the bottom of the cup with his scarlet, prehensile tongue." Time doesn't really know whether Joe's tongue is scarlet and long, or gray and stumpy, but such talk impresses the mutts among its readers.... I met a couple this evening who have a little boy who insists on having a large part of their morning grapefruit before they get at it themselves; they nickname him 'Mr. Ilsley'—a shrewd domestic comment on the times.

FRIDAY: Bought a new pair of shoes today. This was something of an adventure, because the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Internal Revenue have both made it very clear that they do not want me to have a new pair of shoes. I can imagine the scene at Ottawa if my action is discovered. The M. of F. rushes into the office of the M. of I. R.—"Marchbanks has bought a pair of shoes," he cries. The M. of I. R. turns gray and slumps in his chair. "The low hound," he mutters; "it's not so much the shoes themselves, Lorimer," he continues, "as the ingratitude; but if Marchbanks wants inflation, let him have it." "They say he mumbled something about going barefoot unless he got the shoes," says the M. of F. "I'd like to give him a pair of shoes made out of his own hide," says the M. of I. R. "We could manage that, I think," says the M. of F., "we took the hide off him with the Income Tax, and it's drying in the sun on the south side of the Peace Tower; but I had my eye on it for a pair of slippers; it's unusually soft and smooth."... But anyway, I've got the shoes.

SATURDAY: A man who read that I meant to put in a hedge advised me against it. "It will become a haunt of murmurous flies on summer eves," he said, meaning that it would be full of mosquitoes. Well, I have plenty of mosquitoes now, so I might as well have a hedge, too... Softly, stealthily, with the air of a man tempting fate, I have let my furnace go out. But I have some kindling ready, just in case.... Burned some old leaves this afternoon, making a smell as though a hundred barber-shop loafers were smoking a hundred barber-shop cigars. I am keeping some leaves to make a mulch for my garden; they are not quite rich enough for that purpose yet. The best mulches have a dead dog or two embodied in their substance, to give it richness.

A SQUEEZE PLAY

Covering Up For Mr. Bracken

(TORONTO STAR)

CONSERVATIVE newspapers are cartooning Mr. Bracken as sowing "seeds of common sense" in a field, while Mr. King calls from a nearby residence: "John Bracken, you come in the house." It is all a part of the campaign to excuse Mr. Bracken's shirking of his parliamentary duty.

The ordinary house is a place where men rest. The House of Commons is a place where men work. At the present their special work in that House is the prosecution of the war. Mr. Bracken has been Progressive Conservative leader for more than a year and a quarter, but he has made no effort to take his part in the "House" work which other party leaders are doing in order that the war may be won.

So when Mr. King is represented as calling Mr. Bracken to enter an ordinary house, although Mr. Bracken is busy at what is represented as important work, the facts of the case are reversed. Mr. Bracken is staying out of a House where the most important work is to be done that any leader can do at present. And he is staying out of it to sow, not the seeds of common sense, but the seeds of party advantage.

The Ottawa Journal attempts to make the appointment of Messrs. McTague and Borden to offices in the Progressive Conservative party an excuse for Mr. Bracken's course. It says: "Mr. Bracken has been criticized for failure to take a seat in parliament. But if Mr. Bracken, deciding to fulfil his public trust in his own way, has been able to devote himself to inducing the best brains of our country to take part in public affairs—a thing he plainly is doing—the criticism fails badly." But does it? The suggestion that Mr. Bracken could not have secured the services of these two men if he had been leading his party in the Commons, instead of kibitzing from outside parliament, is simply ridiculous. The Journal suggests that they have been secured for public life. Both were already in public service. They are now in the party service.

Mr. Bracken's duty to Canada and the war is made by him to take second place to the promotion of his political fortunes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEFENDS LITERARY PROFESSORS

Sir,—That "no nation has ever built up a great literature out of the writings of university professors" is no reason to exclude the possibility, and to damn with faint praise the books which won the Governor-General's awards. These author-professors may yet prove you wrong. E. J. Pratt, F. R. Scott, Earle Birney, Robert Finch and L. A. Mackay are a few others who may aid them in doing so. Indeed, your literary editor Mr. Samuel Marchbanks, calls Pratt our foremost Canadian poet, although he is far from being "leader" if by that term Mr. Marchbanks means that his influence is most widely felt by contemporary writers. Professor Pratt's poetic influence is nil.

A. J. M. Smith belongs to a group of writers which has had its impact as such and it is perhaps this influence, rather than that of Pratt, or the earlier generation of "nature poets" that our younger writers feel. I can see no reason to believe that Smith's volume will be left to the perusal of students. Anyone who enjoys reading good poetry should recognize that here is a brilliant poet whose experimentalism is refreshing, whose subject matter which highlights the subjective and subtle aspects of experiences is absorbing and whose technique is exquisite.

Great literature springs from the people, no doubt, but so do professors. Our professorial poets have shown themselves in their writings to be actutely aware of the problems and dilemmas of the people, and of the current of the times.

Certainly the writer must have a job that will bring him his bread and butter. There are and ever have been few poets of a high quality who have earned their living by their pens. In the United States, which, by reason of population, has a much greater reading public than Canada, top ranking poets are in business, are lawyers, work for the government or perhaps write advertising copy for book-of-the-month clubs. In pre-war France, according to the testimony of Stefan Zweig, there were many first-rate writers, including in their number Jules Romains and Paul Valery, who only asked that they might have some job, even though the remuneration was small—government clerkship or school teaching—in order that they might eat regularly. They devoted their spare time to writing, and they could then write as they pleased and say what they pleased, not what pleased a fickle public. They even produced their plays, Zweig tells us, "in small literary theatres, and at first getting no publicity outside their own circle." They were thus independent, which they could not have been had they depended on the public or a patron.

Even England has not always been kind to her writers. Frequently she turns a poet into a poet-laureate.

In Canada there is much excellent poetry being written, vigorous and in the modern idiom, and, as A. J. M. Smith points out, "Canadian is the only way that is worth anything, implicitly and inevitably." It is possible to follow the trends and trace new directions in the numerous small publications in which our poets publish their work.

Plays by Canadian playwrights are broadcast weekly. If they do not have as large a listening audience as certain programs from south of the border, it is possibly because of the lack of glittering drawing cards in the persons of well known movie stars to play the leading roles.

As for fiction in this country, except in the exceedingly rare case the work of Canadian novelists probably does not appeal to a reader of discriminating taste. When a good novelist gives the Canadian public works of merit equalling that of writers from other countries, I am sure the reading public will not only welcome him, but will buy his books.

Yours very truly,
"CLAUDIA."

EDITOR'S NOTE: With a few exceptions, Canadian writers are chiefly successful in combining mediocrity of thought with precocity of expression. They maintain their poetic existence by mutual admiration societies and by taking in each others' washing. Not one Canadian in a thousand knows their names or reads their books. We do not deny that professors may produce a literature, but from the examples we have seen we are not hopeful that they will do so in Canada.

DISAGREES WITH DR. BRUCE.

Sir,—Dr. H. A. Bruce in his criticism of Christian Science practices in objecting to public funds being made available to Christian Science practitioners under the government proposed health insurance plan can make quite a case against this sect, and build up quite a good-looking case for the medical practitioner. Dr. Bruce said Mr. Fulton's claim that there had not been a prosecution in Canada for the last 25 years against a follower of the Christian Science faith was untrue, and he cited a case in 1925. He did not say that a medical doctor has not been prosecuted or if one was not that there probably has been good reasons for prosecution, but that also perhaps the case would not reach our courts. Too many know the power the medical profession has.

An herbalist cannot say the least thing to a patient that might be construed to look like a diagnosis. This was proven a few months ago in Peterborough when a man who treats with herbs was set upon by women and a case was brought against him, and he was heavily fined from evidence of stool pigeons. Would like to ask C. E. Johnson (S.C., Bow River) when doctors were ever held liable?

Dr. Bruce says, "We should protect the taxpayer against paying out money for the kind of treatment some of us believe has no value and I might say against fraud".

He said also: "If any individuals are willing to pay their healers for so-called treatment well and good, but I object to them receiving public funds."

I am not a Christian Science follower, but if I were sick and one of them called on me and prayed it is more than a doctor did for me a short time ago. I was sick in bed, and a doctor was sent for, and I was the only one in when he arrived. I called for him to come in, and he asked me if I was Mr. Ketcheson, and I said I was. I said I presume you are the doctor that was asked to call, and he said he was. He sat for perhaps ten minutes, did not ask any questions as to my health, and did not examine me. I told him about how I was suffering, and he said to call him again in three weeks if I was not better. I asked him how much I owed him and he said $2.00. I am still wondering for what.

If Christian Science is a cruel failure as Dr. Bruce says, I hope the whitewash used on the medical profession will soon turn out a reality. Some of the mistakes that are made in operations do not just fit in with Dr. Bruce.

REVOLTING

(Editor and Publisher)

Somebody must've thought they were revolting, anyway, according to this head in the Twin Falls (Idaho) Times-News:

10 REVOLTING ARMY OFFICERS EXECUTED

MR. COLDWELL'S PREDICTION

Last winter, in a tour through the West, Mr. Coldwell got himself considerable publicity by climbing out on a limb. He predicted with his unsual cock-sureness that when April 1 rolled around there would be 100,000 unemployed marching the streets without jobs.

Well, April 1 arrived in due course. But the army of unemployed was nowhere in evidence. This is May 1, and the manpower stringency is greater than ever. From all over the country demands are being made for men.

Any more wild predictions to make about Canadian employment conditions, Mr. Coldwell?—Winnipeg Free Press.

THE RIGHT WAY ABOUT

A practical method of comparing present conditions of national life with those that existed formerly is to ask one's self the question: "For the majority of the Canadian people, would it be better to live as they do today or to wish the return of the epoch of our parents or our ancestors?" On this point it would be interesting to know the answer of the farmers, the workers and their worthy housewives. However, in present society there is a substantial majority which is not resigned to the lot assigned to them. They are those of the classes hitherto favoured by birth, fortune, education or the situation acquired with their positions. Let us not depreciate the importance of the elite classes in order to obtain a desirable social equality. It would be much better to raise the masses by instruction, emulation and progress. They know that in Russia.—Quebec Le Soleil.

A Bible Message

Rejoice not against me, O mine enemy: when I fall, I shall arise; when I sit in darkness, the Lord shall be a light unto me. I will bear the indignation of the Lord, because I have sinned against him, until he plead my cause, and execute judgment for me: he will bring me forth to the light, and I shall behold his righteousness.... He will turn again, he will have compassion upon us; he will subdue our iniquities; and thou wilt cast all their sins into the depths of the sea. (Mic. 7: 8, 9, 10.)

Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sins....

Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye brake every yoke?....

Then shall thy light break forth as morning, and thine health shall spring forth speedily: and thy righteousness shall go before thee; the glory of the Lord shall be thy reward. (Isa. 58: 1, 6, 8.)

And by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders wrought among the people.... There came also a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jerusaem, bringing sick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean spirits: and they were healed every one. (Acts 5: 12, 16.)

Electors Face Odd Situation Across United States

BY C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 6—(CP)—American electors are facing a situation probably without precedent in the history of the United States.

Next November they must elect a President for the ensuing four years and virtually every adult citizen will be that the main choice will be between two men who have not expressed a desire to be candidates.

Unless there are circumstances entirely unforseen by even the most acute observers, President Roosevelt will be the cendidate for the Democratic party.

And Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who has declared his lack of desire to be a candidate, is piling up support in all the primaries and other pre-convention activities which provide a barometer of Republican opinion.

President Roosevelt has brushed aside all questions as to his ideas on running for a fourth term in the White House.

But Democrats throughout the country are going ahead with election plans on the assumption that he will be their candidate.

There is the apparent certainty that when the two parties have ended their Chicago conventions, the Republicans starting June 26 and the Democrats July 19, their candidates will be Dewey and Roosevelt respectively.

Overconfident?

A highly placed Canadian official commented the other day that Americans, and Canadians too, on the eve of what seems certain to be the mightiest war effort of the Allied forces, do not seem to have the slightest doubt of the outcome. They seemed to have dismissed entirely the possibility that the invasion of Europe might fail, or even with temporary reverses. Such utter confidence, he suggested was a little frightening.

Canadian Touch

The quiet, informal parties at the Canadian Embassy here are in sharp contrast with the lavish affairs of most official entertainers. Such, for instance, as last Saturday night when the Ambassador's wife, Mrs. Leighton McCarthy, after presenting prizes at a skating competition, brought the British and Canadian contestants back to the Embassy for coffee and cakes and an old-fashioned sing-sing around the piano.

German Atlantic Wall Defences Reported Weak

By MEL MOST
Associated Press Staff Writer
(Former AP Correspondent at Vichy, Recently Returned From Interment in Germany).

NEW YORK, May 6 — (AP) — Hitler's general staff may be staking everything on stopping the invasion short of the Rhine and probably has made no real preparations for a last-ditch stand with that river as the ditch.

We know this because interned Americans personally saw that the old Siegfried Line has been and has remained dismantled along the Rhine frontier.

There was also evidence that the Wehrmacht was not counting too heavily on its Atlantic fortifications, or on any defence works.

We were at Biarritz in Southern France for the last few days before our release. This was one of the spots that had been described in the German press as "impregnably fortified."

Nobody could go out of our hotel. Nevertheless I managed to get a window open. There was no great defence precautions. That was what the Wehrmacht was trying to hide from us.

On the 50-minute run to the frontier, the super-annuated engine gave out. When they finally got hold of another locomotive the first rays of daylight had come. And we saw barbed wire entanglements and a blockhouse—such was the Atlantic wall.

What then does the Wehrmacht count on to save Germany? Goebbels has almost hinted at it in his latest propaganda — not defensive fighting or fighting behind walls but their own specialty: A violent, offensive attack after the landing.

We found they were gathering troops for this purpose.

Sgt. Ivan Sopha Invalided Home

HAVELOCK, May 6 — (ENS) — After being in the army for nearly four years, Sgt. Ivan F. Sopha arrived home on Wednesday morning on sick furlough. The wet and foggy climate of England has had an ill effect on him.

Sgt. Sopha enlisted June 6, 1940 at Trenton, going overseas in May, 1943. He transfered to another unit overseas, where he served as platoon Sergeant in the Infantry. He says the blitzing has been heavy there all winter, the heaviest since 1941. Their camp was bombed one night, shortly before they left for Canada.

Sgt. Sopha said he enjoyed several leaves in Scotland, and the soldiers declare these furloughs "drive away the blues". The Scotch people are most kind and their hospitality knows no bounds. The food is more carefully prepared, and to say the least, it is a change and treat as well.

An interesting sight over there is the planes going out day and night, and it is especially colorful at nights.

"The training of the army is rather strenuous but not monotonous", he said, "and after all, that's what we're fighting, to bring peace as quickly as possible". He doesn't think the Germans are nearly beaten yet, and wonders why the Canadians are so optimistic. Sgt. Sopha said the women in England are doing a good deal more than their share of hard work, in any profession, trade or industry.

Sgt. Sopha is delighted to be back home with his wife and five children, the two youngest of which only knew "daddy" as the man in the picture with a uniform on. After three weeks at home, he will report back to Ottawa.

SENSATIONAL SCHOOLBOY PITCHER IN ACTION — We don't think that "sensational" is too strong a word to apply to a pitcher who wins two hitless, runless games in two starts, fanning 26 men in the process. Here he is, 20-year-old Dick Callahan of Holy Cross High School, New Orleans. Callahan pitched Holy Cross into the city championship last season, winning 10 games and losing none. At the end of the season he went into the navy, but was invalided out because of an old knee injury. How Callahan looks in action on the mound.

Nineteen three-years-olds are entered for the 70th Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs which is expected to get under way on a heavy track at 6:15 p.m. (EDT) and the standout in pre-race betting continued to be Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up which will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro. The Greentree Stable entry drew No. 6 position in the starting gate, the horse getting the pole being the Chicago-owned Challenge Me, a 6-1 choice. NEW YORK, May 6 — (AP). — Milwaukee's baseball-minded burghers, who have seen plenty of sensational stunts, should have some brand new experiences when Casey Stengel adds his talents to those of Marine Bill Veeck.....All they need is to get Joe Engel there and call it "Hellzapoppin.".....It cost only $5 (or less) to see the Sal Bartolo-Phil Terranova featherweight title fight at Boston last night. In New York the word "title" alone would be worth $16.50 tops.

To-day's Derby tip:

Mrs Payne Whitney's Stir Up, favorite, is quartered in the same stall from which Shut Out went to win the 1942 Kentucky Derby.

A rookie a day:

Edgar Busch, Athletics' shortstop—A .300 hitter, which is a pretty good recommendation for any rookie....He broke into pro ball with Lafayette, La., in 1938 and moved up until he played most of last season at Elmira, N.Y., where he hit .303. Got a late-season trial with the A's, batting .294 in four games, and started off well this spring, though he's been alternating with Bob Wilkins lately....At any rate Busch is out of the bushes.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Thirty years ago tomorrow was a banner day for baseball in Peterborough for it marked the successful opening of what was destined to be this city's farewell appearance in professional ball. It was the third season for Peterborough in the Canadian Professional League and the club of 1914 was led by Curly Blount and took its spring training at Youngstown, O. On May 7, 1914, the season opened with the Petes playing at Erie, Pa., a new entry in the league and it was a most auspicious start. Louie Schettler, a pitcher who had been with Philadelphia in the National League was in rare form on the rubber for the Petes, holding the Erie team to seven scattered hits and refusing to allow a base on balls. The result was that the Peterborough club took the opener by 3 to 1, bunching hits in two innings on Brown, the ace of the Erie club. They scored two runs in the second on a pass to Gorman, a single by Joe Byrne and a double by Morris Ryberg, the Wellsboro, Pa., boy who was Schettler's battery mate for the opener. A single by Second baseman King, a sacrifice and Joe Byrne's single sent the third run across in the eighth. Erie broke through Schettler's delivery in the sixth when they got three singles in succession to fill the bases with one out and a long outfield fly sent a run across.

The whole Peterborough team played sparkling defensive ball with nothing that looked like an error and Third baseman Joe Byrne contributing the feature play with a diving stop of a drive. The batting order of the Petes for the opening day was Blount cf, Fox rf, King 2b, Gorman 1b, Swarts lf, Byrne 3b, Price ss, Ryberg c, Schettler p. A squad of well-known Peterborough citizens made the journey to Erie to help pry the lid off the season, travelling by special C.P.R. coach. Among those who were on hand were Mayor William Buller, W. H. Denham of the Quaker Oats Company, E. G. Patterson of the C.G.E. Former Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Fred L. Roy, C. J. Carroll, Roland Denne, Herb Stenson, T H. Hooper, Ed. T. Carr, G. L. Hay, Alex Elliott and James C. Skinner while W. McIlroy, former C.P.R. ticket agent here joined the party at Hamilton. They were royally entertained at Erie and took part in an automobile parade before the game, headed by the Moose band. And they had a great time at the ball park rooting the Petes on to victory. The game ended in a high note of excitement when Erie fans angered by a decision in the final frame swarmed out into the field after the last man was out and tried to attack the umpire. Police drew their revolvers and escorted the official to the dressing-room.

It Looks Strange

The position of the Philadelphia National League club in the standing today is as novel as the Phillies' new name, the Blue Jays. A glance at the figures, in fact, shows Philadelphia has climbed into second place only half a game behind the leading St. Louis Cards while the Cincinnati Reds are the same margin behind the Blue Jays. In other words only a game separates the first three clubs, and that, chum, is close. The Philadelphia outfit which is getting plenty of swell pitching these days made the climb into the second slot yesterday by knocking off Curt Davis and the Brooklyn Dodgers 3 to 1. Raffensberger was on the hilltop for the winners and he held the Bums to exactly four hits in garnering his third straight victory. A homer by Ron Northey with a runner on the paths was the blow that brought home the bacon. In the other National League game played yesterday Al Javery was steady for eleven innings to give the Boston Braves a 3 to 2 victory over the New York Giants. The latter managed to tie it up in the ninth but Boston came on to win after two extra frames. The loss was put down in the book against Ace Adams who has already lost three games this season as against one lonely victory.

* * * * * *

The two games played in the American League yesterday did not bring about any changes in position but gave the New York Yanks a chance to pick up half a game at the expense of the St. Louis Browns who were idle. As a result the standing today shows the Yanks only 2½ games out of first place. They won a free-hitting contest from the Boston Red Sox and what made the victory particularly noteworthy it was scored at the expense of Tex Hughson the Red Sox ace who has always been poison to the men of McCarthy. For the past couple of seasons all Hughson has had to do to beat the Yanks was to walk out to the mound but it was different yesterday. The New York club drove Hughson to the showers and wound up in front 11 to 7, with a total of 17 hits, including a homer from the bat of Nick Etten. The other game on the card was also a high scoring affair with Washington Senators aided by Stan Spence's third homer of the season and Joe Kuhel's first triumphing over the Philadelphia A's 11 to 8. Carrasquel won his first victory of the season for the Senators.

Better Curling Facilities

Lindsay curlers are planning important changes in their plant and Ford Moynes tells something about it in his Lindsay Watchman Warder sport column: "The Executive Committee met a few days ago and to a certain extent diagnosed the report submitted by James Govan, Engineer, of Toronto, the gentleman curler who was guest speaker at the annual conclave held by local curlers a few weeks ago. One step forward was made. It was decided to have Mr. Govan visit Lindsay, make a survey of the present club and bring in a blueprint of the proposed changes to the ice plant, regarding insulation, etc., and possible installation of a fan system, along with estimates of drainage and other matters. It was also decided to have the Engineer submit a rough idea of the proposed new club house, along with estimates. Members of the Executive are anxious to get matters in concrete form in order to proceed with either the improvement of the present structure, or a new club house, or both. Many ideas have been advanced regarding the club house. Some would extend the present club house to the street line on Peel St., and have a one-storey addition, while others recommend a two storey addition. In any case excavation will be made under the new addition to accommodate the heating plant, as well as lavatories and lockers."

None other than the hustling battering Strangler Bob Wagner of Portland, Ore., has drawn the dubious honor of being chosen to meet Whipper Billy Watson in the main bout at the Brock St. Arena next Tuesday night and the fans will be looking forward to seeing the bad man from the coast given the full benefit of the Watson technique. Wagner, of course, does not think there is anything dubious about the honor. He believes that the bout gives him a real opportunity to show what he can do to the No. 1 challenger for Wild Bill Longson's world championship title. "I may not be as good-looking as the Whip," Wagner growled when he was told of the bout, "and I haven't got any of those fancy holds with the high-sounding names that he uses but I have an idea that Mister Watson will know he has been in a battle. I'm going to keep him so busy defending himself that he will forget all about whips or avalanches or commandos. He's a stylish gent, all right, but it's hard to keep on looking stylish when the other fellow is bouncing you around and that is how I am planning this fight with Watson." It should be quite a bout at that. Both men have gobs of color and the clash between them should produce plenty of action. It will be Watson's first appearance here in several months.

Pick Red Wings To Win International

By The Associated Press.

Rochester Red Wings, under the guidance of Ken Penner, pilot of Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League last year, shapes up as the team to beat in the International League this year.

Several days ago the Red Wings received Eldred (Bud) Byerly, another Sacramento graduate. Making his first start, Byerly defeated Syracuse Chiefs 6-2 yesterday, allowing five hits.

Once again, Al (Red) Schoendienst, league's most valuable player last year, provided the big punch. His triple gave the Birds a first inning two-run lead, which they never lost. Herschel Held hit a home run for Rochester in the third inning.

Newark made it two straight over Montreal, as Frank Hiller blanked the Royals with seven hits, and allowed no walks, striking out eight. Joe Cicero followed his three homers of the day before with two hits, one a double, in three attempts.

Jersey City-Toronto and Buffalo-Baltimore were postponed due to wet grounds.

Today's games, with probable pitchers and their won and lost records:

Newark at Montreal—Mistos (0-0) vs. Travis (0-2).

Baltimore at Buffalo—Palica (1-0) vs. Roscoe (1-1).

Syracuse at Rochester—Springer (0-2) vs. Emmerich (2-0).

Jersey City at Toronto (2)—Miller (0-0) and Mellis (1-0) vs. Ananicz (1-0) and Knerr (1-0).

Stir Up, Jockey Eddie Arcaro Up

Jockey Arcaro And Horse Part Of Kentucky Derby's History

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Canadian

The story of the mile and a quarter Kentucky Derby, run today, May 6, at historic Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky., seems to be the story of Eddie Arcaro great little jockey and Stir Up, the horse he rides and the Derby favorite.

Many will recall that Eddie won the Run for the Roses with Lawrin in 1938 and Whirlaway in 1941 and almost won it in 1942 when he selected one of the two Greentree horses, Devil Diver, over the other, Shut Out, and Shut Out won.

Only two other jockeys in turf history have won the Derby three times. They are Isaac Murphy, a Negro, and Earle Sande. Arcaro will tie them if he wins aboard Stir Up.

Arcara was out of circulation last year during the running of the Derby. He had been suspended for rough riding. Last September his suspension was lifted. He went to Florida and was a flop during the early racing at Hialeah and Tropical. Then he began to click.

Three times in four days he turned in the daily double winners. He scored his first big victory of the year aboard Stir Up in the Flamingo Stakes. Then he came back with Four Freedoms in the Widener.

After the Florida season closed he headed back to New York and was aboard Stir Up in a winning six-furlong sprint. Next he won the first big eastern Derby tuneup, the mile and an eighth Wood Memorial, with Stir Up.

It's on the basis of Stir Up's Flamingo victory and his win in the Wood Memorial that the Greentree stable horse is going to the post as Derby favorite.

Stir Up is by Stimulus-Lady Minnie by Sir Galahad III. Trained by J. M. Gaver, the stretch running gelding began his racing career last May 29 at Belmont, going to the post as a 3-2 favorite in a five-eights-of-a-mile sprint. Stir Up won that start, beating Rodney Stone by a head. From then until late summer, Stir Up campaigned at the New York tracks, always going to the post as favorite but finishing second, third and sixth.

All in all, his 1943 record as a two-year-old was mediocre. He started 12 times, finished first three times, second five times and third once. He won $9,620.

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP). — All has not been well in the ranks of the Ontario jockeys recently, and the diminutive booters have caused some consternation in racing ranks. The seething unrest came to light when the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association discovered applications for jockeys' licences had been slow coming in and queried why.

Haunted by visions of the jockeys staging a "sit-off" strike with the racing season fast approaching the parimutuel windows, the association is all out for a settlement. The jockeys want their licence fee reduced and they want the tracks to take over their insurance and hospitalization expenses completely. At present both sides of the parleying have funds of their own, making the issue slightly clouded.

All that the nervous investor cares about, however, is that an amicable settlement is reached so he can have himself a little fun punting. If jockeys weren't available he probably would have as much fun if a bucket of oats was dragged down the track and nags turned loose behind it, greyhound fashion.

More two-fist men:

Walter (Hamilton Spectator) McMullen, listening to the recent discussion on ambidextrous baseball pitchers, recalls that Frank "Bender" Watson also turned the same trick around Hamilton in the old days. Watson would heave with his right arm the first four or five innings, then shift into southpaw gear for the rest of the game. He pitched for the Erskine Club. Another port and starboard man was Elton Chamberlain, who pitched for Hamilton in the old International League back in the 1880's.

Incidentally:

Down in Montreal, E. M. Orlick advances the claim that the oldest hockey trophy in the world is the Winter Carnival Trophy, which was captured in 1883 by the McGill Ice Hockey Club. The Carnival Cup now rests in Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium. By contrast, the Stanley Cup was put in competition in the 1893-94 season...... Youths in Edmonton will have plenty of recreation this summer. At least 30 fastball teams are planned, and other recreation will be provided for nearly 4,600 boys.. ..Reports from Hamilton say "it just ain't so" that Brian Timmis will leave his job as coach of the football Wildcats......The Army does not let boxers hang around just for sport, it seems. In the midst of the Eastern Canada finals Trooper Wally Hincks of Toronto and Yvon Maher both were fingered for overseas service before they could collect any crowns.

Winner To Get $66,700 In Kentucky Derby

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sport Writer.

LOUISVILL., May 6 — (AP). — Come rain or mud, sunshine and a not-so-favorable track, 19 outstanding three-year-olds to-day awaited post time for the running of the 70th Kentucky Derby with the list of potential starters the biggest in seven years.

America's oldest and premier turf classic probably will be witnessed by a crowd in excess of 60,000.

Not all of the potential 19 starters will go to the post at 6:15 p.m (EDT) for the mile and one-quarter test, but if all should run the race will be the richest Derby in history with a gross value of $88,200. The owner of the triumphant thoroughbred will haul down a pot of $66,700. The previous record purse was $86,256 in 1942 when Shut Out galloped to victory to earn $64,225. For each scratch the gross value and purse to the winner shrinks by $500, the starting fee that must be paid 45 minutes before the horses are led into the gate.

Because of his performance in winning the $25,000 added Wood Memorial and two other important stakes this year, Stir Up, from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stable remained a pre-race favorite at odds of 8 to 5. His favoritism was further advanced by the fact that he'll have Eddie Arcaro on his back. Arcaro, twice a Derby winner, knows his way around the Churchill Downs, and the short cuts too. Stir Up will start from the No. 6 post position, a spot that will give him an opportunity to break quickly and sweep into the lead, and he can run on a muddy track.

The track handicapper made Stir Up his No. 1 choice, with Skytracer second choice, and Broadcloth third. Challenge Me, Pensive, Alorter, Gramps Image, Autocrat, and Gay Bit followed in that order.

Phillies Smack Brooklyn; Yankees Win

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

First it was the St. Louis Browns and now it's the Phillies spinning a fancy winning streak when they are supposed to be playing dead in the second division.

Freddy Fitzsimmons' mixture of hustling minor leaguers and holdovers from the 1943 seventh-place outfit have won five and tied one since their last defeat, April 28. The Yankees, too, have a five-game streak and the Browns have won 12 of 15 games.

Ken Raffensberger, who spent last year with Los Angeles southpawed his way to a four-hitter and Ron Northey smacked a two-run homer as the rejuvenated Phils shaded Brooklyn 3-1. It was the first loss for Curt Davis and a happy homecoming for Fitz whose club could take the lead by beating the Dodgers again today if Cincinnati tops St. Louis.

Giants in a Rut

New York Giants are in a rut that is running the wrong way, dropping down to even .400 ball by losing their fifth in succession, a 3-2 verdict to Boston. Damon Phillips rapped home Steve Shemo to break up an 11-inning fray and ruin Ace Adams return to the bull pen after three starting efforts.

Nick Etten was Mr. Big in the Yanks' 11-7 triumph over the Red Sox, clubbing Tex Hughson and Joe Wood for a homer, double and single, batting in two runs and drawing four walks to boost his average to .488. Etten now has hit safely in 11 consecutive games since Yank Terry and Mike Ryba "horse-collared" him opening day.

Hughson, who used to beat the New York club by tossing his glove on the mound, was one of seven starting pitchers who failed to go the route in yesterday's four games. Raffenberger was the only exception.

Both Early Wynn of Washington and Jesse Flores of the Athletics were rapped hard and often but Ossie Bluege of the Nats was able to come up with better relief pitching and a seven-run spurt in the last two innings for an 11-8 verdict.

The A's led 8-4 going into the eighth but the Nats tied it and won in the final frame when Stan Spence and Joe Kuhel exploded home runs. Johnny Sullivan, Washington shortstop, collected four hits and batted in four runs.

Cold weather froze out the Pittsburgh-Chicago and Cincinnati-St. Louis games in the National and wet grounds postponed the St. Louis-Cleveland and Chicago-Detroit American League tilts.

When war is over...
WILL YOU REMEMBER ME?

I was sixteen when the Nazis overran Europe. No girl was spared. We were made old women within a few months; we became worn-out bodies with scarred minds... Today we are the doomed. We are empty, broken—the pitiful remains of the Nazi scourge.

When war is over... will you remember me?

Research Men Make Progress On Pneumonia

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, May 6 — (AP) — The first well-defined clue to the cause of virus pneumonia, a disease which has been mounting in military forces and civilian populations since the sulfas and penicillin cut down the familiar pneumococcus types, was reported to the Society of American Bacteriologists here yesterday.

To-day Monroe D. Eaton, Gordon Meiklejohn and William Van Herick, of the research laboratory, California State Department of Health, told how they had found a suspicious virus in cotton rats, which get the same disease as humans.

The Californians found that this particular virus produced an immunizing substance in the blood serum of the sick rats. This serum then protected other rats against getting virus pneumonia. The protection is the evidence that they may have the right virus.

Four University of Minnesota bacteriologists reported evidence that plants and trees may contain miraculous substances like penicillin.

The Minnesotans pointed out that higher plants produce either juices or odors which kill disease germs. They said they had found one such which is an acid and in test tubes kill the germs which commonly cause food poisoning.

MARMORA, May 6 (ENS)—The regular meeting of the St. Andrew's Womens Association this week was at the home of Mrs. Percy Gordon, with a good attendance.

Order Military To House Evicted People

OTTAWA, May 6—(CP)—Authority has been given officers commanding all military districts to give assistance in alleviating distress among evicted tenants, it was disclosed in a return tabled to-day in the Commons in reply to T. L. Church (P.C., Toronto-Broadview).

The orders instructed the officers to give special attention to wives and dependents of members of the active forces.

They were authorized to provide any feasible accommodation, including tented camps, and to use staff and transport for issuing tents or other equipment.

"Messing should be the responsibility of municipalities, but where no other alternative exists, rations may be isued and provision made for cooking," said the instructions.

Requests for such assistance should be made in writing to the district officer commanding, with municipalities stating they would pay the costs.

Maj.-Gen. Arthur E. Potts, district officer commanding M.D. 2, said Wednesday night he had contacted Con. Balfour and said he would give the city any assistance it needed.

Gen. Potts said if any serious situation arose the army would do everything possible to assist, particularly where the families of soldiers are concerned.

Just Hungry

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP). — An Army Signal Corps pigeon flew unheralded into the office of Representative Samuel Dickstein (Dem., N.Y.) The bird entered by way of an open window, walked nonchalantly around for several minutes and partook of bits of food offered it. Injured Norwood Boy Back From Overseas

NORWOOD, May 6 (ENS)—Sgt. Kenneth Thompson arrived home from overseas this week having spent about three years in England. He went overseas in July 1941.

Sgt. Thompson suffered a serious injury to his eye when a grenade exploded while he was in training and he has lost the sight of his left eye.

What impressed Sgt. Thompson most was the sight of so many cars on the road and the street lights in the towns also. It was a grea treat to have white bread and good ice cream, he said. The trip home from England was quiet and he enjoyed it very much.

Unable to get leave at the time of the Norwood boys reunion at the Beaver Club, London, he has not saw many of the local boys but has recently visited with Ormande Hogg and Irvin Webb. And had supper with Rayfield Ennis and Mrs. Ennis

Sgt. Thompson feels he is sort of let down, as the doctor says he may not join his unit again, and he misses living with the boys. He is to report back to Kingston at the end of the month.

MONTREAL, May 6—(CP)—G. W. Olive, chief engineer of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, said in a statement Thusday that "any plans the CBC might have concerning the introduction of television must wait until after the war when equipment can be made available."

Mr. Olive made the statement commenting on reports that a television transmitting station would be built atop Mount Royal here.

"It is not likely that television equipment will be available for at least two years after the war and that any extensive television coverage can be given in Canada for at least 10 years following its introduction," he said.

Army Develops New Rocket Gun

WASHINGTON, May 6 — (AP) — The armed forces have developed a new rocket gun which is in such "great demand" that $35,000,000 is to be spent on further refinements and production.

This was disclosed today in a House of representatives Naval Affairs Committee report recommending a $65,000,000 appropriation for ordnance manufacture.

Included was a statement from the Navy revealing the proposed expansion of work on rocket-propelled weapons.

No clues were given as to the nature of the devices, but the Navy said in the report that $15,000,000 of the proposed $65,000,000 allocation is needed "because of the new technique required for the new propellant now in great demand."

Thomas Trail In Year 1835 Offered For Sale His Farm

"A comfortable long house with three rooms on the ground floor, besides a new kitchen sixteen feet square, also a new frame barn and stable, forty-five by thirty feet, well finished," was the description by Thomas Trail, pioneer settler at Lakefield, of his primitive dwelling which he was advertising for sale in the Cobourg Star of July 8, 1835, as quoted by Edwin C. Guillet, M. A., in this week's issue of the Cobourg Sentinel-tSar.

"The subscriber offers for sale one of the most beautifully situated farms in the Newcastle district, consisting of Broken Lot No. 19, 7th Concession of Douro, containing 189 acres, more or less. About 30 acres on the lake are very valuable, from the fine pine and white oak timber. The remainder of the lot is hardwood and of the first quality.

"The improvements consist of about 20 acres well cleared and cropped, with the exception of six acres which will be ready for wheat in the autumn. Kitchianoe Lake is an expansion of the Otonabee River, only three-quarters of a mile from the village of Selby (Lakefield) where Mr. Herriot has erected a double sawmill which is in full operation, and a grist mill nearly finished.

"The distance from Peterborough is about ten miles; and there is a road on either side of the river. The society in the neighborhood is perhaps unequalled in any other township in the province. For particulars apply to Mr. Sanford, Peterborough, Mr. Strickland, or the Subscriber.....Tho's Trail."

Mr. Guillet contributes the following explanatory reference to the letter:

Important Early Settlers.

The persons and locations mentioned in the above advertisement (or announcement, as they thought it more genteel to call it in those days) were prominent in the pioneer period. Subsequently the Traills spelled their name with two l's, as here, and Mrs. Traill was to become a noted authoress, particularly with respect to plant life and nature. The most valuable of her books is "Canadian Wild Flowers" (1869) with many color plants painted and lithographed by her grandniece, Agnes Fitzgibbon. Mr. Traill was himself a writer of some merit.

The Mr. Strickland mentioned in the advertisement was Major Samuel Strickland, founder of Lakefield, of which the old name was Selby (as given here), and sometimes Herriot's Falls, after the owner of the mills. Strickland was a brother of Mrs. Traill and of Mrs. Susanna Moodie, authoress of "Roughing It in the Bush" and numerous other writings, both poetry and prose. Another sister, Agnes and became a historian of some Strickland, remained in England, distinction. Taken as a whole, the "literary Stricklands" made a notable contribution to cultural life in Canada, and the "unequalled" society referred to in the advertisement included many settlers of refinement and education who lived in the old Newcastle District — the name for the region comprising the present counties of Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough and Victoria.

Dummer People First To Exceed Quota

To the farmers of Dummer goes the distinction of being the first rural county to exceed their objective in this Sixth Victory Loan.

Late returns Friday afternoon carried the township's total subscriptions past their $30,000 objective by $1,100, for a percentage of 103.6.

Headquarters staff were first to congratulate the two Dummer canvassers, David Miller and William Darling, upon their own contribution of visiting around the township, and through to them to the people of the township, who attained their goal Friday, with seven days of the campaign still remaining, possibly to raise their total beyond the present 103.6 per cent.

Dummer was one of the sections of the county which were slow to get into action during the first week, trailing the rivalling North Monaghan and Smith Townships who were battling for first position. Toward the end of last week Dummer began to extend its investments in the Loan, and substantial gains this week brought their total within easy reach of the top, in spite of the general experience that the last strides are usually the most difficult.

A Grand Job

So. to Messrs. Miller and Darling and to their neighbors in the township, the compliments of county and city will be happily expressed in recognition of their featured accomplishment of the last stage of the second week of the compaign.

Smith Passes 90%

Farmers of Smith township have pulled up close to their $90,000 quota and from the level of $81,100 can look it in the eye with every confidence of exceeding it within the next few days. Probably the subscriptions today will thrust the township's subscriptions over the 100 per cent. mark.

North Monaghan is still making progress strongly placed in third position. Their objective is $40,000 and they were credited with $32,650 Friday evening, showing 81.26 per cent of their assignment.

Ennismore with 61.6 per cent is in third place, keeping pace with the time percentage, which for the eleventh day was 61.1 per cent. Reeve Gifford's township accepted a total of $12,000 and they have now bought $7,400 of the Loan issue.

Peterborough city's general canvass is fifth in the municipal standing with 56.62 per cent.

The other sections of the county are represented in the percentage column as follows:—

Norwood 53.79; Havelock 53.45; Otonabee 47.23; Lakefield 45.18; Belmont-Methuen 45.6; Douro 44.71 the northern group of townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, 38.11; Asphodel 36.05.

In Strong Position

According to the percentage index Peterborough city and county were occupying a rather encouraging position Friday night, only 1.48 points down from the required percentage of 61.1 for the eleventh day.

Of the Peterborough objective, $4,500,000, the sum of subscriptions yesterday was $2,673,100 or 59.62 per cent, which is less than a point and a half from the percentage level for the eleventh day.

Subscriptions reported as Friday's contributions to the total amounted to $485,650. Comparison of aggregates was: $2,673,100 at the close of Friday and $2,187,450 at Thursday evening.

The special names division helped immensely in that day's advance, boosting their total from $500,000 to $765,000, a difference in one day of $265,000, more than half the day's new subscriptions of $485,650.

County Leads City

Rural Peterborough was leading the city's general canvass by a slight margin.

Of the county's $600,000 quota subscriptions totalled $347,200 or 57.87 per cent.; and the city with an objective of $1,550,000 in its general canvass was showing $877,550 in the subscriptions column for 56.62 per cent.

And the joint objective in the general canvass, $2,150,000, was contrasted with the $1,224,750 rural and city subscriptions, or 56.96 per cent.

Campaign Summary.

The following was the headquarters summary for the eleven days at the close of Friday.

Protest Grants

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP). — A protest against the granting of public funds to Roman Catholic private schools, and not to Protestant private schools, was passed unanimously yesterday at the 13th annual convention of the Associated High School Boards of Ontario. The resolution was referred to a special committee for investigation.

Local Payroll Bond Buyers Lead Province

In the collective investment of its payroll savings division, Peterborough was the first municipality in Ontario to exceed its objective, David G. H. Melton stated in presenting to the Examiner employees Friday afternoon the Three-Star "V" flag signifying the appreciation of the National War Finance Committee.

Mr. Melton said that the employees of the twenty-two plants in Peterborough had done such a uniformally fine job in the Sixth Victory Loan that each factory group of them had earned a "V" flag.

"We issued a challenge to the industries of Brantford," Mr. Melton recalled, "and according to the information which we received we reached the payroll savings objective before they did, and more than that our information is that Peterborough has been the first municipality to reach its payroll savings objective as we have done.

After we have gone through one Victory Loan we begin wondering what the response will be to the next one, and in the present Loan the response has been most encouraging. It shows that Peterborough people are not growing tired of this part of their war effort, and I am sure the news will be heartening to our boys overseas."

In congratulating the Examiner staff, Mr. Melton paid a special tribute to the twenty-six carrier boys who subscribed $1,300. The Examiner's objective was $5,000; amount subscribed $5,250; 39 of the 40 employees subscribed $3,950.

G. W. Craw received the "V" flag on behalf of the Examiner staff, and gratefully acknowledged the official expression of appreciation as conveyed by Mr. Melton from the National War Finance Committee.

At Quaker Oats

Mr. Melton also met the employees of the Quaker Oats Company at 5 p.m. Friday, an hour after the ceremony at the Examiner office, and thanked them on the extent of their subscription of the Sixth Victory Loan.

The big mill's "V" flag was received on behalf of the employees by Reg Faryon who said he was glad to share in the recognition of the staff's success. While the folks at home were trying to show that they were in this war right up to the end by doing what was required of them, everyone was thinking with hope and anxiety of what the boys overseas are facing, standing by day after day waiting the hour that is going to strike. Mr. Faryon said that in realizing what the forces had to do, the home front should be happy in the support they were giving, and it was encouraging to everybody in Peterborough to know that the payroll savings division had made a thorough sweep of its objective.

The Army Corps band from Camp Borden attended both these ceremonies.

Chosen by the employees to represent them, Mrs. James Tinney, widow of a former employees, received the "V" flag awarded to the staff of the Peterborough Utilities Commission at the Aylmer-street substation Friday noon.

Mr. Melton made the presentation, and Fred Hills, member of the Commission, replied on behalf of the staff. Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Commission and of the County Victory Loan Committee, was also present.

With 99 per cent of the staff investing, the staff subscribed $10,100, or 101 per cent of their objective.

Man Surprises Court Produces Bank Roll

LINDSAY, May 6. — (ENS.) — When Hilliard J. Davis of Stouffville, appeared before Magistrate E. A. Gee this morning he at first said he did not know how he got into police court, that he felt sore around the head and one knee was hurt, but in a few minutes he said, "I might have taken too much liquor—I sometimes do."

Chief Lawlor reported that when searched the man only had $9 while his fine and costs amounted to $12.50.

"I guess all we can do is send you up to jail for the week-end," said Magistrate Gee. "No, I would not like to go there—I'll pay the fine," said Hilliard, as he poked his hand into a concealed pocket under his vest and pulled out a large roll of green backs, which the police had missed. "I never carry my money all in one pocket," remarked the man who pleaded guilty to intoxication.

Peterboro Boy On Lockeport

A.B. MORLEY CROWE

Able Seaman Morley Crowe of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Crowe, Lakefield, was a member of the crew of H.M.C.S. Lockeport, a minesweeper that suffered a breakdown when it ran into an Atlantic gale 290 miles at sea. Waves ranging from 12 to 20 feet in height buffetted the vessel carrying her miles off her course. For nearly two days she held her own but the constant pounding of the seas damaged her boilers and she could no longer make steam enough to drive the main engines.

The crew resorted to sails, made from sailor's hammocks sewn together and all available canvas aboard. It is believed to be the first time in the history of the Canadian Navy that a steam powered ship has reverted to sail. The Lockeport was later taken in tow by a tug and arrived safely in an Eastern Canadian port, having buffeted the gales of the North Atlantic for four days.

Before enlisting with the Navy, where he serves as a sub detector, A.B. Crowe, worked in the office of Campbell's Dairy.

Police were called and it was found that the place had been thoroughly ransacked and the contents of drawers and cupboards strewn around the office. The safe in the office, however, had apparently not been tampered with and nothing of value is missing.

Omemee Concert Brings $32 To War Victims

The all important task of raising their quota in the sixth Victory Loan in the Omemee district was featured by a concert held in Coronation Hall at Omemee on Monday, April 24, with Rev. R. M. Patterson who is joint chairman for Omemee and Emily with Rev. Father V. G. McFadden, acting as chairman for the occasion.

This event paralleled similar ones held in previous appeals when children from schools in the district under the direction of R. B. Harle rendered various musical numbers, with a group of young people from Lindsay presenting a one-act comedy entitled "Frank and Erna" in quite an able manner, while an address was given by T. Stinson, general chairman of Victoria and aHliburton district, in the interests of the campaign now in progress.

For a long time now, Rev. R. M. Patterson has acted as representative of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund in Omemee and district, and these events on a number of occasions, have seen a nice contribution coming to the fund through a collection taken at that time, the amount being recorded this time being the nice sum of $32.00 listed today.

This double feature in connection with the Victory Loan campaign in this district has become a special feature which is all their own as far as the helping of the local and district fund is concerned, and reflects the interest which the representative of the fund there is taking in advancing its interests on behalf of those stricken through enemy air raids over Britain.

This perhaps is best evidenced by the fact that this latest contribution make a splendid total of $715.93 that has been handed in by Rev. Patterson, which does not include a number of gifts that have either come direct or were turned in before he undertook to look after the fund's interests in this district.

For this splendid assistance, the fund management would express its sincere thanks and appreciation to all who have assisted in the cause which the fund seeks to serve.

$1,204 Toward Next Gift

It takes the sum of $2,240 in Canadian currency to send the usual donation of five hundred pounds, of which the fund now has the sum of $1,204.25 on hand, so the halfway mark has been well crossed, for a balance of $1,035.75 is still needed to complete this latest objective and send it on the mission of mercy for which it has been given.

Most Of Wheat Sown In Western Areas

Farm work in the western provinces is from 10 days to two weeks earlier than a year ago, according to the first weekly crop report issued by Canadian National Railways.

Splendid progress has been made with seeding which proceeded without interruption under dry, rainless conditions until the end of April. May began with general rains and considerable snowfalls which were more welcome even if seeding has been delayed for a few days.

Completion of wheat seeding varies from 90 per cent. in some of the southern district to around 10 per cent. in the northern areas. Some districts report as much as 50 per cent. barley and oats seeded while others say no start has yet been made.

What acreage will show an increase of from 5 per cent. to 25 per cent. with the average somewhere between 12 per cent. and 15 per cent. Coarse grain acreage in the majority of districts will remain about the same as last year while in others there may be a slight dec[illegible]. Flax acreage, however, will be decreased from 5 per cent. to as much as 40 per cent.

Swine production will remain steady. Farmers will milk slightly more cows this year than ever before. Poultry production is booming and egg production is the heaviest it has ever been.

Soil moisture is seriously deficient although temporarily satisfactory in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but it is chiefly on the surface.

St. Paul's Aid To Buy $500 Bond

The treasurer of the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian church was instructed to purchase a $500 Victory bond, if sufficient funds were in the treasury, at the meeting of the Ladies' Aid, Friday afternoon in the Guild Room. The diamond anniversary of the group will be observed June 2, and Mrs. W. A. Burrell will be social convener for that important occasion.

In the business period, reports were heard from several conveners. A total of 32 articles have been completed by the sewing group. Mrs. James Dutton, giving an account of the regular meeting of the Local Council of Women, asked that the women in favor of the resolution concerning drinking scenes in moving pictures which children are allowed to see, sign their names to the copy she had received, so that the resolution would bear more weight when brought before the Provincial Council.

A banquet for the young people of the church will be held May 19, with the social committee in charge of arrangements. Two letters were written, and seven shut-ins visited during the month.

Biographies.

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, a member of the Board of Education, was guest speaker, and gave biographical sketches of two famous men, Pastor Martin Niemoeller and Captain Edward Rickenbacker. In her account of the life of Pastor Niemoeller, Mrs. Harris said that he was a man of great activity and resourcefulness. Although he is still in a concentration camp, his cause is growing stronger, and his followers, anti-Fascists, who firmly believe that the church's doctrines should be obeyed, and not submerged by the power of the state, are growing in number.

After giving a short resume of Capt. Rickenbacker's early life, Mrs. Harris dwelt principally on his Pacific adventure, when he and several others drifted on a raft for 28 days before being rescued. She said that they learned to place their faith in a higher Power, and to rely on His aid.

Mrs. A. A. McIntyre presided. Mrs. W. Jackson introduced the speaker, and Mrs. J. L. Pulkinghorn moved the vote of thanks. The devotional was taken by the Sunshine Group, in charge of Mrs. F. Rowan in the absence of the leader, Mrs. George Sproule. Miss Bessie Ross read the Scripture, and Mrs. A. Jack led in prayer. Miss M. Rannie was at the piano. Mrs. McIntyre dedicated the penny-a-day offering.

Park St. BYPU Gives Unusual Performance of Prodigal Son

Something new in the field of dramatic endeavor in Peterborough was presented by the B.Y.P.U. of Park Street Baptist Church, Friday evening when they enacted the religious drama "He Came Unto His Father." An undertaking of this kind requires a great deal of study and practice, and the hearty applause of the audience which filled the Sunday School hall was ample proof that the Young People's efforts were successful.

"He Came Unto His Father" was the story of the return of the prodigal son, Benjamin, to his father, after his long absence. The plot was based on the scripture story and followed the outline given in the Bible. All players were dressed in colorful Biblical costumes, adding greatly to the overall effect of the Biblical scene created by green ferns and trees, representing the foliage of the Holy Land.

Clarence Corbett, as the father, turned in an excellent performance. Even his expressive gestures with his hands, were suggestive of those of an aged and kindly man. His voice was low and carried well, with just a hint of the fatigue which would be felt by an old man, weighted down with sorrow and age, and his quiet calm, manner, created in the minds of his listeners the picture of the kindly father he portrayed.

Touching Scene

Alan Boate played the elder brother, Mordacai, who had remained with his father after Benjamin had taken his share of the wealth, and left for another country. He played his part with understanding, and was particularly effective in the final scene, when Mordacai suddenly realized how he had failed in his duty to his father. Although he managed the affairs of the estate expertly, he forgot the love and companionship which a son owes to his father. His penitence, and promise to strive to repay the debt of love he owed him, was one of the highlights of the play.

The difficult role of Benjamin, the penitent prodigal, was taken by Alex Baptie. Here again, a knowledge of the feelings of the character was necessary. The sorrowful, repentant actions of the prodigal were human and understandable, as he begged his father to be allowed to work in the fields, and to begin again, to prove his worth. Rachael, whose faith in Benjamin remained unshaken, was portrayed by Madalin Binsted. As the main feminine character, Miss Binsted had a great responsibility, and responded by turning in a polished portrayal of the quiet loving girl, who nevertheless had a mind of her own.

Elwood Nicholls, as Joseph, an old and faithful servant, and Thelma Tedford as Deborah, another kindly servant, did well in their short roles, and added greatly to the finished effect of the presentation. The parts of the farmhands were taken by Margaret Udy, Zelda Tedford, Douglas Baker, James Whan and Harold Robertson.

Before the play began, Rev. E. J. Whan welcomed the guests and read a portion from Luke which introduced the story. As an introduction, members of the cast sang "The Prodigal Son" in the wings, with Clarence Corbett taking the solo parts. A sing-song was conducted by Maurice Dunkley, with Marguerite Dunkley at the piano, at the beginning of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Benson and J. Halcrow supervised the properties and sets for the play, assisted by members of the cast. Mrs. R. T. Neville directed the production, and acted as promoter. Miss Olive Tedford was in charge of the costumes.

In response to a great number of requests, the play will be presented again Sunday evening, at 8:30, after the evening anniversary service in the church.

M.P.'s Daughter Weds Soldier

LINDSAY, May 6 — (ENS) — A charming spring wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lindsay, this afternoon when Miss Gladys Free McNevin, daughter of Bruce McNevin, M.P., and Mrs. McNevin, of Lindsay, became the bride of Capt. Alexander Dunbar McKelvey, of Camp Borden, son of Mrs. McKelvey of 114 Rosedale Heights Blvd., Toronto, and the late Dr. Alex McKelvey.

Rev. Donald McQueen, Minister of St. Andrew's Church, was the officiating clergyman and the wedding music was played by Mr. Robert Cutt.

The wedding was a colorful event with the bride wearing a beautiful gown of white chiffon, while the three attendants were attractive in powder blue costumes with matching accessories and hats of American beauty shade. Their corsages toned in beautifully with the gowns.

Following the wedding a reception was held at Ye Olde College Tea Room, where Mrs. McNevin, mother of the bride, received in a two-piece ensemble of gold with brown and gold trimmings. Mrs. McKelvey, mother of the groom, assisted wearing a dress of powder blue. For travelling the bride wore a tailored green suit with brown accessories.

Lindsay Girl Weds H. D. Iler

LINDSAY, May 6 — (ENS) — A Spring wedding of interest took place in the Cambridge Street Baptist Church, Lindsay, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Lorna Elizabeth Reeds, Reg. N., of Toronto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Reeds, 28 Sussex street south, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Harley Douglas Iler, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Scott Iler of Arner, Ont. The officiating clergyman was Rev. D. A. Burns of Immanuel Baptist Church, Toronto.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a floor-length white silk gown with lace insets and veil of bridal illusion in butterfly style and carried a cascade bouquet of red Bettertime roses. She was attended by Miss Eria Robinson of North Bay, who wore floor-length peacock blue sheer with shoulder length veil of pink, flowers falling from a bandeau of pink flowers, and carried pink carnations.

Mr. Hubert Reads, brother of the bride, acted as best man and the ushers were Eric Skuce and Earl Iler.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Mrs. Reeds received the guests wearing a printed silk jersey dress with matching blue hat and accessories. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore printed crepe with navy and cream accessories, and corsage of white carnations.

The bride's travelling costume was a gold wool dressmaker suit, with brown accessories. The young couple will reside in Toronto.

The bride is a graduate of Toronto Bible College and Toronto General Hospital, while the groom is a graduate of the Canadian Electronics Institute, Toronto.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Today we will give part of our fashion notes over to the new styles in evening dresses. One of the new evening dresses is made of pitch black rayon faille and trimmed with bows of the same material. It is made on princess lines, short skirt, round neckline and no sleeves. Around the front of the round neck are three bows of the black material. There is no color whatever worn either on or with the dress.

Linen is being so much shown for evening and dinner dresses. A regency dress, slim as a closed fan, made in bright yellow handkerchief linen, embroidered in golden wreaths and sprays of flowers, so characteristic of the period. The skirt of this dress is floor-length.

Another linen dress for either daytime or evening. A cool immaculate dinner-suit with a brief cardigan jacket and a long front slashed skirt. This shows elbow sleeves and is high around the neck. With this is worn a rope of gold beads with matching bracelet. The suit is carried out in natural colored linen, star-dusted with tiny gilt points. So many dresses this spring will be made with dark skirt and bright colored waist. For example, earth-brown skirt of rayon shantung and a turquoise blue bolero. A grand combination is clay beige with sky blue, the material being silk shantung. A collarless dress in sandstone shade, mellow and cool. The front of the skirt of this costume is cartridge pleated, and on the centre front of the waist three daisies in the sky blue shade. These are of plastic and earrings of the same are worn. A large shantung silk sailor hat in the sky blue is worn with this costume. There is much being made of gingham this spring. A flash of checks, your arms in the breeze or a mannerly plaid based on the theory that you are cool when you look cool. Cool and undercover is a seemly dress for town, for trams and trains. It is narrow in outline. This skirt has the wide trouser pleats in front and an inverted pleat in back. The waist is plain, bias cut, and buttons up the front, finished at the throat with a bias cut scarf. This style is nice carried out in black and white, or, if you can find your own clan plaid, by all means make it of that. With this wear a small pill box turban covered with the plaid, with a band of bow of black cerie ribbon. The buttons and belt of this dress are also black.

Y. W. C. A. Club Doings

Wtih a theme of "What Are You Doing This Summer?" our bulletin board this week carries ideas on things to do for service such as the Farm Service Force sponsored by the government in co-operation with the Y.W.C.A. and to which many girls have already offer their services. The Church Vacation Schools for children in urban and rural communities and various camps offer training courses in leadership and a chance for summer fun. Our own "Y" swimming folder is out this week and tells of the chances to brush up on swimming and to take life saving classes and tests to save yourself and others in the water. Life Saving qualifications are essential for camp councillors so let's get at it. By the way, plans are going ahead apace for camping days at Inglestane on Stoney Lake—camp folders and bulletin boards tell all about it. Have you ever thought of taking a councillor's training course? Our bulletin board says that an excellent one is being offered in London by the Y.W.C.A. and the Council of Social Agencies dealing with the psychology and philosophy of camping and such practical things as nature lore, campcraft and worship skills. And advance announcement is made of the University of Toronto course to be held at Camp Tanamakoon in September. A conference will be held soon for our own camp councillors.

Girls' Council met for their regular supper meeting in the Club Room on Wednesday. Final plans were made for the Maytime Dance being held in the gym on May 19th. Doris Royea is in charge of the ticket sale and all council members have tickets to sell. Ada Smith is convener of the decorating committee and assisted by Dorothy Hepburn, Jean Elcombe, Flora Metcalfe and Jean Carew. The Guest List will be looked after by Maye Lambert and Jean Elcombe. Betty Detcher presided and the after-supper sing and invocation were led by Miss Roberta Kiefer. Peggy Couch was welcomed as a new member representing the residence and Mrs. Greta Molsley representing the Thursday gym.

The newly written constitution was read and discussed. The June Conference plans for June 24th and 25th at Camp Inglestane are in the hands of the executive and their report will be given and final arrangements made at the next meeting on June 7. Flora Metcalfe will be in charge of provisions.

The Junior Business Girls meeting on Wednesdays have decided to adjourn until the Fall when they will reorganize with lots of new members.

The Junior Supper Club made plans for a hike to be held on May 18th after school and in place of the regular meeting. Jane Gillespie presided in the absence of the president, Marley Jobbitt.

The Gym-Swim Club met as usual on Thursday. Ina Robinson presided. The discussion on minority groups led by group leaders Grace Schiarizza and Isobel McCamus took place and the committee will make a report for the Youth Commission.

Doris Royea gave the council report. An informal dance will be held next Thursday in the Recreation Room. Grace Schiarrizza and June Patterson served lunch.

The Saturday Juniors had a program of songs, games and impromptu dramatization led by Roberta Kiefer, and made folding cups. A day outdoors is planned for the near future.

The Canada Club meets at the home of Mrs. Rostocky on Tuesday and are invited to the tea on May 12th for English War Brides and Servicemen's Wives being sponsored by the War Services Committee.

COVER GIRL AT LEISURE—The flattering tunic with flared peplum, nipped waistline, Oriental neckline is Roman striped crepe; narrow ankled pants are pale blue rayon crepe. Lots of business about cover girls, always . . . whether they have just been elected the favorite pin-up girl of this contingent or that, have just toured to cheer troops, or had a part in the new film to which they have loaned names and faces. No wonder leisure and lounging costumes become them, as they do Jean Colleran, Canover model who plays a part in the "Cover Girl" film.—By Prunella Wood.

HUSBANDS MUST MAKE MONEY
Despite Dependence On Their Earnings Wives Become Jealous Of Men's Attention To Work

A woman, who says she is tired of playing second fiddle to her husband's business wants to know if a man's first duty is not to his wife, instead of his job. That is one of the questions that is hard to answer, because the reply depends upon whether the wife considers it her husband's paramount duty to be a playboy, or a good provider.

It is one of the curious quirks in feminine psychology that although practically every married woman's comfort and ease depends upon her husband's success in his work she is as jealous of his occupation as she is of his stream-lined secretary. Somehow, she feels that the lady on the dollar is her deadly rival and she resents the ardor with which he chases her. If you will notice, you will observe that nearly all wives speak bitterly of their husband's "old office" or "old factory" and begrudge the time they spend there and the interest they take in them.

Wife Suspicious Of Conferences

In her secret soul the average wife is filled with deep dark suspicions of what goes on in the conferences and that her husband goes into and and which cannot be interrupted, even when she wants to telephone him that the baby has cut a new tooth or that she has just had a letter from Mama saying she is coming to pay a nice long visit.

Furthermore, when she goes into one of her orgies of self-pity over the sad lot of a wife her bitterest tears are shed over the act that her husband will break a date with her to meet a buyer from Oshkosh; or that he always has time to go on a business trip, but can't spare even a month to take her on a vacation, and that at night when he comes home he wants to rest, instead of stepping out to a night club.

Being possessive by nature, a wife feels that she has a priority on her husband's time and interest and thoughts and her idea is that his business should be only a sort of sideline to him, and that he should be able to make love to her with one hand and money with the other, and not let his work interfere with her pleasure.

Woman Ignores Necessity For Hard Work

For she does not want to be deprived of a single mink coat, and she ignores the fact that if her husband didn't give most of his time and effort to his work that she wouldn't feast on the fat of the land. She wouldn't eat at all.

Of course, the wives who have husbands who put their jobs before them have much justification for their peeve, for there are plenty of men who are more married to their groceries or banks or careers than ever are to any woman. To them a wife is just a household convenience. They get more thrill out of a ten point rise in stocks than they do out of the birth of a new baby. And as long as they sign checks for them they don't see why their families are not perfectly satisfied. The wife of practically every successful man loses him to his career.

All of which shows that we cannot have our cake and eat it too. Not even our wedding cakes.

Rev. E. Cadigan Inducted At United Church

MARMORA, May 6—(ENS)—The induction of Rev. E. M. Cadigan into the charge of Marmora United Church was carried out in the Town Hall Friday evening in the presence of a large congregation. Rev. Dr. James Semple of Belleville, chairman of the Belleville Presbytery being in charge.

Scripture readings were taken by Rev. A. Poulter of Madoc. As chairman of the Presbytery, Dr. Semple spoke regretfully of the partial loss the church had through fire. He thanked the officials of the town for placing the hall at the disposal of the church. He reminded his hearers that the Council of Nicea was not held in a church but in a rink and that what happened in Nicea concerning the creed of the church was with people today. He hoped that the present service would be a great omen for the days which are to come. Dr. Temple then remarked that the machinery of the church had been speeded up to effect the transfer and this was an indication of the great interest the Presbytery had in the filling of the Marmora vacancy. Only the day previous had the Rev. E. Cadigan been transferred into the Belleville Presbytery.

Must Be Strong

Rev. A. Poulter gave the address to the minister. He said there was never a time when the church was so put on trial as today. The same was to be said for the Christian minister. The question is being asked "Has the ministry of the church that for which men crave?" It is noticeable that the world is going out after picture shows, lots of entertainment and much else. But there is after all, nothing that can take the place of the Gospel of Christ.

The function of the preacher can never be superseded by the lesser things in this world, he said.

A ministry preeminently evangelical is needed not in the narrow sense of that term, also one that is courageous and independent. It must fight against sin, not against man.

Layman Speaks

H. B. Fetterly of Belleville, prominent layman of the Presbytery, also addressed the congregation. He reminded them that the story of the Good Samaritan produced the picture of the good Christian spirit. The Christian must realize the needs of humanity and do something to alleviate them. The church is composed of two bodies—the minister and those to whom he ministers. The laity is a great part of the church. The minister cannot do all.

Rev. E. M. Cadigan in a short address, expressed his pleasure at seeing so many members of the congregation present and remarked that already he felt the spirit of cooperation within his congregation and with others who desired to help his church in her present adversity.

A reception was held in the Council Chamber. Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Cadigan and son Jack were introduced to the congregation by H. W. Sabine and Mrs. E. C. Prentice. A buffet lunch was served by the Women's Association. Rev. A. B. Caldwell extended greetings to the new minister and his family on behalf of the congregation of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Wins 30 Times

DECATUR, Ill., May 6 (AP) —Cal Waggoner is betting it will rain next Wednesday, May 10, but he believes he won't have many takers. Waggoner, 83, retired bank employee, has bet it would rain May 10 for 38 years, and says he has won 30 times. That record, he says, "has sure killed off the interest," and he doesn't expect more than five takers this year.

Examiner Boys Lend $4,450 In Three Loans

Subscribing $1,300 of the Sixth Victory Loan, Examiner carrier boys are now credited with a total bond value of $4,450, acquired in the last three Loans.

Twenty-six of the Examiner's boys went through the application routine for almost an armful of Bonds of the present Sixth Loan, one $50 Bond each.

Their investment last fall in the Fifth Loan amounts to $1,150, and in the Fourth Loan they reached out for $2,000. By this time they know the rudiments of Bond buying and holding and thereby building up a stake of personal credit, an education that no other group of boys received since Adam Scott picked out this spot on the Otonabee River for a mill site.

Two of the Examiner boys are worth $200 each in the Victory Bond market. They are John McDonald and Bill Edgar.

Young Edgar plunged on the Fourth Loan for $150, found that his eagerness to help the Loan, and incidentally himself, overreached his financing. So he had to skip the Fifth, but cut in again on the Sixth for a $50 document.

A group of boys who have subscribed $50 of each of the last three Loans are: Lewis Gaskill, James McDonald, Murray Wight, Ken Stacey and George Gimblett.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

THE COURSE IS MARKED

SOMETIMES a mariner finds his course thoroughly charted by buoys, lighthouses and other clearly discernible markers so that there is not the slightest question in his mind as to how he should steer. It is just that definite sometimes in the play of a bridge hand, especially if you know positively that only one particular defender can win a certain card you hold and if you have a properly located tenace in some other suit. You can throw him into the lead and make him come to you.

West did not want to set up the dummy's spade Q, so, after scoring his K, he switched to the heart J, which was won by the Q. South promptly eliminated trumps in three rounds, the last of them won in the dummy, and then tried the finesse of the club Q. West won with his K and returned the heart 7 to the A. Now South had a losing club and no way to get rid of it, so had to drop the setting trick to West's J.

There was no excuse for South to overlook the guides to winning play which were there to assist him. He knew West was the only defender who could win the dummy's spade Q, and therefore had a sure-thing lead-throwing end play in sight. After winning the second trick with his heart Q, he should have scored the diamond A and J, ruffed the spade 8, eliminated hearts with the A and K, gone to dummy with the diamond 9 and then led the spade Q, discarding the club 4.

West would have had to win the spade trick with his A, and then would have had an impossible choice. If he returned a heart or spade, it could have been ruffed with the dummy's diamond while the club Q was discarded from South. If he returned a club, it would have been into the jaws of the A-Q tenace. In either event, his return would have given South his contract.

Porter To Head New Department

TORONTO, May 6 —(CP)—The Ontario Cabinet's' new department of planning and development will be headed by Dana Porter, Progressive Conservative member of the Legislature for Toronto-St. George, Premier Drew announced last night. The senior official in the new ministry under Mr. Porter will be Dr. G. B. Langford, professor of Mining Geology at University of Toronto, as Director of the Department.

Mr. Porter, who has been parliamentary assistant to the Premier, will be sworn into the ministry on Monday morning shortly before he presides at the Provincial-municipal conference here on planning and development, called by the government to establish a basis for future procedure.

Social security and rehabilitation of active service members will come within the scope of the new department. The department will not be a big spending body but will concern itself with planning and other departments of the government will be called in to put its plans into effect as necessary. Premier Drew's statement, said the department would have a small staff as its main function is to initiate and co-ordinate plans which will be worked out by other government departments, various public committees municipal bodies and organizations dealing with every phase of the problem.

Premier Drew stated that Mr. Porter's legal and business training together with the intimate knowledge he had gained of the various departments gave him unusual qualifications for the position of Minister of the new department.

Dr. Langford, the statement said, has had wide experience in many fields of activities which will be dealt with by the department. He was formerly chief geologist of the McIntyre Porcupine Mines and has continued his connection with mining operations and Northern Ontario problems generally.

The new minister in a speech last night to the annual dinner of the Toronto Chapter of the Ontario Architects' Association said that government ownership and control of housing projects will not be part of the department's program. But sponsored housing, financed with government backing through loan policies, would be one of its major concerns.

Projects for the postwar period include subsidized low-rental housing and the new department will also co-ordinate and develop plans for re-forestation soil and water conservation and rural development throughout Ontario. "The government does not intend to get into the Forestry business," he said, but it will see that the principles of conservation are maintained and that projects will be outlined for a period covering 80 or 100 years."

Japs Launch Offensive Across Burma

British Troops Withdraw From Buthedaung

KANDY, Ceylon, May 8.—(AP).—Japanese forces have gone over strongly to the offensive on all sectors of the Manipur Hill front in north-eastern India seeking to regain recently lost forward positions but are suffering disproportionately heavy losses, an Allied communique said to-day.

Allied patrols pushing forward on the Kohima road have advanced 28 miles north of Imphal, said the communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Headquarters. Early in their invasion of the Indian border territory the Japanese bocked this road along 15 miles of its 60 mile length.

Two villages in the hills north-east of Palel have been taken by Allied forces, the announcement continued. Palel lies about 19 miles south-east of Imphal. In the Buthedaung sector of the Arakan front at least 359 of the enemy were killed in recent fighting said the communique.

In a pre-monsoon burst of activity the Japanese have lashed out at Allied positions in the Kalapanzin and Kaladan Valleys in Western Burma and sharply attacked the defences of Kohima, North-eastern India, apparently with little success.

A Headquarters communique meanwhile announced yesterday that Allied troops had withdrawn from Buthedaung, on the Upper Maya Peninsula 65 miles northwest of Akyab port, after "having established ourselves on certain features vital to the security of this line." The withdrawal was described as a part of a "readjustment of our positions" in the area.

Town Under Fire.

Buthedaung, re-occupied by the British 14th Army last March, after a previous withdrawal a year ago, is the terminus of the main supply road across the Mayu mountains from Maungdaw. The communique said Allied forces had repulsed a number of determined counter-attacks in the Mayu mountains just west of Buthedaung.

Brushing off enemy counter-attacks, Allied forces continued to establish themselves more solidly in the positions they recently won north and south of Kohima, which lies 60 miles north of the big Allied base of Imphal and blocks the Japanese from the road to the As-

Vision Of Christ Crucified Appears In Sky Over English Town During Air Raid Alert

IPSWICH, England, May 8. —(CP).— Rev. Harold Godfrey Green, vicar of St. Nicholas church and chaplain to British forces, said to-day he had verified "quite definitely" the story of hundreds of Ipswich residents who said they saw a vision of Jesus on a cross in the sky during an April 27 air raid alert.

"There was scarcely any variation—if any—in these accounts," he said after extensive conversations with residents in this East Anglian coast town. "Hundreds of persons have said they saw the sign clearly."

Nearly 800 townspeople crowded St. Nicholas church—which seats only 500—for a sermon on the vision yesterday, when the vicar said: "I have satisfied myself beyond doubt of the authenticity of the vision. I regard the sign as a good omen."

The vision was said to have lasted 15 minutes. It first took form in the shape of a large white cross, the chaplain was told, and the form of Jesus appeared.

OTTAWA, May 8—(CP).—Sqdn. Ldr. Bert Houle, one of Canada's 10 leading air aces, today headed for his home at Massey, Ont., after a brief pause here where he told newsmen of the sharp contrast between the amount and quality of equipment available when he started in the North African campaign and that available now.

Houle, commanding officer of the crack City of Windsor squadron, was among 200 repatrioted airmen who arrived here yesterday from overseas. Another ace in the party was Flt.-Lt. George (Buzz) Buerling who left the train at Montreal.

Houle, aided by FO. Rick (Snake) Rattle, Toronto, spoke of the day when an odd assortment of R.A.F. planes, many of them obsolete, stopped Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's advance at El Alamein—and just in time, for only 250 bombs were left in the supply dumps.

Houle said he remembered the thrill his comrades got when they heard that a convoy had finally got through with their first Spitfires.

"But we felt pretty let down when we learned that their motors were on another ship that had been sunk," he added. "There were always disappointments like that in the old days, but strangely enough nobody got panicky or desperate and we always felt we were going to win."

Houle said he thought Air Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, now deputy chief of the Allied invasion command, could "organize anything."

Tedder was Houle's commander during the desert campaign "and he took our scrubby bunch of men and planes and whacked hell out of the enemy."

Houle said Tedder used to stroll informally into the mess every so often and his first question would inevitably be.

"Have you any questions, boys."

Always in Good Humor

Houle's comrades invariably used to answer in unison: "When are we going to get Spitfires Sir."

And the Air Chief would reply with a wry grin:

"They offered me boatloads of 'em but I turned 'em down."

Rattle also had a story to tell about Teddar.

"He wasn't one of those brass hats who think's its their duty to console you by saying they'd like to be sharing in some way your discomfort but the necessities of war keep them in Cairo," he said.

Tedder would walk unannounced into the mess of the Kittyhawk dive-bomber Squadron where Rattle and his companions were eating more sand than food.

Rattle continued:—

"He would look us over and then without a trace of a smile he'd say: 'You lads ought to get some more rings (denoting rank) on your arm and then you would live in comfort

OTTAWA, May 8—(CP)—Victory Loan salesmen today started the final week of the Sixth Victory Loan Campaign with total sales standing at $860,036,500 in their drive for a $1,200,000,000 objective. The present total compares with sales of about $845,000,000 reached at the corresponding point of the Fifth Loan campaign.

National headquarters said today reports from provincial chairmen indicate there is a "good chance" of provincial objectives being reached before the end of the campaign.

Total subscriptions on Saturday, the 12th day of the drive, amounted to $68,502,800 with $29,419,550 coming from individuals. This brought the total of purchases by individual Canadians to $353,632,600 or 58 per cent. of the $604,000,000 they subscribed in the last campaign.

65% of Total Raised

The total for large buyers on Saturday was $39,173,250, bringing them to 65 per cent. of the total raised in the last campaign. On Saturday 66 per cent. of the canvassing time had elapsed.

At Victory Loan headquarters yesterday, a national war finance committee official said the announced objective of $1,200,000,000 was regarded as an absolute minimum only and the real objective is "the greatest amount of purchases from the greates number of Canadians." He said that if the trend for the first two weeks continues this Loan may reach the aggregate of the Fifth Victory Loan, when Bond sales totalled $1,383,000,000.

"The third week offers as much field for sales as the Fifth Loan," was the report from T. D. Leonard, chairman for Ontario.

Chennault's Forces Closer To Japan

LONDON, May 8 (CP)—The Berlin radio broadcast a dispatch today quoting the Tokyo newspaper Asahi Shimbun as saying that the 14th U.S. Air Force under Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault in China is being strongly reinforced from India and being moved 450 miles closer to Tokyo in preparation for an air assault on Japan.

The dispatch asserted the transfer of the air force's base from Kunming east to Kewilin, "represents another move in the American strategy of building up bases on the Chinese mainland and concentration powerful units there for air raids on the Japanese motherland."

25,000 Germans In Garrison Continue Battle

LONDON, May 8 — (CP) — Soviet bombers and fighters lashed at Sevastopol in intense week-end assaults, Moscow announced today, and Axis broadcasts asserted that "extraordinarily powerful" Red Army Forces were assaulting the beseiged Crimean port in an effort to overwhelm the German-Romanian garrison.

The Russians were silent about land operations at Sevastopol, but Moscow customarily refrains from preliminary announcements when the Red Army launches major drives. The German command, hinting that the Russians had cracked Axis lines, spoke of a "fluctuating battle" around the fortress.

A Soviet communique said that Russian warplanes, swooping on Sevastopol from dawn to dusk, inflicted heavy losses on German and Romanian troops, blew up ammunition dumps, wrecked artillery batteries and damaged several ships.

The Axis garrison, estimated at 25,000 men, has been holding out in Sevastopol since mid-April under fire from Soviet siege guns commanding the heights overlooking the city. The Soviet Black Sea fleet and Air Arm have reported scores of escape vessels trying to reach Romania.

Bucharest Pasted Three Times Within 24 Hours

NAPLES, May 8 (AP) — R.A.F. heavy and medium bombers pounded Bucharest for the third time in 24 hours last night, guided to the Romanian capital by fires still burning from yesterday's American daylight attack, which ripped tracks apart and splintered locomotive shops in the city's railyards.

R.A.F. Halifaxes and Liberators, carrying into its fourth straight day the terrific air offensive aimed at wiping out Romanian communications and industries, encountered strong fighter opposition as they roared over Bucharest and rained explosives on industrial targets, headquarters said.

Bucharest's factories and refinery areas had been blasted Saturday night in a quick followup to an American daylight raid of five Romanian rail centres.

Commandos Hit Italian Coast

BERN, May 8 — (AP) — A dispatch from the Italian border to La Suisse of Geneva today quoted Fascist officers as saying that Allied commandos based in Corsica and Sardinia had landed on the Ligurian coast of northwestern Italy in the last few days for a series of patrol actions preparatory to invasion.

The unconfirmed report said some of the troops were killed or captured but that others were believed to have reurned to their bases with information on the German-built fortifications.

The dispatch also said Field Marshall Erwin Rommel had conferred with Field Marshal Albert Kesselring in Italy after inspecting French Mediterranean defenses.

Chinese Report Situation Grows Serious

CHUNGKING, May 8—(AP)—Misgivings over the military situation in northwestern Honan province grew more pronounced today as Chinese field dispatches declared that Japanese troops have advanced another three and one-half miles toward Loyang and now are only six miles south of the ancient city, gateway for a possible thrust into the very heart of China.

Fierce fighting was reported in all sectors of the Honan front, and it was generaly admitted here that the situation is growing serious and that the Chinese can no longer follow their usual strategy of trading space for time without facing possible dire consequences.

The Japanese drive, begun April 16, was said to have drawn attention already to deficiencies of Chinese equipment and fears were evident in some quarters that the enemy might be massing for an all-out attempt to knock China out of the war.

The Japanese were reported making rapid progress to clear the important north-south Peiping-Hankow railway and field dispatches said they had narrowed to 14 miles the strength of line held by the Chinese. A spearhead of the enemy column driving southward down the railway from Chenghsien was reported to have captured Siping while another moving up from the south was reported at Chumatien.

Yesterday the Japanese northern column was reported at Yengchen, 83 miles south of Chengshien, and the Chinese were believed in control of the railway for a distance of 40 or 50 miles below that point.

Chengsien is about 65 miles east of Loyang and is the base from which the Jaanese have been pressing their drive westward along the Lunghai railway toward that city. Chinese dispatches said most of Loyang's garrison had been evacuated.

Invasion Suspense Bewilders Huns

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LISBON, May 8.—(AP).— One of the most extraordinary developments in the European war zone in recent months is the fact it no longer is the Russians who are clamoring for a second front—it's the Nazis.

The new Russian attitude is best illustrated by Stalin's recent reference to the Allies' "considerable contribution toward a Soviet victory.

Sharply contrasting is an article by Nazi propaganda Minister Goebbels in Das Reich, belaboring the Allies for failure to invade western Europe and blurting out that "among the German people there's a greater anxiety that the invasion might not come than that it will come."

The Germans are like the inhabitants of a heavily besieged walled city whose defenders are well equipped with boiling oil and hot lead to dump on the heads of scaling parties but whose homes, arsenals and warehouses are crumbling in ruins or disappearing in flames.

The urgent need in their situation is a quick opportunity to repel an enemy attack and inflict disastrous casualties in the hope that the Allies will call off the siege and go home.

Editorials and utterances of some of Goebbels' subordinates are raging over the "cowardice" of the Allies who are "afraid to meet the German armies."

German newspapers frankly admit that the urban population of Germany is living in a veritable hell and that production is continuing only under great difficulties.

What Goebbels really has in the back of his mind when he mentions the anxiety of the German people may be this unspoken plea:

"Give us peace or give us a second front while there still is something to defend, but for God's sake give us no more of this suspense."

LONDON, May 8—(AP).—Nearly 2,000 of U.S. bombers and fighters blasted the Berlin and Brunswick areas today, with a great fleet of heavy bombers pouncing for the second straight day on Berlin—the battered capital that the Germans now called "condemned to death." Another armada of heavies hammered Brunswick, 125 miles west of Berlin.

The powerful force — almost equal to that pounding Berlin by daylight Sunday — followed night assaults by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. from west and south upon France, Germany, and the Romanian capital of Bucharest.

The heavy bombers today numbered close to 1,000, with about as many escorting fighters.

The bombers dropped perhaps 2,000 tons of explosives on Berlin today.

Bucharest was hit last night for the third time in 24 hours in operations marking the seventh day-night co-ordinated operation from Britain and the Mediterranean since Thursday night against Germany, France and the Balkans. Six of those consecutive Mediterranean blows fell on Romania.

Today's daylight operations pressed the tremendous pre-invasion air offensive into its 24th consecutive day and capped a 24-hour period in which probably 6,000 Allied planes, thundering from bases in Britain and Italy, rained something like 10,000 tons of explosives on installations with which Hitler hoped to combat the Allies' western invasion and stem the Russian drive into the Balkans.

The main blow of yesterday's great daylight raids, perhaps the heaviest two-way assault thus far, was a terrific American raid on Berlin.

The R.A.F.'s home-based night fleet last night hit Rennes airfield north of Nantes and other targets in Nantes, Tours, Salbris, 35 miles south of Orleans and military installations on the Normandy coast as well as the great Nazi chemical centre, Leverkusen, just north of Cologne. Nine planes were lost in the R.A.F. night operations.

German fighters drove bitterly against the heavy bombers bombing Brunswick, returning crew members said, and some estimated that as many as 150 Nazi planes engaged in battle at one time. The Germans attacked in waves half an hour.

American fliers said it was the first German fighter defence in strength since the April 29 raid on Berlin. A heavy overcast forced the bombers to bomb through the clouds. Flak was described as light.

In weak return, German raiders struck last night at the south coast of England, but it was announced they caused no damage or casualties.

A fleet of 2,000 British-based American bombers and their fighter escorts struck the main Sunday blow at Berlin and the Munster-Osnabruk region in Western Germany.

Losses Light

The assault cost eight bombers and five fighters—in contrast to the loss of 63 heavy machines in the last American raid on Berlin eight days previously.

At almost the same time perhaps 1,000 American Italy-based heavy bombers and fighters slammed approximately 1,200 tons of bombs on the main rail yards at Bucharest and a bridge which was the only remaining open route on the Orient Express line to Sofia.

The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. preceded the Sunday blows with moonlight raids Saturday night by some 600 planes which dropped probably 2,350 tons of explosive on the railway yards at Nantes and two ammuni-

Ploesti Oil Fields Devastated

4 Of 7 Refineries Knocked Out During Recent Raids

NAPLES, May 8—(AP)—Lt.-Gen. Ira C. Eaker, Allied air commander in the Mediterranean, announced today that Romanian oil production had been cut one-fourth of its normal output by bombings.

In addition, Eaker declared in a statement, R.A.F. and American bombers "have disrupted the flow of vital war materials to the eastern front by bombing every important supply route open to the Germans."

Gen. Eaker disclosed also that since Nov. 8, 1942, the bomb tonnage dropped by the Allies in the Mediterranean theatre passed the 200,000 mark.

He continued:

"The Ploesti refining system, with a capacity of some 9,600,000 tons annually, has been supplying more than 30 per cent of Germany's needs. The low level attack on Aug. 1, 1943 seriously interrupted the output for some months, but prior to the recent attacks by M.A.A.F. units major plants had been restored to full production, a handful of minor plants remaining inactive."

The M.A.A.F. commander continued: "With German mechanized might highly dependent on Romanian oil, destruction of refining facilities which handle more than 90 per cent of Romanian crude production no doubt will have an immediate adverse effect, on the Nazi war front.

"Seven of the important Ploesti area refineries are concentrated around the extensive marshalling yards system serving the city. Three of the largest are so severely damaged that it will be months before they may be restored to production, while a fourth, Steaua Romania, at Campina, 19 miles northwest of Ploesti, is also severely damaged."

Gen. Eaker asserted that the air offensive disrupted Balkan communications "at a time when the enemy has been preparing desperately to meet the expected Russian drive to the Bucharest plain."

He said that in six weeks the M.A.A.F. dropped more than 14,000 tons of bombs on Balkan targets and "demonstrated graphically the effective manner in which Italy-based bombers are able to assist the Russian army."

Huns Sets Up Super Gestapo

Aimed At Curbing French Underground

LONDON, May 8 — (AP) — The Germans, anticipating invasion within three weeks, have created an elaborate super-Gestapo in western Europe with lists of political unreliables and prominent individuals marked for summary seizure, an informant with underground connections with Germany said today.

Hitler personally selected for command of this vast police force General Von Woyrsch, son of a German Army Commander in the last war and one of the Nazis' most notorious disciplinarians.

The minute the Allies set foot upon the western shores of Europe, the Germans are said to be all set to begin one of the greatest mass roundups of the war with prospects that firing squads will have their hands full.

The informant said the program calls for the immediate arrest of prominent leaders in various parts of western Europe to be held as hostages and executed in case of hostility by the public.

The Germans are said to be watching Norway as one of the likely invasion points. Headquarters now are in Oslo, but the Germans were reported to have prepared other quarters in Norway for their occupation forces. Stockholm dispatches told of a second German line of defence under construction on Jutland all the way from the east to the west coast.

Hope for Political Peace in India Grows

Compromise On Basis Of War Effort Likely With Gandhi's Release

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Even the thunder of Allied bombs on invasion-tense Europe can't drown out the news from India that with Mohandas Gandhi's release from internment the Indian leaders are hoping to bring him together with the Viceroy in an effort to end the political crisis which has gripped the country for two years.

Upon a settlement of the quarrel stemming from the Nationalists, demand for independence from Britain depends the degree of willing support the Indians will give the Allies in the final all-out drive on Japan. Upon it, too, may hinge the post-war attitude of this vast sub-continent of 400,000,000 people and its neighbors towards the western world.

Gandhi was released from internment last Saturday because of the gravity of his health. Apparently, however, the little Ascetic is displaying the tenacity which is one of his outstanding characteristics and is clinging stubbornly to the life which seemed about to leave him.

There well may be time to get a settlement under way.

When I was in India something over a year ago, great India leaders and competent observers felt that if negotiations could be reopened between the government and the political parties, there might be a compromise effected on the basis of the war effort. The difficulty was that many of the Hindu leaders, including Gandhi, were in prison. The governments, bitterly mindful of the bloodshed which followed the collapse of the negotiations in 1942 over the British offer of Dominion status, declined to release the prisoners. Now Gandhi is out so that he wouldn't become a martyr by dying interned.

Shelve Disputes.

The immediate goal of peace-makers presumably would be a provisional coalition government, in which the Indians would unite with British authorities in an all-out war effort. Disputed political claims could be shelved with the understanding that this was without prejudice to their being raised later. The idea is that if the Indians once succeeded in burying the factional hatchet in the interests of the war, permanent peace might develop rapidly.

Of course the first requisite is a willingness by all hands to compromise. The next and most difficult step would be to get the Hindus and the Moslems to call a truce. Such a reconciliation lies in the hands of two men—Gandhi, who dominates the All-India Congress which is made up largely of Hindus although it claims to be non-sectarian, and Mohamed Ali Jinnah, brilliant leader of the All-India Moslem League.

Strike Inciters Go To Jail

Defence Counsel To File Appeal

THREE RIVERS, Que., May 8 —(CP)—Judge J. A. Metayer today condemned Jean Jodoin and Philip Cutler, American Federation of Labor organizers, to six months in jail on charge of having counselled war workers to strike, to remain on strike and to urge fellow-workers to strike in connection with the last October strike at the nearby Shawinigan Falls plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

Defence counsel said later he would file an appeal on behalf of his clients. He had asked Judge Metayer to fine Jodoin and Cutler instead of condemning them to jail but Crown Prosecutor G. Gauteux objected and the jail sentence was maintained.

In his judgment, Judge Metayer said that evidence submitted during the trial, started late last fall, proved in his opinion that the accused had incited workers to strike. He declined to take into consideration legal objections made by defence counsel during the hearings.

Jodoin and Cutler, who are both of Montreal, testified during their trial that they had counselled the strikers to remain "calm and moderate."

Senator W. A. Buchanan Describes Alberta's Natural Resources

A strong plea for Canadian unity was voiced by Senator W. A. Buchanan of Lethbridge, president of The Canadian Press, in addressing the Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon Monday. Senator Buchanan who began his newspaper career in Peterborough as a member of the staff of The Examiner declared that only in such unity lay the hope for the future of this country.

"If the nine provinces of Canada work together as nine brothers, there will be no need to worry about the future of Peterborough or Ontario or the Dominion as a whole," the speaker stated.

Along with an informative review of the resources of Alberta and the possibilities of that province becoming a great industrial area, Senator Buchanan brought an encouraging report from the West generally.

Getting Back On Its Feet

"The West is beginning to get back on its feet again," declared the Lethbridge senator, pointing out that the private debtor in the Western provinces was determined to meet his obligations. As proof of that fact he stated that the mortgage debt of Manitoba had been reduced by 37 p.. cent in the period between 1936 and the end of 1943, the mortgage debt of Saskatchewan, hardest-hit of the three provinces by 16 per cent and of Alberta in the same period by 30 per cent.

Insurance companies had informed him that this trend was being followed again this year with payments so far in 1944 50 per cent higher than in the same period a year ago.

Senator Buchanan prefaced his main address by referring to his early days in Peterborough. "The memories I retain of this city are among the happiest of my career," the speaker stated. He expressed regret that many of the friends he made here during the period between 1893 and 1899 had passed on. "The physical aspect of the city, especially in this area," he said, "has not changed greatly. You still have the same old City Hall and the same old Post Office and the same old Custom House. You also have the same old Market Square, and I remember that the first boarding-house I ever stayed in was situated on Water Street facing that square."

Resources of Alberta.

Discussing the resources of Alberta, Senator Buchanan dealt with the coal and oil situation in that province, as foundation for the prediction that Alberta would eventually become a great industrial province. He quoted Professor Griffith Thomas of Toronto University as saying that Southern Alberta was destined to become one of the densest industrial areas in the Dominion. As science developed more uses for coal, a product already used in manufacturing silk stockings, gasoline, sulfa drugs and other things the vast coal resources of Alberta, the speaker said, would be increasingly valuable.

Alberta, Senator Buchanan stated, had 14 per cent of the world's coal reserve, 21 per cent of the coal reserve of the North American Continent, 72 per cent of the reserve of the British Empire, and 87 per cent of the available supply in Canada. The potential supply in Alberta, he said, was 40 billion tons, with 20 million immediately mineable.

Oil Resources

As for the oil outlook Senator Buchanan declared that once scientists found a way of extracting the oil from the tar sands of Northern Alberta that province would become one of the greatest oil-producing centres of the world. The potential supply of oil from the tar sands had been estimated as 100 million barrels.

Alberta, too, he said, because of the spread of irrigation had developed a sugar beet industry that produced 80 million pounds of sugar and a canning industry that was developing steadily in importance.

The speaker paid an eloquent tribute to the part played by the Western provinces in Canada's war effort and to the loyalty of new Canadians. Lethbridge, he pointed out, although it had no big industries had gone over the top in its Victory Loan drive in four days and had passed its second objective several days later.

Senator Buchanna was introduced by Senator J. J. Duffus who referred to the speaker's early connection with Peterborough and the vote of thanks was moved by Rotarian C. S. Cummer.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, city medical officer of health, was introduced as the baby member of the Peterborough Rotary Club, with the honors being done by Rotarian Al Gibbs.

Rotarian Harland Keefer presented the bowling prizes to the winners in Rotary League, Black's team taking first place and Roy Girven's team second. High average was won by Max Comstock with 208 and Ward Smith took second place with 197.

Small Millbrook Pool Anglers' Paradise

J. Arnott Catches Four-pound Trout

The little pool behind Millbrook rewarded its angling visitors this past weekend with some very fine brook trout catches, and at least two people who chose it as the spot to cast their lines came home more than satisfied with the results. The prize of the lot, a beauty measuring 20 inches and weighing a fraction under four lbs., was brought in by John T. Arnott, 136 Sophia street.

Mr. Arnott, using a Dusty Miller fly for his lure, caught the fish early Sunday afternoon, and soon fond that he had tied into the largest brook trout in his extensive career as a fisherman. It was not the only luck he had either, as he hauled in another one, 16½ inches long and weighing 2 lbs., in the same place.

A companion on the trip, O. J. Hayward, 195 O'Carroll street, had a catch of three trout, all of them sizable and the biggest one about 1½ lbs.

"I have never seen such consistently big catches as we got Sunday afternoon," Mr. Arnott said. "Each trout that we brought in was a really sizable fish."

Lady Luck also smiled on two boys who picked the same pool Saturday afternoon to do their fishing. They were Clayton Selkirk, 716 Bethune, and Donald Payne, 592 Water street. Their catches included brook trout measuring about 16½ inches and 15 inches, the first of which weighed approximately 2½ lbs. and the latter around 1½ lbs.

back in Cairo like me with nice clean sheets and some beer on ice . . . but I guess you're just suckers . . . you probably don't know enough to offer to trade me."

Rattle said this kind of kidding from the Chief was appreciated.

"We knew he was closer to us than anybody," said Rattle. "He just covered up what he was really thinking with that kind of treatment and we understood his motive. I would follow that guy to Berlin any day."

Beurling left the train at Montreal to visit his parents and will continue to Ottawa to-day. He is back in Canada to teach his deadly deflection gunnery skill to fledgling fighter pilots, but no announcement has been made as to which station he will be posted.

Houle also was aided in telling the story by Flt. Lt. Grant Aitchison, Elora, Ont.

He told how assembly of outdated planes in the battle against Rommel's men were loaded down with bombs and of how they flew continuously over the Germans and Italians until they were stopped in their tracks.

"When the time came we had exactly 250 bombs left." Houle recalled.

Rolled 'Em Out.

Rattle said that one type of aircraft called into service at that time was the heavy bomber, "an old crate from away back" He added with a chuckle:

"The boys used to line up their bombs along the floor and when they were over the target they would open a back door, nose the plane up slightly and the bombs would roll out. No sir, they didn't have any fancy bomb sights and everybody used to laugh when the bomb aimer would yell very officially, but with little confidence, 'Bombs gone Sir.'"

The aimer would then heave over an empty bottle which would whine earthward with the noise of a blockbuster.

Flt. Lt. Aitchison said that when Rommel's Germans retreated they abandoned a new Heinkel bomber which the Kittyhawk squadron expropriated.

"We used it to haul beer from Cairo and she could carry about three tons, said rattle. "This was swell because water was often scarce and we didn't mind using the beer to shave with and sometimes to wash in.'

Both Rattle and Aitchison have been shot down three times and Aitchison said his total didn't include "the Hurricane." Rattle's last brush was almost fatal. He crashed into the sea during the Sicilian campaign and was captured by Italian soldiers. Friction was sharp between Germans and Italians at this stage and he just escaped being shot by the Germans.

Huns Shot Italians

The Italian officer who took him in charge wanted to turn him over to the Germans. At the same time a German officer came up and demanded the use of Italian transport.

"The Italian refused and while I stood there, the German calmly pulled out his pistol and shot his ally," said Rattle.

"Then he turned to me and my knees shook. He twirled the pistol on his fingers and when I argued that International agreement gave me the right to refuse to answer his questions, he told me he wasn't wasting any time on prisoners and that he'd have to shoot me.

"Just then a dispath rider thumped on the door and the German went into the other room. I turned on the other Italians and told them they were a pretty yellow bunch if they'd let the Germans shoot their officers and take over their prisoners. They went into a huddle and in a few seconds led me to safety."

Rattle said he stayed with the Italians moving along with the retreat until one night the party was shot up "by my own squadron."

"Boy, could they strafe," he said. "They almost got me too."

The strafing gave Rattle an opportunity to escape, but en route to the 8th Army lines some of his Italian captors caught up with him and begged to be allowed to go along as prisoners.

Carrier Planes Hit Two Convoys

LONDON, May 8 — (CP) — Carrier-borne planes of the Royal Navy pounced on two German convoys off Norway Saturday, sinking one and possibly two supply ships and damaging three other vessels, the Admiralty announced today, while French crews in an English Channel battle early today probably sank two other Nazi ships.

Barracudas of the Fleet Air Arm struck the southbound convoys off Kristiansund, south of Trondheim, sending a medium-sized supply ship down with bomb and torpedo hits, and breaking a large, heavily-loaded supply vessel in two. Two torpedoes hit a tanker, an escort vessel was bombed, and a small supply ship was damaged by near misses, a communique said.

Two intercepting German planes were shot down and two British aircraft were lost.

Unions Rally To Aid Strikers

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINDSOR, May 8—(CP). — Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor probably will announce today that the next step toward settlement of the work stoppage at the Ford Motor Company of Canada plant will be consideration of the dispute at a meeting of the National Wartime Labor Relations Board in Ottawa.

This was reported this morning after an official statement last night said that Mr. Justice O'Connor—chairman of the board—would make some specific announcement today.

Meanwhile Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) which is involved in the dispute took steps to provide assistance for needy members.

An official announcement from the Board last night—third to be issued in 24 hours—reviewed the series of conferences which had been held during the day and said "it is anticipated" that a specific announcement as to the next step would be made to-day.

None of the statements made any reference to a proposal for dealing with grievance procedure in the plant which Conciliator Bernard Rose of Montreal mentioned last week had been prepared for possible submission to the company and the union. However it was learned that no details as to arrangements for grievance procedure were discussed at any of the conferences with union or company representatives.

Saturday Mr. Justic O'Connor conferred in turn with Mr. J. L. Cohen, U.A.W. counsel, and three Ford officials—President Wallace R. Campbell, W. H. Clark, personnel director, and J. B. Aylesworth, solicitor.

Yesterday morning he received the viewpoint of the employees in the dispute from George Burt, Canadian director of the U.A.W., Roy England, local 200 president, Thomas MacLean, U.A.W. international representative, and Mr. Cohen. In the afternoon he conferred again with Mr. Campbell.

A Union spokesman said last night an appeal has been made to all U.A.W., C.I.O. and Canadian Congress of Labor Unions in Canada for financial assistance. The spokesman described the move as a mobilization "of all our resources in the event no early settlement is reached." He said the Local 200 strike committee at a meeting yesterday set up a relief organization and named a strike finance committee.

Drought In The West

Last Wednesday Senator W. A. Buchanan said in the Senate that "he never knew a crop year that had as dark an outlook at this time, especially in parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan". This warning comes from a man who is not accustomed to look on the dark side of things, but who knows the West as well as he knows the palm of his hand.

If we have a bad wheat crop this year—a crop as bad as Senator Buchanan's statement leads us to expect—we may face an extremely serious situation. We had a dry autumn, and a bright, sunny winter during which little snow fell over great stretches of our western wheat lands. Spring rains there have been scant. The lookout for the wheat and coarse grain crops is poor. Inevitably this will affect our whole Canadian livestock feed situation and that of the U.S. as well. As this continent is the mainstay of the world's larder at present a crop failure will be a disaster not only for us but for millions of Europeans.

The U.N.R.R.A. has given an undertaking (which has the approval of the Canadian Parliament) that the starving millions of Europe will be fed as soon as an armistice is signed. Our consent was necessary, because U.N.R.R.A. depends heavily on our wheat surplus to do the job. Experts of the bureaux of economic warfare tell us that unless we can send enormous quantities of food to Europe within two years, we may expect a tenth of the population of that continent—approximately thirty millions—to die of starvation. If, owing to crop failure, we have not the wheat which will be needed, the consequences will be terrible, and we may expect famine and pestilence to create a horror in Europe even greater than that of war.

It is impossible to suggest any way of averting such a disaster. It is not out of the question, however, that a form of rationing might be introduced to make our stock of grain go as far as possible.

Ethics And Etiquette

Mrs. Emily Post, who has been known for many years as an authority on etiquette and a ready writer on that subject, has declared that etiquette and ethics are inseparable, and that both are fundamentals of education. She suggests that etiquette should be taught in elementary schools by qualified teachers. She has no patience with people who "associate crudeness with strength and overlook the fact that lack of cultivated speech and of social polish is actually a lack of elementary education".

Mrs. Post's ideas are shared by the educators of Soviet Russia. In the schools of that country children are taught to be polite and easy in manner in regular classes. The Soviet takes special care of its children, and solemnly announces that it means to give them better manners than their parents, better manners even than the aristocrats of the old regime.

Now what does Mrs. Post mean? Is she suggesting instruction in the use of the right fork and the accepted manner of peeling a grape? No, she is not. By etiquette she makes it clear that she means care for the feelings of others, graciousness of bearing, modesty, respect for elders and the qualities which the Chinese conveniently lump together under "proper feeling".

Is anybody ready to say that Mrs. Post is wrong? At present most school teachers do their best to improve the manners of their pupils, when improvement is needed, but they have to do so in odd moments of the day when opportunity crops up; they have no fixed time for such instruction, and no recognized authority to pursue it.

Premier Drew has said that he means to revise several aspects of our Ontario educational system, and he has dropped a few hints which lead us to believe that he and Mrs. Post are not far apart in their views. If he chooses to lay more stress on the teaching of manners in the public schools—the separate schools have long given a lead in this matter—we think that he would be supported by the majority of parents. After all, we would not like the Russians in the post-war world to refer to us as "diamonds in the rough".

A National Library

In the midst of war discussions continue about the advisabilty of establishing a National Library for Canada. This is not as peculiar as it might seem; during wars a nation's pride—its sense of nationhood—receives new impetus, and it turns its mind to projects which will give adequate expression to that sense of nationhood.

The Canadian Association for Adult Education has recently published a pamphlet in which the Librarian of the University of Manitoba, Miss Elizabeth Dafoe, puts forward the case for the National Library with great clarity and persuasiveness. This is not the first book of its kind; pleas for a national library have been put forward in Canada for thirty years and more, but so far nothing has been done about it. The proposal has the support of a great number of influential people, and of several newspapers. For instance, this is what the Kingston Whig-Standard has to say on the matter:

"Miss Dafoe's arguments lost nothing of their forcefulness by her ready recognition of the fact that library service in general is not in a healthy state in Canada. She points to the need for more public libraries in smaller communities, and the very great need of co-ordinated library systems which will serve rural districts. But Miss Dafoe suggests that it is both possible and desirable to add to the number of smaller libraries and at the same time establish a national library.

"Canada is one of the few countries of the world which possesses no national library. All the republics of South America consider national libraries a necessity, and even the smaller nations of Europe have their national libraries. Canadian students, past and present, have been handicapped by lack of a national library in this country, and Miss Dafoe pertinently asks if we intend to penalize students of the future by our apathy regarding the establishment of such an institution.

"A national library has two fundamental purposes. Its primary aim is to collect all books or pamphlets published in the country or relating to it. Usually it receives one or two free copies of every book printed or copyrighted in the country. In addition, it should have funds to purchase old books issued before the library was established, as well as books relating to the country but published beyond its borders. If funds are sufficient, other books may be added. The second duty of a national library is to make its collection available to the serious students of the country.

"Such an institution would make an important contribution to Canadian culture and education. We can have no complete history of the different trends of public thought, public likes and dislikes, or of manners, morals and habits, unless we have a complete collection of all the country's writings. Such a collection could only be made by a national library".

For years the Library of Parliament has been seriously overcrowded with just the sort of material which should find its home in a National Library. If a forward step were taken, there would probably not be much difficulty in persuading the parliamentary authorities to make over a large part of this surplus to the National Library, and in the course of twenty years or so the collection would be enriched by purchases, and by gifts from Canadian collectors.

For several decades we have boasted of Canada's youth. In point of fact this is not a young country any longer; we can count three full centuries of crowded history, and it is high time that we began collecting all the relevant documents for that long and eventful period. A National Library and a group of able scholars to run it is a cultural necessity for Canada, and it should be put well toward the top of our list of national post-war projects.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There's no fun like work. But some people never see the joke.

"The furnace is a faithful servant, but it's always good to shut the door on it for, one hopes, four or five months"—thus the placid Ottawa Journal. We parted from ours with curses and kicks, and it is now getting rusty, from spite.

Speaking in the West last winter, Mr. M. J. Coldwell predicted that by April 1 of this year 100,000 jobless men would be roaming the streets. We should like to report that none of these unfortunates have yet appeared in Peterborough.

Referring to the recent plane-crash in Montreal, which killed several people as well as the crew, the Ottawa Citizen makes the very sensible suggestion that planes should be restrained from flying over towns and cities; then, if there is an accident, the minimum of people will suffer.

Some bright lad has discovered that a phrase very like Mr. Churchill's famous declaration that "never had so many owed so much to so few" is to be found in Plutarch's Life of Pelopidas, and he asks whether the British P.M. pinched it from that source. This fellow suffers from the delusion that a good idea must be new; it doesn't—it just has to be good.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

IT was sunny April at the end of the month and any grain in the ground will make rapid growth. Early seeding seems to grow more important as the real value of hay as a crop is appreciated. The hay will be on us almost before the seeding is completed. Corn, mangolds and turnips are planted early in recent years and farmers find it profitable to do this. Swede turnips have come to be a cash crop in many localities and, if the sale is not too good, young cattle will make a good market for them. Having more than one market for the produce of the farm is often highly important and a crop that makes good feed for the beasts on the farm is a fine alternative when it cannot be directly turned into cash.

The hay crop on most farms was never more highly valued than it is today. This is even true in England where a compulsory ploughing-up policy was hailed by most people as the one way to produce food to avoid a famine, and it did the job remarkably well; but the ploughing of meadows and pastures has impressed the people more than ever with the "universal beneficence" of grass. The result is that good hay fields and permanent pasture are valued by English farmers as they never were before.

In Ontario, it is just fifty-fours years since I heard it urged at meetings of Farmers' Institutes that hay should be cut much earlier. We hadn't learned much about vitamins in those days, and I even heard farmers complain how quickly the cattle would eat up early cut hay, and their problem seemed to be rather how to make the mow last out until the grass came, rather than to get the best food value out of their hay crop to make the young beasts grow. Alfalfa, with its two or three crops in a season, has done more than any one thing to popularize the early cutting and harvesting of green, nutritious hay. Today, the full value of the hay crop is well realized, and pastures are planted for their grazing results; so one of the problems that faces the farmer is to plan how he can get at the hay crop early enough. One flower in an alfalfa field is a danger signal warning that you must hustle or you are too late to save the best of your hay.

Pastures fields are being clipped with mowers to prevent both the grass and weeds going to seed, and this thickens the leafy part of the herbage. This will be more important when we get seed of the more leafy varieties of grasses developed in England since the war began. This practice of "mowing" pastures has been carried on in Kentucky with their fields of blue grass over a period of years, and is a farm practice considered very important.

AN Ontario Farm Journal has made a suggestion that the Ontario Hog Producers should re-organize by handing over their organization to the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. This is, of course, a matter for discussion upon which a number of views are held, but I am bound to say I do not agree with such a proposal. The Ontario Hog Producers' Association was organized with a view to improving the marketing of pigs. Who could deal with this better than the people who have the pigs to market? The Ontario Federation of Agriculture is doubtless a useful institution, but that it should take over the marketing of all products is rather a large order. It is alright to talk about the surveying of the whole field of livestock marketing, but better results could surely be obtained by having these matters managed by those who have the goods for sale.

The marketing of asparagus was undertaken by a group of those growing this vegetable. They adopted some methods I would hardly agree with, but who will deny that they did a good job, and who thinks it would have been done better under a wider and all-embracing marketing scheme?

The Cheese Producers' Association did effectual work and are still doing it. They never got anywhere when they were endeavoring to organize under the Dominion Marketing Act. This large organization never seemed to reach the Cheese Producers' Association, or give the assistance they had virtually promised. This association then came to me in the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and all it needed was a leg-up, and it has done a good job since.

Pigs are no different and need the personal attention of the people who have them for sale. A packing-plant of any considerable size has separate buyers for pigs and cattle. These are two vastly different products, and I am all in favour of the Hog Producers doing their own job; and all these organizations should be financed, once they get started, by commissions collected from the people who use them. This is a payment for service and should be paid by those who are served.

I see it suggested that the Ontario Hog Producers' Association has not been able to present a scheme acceptable to the Ontario Government or the Ontario Agricultural Commission of Inquiry. I have no knowledge of "what is not acceptable," but I should not think this organization wants any favors and feel sure it can take care of itself.

THE winter wheat crop of the United States is estimated at a little over 600 million bushels for the harvest of 1944. This will be just about 75 million bushels over the harvest of 1943. At the moment the United States is contemplating the purchase of corn from the Argentine to increase the feed supply in the United States. Corn, to the United States, sounds very much like the time-honoured comment, "taking coals to Newcastle."

The production of corn in the Argentine for this year is now placed at almost 360 million bushels, which is about 4½ times the crop of last year. The Argentine Government is setting aside 100 million bushels—part last year's, and part this year's crop—for fuel. There is about a 20 per cent reduction in the wheat crop of Eire, and the Government of this part of Ireland is negotiating with the United States for the purchase of two cargoes of wheat for bread.

A BORDER farmer in Britain marketed 50 steers about March 20. They were all home-bred beasts, Shorthorn Angus crosses, and the ten tops averaged 1620 lbs. They were all graded "super" and made an average price of $242.00. Farmers in the Border Country are quite skilful in making the best of cattle and sheep. This lot was finished on the farm on which they were bred, and their fattening ration consisted mostly of turnips and good hay. This farmer says he prefers "good" hay to concentrates.

THE month of May started for seeding. I have seldom seen so many teams and tractors in the fields, nor the land in better condition for getting on with the work.

BIG CHIEF INVASION WORRY —By Rube Goldberg

Britain Fights Inflation

(MONTREAL STAR)

EVER since the war began the nations fighting it have had to wage battles on two fronts, one at home and one abroad. At home the most important, if not the most spectacular, struggle has been to stave off inflation. How well we have succeeded in Canada everyone knows. Our system of controls has become a model for other countries.

The Canadian problem, however, is not as great as that of Britain or the United States, although the method by which we have solved it can be applied to the more complicated economic structures of these larger countries. Both have succeeded in a measure. Certainly by comparison with the last war, both countries have enjoyed relative economic stability.

Yet the struggle is not ended. Today in the British House the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Anderson, expressed his fear that it may not be possible to hold the cost-of-living figures where they are today. "I am disturbed," he said with reference to the need for stabilization expenditures, "at the trend of these figures. I am afraid we can no longer regard the cost of living figures of 25 to 30 per cent above pre-war as sacrosanct."

That expression of fear is accompanied by the further statement that while the Government intend to maintain the stabilization policy so long as the public co-operates, it will be necessary to permit a rise of ten per cent in the index figure. The Government had hoped to maintain this at between 25 and 30 per cent above pre-war figure; now the figures of 30 to 35 per cent should be substituted.

In this picture, in Britain as in Canada, wages are a complicating factor. Sir John Anderson does not attribute economic difficulties to any one cause, but he does state that wage rates have risen eleven per cent more than the cost of living to date. That is a revealing statement, for it has been made clear here and elsewhere that any inordinate rise in wages must at some time be reflected in a rise in prices unless increased subsidies are resorted to.

Only by a heavy subsidization program has it been possible to keep the British index at a reasonable figure, but the Chancellor frankly declared that the Government was having difficulty keeping it within bounds. Indeed, his added statement that the index range must be increased to between 30 and 35 per cent above the pre-war figure makes the immediate difficulties appear insurmountable.

In the wider field of war and domestic financing the Chancellor of the Exchequer was able to announce a prospective deficit only slightly larger than the actual deficit for last year. That the financial position is on the whole sound is indicated by the heartening statement to increase taxation. How high taxation already stands is clear from the Chancellor's assertion that revenue from this source will cover fifty-two per cent of total expenditure, a somewhat higher percentage than before.

Taxation by means represents the complete cost of the war to the British people. The difficulties surmounted now will increase later. Sir John Anderson was at some pains to be blunt, to make the people of Britain realize that they have not yet paid the full cost of war. The general burden of taxation will have to remain, he said, for some time after hostilities cease because Britain will have emerged from the war "gravely weakened" financially and at a time when some of her Allies will have been strengthened by the very fact of Britain's need in the earlier days when she stood alone. It is a sobering picture but it will detract nothing from British determination to see this thing through to the end or from the buoyant hope with which they discuss their social and economic future.

That Lost Legion

(WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

THE myth of the "Lost Legion" persists. Each year from the opposition benches in the House of Commons comes the statement that the draft law is not being properly enforced, that the mobilization branch of the Department of Labour is inefficient, incompetent or playing politics, and that a vast number of men who should be in uniform have escaped or avoided the service they should be doing.

We hold no brief in defence of the machinery of mobilization in this country. The task is a difficult one, but, to an outsider, it does not appear to be particularly efficient in shape. Part of the fault doubtless is administrative. Part of it is due to the reluctance or carelessness of the men in the mobilizable age categories. It is quite likely that sharper regimentation and punishment might correct this latter fault though whether the temper of the country would stand for much more of it we do not know.

What is important is only whether very large numbers of men are evading the draft or not. The charges this year are impressive. Mr. Noseworthy of the C.C.F. said that 700,000 men were "lost." Mr. Diefenbaker of the Conservative party claimed first of all 390,000 men missing and later revised his total to 360,000. As Mr. Noseworthy did not document his case, we may presume that he, like his own missing men, is lost and looking for proof. Mr. Noseworthy thus joins the Lost Legion himself. Mr. Diefenbaker, on the other hand, presented his proof, such as it is. He bases his estimate on a return tabled in the House on April 27, 1944 which showed that 1,449,417 men had been sent medical notices and that only 979,569 had responded. This difference, allowing for a deduction of 71,545 men who are known to have enlisted on receipt of medical notices, leaves about 390,006 men "missing."

It is obviously difficult to trace, through records, the activities of each man who receives a medical notice, especially when many men ignore the notices and promptly join up. But if Mr. Diefenbaker had read the statements made concerning the interpretation of the return on which he bases his fantastic claim, he would perhaps have been less likely to plunge in only to find he was all wet. The difference between the number of men to whom medical notices have been sent and the number who responded was explained in reference to an earlier return of June 23, 1943, at which time the discrepancy amounted to 380,000 men. It was then stated:

"The difference....is accounted for by notices undelivered, by men who joined the forces voluntarily either before or on receiving notices, by men sent notices to whom the regulations do not apply, and some defaulters."

The Minister of Labour stands by his statement that only 49,001 men are now not accounted for, and these, he believes, are not all defaulters. Without much better proof than that produced by Mr. Diefenbaker, his charges can be ignored. He does neither himself nor his party much good by producing so flimsy a case.

Minimum Salary for Ministers

The Hamilton and London Synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has taken a step which, we believe, should be copied by all governing bodies of churches in the Dominion. It has authorized a minimum salary of $1,700 for ministers within the synod's jurisdiction. It was pointed out in the motion to the amendment that some ministers in self-supporting charges were receiving as little as $1,600.

There are many ministers in Canada who receive less than $1,600 annually, and it is decidedly unfair to expect these men to carry on in their profession under such conditions. A minister spends many years in preparation and education for a career. When he embarks upon that career, many things are required of him—material contributions to causes of every description. He has a certain standard of living which must be adhered to, lest he bring discredit upon his profession. And all too often he is asked to do these things, in addition to keeping himself and his family fed and clothed, upon a pitifully inadequate salary.

This injustice should be corrected without further delay. The setting of a minimum salary is a step in the right direction—but only a step. There is plenty of room for revision of salaries in many cases where better than the minimum is now paid. The demands upon a minister increase correspondingly with the size of the parish; it is only fair, if a minister is expected to meet these demands, that he be furnished with the wherewithal to do so. One church synod has shown an awareness of the problem and takes steps to remove it; the sooner others follow its example, the sooner we shall see a social injustice removed.

WHY JUST THE FARMS?

We note some people, especially those of a certain political stripe, who are arguing that the individual farm as we have it today, is not efficient, and that collective farms would be better. Well, how about collective stores, collective filling stations, collective repair depots? If efficiency is all we seek, and if the family and the family farm are to go out the window, then we can prepare for tremendous changes in the future.—Lethbridge Herald.

A Bible Message

Then they that feared the Lord spake often one to another: and the Lord hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his name. And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him. (Mal. 3: 16, 17.)

Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him: fret not thyself because of him who prospereth in his way, because of the man who bringeth wicked devices to pass.... For yet a little while, and the wicked shall not be: yea, thou shalt diligently consider his place, and it shall not be....

The Lord knoweth the days of the upright: and their inheritance shall be for ever. (Ps. 37: 7, 10, 18.)

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time....

Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ. (I Pet. 1: 3-5, 13.)

"Sure, it is that," replied Mrs. Flanagan.

"Then 'tis yourself that can be snapping your fingers at him," the mate responded cheerfully.

"You can please yourself," replied the vicar. "But, of course, fresh banns must be published."

"Ah!" A pause. "But, vicar, I paid 'ee half-a-crown for putting up those banns. Shall I have to pay another half-crown?"

"Of course you will."

Children's Aid Work Increases

PORT HOPE, May 8—(ENS)—War-time problems created considerable extra work for the Northumberland and Durham Children's Aid Society, it was revealed at the annual meeting held here. Honorable Dr. R. P. Vivian, Minister of Health and Public Welfare for Ontario, was the guest speaker, and he complimented the members of the Society for their fine efforts during the past year.

The report of the superintendent, A. B. Finnie, pointed out that in the fifth year of the war, the problems of the Children's Aid Society are ever on the increase, not only in numbers but also more severe and complicated in their nature and more difficult of solution. During the past year some 381 families had been dealt with, involving 600 children and of these there were 44 admitted to the care of the Society. Of the 44, only 19 children became temporary wards and seven of these have since been returned.

Work in connection with children of unmarried parents included the planning for care and re-establishing of the unmarried mother and her child. Where the mother was not in a position to continue care for the child, provision was made either through adoption or foster home care. The number of new cases in connection with unmarried parents totalled 28. Thirty-four cases were disposed of, including new and standing cases.

135 Investigations

The superintendent dwelt also on work on behalf of the Dependents Board of Trustees, numbering 136 investigations and also work on behalf of the Dependent's Allowance Board.

Other reports were given by the president, Rev. N. S. McKechnie; Dr. H. W. Benson, M.D.; Mrs. Ethel Hodgert, child care supervisor; Miss M. Ferguson, matron of the Shelter and T. P. Croshwait, chairman of the finance committee.

The financial statement showed receipts of $24,748 and a deficit of $123.58. Officers elected for the coming year were as follows.

Honorary president—Hon. Dr. R. P. Vivian; honorary vice-president, Warden L. E. Kelley; honorary directors, Mrs. F. Philp, Mrs. E. Edgar, Mrs. A. George and D. C. White; president, Rev. N. S. McKechnie; vice-presidents, Mrs. C. Roberts, E. P. Sanders and Rev. S. D. 127,000 Planes Produced In One Year

SHEFFIELD, May 8 (CP) — The United States, Britain and the rest of the British Empire turned out planes at a clip of 14½ every hour—127,000 for the year—A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, disclosed today.

Britain averaged 2½ aircraft, 1½ army guns, more than 4,000 rounds of army gun ammunition and more than 180,000 rounds of small arms ammunition every hour of every day since the war began, he said.

In addition to the 14½ aircraft an hour for the United States, Britain and the Empire in 1943, they collectively produced nine army guns, nearly 106,000 rounds of army gun ammunition and nearly 3,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition every 60 minutes, the Admiralty chief said.

The Royal Navy lost two cruisers, six destroyers, four minesweepers and a submarine while convoying millions of tons of war cargo to Russia, but the material went far in bridging the gap in Russian production created by the overrunning of a considerable portion of industrial areas by the Nazis, Alexander reported.

Memorial Service Is Held For Staff Sgt. G. Richardson

WARKWORTH, May 8 (ENS) — Memorial Service in honor of the late Staff Sgt. Garnet Cecil Richardson was held Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's United Church where a large number of friends and relatives gathered to pay their tribute. There were also present members of the Campbellford Branch of the Canadian Legion No. 103 and the Midland Reserve Unit.

Those forming the guard of honor were Sgt. R. Higham, Sgt W. Henderson, Cpl. R. Finch, Cpl. W. Jones, Cpl. D. Russell, Cpl. C. H. Shaw, Pte. J. Richardson, Pte. H. J. Adams, Gnr. Douglas Edgar, Pte. Alvin Cornelius, LAC Raymond Dudley, and LAC Eldon Ewing, the first eight being members of the First Midland Regiment the original unit to which S. Sgt. Richardson belonged.

The altar was decorated with beautiful flowers and on the table draped with Union Jack was the photo of Garnet Richardson framed in everygreens and small Union Jack flags.

Prayers were offered by Rev. A. F. Ball of Free Methodist Church and Rev. J. R. R Cooper. The scripture lesson taken from the thirty first chapter of Revelations was read by Rev W. J. Lennon, Campbellford.

Misses Margaret and Clarice Atkinson, Messrs. Warren and Ambrose Atkinson sank two quartettes "God Understands," and "O Land of Love."

William Goodfellow, M.P.P., Rev. W. J. Lennon, Morley E. Smith, principal of Warkworth Public school and Major N. A. McColl, Campbellford spoke in highest terms of the young soldier as a boy, a student and soldier and also expressing deepest sympathy to his family.

In September, 1939, Garnet Richardson volunteered for active service and he spent a year at the R. C. A. F. Station, Trenton, on special guard duty. From there he was transferred to several posts, Lansdowne Park, Ottawa, St. Johns, N. B., Niagara-on-the-Lake, and was one of the N. C. O.'s chosen for a special gunnery course at Long Branch rifle range. He had the highest honours in this course. After serving in the west, he volunteered for the First Special Service Force Paratroopers, U. S. A. Army. The men chosen weer sent to Helena, Montana, for further training. Leaving this point he was given a special course at Norfolk, Virgina and he later transferred to Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont. His company was then assigned to the duty of invading Kiska.

After some time his company was transferred for overseas duty in North Africa. From there they were dropped over enemy territory in Italy. This landing cost the lives of his cousin, Keith Richardson and a number of his comrades. From his letters it was understood bitter fighting was experienced between December 15 and 25, 1943.

Praised by Officers.

After spending a short time in hospital in Italy he rejoined his units on January 3, 1944 and from that time saw bitter figthing until February 9, when he was killed. A letter received by his family from the Brigadier General of the U. S. A. stated Garnet successfully led his men against the enemy, his courage and devotion for his men being excellent. His company felt they had lost a valuable officer in his death.

On his twenty second birthday which was November 27, 1943, he was ordered to the Colonel's office where he was informed that he was a confirmed sergeant, meaning he would never be converted to a lower rank. This achievement meant he had won distinction on the battlefield.

Littel can be told of the activities of his company and his main concern was over the safety of his brother Gordon who is now serving in Italy. He mentioned in his last letter written January 29, 1944, that his main thoughts before going into battle were of his loved ones at home and not his safety.

Youngest Son.

He is the youngest son of Mrs. Richardson and the late Dan Richardson, whose death was the result of wounds received in the First World War. He was born in Campbellford November 27, 1921 but most of his life had been spent in this community. He received his education at Warkworth Public School, Kingston Public School and a Vocational School in Toronto.

Besides his sorrowing mother, Mrs. Violet Richardson, lately of Peterborough, he is survived by one sister, (Dorothea) Mrs. Elmer Treen and two brothers, Gordon serving in Italy and Stewart of Peterborough. Among those from a distance attending the service were a cousin, Mrs. Lila Cormier, Midland; Mrs. Esther Ross and Mrs. J. Sheridan, Whitby; Mrs. R. Hesmond, Mr. and Mrs. James DeFinney and daughter, Mrs. A. Feeley and sons, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Greenly, Havelock; Mrs. Sid Seaborn, Miss Alice Richardson, Jim Richardson, Campbellford.

THANK YOU CANADA
. . . but there's still a WAR JOB to do!

OFFICE OF THE MINISTER CANADA
DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL WAR SERVICES

To my fellow Canadians:-

You the citizens of Canada and members of the Voluntary Salvage Committees and many other Voluntary War Workers have done an excellent war job.

Canada, in doing her part to help win the war, has been greatly assisted by your voluntary and unselfish devotion to the important duty of saving and turning in the essential war materials. You have backed up the boys overseas and your activities have been a material factor in turning the tide of battle against the enemy. When Canada's stock piles have been dangerously low, you have discovered, saved, and salvaged waste material which has been turned into weapons, ammunition, explosives and containers. Your Salvage Campaigns have been Nation-Wide and of National importance. Your job has been a big one which you have nobly performed.

When at war the past is the past and we must look to the future. Again I appeal to you!

There is another National war emergency which must be met and overcome. Experts on the matter have assured me that there is a critical shortage of Waste Paper and that the situation is desperate. War supplies must reach our Fighting Forces who will use them against the enemy. War supplies must be safely packed. As we march on nearer to the enemy more supplies are required by our Fighting Men. More - much more Waste Paper is wanted now.

Paperboard mills are working on a day-to-day basis and some are facing shut-downs because reserve stock supplies of Waste Paper are critically low. From now on every scrap of waste paper is to be saved and turned in to the Nation through regular Waste Paper channels.

Fellow Canadians please help!

Yours sincerely,

L. R. LaFlèche,
Minister, National War Services.

CANADA NEEDS 20,000 TONS OF WASTE PAPER EVERY MONTH

WHAT IS WANTED: You can remedy this critical paper shortage by saving every scrap of Waste Paper, namely: wrapping paper—store bags—cardboard—cartons—corrugated board—old magazines and books—envelopes and letters—newspapers. These represent the raw material for making vitally needed Paper containers.

HOW TO DO IT: Tie securely in separate bundles: (The little time you take will save thousands of man hours.) Then dispose of it through your local voluntary Salvage Committee or other War Voluntary Organization, or sell it through any known trade channels, your pedlar or others. The important thing is to get your Waste Paper moving to the mills.

TORONTO, May 8 — (CP). — Some ambitious plans have been made for the post-war future of hockey, but even the most rosy had to take a back seat to Red Dutton's preview of the N.H.L. in years to come. The league managing director sees extensive use of planes for long hops making possible an 80-game schedule with the double-headers a common attraction. To make this possible, he predicts, team rosters will be boosted to 25 or more—perhaps.

There's no doubt that the fans would take such an idea as a youngster takes to ice-cream, but whether the players will be able to stand it is another matter. Hockey is a lot tougher game physically than baseball, which made the double-header an institution, and unless the line-up was to be completely changed for the second half of the twin bill there would be some mighty tired players on the team.

Even with six forward lines instead of the customary three allowing each man more time on the bench, your hockey player would be well tuckered at the end of a four or five hour stretch scratching about the ice. Then, if Frank Boucher's suggestion for using two goalies a game was adopted, each club would have to dig up four netminders each year, no mean feat in itself.

There's one thing about the idea—and that is it would certainly promote speedier goal-sinking hockey that most fans seem to prefer. But it would be tough on the scorers, who got a taste of it in this year's Memorial Cup finals.

Toronto Takes Honors In Five Pins

TORONTO, May 8 — (CP). — Toronto bowlers copped the lion's share of honors in the Canadian Bowling Association's 18th annual five-pin tournament which came to a close here on Saturday night after two weeks of trundling.

Harry Rubenstein, one of Toronto's top keglers, won the grand aggregate championship with a nine-game total of 2,590. In second spot was O. Hanna of St. Catharines, Ont., with 2,528.

Bennett's trophies with a score of 3,866 gave Toronto the team championship and Tip Top Tailors, also of this city, were runners-up with 3,794.

Toronto's Bill Adams captured the singles title with his three-game total of 967, 20 more than H. Smith, also of this city, who won second-place honors.

The double title went to the Brantford, Ont., pair of Archie Mellenby and Eddie White, with a score of 1,637 rolled late Saturday. They pushed Harry Cockrell and Al Gard of Toronto, early leaders with 1,595, into second place.

Two teams tied for top honors in the mixed doubles event. Lou Poirier of Sudbury and Margaret McGillivray of Toronto, and Dick Luke and Thelma Rothwell, both of Toronto, each registering scores of 1,582.

Only a few Toronto keglers rolled games yesterday and last night as the alleys had been reserved for out-of-town bowlers unable to compete during the week. Representatives from Ottawa, St. Catharines, Timmins, London, Hamilton and other Ontario cities and towns saw action, but were unable to better leaders established in all events, except the doubles, earlier by the Torontonians.

Other leaders in the grand aggregate included Harry Cockrell of Toronto, who placed third with a nine-game string of 2,485 and E. Hawkes, of Toronto, fourth, with 2,413.

Vitones, Hamilton quintette, finished in third spot in the team event, with 3,732, and Rothschild's of Toronto, ended in fourth place with 3,685.

In third place in the singles event was C. Todd of Ingersoll, Ont., who rolled 922 with Al Gard, in fourth position, with 903.

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—Surprising as it may seem, sports may get a "lift" from returning service men even before the war ends... Number of them are helping to keep pro baseball going, of course...Now we hear that one of the best prospects seen at Oklahoma's spring football practice was Johnny Austin, a Navy trainee, who saw action all over the Solomons. Pte. Norm Scott who was with the Marine air wing on Guadalcanal, has pitched a couple of fine games for the Cherry Point Marine air station team though he hasn't fully recovered from malaria.

Monday Matinee

According to Marine trainee Ray Kurowski, the longest hitter among the six baseball-playing Kurowski brothers is Walter, former all around athlete at Muhlenberg and now a chief specialist at the Bainbridge naval training station, and not George, who does some fair country hitting for the Cardinals.

A Rookie A Day

Thaddeus Cieslak, Phillies third baseman: A pleasant surprise to Manager Fred Fitzsimmons...Played three years for Oklahoma and one for Wilmington, where he was a promising slugger before the army took him and let him go again...On Ted's first days in the Phils' camp this spring he belted a 350-foot homer and since then they haven't been able to get him out of the line-up...Currently hitting in the .300 class.

Whipper Watson, will do his stuff at Brock St. Arena tomorrow night but his opponent will not be Strangler Bob Wagner, as was first announced but another hard-hitting hombre from the state of Oregon in the person of Verne Baxter. Wagner who had to miss a bout here last week because of illness was thought to be recovered but Sunday doctors ordered him to remain out of the ring for a week and so his clash here with Watson is off. Fortunately however Baxter who made a great impression in his only appearance here several weeks ago was available and he gladly accepted a chance to meet the Whipper in Wagner's place. Baxter, a stylish performer from the coast, who is big, fast and clever, can rough it with the worst of them and while he may not be so patently rowdy as the Wagner-Davis school, he is probably more dangerous because his skulduggery is better masked than the back-alley stuff they pull off. The Oregon battler realizes that being matched with the British Empire champion and the No. 1 claimant for the world title gives him a golden opportunity to establish himself down east and he can be depended upon to make tomorrow night's bout as tough as possible for the popular Whipper. In his first battle here he had an edge on the tough Toar Morgan in a hard-hitting engagement that showed Baxter to be a decidedly capable performer, able to take care of himself in any kind of company.

* * * * * *

Promoter Frank Tunney by the way has made tomorrow night's bill at the Brock St. Arena practically an all-Canadian affair. Outside of Baxter who meets British Empire Champion Whipper Billy Watson in the main bout the whole array of talent hails from this fair land and the card should be doubly interesting on that account. The Whipper himself of course is a resident of Toronto. The semi-final will find none other than the popular Pat Flanagan whose home is in Toronto but who is training with the R.C.A.F. at Kingston matched against an Edmonton grappler who has a real reputation, Johnny Demchuk. The other all-Canadian battle will be between Johnny Gyroffy, formerly with the R.C.A.F. and Abe Zvonkin, the sturdy Hamilton footballer who after a spectacular career on the gridiron has taken to the mat game and is making a fine showing. Incidentally both of those preliminary bouts should be a fitting introduction to the Watson-Baxter clash. Demchuk who meets Flanagan is a fast and clever performer and Flanagan's speed and trickiness make him a standout. In the other battle the fast-moving Gyroffy will be an admirable foil for the sturdy Hamilton football star. The card, headed by Canada's No. 1 wrestler is about the choicest wrestling fare of the season from a Canadian viewpoint.

Both Leaders Win

Plenty of baseball in the big show over the week-end and one outstanding feature was the fact that the two leading pitchers of the majors each picked up another game and are still unbeaten. St. Louis incidentally claim both the aces. Jack Kramer of the Brownies made his string five in a row, without a defeat to top both circuits when he held the Cleveland Indians to seven scattered blows in the first half of a Sunday double-header and St. Louis took the verdict 7 to 4. At the same time Max Lanier, star left-hander of the St. Louis Cards was picking up his fourth straight, beating Elmer Riddle and the Cincinnati Reds 5 to 1. Lanier who has pitched two shutouts in his string of wins allowed but six hits. He has been on top of the batters all through his first four games and is heading for a record year. Incidentally St. Louis took both ends of that twin bill yesterday but their second win was a tough one for Tomas De la Cruz, formerly of the Syracuse Stars who held the hard-hitting Cards to three scattered hits but lost because one of the three was a homer by Danny Litwhiler, the only run scored in the ball game. Another National League feature was another defeat for big Jim Tobin of the Braves who hasn't had much luck since he tossed his recent no-hitter. He was beaten yesterday 5 to 4 by the Giants, with Ace Adams getting credit for the win.

* * * * * *

There was a lot of interesting things happen in the American League, too, over the week-end. One was the fact that Stan Spence of the Washington Senators who is surely going for distance these days came up with his fifth homer of the season Sunday and it was responsible for the winning margin as the Washington club beat the A's 2 to 1 in the first game of a double-header. Spence hit No. 4 with two on in Saturday's game. Connie Mack's team evened the count by taking the second 7 to 3. Chicago White Sox grabbed off both ends of a double-bill from the Detroit Tigers. Bill Dietrich who has found his touch again apparently held the Bengals to four hits, a homer by Rudy York robbing him of a shutout, in the first game which the White Sox took 4 to 1 and good relief pitching by Maltzberger enabled the Pale Hose to grab off the second 4 to 3. That double loss hurt for the Chicago club had also beaten the Tigers 4 to 2 on Saturday with Orval Grove credited with the win although Humphries had to finish the chore for him.

The Good Old Days

"Baseball, however, is making a good comeback, especially in rural districts," writes Ford Moynes in the Lindsay Watchman Warder. "Nor did softball ever attract the same interest, the same enthusiasm and as large crowds as baseball in the old days. Lindsay was always a good baseball town and many a fine team, many a good league had its origin in Lindsay with the resultant development of a large number of good players, some of whom found their way into the bigger leagues. The number of citizens who can look to the days of the old Redbirds is diminishing year by year. But there was a team! Back in the old days the team included such players as: George Little, Dr. Shier, Joe Mark, Norman McGill, "Teddy" Miller, Bill Cinnagnon, Herb Workman, Bill Stalker, the famous "Curly" Mac, a pitcher, and others. The days when W. H. Simpson was manager and R. J. "Bob" Menzie was the Secretary. The team, when in its prime, played in Barrie, Galt and other distant points, as well as winning all honors in Eastern Ontario. In later years the Lindsay Greybirds sprang into being and they, too, became a fine team—one of the best in the then Central Ontario Baseball League. This team included such players as: Charles Allen, Jack Oulette, the two Cummings boys, Brownscombe, Carew, Williamson and others. Besides these two outstanding teams, Lindsay from year to year had other good teams at one time the Lindsay Town League was a hot bed of enthusiasm. There are many good reasons why baseball should be revived. Who will be the champions of the cause?"

* * * * * *

Kingston is one centre where they have kept baseball alive and right now they have five clubs lined up for the City League. Bill Walshe comments on the situation as follows: "Kingston should have a great season of baseball according to plans and gossip last night at the Chamber of Commerce when five teams entered for the Cricket Field circuit and arrangements were started for two minor leagues. Ollie Olsen's championship Locos seem the only team that will be the same with service moves and enlistments making changes on the other club while Navy will field a complete new club. It was decided to start play in three weeks and the scramble has already started for players with one promising battle for a good pitcher expected between the Locos and the Navy. It appears that a good hurler is working at the Locos on a Navy assignment and Ollie Olsen although working for the benefit of his team has a claim on the sailor. The squabble season officially started last night to indicate there will be the usual scrap and keen rivalry in city baseball. When it was suggested that Aluminums and Locos, finalists last year, open the season May 24 there was a protest claiming other teams also deserved a chance at the honor."

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

With the day topped by an attendance of 63,000 fans at Churchill Downs where they saw Calumet Farm's Pensive come from behind to win the Kentucky Derby from Broadcloth and the favored Stir Up, there was an aggregate crowd of 172,316 turfites at the seven leading tracks in the United States Saturday. And they had plenty of cash with which to back their choices, the total take for these tracks being a record $8,060,555, compared with $7,619,194 that poured into the mutuel wickets on the previous Saturday.

The crowd of 34,800 at Jamaica, New York, wagered the day's high of $2,841,752 on a seven-race card $2,144,620 being bet on the nine races at Churchill Downs, of which $655,372 was poured through the windows on the Derby for which Pensive paid $16.20 for $2 win. Third largest handle of the afternoon was registered at Narragansett where a mere 25,000 used $1,391,914 for betting purposes while the 20,100 at Pimlico had $1,175,483 on which to take a chance.

Major league baseball started out yesterday with two revised regulations to meet the manpower situation. Under the amended code, teams do not have to cut down to the 25-player limit until June 7 and not, as

War Veteran Wins Ball Game

(By The Associated Press)

A Guadalcanal veteran ended Jersey City's five-game winning streak in the International League yesterday.

Elmer (Red) Durrett, honorably discharged from the Marine Corps after spending 10 months in a hospital recovering from wounds, hit a fourth inning home run with one on to give the Montreal Royals a 2-1 victory in the first game of a double header cut to six innings by rain. The second game was called off.

Buffalo ended its five-game losing streak defeating the Newark Bears 9-3. The Bisons blasted four Newark pitcher for 13 hits, including homers by Eddie Kobesky, Otto Denning and Bob Garbark.

Garbark also hit two singles to drive in four runs.

Saturday's game in which Montreal defeated Newark 11-10 in a game cut to eight innings because the Bears had to catch a train, will be finished June 22. In the meantime, it goes into the records as a win for the Royals.

The Baltimore at Rochester and Toronto at Syracuse twin bills were postponed because of rain.

Chicago Cubs Drop Doubleheader

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago Cubs lost a doubleheader to Pittsburgh yesterday to become the first Major League club in 24 years to lose 12 consecutive games this early in the season.

With Charley Grimm, their third manager within a week, back on the coaching lines after an absence of six years, the Bruins dropped two overtime struggles to the Pirates, 6-5 in 14 innings and 3-2 in 11 frames. Not since April, 1920, when Detroit lost 13 straight has a big league team dropped so many early season games in a row.

Rip Sewell outpitched three Cub flingers to take the opener for the Pirates while Al Rubeling's 11th inning homer won the nightcap to put the Bucs in the first division.

Cards Take Two

Ousted from first place by Cincinnati Saturday, the St. Louis Cardinals regained the National League top rung by plastering a double defeat on the Reds, 5-1 and 1-0. Six-hit pitching by both Max Lanier and Al Jurisich turned the trick. Tomas de la Cruz, of the Reds, held the Cards to three hits in the nightcap, but one was Danny Litwhiler's homer for the one run of the game.

The St. Louis Browns retained their first place berth in the American League by splitting a twin bill with Cleveland. Jack Kramer won his fifth straight in the opener, 7-4. The Tribe took the afterpiece, 3-2, behind Allie Reynolds' seven-hitter.

The Detroit Tigers disappointed a hometown crowd of 25,151— the largest turnout of Sunday's 90,885 attendance for six doubleheaders — by losing twice to the Chicago White Sox, 4-1 and 4-2. Pitcher Bill Dietrich squeezed home the winning run in the opener. Tony Cuccinello's two-run single in the ninth won the second.

Johnny Ricker's ninth inning single broke a six-game losing streak for the New York Giants as the Ottmen beat Jim Tobin and the Boston Braves, 5-4, in the first game of a twin bill. The Braves gained a split by taking the second, 2-0, behind Nate Andrews' five-hit shutout twirling.

Washington and the Philadelphia Athletics also divided a bargain bill. The Senators won the opener, 2-1, on George Myatt's 10th inning single. The A's grabbed the afterpiece, 7-3.

The scheduled doubleheaders between the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Phillies and the Brooklyn Dodgers were postponed because of rain.

Remember When—

Tony Canzoneri, the then lightweight champion of the world, survived a terrific first-round barrage to outpoint Vancouver's Jimmy McLarnin eight years ago to-night in New York. Favored in the betting odds, the Canadian battered the champion in the opening round but Canzoneri fought back to earn a unanimous 10-round decision.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

George Myatt, Senators, and Bob Estalella, Athletics—Myatt's tenth inning single drove in winning run as Washington beat Philadelphia 2-1 in opener; Estalella hit single, triple and homer to give A's even break by winning second, 7-3.

Bill Dietrich and Tony Cuccinello, White Sox—Dietrich scattered seven Detroit hits to win first 4-1; Cuccinello hit two-run single in ninth to decide nightcap 4-2.

Johnny Rucker, Giants, and Nate Andrews, Braves—Rucker's single in ninth won first game for Giants 5-4; Andrews blanked Giants 2-0 in nightcap to give Boston second game.

Bob Elliott and Al Rubeling, Pirates—Elliott hit two homers in opener to lead Pirates to a 6-5 victory over Cubs in first; Rubeling's home run in eleventh won the second game, 3-2.

Max Lanier, Al Jurisich and Anny Litwhiler, Cardinals—Lanier won fourth straight in beating Reds, 5-1 in opener; Jurisich hurled shutout in nightcap to win 1-0 as Litwhiler hit home run for only score.

Pensive Wins Rich Kentucky Derby

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 8 — (AP) — Pensive heads the three-year-old turf parade today because Ben Jones and Con McCreary, a couple of boys from Missouri, outfoxed all of their rivals in the richest of all the 70 Kentucky Derbies at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Plain Ben of the Parnell Joneses threw the saddle over the chestnut colt for his third victory in the 1¼-mile classic, two of them for Warren Wright's Calumet Farm. McCreary, 22-year-old native of St. Louis, completed the story by outsmarting two of the top money riders, Eddie Arcaro and George (the iceman) Woolf. The latter hails from Cardston, Alta.

All season Jones had been running Pensive in bar plates both on his hind hooves, because the son of the 1933 English Derby and St. Leger Winner, Hyperion, suffers from tender feet. Jones took them off for the first time in the Chesapeake stakes a week ago at Pimlico but the Calument chestnut dropped a close decision to Gramps Image.

Bunched at start

Pensive was all but lost in the pack during the early running and ran into a blind switch at the homestretch turn when Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up, 7-5 favorite and Mrs. George Poulsen's Broadcloth were battling for the lead. Then McCreary took him to the rail and won by 4½ lengths. Broadcloth was second a length in front of Stir Up.

In taking Pensive to the inside, McCreary caught Woolf and Arcaro napping. Woolf, up on Broadcloth, and Arcaro, guiding Stir Up, were heads apart at the time and apparently had forgotten about anybody else in the race.

McCreary had a running horse under him one that covered the last quarter in 26 seconds and the full distance in 2:04 1/5, only one-fifth of a second slower than Count Fleet's clocking over a fast track in 1943. On Saturday the racing strip was only "good".

Picking up $65,200 of the record $86,700 purse, Pensive ran his earnings for the year to $80,925. Next Saturday he takes a crack at the Preakness at Pimlico.

Doctors Salvage Airmen Hurt In Battle

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ROCKCLIFFE, Ont., May 8 (CP)—One of the prize patients of the new R.C.A.F. General Hospital here is FO. Bill Sprinkle, 26, of Seattle, Wash., and Belleville Ont.

Bill was dug out of the wreckage of a flaming night fighter that crashed on an English field and his lower legs were fractured almost to pulp. R.C.A.F. doctors went to work on him and not only will he walk but they expect him to fly in a few months.

Orthopaedic surgery built up the bone structure of his badly-damaged legs by delicate grafting operations and then fused his ankle joints. This means that he will walk rather "flat-footed" but Bill says "who cares—I'll walk and fly again and that's all that matters."

Bill was backstop of a Pacific Coast semi-pro ball club before the war but he doesn't want to resume that job.

Displaying a trio of twisted fingers, the result of handling foul-tips, Bill grinned: "Ball gets you busted up—I think I'll stick to flying . . . Perhaps there'll be a commercial job somewhere for me." Then he hastily added, "but I want to finish this war fighting."

Bill has a score to settle. The English R.A.F. man who saved his life by pulling him from his flaming plane was shot down himself two days later. "I'd sure like to pay off for that English guy," Bill declared.

Patients who must learn to use their legs and arms again are given bed exercises, go their paces on novel exercising gadgets, are handled by "PT" men especially trained in giving massage and finally do a turn of occupational therapy in a substantial craft room.

Think of Home

Perhaps the most interesting part of the hospital is the psychiatric part presided over by Wing Cmdr. T. A. Sweet of St. Catharines, Ont., a small and very human man.

Dr. Sweet says that shattered nerves of the airmen he deals with are partly the result of dangerous trips over flak-ridden skies but it is usually a serious domestic problem that provides the straw that breaks the camel's back."

He knows an airman who put in two tours of operations, went down at sea, spent 19 days in a dinghy and was back in the air in 48 hours. But there are cases of men suffering great operational stress who suddenly learn of domestic tragedies in their own homes and this often results in severe mental stress. He reclaims for operational work about 16 per cent of the men he interviews.

Dr. Sweet persuades some to be grounded and sent to one of the R.C.A.F. convalescent homes where they can readjust themselves in congenial surroundings.

HERO OF FIVE—Robert Dicey, five, East Dedham, Boston, Mass., shows how he carried his 15-months-old brother, Kenneth, when flames swept their home causing $1,500 damage. Robert also directed his three-year-old sister, Beverly, to safety at the same time.

Asthma Suffering Curbed 7 Years

Seven years ago J. Richards, 201 East 23rd St., Hamilton, Ont., was asthmatic, lost weight, suffered coughing, choking, wheezing every night — couldn't sleep. Azmo-Tabs curbed his spasms promptly and he now reports normal weight and good health although 70 years old. To prove Azmo-Tabs may do the same for you we will send a $1.00 package of Azmo-Tabs free. No cost, no obligation. Just tell others if it stops your asthma attacks. Write Knox Company, 6037 Knox Bldg. Fort Erie North, Ont., for free Azmo-Tabs.—(Advt.)

Hotel Battle Kills One; Injures Woman

VANCOUVER, May 8 — (CP).—Daniel Harrison, 28, of Vancouver, will appear in court today charged with murdering Clifford Lennox of Vancouver in a downtown rooming house shooting and stabbing affair yesterday during which Helen Lee, also of Vancouver, was seriously wounded.

Police said Lennox died from abdominal bullet wounds, while Miss Lee suffered abdominal stab wounds. The woman was operated on in hospital last night and her condition was described as fair. It was the second shooting fray in Vancouver within a month.

Harrison, covered with blood and suffering from a stab wound in his leg, was arrested while attempting to escape from the third floor of the house, police said.

In reconstructing the struggle, police said it started in Miss Lee's room and ended in the adjoining room, occupied by Mrs. Doris Olson of Vancouver. Lennox's body was found on the blood-covered floor of Mrs. Olson's room and the injured woman was found sprawled beside it.

Mrs. Olson's infant child miraculously escaped injury. The child lay asleep and when police arrived the covers over the child were blood-soaked and the bed trampled. Mrs. Olson told police that after a struggle next door a man had entered her room with a gun.

A .22 calibre rifle was found in the room and police said they took a razor-sharp file and rifle shells from Harrison's clothing.

The rooming house is less than a block from a hotel where Wellington Bruce Wallace was shot and killed a month ago. Alberta Barilla of Vancouver is charged with murdering Wallace.

heavy bombers hit the Belgrade-Pancevo bridge in Yugoslavia in an effort to sever the only rail line recently open on the Orient express route.

Air battles near Bucharest yesterday cost the Germans 20 fighters, of which the bomber gunners bagged 11 and Lightning and Mustang fighter pilots nine. Nine Nazi aircraft were destroyed in other operations, bringing the day's bag to 29, while the Allies lost two heavy bombers and 12 other planes in more than 1,500 sorties.

Lighter Allied planes hammered shipping off the Dalmatian coast and German ports, dumps and communications in Italy. In a sharp battle near Lake Bracciano north of Rome, eight R.A.F. Spitfires shot down nine ME-109's out of a formation of 16.

City's Welfare List Lowest In Years

The sixty-one persons on Peterborough's welfare list in April was the lowest number for years, A. G. Metheral commented to the welfare committee last week.

They and their 21 dependents, together with 4 single men and 21 single women comprised the group of 61. Corresponding figures for April last year were: 18 heads of families, 49 dependents, 4 single men and 31 single women, total 102.

The welfare bill last month was $841.15 as compared with $1,065.15 a year ago.

Since the daylight attacks on Berlin started March 4, American bombers have dropped 11,000 tons of bombs on the capital. There have been a total of eight daylight attacks on the city, which cost 206 heavy bombers as against 406 German planes destroyed.

The R.A.F. has attacked Berlin 16 times since it began its heavy assaults Nov. 8, 1943, dropping an estimated 30,240 tons of explosive and incendiary bombs.

Stockholm dispatches said 1,000 persons were killed in yesterday's American raid on Berlin. A dispatch by the Scandinavian telegraph bureau said targets in Berlin "are getting scarcer and scarcer" and Berliners less and less impressed by the raids.

God Of Justice Rules Minister Warns

A firm trust in God is needed in the days ahead, as well as a realization, that along with His great love, there is an unyielding justice which He wields, Dr. S. T. Martin of Hamilton said Sunday at the 111th anniversary of St. Andrew's church.

In spite of popular belief, the visiting minister said, it is important, what a man thinks about religion. Some talk superficially of doing away with creeds and doctrines, but the practice of religion is important and convictions are crystallized in character. He pointed out that a whirling dervish lives in an atmosphere, while Christians live in hope, trust and love. While it is impossible to completely comprehend God, Christians can know something of Him, Dr. Martin declared.

Manifestations of God appear in nature, but since that is inanimate and inarticulate, it cannot depict all His greatness, the speaker said. One of the greatest descriptions of His work is revealed in history. The Prophets saw the finger of God moving down through each century until it reached them and He saw His hand shaping nations to His divine purpose.

God's Power

"Thoughtful and discerning minds will see God's hand in events today. The miracle of Dunkirk, where thousands of men were delivered from the mouth of Hell and lifted up near the curtain of eternity is a striking example. The invasion of Russia by Germany at the psychological time, brought millions of men to the side of the Allies. Similarly the London blitz withstood the worst the Germans could give. It is said another week would have cracked the R.A.F., yet it suddenly stopped.

"It would be a mistake if we forgot that God's discipline exists too. As in the old days when the Jews were in exile, and some lost their faith, so have some today. But to others it will act as a stimulus. In the dark hours which are come to us, when the world rocks on its foundations, faith in God will see Christians through."

The speaker emphasized that God is a spirit breathing in the hearts and souls of men. He pointed out that man needs a God who is permanent, unchanging and tender, but warned that too many Christians feel God is a Santa Claus, always giving.

"We need a God of dighteousness and judgment brought back again. You can't get away with evil in God's world and we need to learn this lesson. His judgment is final and inevitable for evil doers. It is a glorious conception of God. He is loving and seeks the hearts of men and is forgiving. But He can be just and righteous too."

The choir, under the direction of R. B. Harle, sang "I Will Magnify Thee O God," and "His Name Is Excellent," E. Humpage taking the solo in the latter. Mrs. R. Williamson sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd," and the evening soloist was Adam Hawley.

SMASHES CITY LIGHTS

Police are looking for the hit-and-run driver whose car knocked down two "no throughfare" signs at Monaghan Road and King Street Saturday and then crashed into two lights that had been placed on some repair work that the Board of Works is doing at that point, breaking one lamp and damaging another.

YOUTHS ARE FINED

There was an aftermath of a main street argument between two youths in Lakefield the other night before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning when Lloyd Allen, 20 and Don Whetung, 16, both pleaded guilty to creating a disturbance and were fined $5 and $1.75 costs each. The charges were laid by Chief Garnet Samis.

NO ONE Is HURT

There were eight persons in two cars which collided at George and Hunter Streets Saturday night but although both machines were damaged no one was hurt. Earl Tully, with two passengers in his automobile was travelling north on George Street and at the Hunter Street intersection his car came into contact with another machine driven by Alfred Armstrong, 623 Armour Road which had been travelling south and swerved to make a left turn into Hunter street. There were four passengers in Armstrong's automobile, the right side of which was shoved in by the impact.

Constable Menzies of North Monaghan sounds a warning that there are scores of dogs running around that township without their 1944 licenses. The tags have been on sale for some time.

R.C.A.F. CASUALTIES

Seventeen airmen previously reported missing on active service are now for official purposes presumed dead, according to the 876th casualty list of the R.C.A.F., released today. Six others are missing after operations, and four have been killed on active service.

PAGING ENNISMORE

Resort owners and guides in the Ennismore area are reported to be on the alert for a poacher who was seen prowling along the shore of Lake Chemong, armed with a high powered rifle. This man is apparently bent on taking a few spawning muskies from the shallow water. It is reliably reported that the township people who get considerable revenue from the tourist trade have plans to see that the poacher is dealt with.

MUSKIE OUT OF SEASON

A 16-year-old boy robbed the Otonabee river of a large maskinonge Sunday afternoon taking the fish near the Lower Lock, by means of a gaff. This fish, one of the many spawning in the river means one adult fish less, and hundreds of young maskinonge destroyed in one sweep by a poacher. A description of the boy has been given to Game Overseer Windsor, who was patrolling all day at one of the Kawartha lakes where the muskies are very numerous, and despite the fact that he was dog-tired on arriving home, immediately started a search for the culprit.

Cars Racing To Fire Too Close To Engines

A false alarm Sunday night at 9.49 coming from Box 57 at the corner of Armour Road and Hazlitt Street, in which a number of private automobiles joined the chase to the scene with trucks of the Fire Department, prompted Chief Gimblett this morning to caution drivers against the practice of following fire apparatus at a close distance, and of drawing up too near to the scenes of fires. In the alarm last night, he said, one fireman was very nearly run over by a motorist over-anxious to get in close and see what he could see.

"Cars must not come within 100 feet of any apparatus," Chief Gimblett said. "If they do, in future I will take down their numbers and write the Oil Controller to see if their gasoline permits may be cancelled."

Two other alarms on Sunday marked the week-end activity of the firemen. Both chimney fires, they occurred at 2.54 p.m. and 8.44 p.m. The first was at 312 Louis Street, home of J. McIlmoyle, and the other at 134 Stanley Avenue, residence of H. Vinette.

Peterboro Needs $1,375,000

Peterborough's total of subscriptions to the Sixth Victory Loan climbed to $3,125,800 Saturday, 69.46 per cent of its objective of $4,500,000.

It was a flourishing finish to the second week of the campaign, leaving the city and county beginning the last week ahead of their expected and scheduled percentage.

At the two-thirds mark on this tough course the percentage in the time column was, obviously 66.66, and the Peterborough total was 69.46 per cent of its total.

Reinforcements arrived Saturday from the special names section, grateful assistance to every bond buyer who is watching the progress of the Sixth Victory Loan in Peterborough city and county, and is at times a bit anxious about its success. The first week's splurge by the industrial payroll division was a grand break-away from the starting wire, and substantial help came also from the general canvass, special names, Training Camps and group payroll section.

The initial effort was sustained through the second week, and this Monday morning saw the beginning of the stage of the campaign from a position that is plainly strong in achievement, that 69.46 per cent of objective telling a cheery story. Canvassers and headquarters staff who are in contact with all parts of the city and county will have an informed estimate of what is required of all hands to attain that 100 per cent or $4,500,000 by next Saturday night.

So, this is no ordinary week for the citizens of Peterborough, rural and urban. They have to subscribe $1,375,000 of the Victory Loan, or slump back for the first time in five years of war effort into the benighted ranks of the indifferent and half-hearted.

Special Names $330,000

Of that $452,700 total subscriptions Saturday, special names section accounted for $330,000 as that group passed the million dollar mark for $1,095,000 and 77.85 per cent of their objectvie.

The general canvass in the city came through with $76,650 on Saturday, and rural Peterborough $47,800.

The combined investment by farmers and city dwellers who are listed in the general canvass was $124,450.

The comment hardly needs to be directed to Peterborough's citizens that the total percentage would be at a less heartening level than 69.46 per cent if the Special Names had not dug up $330,000 in a timely access of help from some quarters of substance.

Dummer At 107.33 Per Cent

Reeve Robert Martin's neighbors not only passed their objective Friday, but they pushed along to the 107.33 per cent level, and it may be that they have not yet exhausted the township's surplus and available money.

Smith was actually in front in second place, with Monaghan right at its heels, Otonabee in fourth place with a long stride at the week-end. The people of Reeve P. J. Mather's community are being asked for $130,000, and they have now taken $86,350 in an effort that seemed to be late in gathering in substance and movement.

Ennismore is in fifth position and Peterborough city general is sixth, Douro seventh, Belmont-Methuen eighth, Norwood ninth, Havelock tenth, the northern group of townships eleventh, Lakefield twelfth and Asphodel thirteenth.

The communities exceeding the 66.66 per cent level Saturday night were Dummer, Smith, North Monaghan and Otonabee was only a slim fraction under the decimal figures, or 66.42. On the other hand, the grand total for county and city was out in front of the required percentage, but quite a number of the municipal sectors were only around the half-way mark.

Opinion at headquarters was repeated today that if the general canvass comes through in the city and county there will be nothing to worry about at the end of this week, and that the city and county "will be sitting pretty." The statement was to the effect that every section is imporant to the whole effort.

Put Victory First

With increase of $76,650 in the general canvass in the city and $47,800 in the general canvass in the county both divisions are holding their own at the two-thirds mark in the sixth Victory Loan. The city canvass is 5.1 percent below the necessary two-thirds and the county .83 per cent.

The thermometer to-day shows a better than 66.66 per cent. of loan achieved but this is accounted for by 72.28 of payroll savings booked and 77.85 per cent. of special names obtained. The total general and employees canvass stands at 65.87 per cent.

In the county Dummer has 107.33 per cent. of its objective but North Monaghan and Smith are both near the top with over 90 per cent. obtained. Otonabee is at the two-thirds mark and Ennismore very close to it but most of the other municipalities have yet to reach the 50 per cent. mark.

J. S. Henderson and Peter Mather set the record on Saturday for the rural salesmen by turning in $22,850 on 63 applications. C. Pelton reported $4,650 for four buyers in the northern townships and James Healey of Douro $4,100 for 20 buyers. Dave Miller and W. Darling of Dummer added another $3,450 for 15; while North Monaghan increased its total by $4,000 for 15 and Asphodel $1,650 for eight. E. J. Leeson added $1,950 to Belmont and Methuen's total. Gordon Hancock in Smith reported $1,250 for eight. In the city canvass A. J. McClellan, Art Cauley and Stan Darling added to their lead with $4,750 for 14 sales being the top team of the day with a total to date of $78,100.

W. E. Metheral, James Juby and Vic Tully in second place booked $1,100 for seven for total of $.1,600. C. A. McFadgen, C. A. Gallagher and A. Smith put in $3,950; J. Mackness, George Heron and W. S. Rose $2,100; J. Curtis, Bruce Sargent and Jim Harkness $1,900 and R. Payne Lou Brooks and W. Roberts $1,300.

Jack Curtis with five applications for $1,000 took the lead at top salesman with a total to date of $31,750 being up $50 on R. Irwin who has held the lead for over a week. Vic Tully with no sales reported stood at $30,800 while Art Cauley added $200 for $28,950.

Artists Colour Company, Limited, 241 Dublin, a new firm in the city have started off on their Victory Loan record by making 100 per cent of their quota. They will be classed under the Group Pay-roll and Jack Arnott, proprietor of the business, reports the employeees have purchased $600.00, with one hundred per cent employees participating.

J. Juby, a new canvassed on the present Victory Loan Drive, might be termed a super salesman. During the Odd-Job Auction sale the other evening a man said he would buy a $50 Victory Bond, but on Saturday when canvassed by Mr. Juby, instead of the $50 Bond promised, he came away with an application for $2,000.

Victor Tully claims never again will he call at a home to canvass for Victory Bonds immediately after the supper-hour. The other evening he made a call at a home and the occupants said "Sure, they would buy a bond, but Mr. Tully had to help them with the dishes after." Mr. Tully, being a good sport and seeing a sale in view, said "Sure, I'll help with the dishes." P.S.—He did—and sold the bond!

Police Umpire Family Battle

After Constable Bruce Menzies of North Monaghan had been called in as umpire in a household argument one of the parties landed a swing on the eye of the other, Clifford Byers, Brown street, swore in police court this morning when Charles Bailey, 36, same address, was charged with assaulting Byers, occasioning actual bodily harm.

Bailey pleaded guilty to the charge and Byers who had a "shiner" that was rich in its color scheme was called to give evidence. He testified that Bailey was his brother-in-law and boarded at his house. Saturday the accused had been drinking Byers said, and there was an argument which resulted in Constable Menzies being called. While the officer was there, Byers swore, he was struck in the eye by a blow from Bailey's fist.

The witness intimated that he did not want to see Bailey punished but he did want to have him move out of the house.

"After all the charge has been laid and there is evidence of a serious assault" pointed out Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

Magistrate Langley fined Bailey $20 with the alternative of fifteen days imprisonment in the county jail.

IOOF Lodge Marches To St. Paul's Church

A large attendance of the Oddfellows' Lodge and Rebekahs marched Sunday night to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church behind the Prince of Wales Rangers Band. Rev. Dr. James D. Smart conducted the service, and a well-filled church joined heartily in the singing of the hymns. A duet, "Lead, Kindly Light," was sunk by Mrs. F. Board and Mrs. A. R. Bennett, while the anthem, "Who Are These in Bright Array," was rendered by W. D. Shanks.

Taking as his subject the parable of the Good Samaritan, Dr. Smart stressed the need in the modern world for the type of brotherhood exemplified by Jesus' life and teachings. There was plenty of opportunity for the Samaritan to reason that no obligation devolved on him when he came across the Jew lying in the ditch, Dr. Smart said; there was nobody there to see, prejudice and animosity were feelings that ran deep between Samaritans and Jews, and having little money the Samaritan had ample excuse not to do anything. "But," Dr. Smart said, "he went ahead and got the job done."

Brant County Leads Province In Loan

Brant County, including the city of Brantford and the town of Paris, was leading the province Friday night with Victory Loan subscriptions of $6,508,650, or 87 per cent of their minimum objective of $7,500,000, according to their claim based on headquarters listing.

Hastings County, as reported on Saturday, had subscribed 68.86 per cent with $2,041,000 of their assignment of $3,500,000. Deloro village was leading in the general canvass column with 81.33 per cent.

Motorcycle Rams Parked Car

LINDSAY, May 8 (ENS)—Three Peterborough men drove all the way to Lindsay on pleasure, but figured in a motorcycle-motor car accident, which resulted in considerable damage, the wonder being that the two motorcyclists were not killed.

Carl Northey, of 166½ Simcoe street, Peterborough, driving a motorcycle with Donald Lafonte, riding on the rear of the cycle, were entering Lindsay from the south, when they cracked into the rear of a parked car on Lindsay street, owned by J. G. M. Jamieson, 317 Maitland avenue, Peterborough. The impact was so great that the two on the motorcycle were catapulted through the air both landing on top of the Jamieson car, where they remained until the shock of the accident wore off. They were both dazed.

The Jamieson car was hit so hard that it rammed another parked car, owned by Albert Callighan. The motorcycle was damaged to the extent of $45 while the Jamieson car received $100 damage. According to the police a charge will be laid against the Peterborough cyclists.

Oshawa Man Weds Peterborough Girl

St. John's church was the scene of a pretty wedding recently, when Reta Maye McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McMillan, Simcoe street, became the bride of Arthur Bowen Purdy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Purdy, of Oshawa. Canon W. P. Robertson officiated. The church was decorated with white stalks and ferns for the ceremony, and Mr. F. G. Mann was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white satin, made in the long torso style, with a sweetheart neckline and full skirt. Her fingertip veil of white net fell from a sweetheart halo of white satin, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath.

She was attended by Miss Velma Purdy, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, Miss Vera Mitchell as bridesmaid, and little Miss Sadie Hatton, as flower-girl. Miss Purdy was gowned in blue taffeta, with matching hat and a bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Mitchell was frocked in pink taffeta, with matching hat, and a bouquet of pink roses, while the little flower-girl was sweet in yellow taffeta, and carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. "Mac" McMillan, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Bill Maynard and Mr. Keith Maitland, of Oshawa.

At the reception, held at Hooper's Palm Rooms, the bride's mother received, in a dress of blue clepe, with matching hat, and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore lime crepe, green hat, and a corsage of yellow roses.

For a trip to Toronto and Oshawa, the bride chose a brown tailored suit, brown coat, matching accessories, and wore a corsage of red roses. On their return, the young couple will live in Peterborough.

St. James' Class Honors Miss J. Martin

In honor of their teacher, the members of the Excelsior Bible class of St. James United Sunday school gave a party for Miss Jessie Martin in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., when about seventy-five class members and friends were present.

Receiving were Miss Olive Morley, class president, and Mrs. Norman Thompson, secretary, while Mesdames Stan Leggitt George Martin, William Mantell, Misses Margaret Smart and Gladys Langton assisted their hostess.

In a few words Miss Morley welcomed the guests and Rev. Fred W. Craik acted as master of ceremonies and chairman for the short musical program arranged by Mrs. R. C. Searles, who acted as accompanist throughout.

A group of of piano duets, 'March Militaire' and 'Over Hills and Dales' were played by Gloria Wilson and Ethelwyn Gibson, while Miss Elsie Chambers gave a brilliant rendering of 'Londonderry Air' and 'This is Spring.' A delightful violin solo, 'Adoration' by Mrs. Percy Hooper, was enjoyed. Vocal solos contributed by Miss Dorthy Mitchell were 'Pastorale' and 'Call to the Woods,' and by Mrs. Les McLaren, 'If My Songs Were Only Winged.' and 'Love's Philosophy." Interspersing the musical numbers were the humorous readings, 'Our Hired Girl' and 'Fishing Trip' by Helen Dummitt.

Mrs. Jack Huggins read the presentation address to Miss Martin from her appreciative class. Little Marlene Huggins presented a bouquet of American Beauty roses, while Mrs. Ashton Fife presented the class gift, a silver necklace and bracelet. It being Miss Martin's birthday the event had a double significance.

Refreshments were served at a table with lace cover and centred by a basket of snapdragons, with green tapers in silver holders at either end. Tea was poured by Mesdames Elmer Williamson and N. Thompson.

Miss Morley thanked all who had assisted in making the event a success.

Guests Honored At St. Andrew's

United Church ministers of the city, members of the Trinity Official Board, members of the St. Andrew's Session, and Board of Managers, and their wives, were invited to a social meeting, held Sunday evening in St. Andrew's Church parlors, after the anniversary service in the church. In reply, Dr. Martin said that he had enjoyed the services at St. Andrew's, and had been greatly helped by the close attention of the large congregation present. "The United Church," he said, "has a warm fellowship, and wherever a minister goes, he makes friends among the people he meets."

During the evening, Mr. F. E. Kerr showed the silver trowel presented to Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls at the laying of the cornerstone of the church, in 1885. The trowel is at present in the hands of Mr. F. De la Fosse, librarian and secretary-treasurer of the Public Library.

SIMPLE CHARM—Sheer wool in colorful hues, simply cut and finely detailed, is a favorite formula with great designers and their star clients. This fashion formula is used by Valentina for dainty Lily Pons, who likes basic clothes that act as a backdrop for amusing and lovely accessories. The frock shown here is of sheer wool in rose beige and has a prettily scalloped neckline. With it the singer wears black satin gloves and a pouf of maline held in place by a ballerina clip, the motif of which is carried out in the hat.

Knox WMS Hears Talk On China

Mr. R. Hanscom assisted by Mrs. H. Lewis, reviewed the study book for the year at the May meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox United church, in the church parlors. Mrs. Hanscom gave a general summary of the book, while Mrs. Lewis gave special attention to China, "a country whose people, in spite of great drawbacks, are making great efforts to exemplify in their lives the teachings of the Master." The posters used to illustrate the study throughout the year, were on display.

The members discussed the menu of the C.G.I.T. mother and daughter banquet, which will be held shortly in the lecture hall. They also decided to entertain the Nettie McKenzie Mission Band, at the June meeting. Mrs. C. Gertley took charge of the devotional period, and Mrs. C. Weldon gave the closing prayer.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

For Tuesday, May 9

THE SHREWD and swift grasp of suddenly presented opportunities for projects of scope and far reaching importance is enjoined. Ingenuity, exceptional skill and an idea of novelty and innovation, even to the extent of the radical or revolutionary may produce results of surprising influence on public relations or community welfare. This, however, should be put over with tact, diplomacy and finesse and not with aggressive action. Forced issues or impulsive acts might be detrimental. With this in mind there may be many fortunate returns, with new friendships and intellectual contacts of practical value. Seek promotion with good judgment.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of exceptional opportunities for advancing the business affairs, enhancing the personal influence and popularity, with new and worthwhile contacts, possibly in connection with public, community, political or intellectual welfare ad warranting corresponding honors and prestige. This excellent opening should be approached with tact, ingenuity and keen vision of future results and not by forcing the issues by over aggressive, impulsive or emotional measures. A well-thought-out plan of action is bound to bring desirable objectives as well as distinction.

A child born on this day may have much creative talent, with skill and vision, assuring outstanding success and prestige. It may be impetuous and prodigal, unless given early discipline.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Now in the wake of the spring craze for color, come the high fashion "darks" such a charming change in the suit picture. New, because of their very contrast with the vivid brightness of early spring, yet classic because of their timeless good taste. Sophisticated blacks, navys, greys, browns, suits smart in themselves yet wonderful too, as the subtle foil for gay play of accessories. Choose one of the restrained casuals or the more dressmaker type.

A very smart suit made in men's wear worsted wollen, very plainly tailored, the jacket having a three-buttoned, single breasted front. This suit carried out in a subtle brown with taffy tan stripe. With this wear the small forward tilted pill-box turban brown with a coque feather front trim in the taffy tan shade with blouse and gloves of the same tan shade.

Another smart suit in the dressmaker style made in lovely navy blue rabbit's hair, with lacings up either side front of the jacket in powder blue. Wear with this the wide brimmed casual felt hat in powder blue with gloves and purse to match.

So much for our little chat on suits; we will now turn to the dresses and what's new.

Those clean-cut streamer stripes, they are in with a flourish, symmetrical streamer stripes that do such graceful things for your figure. Stripes as clear and bright as a May morning, looking so crisp and cool for the warm weather days in town and nicely casual for life in the country. This season they take on a fresh new softness with the gentler draping, the touch of shirring or a flirt of a bow at the throat. Then the new dresses in butcher linens, so smart for the busy lives the girls are leading nowadays. They are so simple, so unfailingly right for the business girl. This fabric, so smooth that it tailors beautifully, holding the crisp suit lines with good looking detail. These dresses are shown in such colors as these: brown, green, natural, navy or the the red shades. Then there is the white awning stripe on a background or red, blue, navy, green or gold. The dress made in plain colors of butcher linen, showing the smart white dickie and white hat. The hats are shown in both fabric and felt and are on the Dutch bonnet style or the ever popular pork pie casual. All these dresses are shown in the jacket type two-piece style.

Germans Murder 102,000 Poles Russians Assert

LONDON, May 8 —(CP)— More than 102,000 civilians and prisoners of war were murdered by the Germans in the Rovno region of pre-war Poland, a Soviet extraordinary commission for investigation of German atrocities charged today. It named the alleged perpetrators of the crimes.

The commission declared in a 5,000-word statement that many persons were forced to dig their own graves, and that some of the 102,000 bodies showed evidences of having been tortured.

The statement, broadcast by Moscow radio, said some 49,000 bodies were found in "the timber dump in Byeli St. in Rovno, and 32,500 were in the allotments (vegetable gardens). Five hundred were on the territory of Rovno Prison."

Tommy-Gun Slaughter

The commission quoted one witness:

"I frequently saw how Ukrainians, Russians, Poles and Jews — Soviet citizens—were killed. They usually were brought to the place of execution, forced to dig their graves, and then forced to undress and lie face downward in the graves. They were shot in the back of the head with tommy-guns. Then another layer of people were disposed of. Others were killed with exhaust gas in sealed trucks."

The report said:

"The fact that these crimes were carried out in the place of residence of the former Reich Commissar of the Ukraine, Erich Koch, provides yet another proof that all of these crimes were carried out according to a plan for the extermination and for the devastation of Soviet territory, elaborated and put into execution by the Hitlerite Government."

Named in the report as responsible for the crimes were:

"The Government of Hitlerite Germany, Reich Minister Rosenberg, Reich Commissar Koch, the General Commissar of Volynia and Polodsk Schene, his deputy, Schweiger, and all persons among the German-Fascist invaders mentioned in this document.

"The hour is not distance," the report added, "when they will suffer deserved punishment."

The commission reported that "it is clear the mass murders in the Byeli St. timber dump were carried out at the end of 1941. The mass murders in the allotments were in 1942 and 1943. The murders in the gas-vans, used to kill condemned persons on the prison yard, were toward the end of 1943.

"Many groups of bodies have been burned by the Germans, since the bodies bear proof of torture inflicted before death."

DON'T MARRY FOR MEAL TICKET

Wife Who Holds Pocketbook Has Death Grip That Man Will Regret Through Life.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man in my twenties, a very easy-going chap and my girl friend has a very bad disposition and never misses an opportunity to show her authority. I have just gotten a written proposal from her saying that if I will marry her she will bring home the bacon and buy me all the good clothes I can wear. I have been looking for a chance like this but I would like your opinion as to whether I can depend on her or not. But you know how fickle girls are what with men being rationed the way they are in war time.

THE PETERBORO FLASH

Bargain To Regret

ANSWER—Well I am afraid you would be a flash in the pan if you made that sort of a marriage, and you had better cook up a wedding that would have more chances of lasting. To begin with the man who marries for a meal ticket makes a bargain that he spends the balance of his life regretting, for he parts with his independence and his self-respect and becomes nothing but a slave to the woman who has bought him.

You may think that you would like to do nothing but sit on the do-nothing stool, and have money to spend, and to play around and have a good time. But you would find that no labor is so wearing as dancing attendance on the whims of a woman who expects you to pay for your board and clothes by running her errands and that when the wife holds the pocketbook she has a death grip on it and doles out the pennies, and that you will never get to play around among the glamour girls and show off the good clothes she has bought you.

No money can pay a man for having to live with a wife he has married for a support. So my earnest advice to you is not to try it. Brace up and be a man and make your own living instead of trying to marry it.

DEAR MISS DIX— Can a wife love her husband too much? I am married to a soldier who is overseas now. I write to him every day and tell him how much I love him and how I long for the day of his return, and he replies with letters which thrill me through and through. But people tell me it doesn't pay to let a husband know how much you care for him. Am I right? Or are they right?

PUZZLED WIFE

Husband's Appreciate Surety

ANSWER—You are right. Send your husband a little bit of your heart every day. Nothing will do more not only to keep up his morale, but also keep him faithful to you.

There is a different technique for courtship and marriage. In courtship it is well enough for a girl to keep her suitor guessing, but in marriage a husband wants surety. He wants to feel that he can depend upon his wife's love and faithfulness to him as implicity as he does in the goodness of God. So if you want to keep your husband in love with you, keep feeding the fire of devotion with expressions of affection.

The greatest appeal that a woman ever has to a man is her love. Thousands of men marry women they didn't want to marry because they couldn't say "no" to the one who wept for them. And thousands of men stick to wives they are tired of because they cannot bear to hurt one who has given them a life's devotion. It takes a lot of nerve to tear away the arms that cling to you.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX— I am in desperate need of help. I married a widow who has a daughter by a former marriage with 18 years old. I have fallen in love with this girl who loves me very much. Shall I tell my wife and divorce her? Or shall I desert them both?

ANSWER—Why don't you join the army? I would think a fox hole somewhere in the jungles would be a peaceful and pleasant habitation besides living in the house with two women who are in love with you.

Personally, I think of no situation more tragic than the one you are in and one more difficult to solve. For either way there is bound to be heartbreak for one, probably for all three of you who are so fantastically involved.

C.G.E.-Genelco Pass $7,000 For War Victims

Everything prtaining to success in a personal or community or national sphere, has or should have an objective which sets a standard or goal to aim at, and provides the inspiration which sets as an incentive to all either individually or collectively, to make a success of whatever venture they are engaged in at the moment.

This is tremendously evident through the period when a Victory Loan campaign is in progress, and nothing sounds sweeter or gives rise to a better feeling in a patriotic sense, than that of having fulfilled at least what might be conceded one's duty, in having reached that portion of it considered as their share or quota.

A few days ago the employees of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., and Genelco, Ltd., topped their quota by a substantial margin, giving them a place with other industrial workers in the honor roll of achievement on behalf of the war effort, an act of considerable importance to the campaign as a whole from the very nature of the position they hold in the industrial life of this city.

It is perhaps significant that in the midst of this very important feature pertaining to a successful prosecution of the war, that among them could be found some who were not unmindful of other needs that the exigencies of war have created, which prompted them to make a contribution towards assisting the sufferers from air raid attacks over Britain, through the local and district fund which operates for that purpose.

A Veteran Gives Commission

A veteran in every sense of the word, Victor Caban, Senior, who served in the last Great War, and has already done much in this present conflict, not the least of which may be counted the loss of a son and namesake in the Sicilian campaign, again comes to the forefront as operator of the canteen in the C.G.E. Co., Ltd., through the signing over of his cheque for commission on sales, in order that these war-torn sufferers in the front line in Britain may have a bit more help added to the already large amount he had previously raised to assist them.

It will be recalled that Mr. Caban has staged quite a number of efforts on behalf of the fund, commencing in the early stages of its operations by giving a cow which was auctioned off on the market, and later providing many prizes for various draws which he worked hard at on his own account in order to help the people in the Motherland.

Plants Total $7,004 For Fund

Another gift listed today from the induction motor and induction motor winding department of the C.G.E. Co., Ltd., for $11.80, per Sylvia Duignan, raises the plant totals above another thousand dollar mark for the fund, this now actually standing at $7,004.36, and points the way more and more towards the suggested objective of $10,000 that might be eventually raised by these industrial plants for the cause that the fund seeks to serve, and coming at this time demonstrates that in spite of one big attainment on behalf of the war effort, room may be found to give other worthy assists, also some help at the same time.

Driver Suffers Head Injuries

After the car he had been driving had skidded into a Hydro pole on Hunter street near the corner of Mark street early Sunday morning Alfred Cote, 35 Edgewater Boulevard was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from severe head injuries. The car, owned by K. L. Welch, 522 Sherbrooke street was almost completely wrecked.

Cote had a very narrow escape from instant death for the car struck with so much force that the pole was broken off at the base and the transformer was knocked loose from the top. Fortunately it was held by the wires and did not drop. Had it done so Cote would would undoubtedly been crushed beneath it.

The driver was travelling east on Hunter street when the accident happened. Apparently the car went out of control when it skidded on the wet road, veered across the street, mounted the curb and crashed into the post.

Baked Casserole

Use the less expensive cuts of beef for delicious stews and casseroles

Budget-wise housewives are always on the lookout for new and interesting ways of serving those economical cuts of beef, which properly cooked, are just as delicious and nutritious as the most expensive. This week I am giving you one of my favourite ways of dressing up beef to make a casserole dish a hungry family really goes for! Serve with a leafy green vegetable or a fresh spring salad for a meal fit for a king.

Martha Logan

ECONOMICAL BAKED CASSEROLE

- 1 lb. beef shoulder, diced
- 1 cup meat or vegetable stock
- 2 cups diced cooked potatoes
- 2 tbsps. grated onion or a little onion salt
- 1 tsp. minced parsley
- 1 tsp. Worcester sauce
- 1 tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper

For four people order one pound of beef shoulder. Dice the meat, roll in well-seasoned flour and brown in hot fat, add 1 cup of stock, vegetable liquor or water and simmer gently for half an hour. A New Menace

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP). —LaGuardia Airport officials and police today were searching for a model airplane enthusiast who knows his stuff when it comes to flying miniature planes. They didn't plan to pin any medals on him, however. A pilot of a cargo ship complained yesterday that while coming in for a landing he had to swerve his four-engined plane violently to avoid hitting a seven-foot model whizzing about several hundred feet in the air.

WAYS TO PREVENT RUFFS

THERE ARE two principal ways whereby a declarer can keep a defender from scoring a ruff which may beat his contract. One is of course by making the dangerous defender use up his trumps on leads of the suit. But it is not always possible to do that. The other way is to make sure that the partner of the dangerous hand does not get in the lead at the dangerous time. That time is when his partner has become blank in the dangerous suit and still has a trump left.

North: ♠ 8 4 2 ♥ 7 3 2 ♦ A K Q 2 ♣ 5 4 2

West: ♠ 6 ♥ J 9 8 4 ♦ 10 9 8 ♣ K 10 8 6 3

East: ♠ A J 10 ♥ A Q 10 5 ♦ J 4 ♣ A Q J 7

South could have set 3-No Trumps by the double-dummy defense of diamond leads followed by a spade switch, but that is neither here nor there. What did happen was that South got a chance to make his doubled 4-Spades and failed.

East won the heart 4 lead with the A and sent back the heart 5 to the K. Thinking too much of trump leads through the doubler, South went to dummy with the diamond Q and led the spade 2, the 10 going on and the Q winning. Another diamond to the A enabled him to lead another spade. This time East won with the A, led his club 7 to West's K, and a return of the diamond 10 was ruffed by the spade J for the setting trick.

At any time when South was in, he should have realized the danger of the ruff, and could have prevented it by a club lead before the second round of diamonds. That would have made it impossible for West to have the lead when his partner was blank in diamonds, and so would have prevented the fatal ruff.

C. D. Harper Dies After Illness

FENELLA, May 8 — (ENS) — In the passing of Cephas Daniel Harper, the district has suffered the loss of an outstanding personage, a man of high integrity. After many months of ill-health, a serious condition developed resulting in his death this week at the family residence, Macklin Settlement. Mr. Harper was born at Camborne 78 years ago, the second son of the late John Harper and his wife Mary Ann Nill Harper. Early in his life the family moved to a farm in the Macklin Settlement where Mr. Harper lived until he retired from farming some years ago and took up residence near by, his son Harold carrying on at the farm.

He was a member of Bethany (Macklin's) Methodist Church, and prior to its closing before union, he served as a member of long standing on its board, and in its choir. For many years and at the time of his death he was secretary of the Cemetery Board. Possessed of executive ability and initiative, he served on numerous projects for community betterment. He was the oldest member in years of service of the board of directors of Roseneath Agricultural Society, and three years ago was made an honorary director and presented with a certificate of honor by the society. However, the honor did not prevent him from assuming his responsibilities as superintending director of the domestic and fine arts department.

Surviving are his widow, a son Harold of Fenella, a daughter Mrs. John Linton of Plainville, his sister Mrs. Leonard Brisbin of Roseneath, and a brother W. J. Harper of Warkworth, his grandchildren, and all other relatives.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 8—(ENS)—Contributions to the Campbellford Hospital and boxes for members of the armed forces comprised the principal work done by Rylstone Women's Institute during the past year. Nazis Stage Surprise Withdrawal

32 Enemy Vehicles Riddled By Fighter-Bombers

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, May 9—(AP).—German forces have withdrawn in the mountainous sector of central Italy and Allied troops have followed to positions approximately nine miles beyond their last announced front line, Allied headquarters announced today.

It was probable, however, that Allied troops had been operating far beyond the announced battle line in recent weeks.

The withdrawal took place near Palena, 35 miles inland from the Adriatic on the 8th Army's left flank.

A headquarters statement did not make clear how far the enemy had pulled back, but it was said the Nazi troops had demolished bridges, houses and a tunnel as they moved.

The withdrawal occurred near the hamlet of Letto Palena, some two miles northeast of the town of Palena, 11 miles east and southeast of Solomona, and directly south of the Maiella Mountain pass.

On the 5th Army's main front, the Germans yesterday increased the tempo of their shelling south of Cassino's railway station and sent a patrol across a stream to probe Allied positions near San Appolinaire, seven miles south of Cassino.

American guns shelled motor vehicle movements in the lower Garigliano valley west of Minturno. It is in this sector that the Germans are said to have evacuated all civilians for a depth of 20 miles. In the same sector Allied observation posts reported an unexplained explosion near Ausonia.

Allied artillery on the Anzio beachhead silenced an enemy Howitzer and the enemy reversed the process by shelling Allied rear areas.

After three days of solid day and night pounding of Balkan targets, all heavy and medium bombers were grounded yesterday by poor visibility, but fighter-bombers claimed destruction of 32 German vehicles and two tank carriers and damage to 39 vehicles in strafing attacks south of Rome. They also sank a launch and barge in the Tiber.

Spitfires demolished a German headquarters at Crebic in Yugoslavia and also attacked shipping off the Yugoslav coast and highway traffic in Albania. Two Allied planes were missing.

New Type Of 'Chute Designed For R.C.A.F.

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP). — R.C.A.F. fighter pilots, instructors and trainees in Canada will no longer have to trudge between their quarters and their aircraft lugging behind them the cumbersome parachute pack containing the canopy, Air Force headquarters said today.

Flt.-Lt. W. E. Cowie, of Ottawa, on the staff of the air member for aeronautical engineering here, has devised a new type of 'chute, named the "seat type parachute, detachable pack," which will enable the pilot or trainee to wear only the parachute harness when outside aircraft.

With the new type, the pack, separate from the harness, is kept in the cockpit of the aircraft.

Hoboes Busy Helping Allies Win The War So Only 15 Turn Up At Annual Convention

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(CP).—The entrance to the palace was a dingy stairway leading from lower Ninth street to a bare second-storey loft.

Off in a corner was the throne—a camp-stool facing a littered deal table. And on the throne was King Jeff Davis of the "Hoboes of America Inc.," emperor of "The League of Hoboes of the World."

"Ruler of more than 1,000,000 subjects" since 1908, elected annually until 1935 when his kingship was confirmed for life, Jeff claims he has a better right to the title than most kings less democratically chosen.

All good hoboes—and that's the only kind King Jeff admits as subjects—are busy helping the Allies win the war. So there are only 15 delegates at the 36th annual convention of hoboes of America.

But the royal desk was piled high with thousands of brightly lithographed, red-sealed proxies from accredited representatives all over the continent.

"Sure I've got subjects in Canada," Jeff exclaimed. "See them letters on the board. There's one from Ross Mason, our trackwalker in Windsor, Ontario. And we have Frank Pypers in Montreal. Ross Mason's in Montreal, too. He's in the Royal Canadian Flying Corps."

A switchman who was present is Gen. Jacob Coxey, 90 years old. Fifty years ago this month "Coxey's Army" of unemployed marched on Washington. Coxey tried to make a speech from the capitol steps but was jailed.

On the 50th anniversary, the other day, Coxey again travelled to Capitol Hill and at last made his speech with the blessings of House, Senate and police authorities.

Total In 6th Victory Loan 5 Millions Ahead Of Fifth

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP).—Sales of Canada's Sixth Victory Loan have reached $924,116,100 on the way to an objective of $1,200,000,000, national loan headquarters announced today. Sales yesterday, the 13th day of the campaign, totalled $64,079,600. While the day's sales were down $8,500,000 from the corresponding day of the Fifth Loan the over-all total is still $5,500,000 ahead of what it was in the previous loan six months ago.

Individual purchasers brought $26,513,700 in bonds yesterday, bringing the total of the individual purchases to $380,146,300, leaving about $225,000,000 still to be purchased to reach the Fifth Loan total of $604,000,000.

Sales to large buyers were $37,565,900, with total purchases in this category now $543,969,800. The number of yesterday's sales was 120,608 and the total number for the first 13 days of the loan now is 1,668,718. At the end of the 13th day, the Fifth Loan total applications amounted to 1,468,000.

C.N.R. Does Well.

Employees of the Canadian National Railways and the subsidiary Trans-Canada Air Lines and National Railway Munitions passed the $7,000,000 mark in the first two weeks of the loan, it was announced from the line's Montreal head office. Returns showed 71,092 employees had purchased bonds to a value of $7,061,550.

Saskatchewan needed but four per cent of its minimum dollar objective at the end of the 13th day of canvassing. At noon Monday 76,547 buyers had bought $19,383,300 out of a minimum objective of $20,150,000 or 96 per cent.

In British Columbia the general canvass stands at 72 per cent of quota as against 66 per cent at the same period of the previous loan.

The Quebec increase in general canvass is figured now at about eight per cent over the previous loan's business in this category. Large cities, such as Montreal and Quebec and others, were reported doing better than at the same period in the fifth loan, but rural sales were slightly down due to the poor condition of secondary roads.

Out of 23 centres in four provinces reporting in the general canvass and payroll savings contest for a silver rose bowl 10 in Quebec continue to have the highest percentages. Levis-Lauzon leads with 124 per cent and Granby is second with 115, although it holds first position in the total objective race with 127.

Make German Workers Pay?

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—(AP). — Delegates to the International Labor Conference continued heated arguments today on whether the entire German people or the leaders alone should be punished after a United Nations victory.

The committee for Axis territories has under consideration problems of workers who have been imported into Germany. British delegates object that Russia is not present and that the Soviet Union should have a voice in any consideration of peace terms.

U.S. Objects

Robert J. Watt, U.S. labor delegate, pressing for action here, has objected to British delegate Sir Walter Citrine's statement that "millions of German workers voted to put Hitler into power. . . . If we cannot make them understand, we are headed for the third war."

Sir Walter protested the consideration here of plans by the I.L.O. for assistance to German trade unions.

Watt, who answered Sir Walter by saying that "all freedoms are born out of free trade unions.' . . . I cannot say a whole people is cruel," said yesterday that several executive officers of the A.F.L., meeting here, complimented him on his stand.

Green Endorses Stand

A.F.L. President William Green said:

"I am not acquainted with the details, but Watt's stand accords with A.F.L. policy. We will not argue that Hitler should be punished. But we can't argue that all German people are responsible. We know how dictators can and do dominate their people."

Jan Masaryk, Deputy Prime Minister of Czechoslovakia, obviously attacking Watt's stand, pierced the calm of a full plenary session yesterday by insisting that the whole German nation be made to pay for her aggression.

Japanese Casualties Heavy 750 Killed At Kohima Allies Advance Steadily

Tough Chindits Dropped Deep In Jungle Demoralize Enemy Columns Chinese, Americans Menace Myitkyina

KANDY, Ceylon, May 9—(CP).—Allied troops have advanced in all sectors around the Imphal plain of Eastern India, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced today, but Japanese forces are attacking in the Fort Hertz valley of Northern Burma, where the Allies are driving for the major enemy base of Myitkyina.

A communique said Japanese troops left more than 750 dead in the Kohima area northeast of Imphal, between May 4 and 6 and that further heavy casualties had been inflicted in sharp fighting since that time.

The Japanese attack in the Fort Hertz valley was reported taking place northwest of Nsopzup, which lies about 35 miles northeast of Myitkyima. Burmese fighting for the Allies were last reported about 45 miles north of Myitkyina.

The Japanese base also is menaced by Chinese and American troops in the Mogaung valley to the west.

Enemy Plan Fails.

Wild fighting has been in progress in the steaming jungles of Manipur for several days, the Allies fighting ferociously to blunt five Japanese invasion spearheads directed at the Imphal plain. It was believed the Japanese hoped to seize flat ground as a troop base and an air base for assaults on General Joseph Stilwell's armies to the northeast.

On all sectors of the Imphal plain, the communique announced, local successes have been scored. Japanese losses on the panel road, south of the town of Imphal, were officially described as "heavy."

In Kohima, the Allies continued to whittle away at Japanese spearheads.

Meanwhile some 200 miles eastward, the air-borne Chindits which dropped behind Jap lines in a mass encircling manoeuvre continued to hack away at Japanese communications.

Reports from the front, which within a week probably will be doused with summer Monsoon rains, said the Chindits were continuing to kill Japs, block roads, wreck railways and blow up supply bases in prepar-

Suicide Squads Resist Reds At Sevastopol

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, May 9 (AP).—Russian storm troops fought the remnants of two Axis armies within full view of flaming and smoking Sevastopol today as their artillery, rolled up wheel to wheel, poured salvo after salvo into enemy suicide squads clinging to the last German hold in the Crimea.

Fortified heights overlooking the port city were stormed yesterday, front line dispatches said.

(The German communique said heavy fighting continued and claimed that 56 Russian planes were destroyed over Sevastopol yesterday).

The battle reached its climatic stage, with fighting under way in the immediate approaches to the city and an Izvestia dispatch declared the German force in the Crimea was definitely defeated and pressed back to the Black Sea.

The Germans were reported fighting desperately, clinging to every inch of shore under an incessant artillery barrage, but with the Red Army looking down on Sevastopol's famous panorama, the end of the battle appeared in sight.

The Final Push.

In the third day of the offensive, Red Star reported that the Russians had broken through steel and concrete fortifications all along the Sevastopol line. The Russians were converging from all sides along an

14,000 Still Out At Windsor Plant

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP).—The National Wartime Labor Relations Board today resumed behind closed doors its efforts to end a work stoppage at the Windsor plant of the Ford Motor Co., of Canada. It was expected some announcement would be made at the end of the meeting.

A previous series of board meetings resulted in a proposal which was accepted by both the company and the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) but the resumption of work lasted only two days, and apart from that period the plant has been idle since April 20.

Today, Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor, chairman of the board, returned from Windsor, where he went last Saturday in an effort to conciliate the dispute. With him was M. M. Maclean, chief executive officer of the board, and Bernard Wilson, secretary.

W. L. Best of Ottawa, a Labor member of the board, was absent when the meeting opened this morning, but was expected later in the day from Philadelphia, where he has been attending the International Labor Organization conference.

J. B. Aylesworth, K.C., of Windsor, company solicitor, and J. L. Cohen, K.C., of Toronto, union counsel, are in Ottawa and are expected to appear before the board during the day.

Allied Blockade Of Germany Very Effective 15 Axis Ships Sunk Trying To Get Through

LONDON, May 9 (CP) — The Earl of Selborne, Minister of Economic Warfare, told the House of Lords today that the effectiveness of the Allied blockade of Germany was by now "undoubtedly very great."

"I am not going to suggest that Germany will collapse because she runs short of this or that commodity," he said. "But German stocks are seriously depleted, submarine blockade runners can do little to replenish them, the neutrals are increasingly aloof and air raids create fresh problems which every day are harder to solve."

Commenting on neutrals trading with the enemy, Lord Selborne said that no matter how big or powerful any firm might be, "the end of the war may not necessarily mean the end of the blacklist . . . We shall not readily forget what neutral firms did during the war."

Lord Selborne announced that 15 fast German and Japanese blockade runners, four outward bound and 11 inward bound, have been sunk.

In the cargoes destroyed were 45,000 tons of rubber, 1,500 tons of tungsten and 25,000 tons of vegetable oils and quinine. That traffic except for a few submarines, which can carry little, had practically ceased, Lord Selborne said.

In all this work there had been the closest cooperation with the Americans, Lord Selborne added.

Claim World Security Plan To Include Small Nations

By FRANK FLAHERTY—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 9—(CP Cable).—Prime Ministers of the British Commonwealth today discussed the future peace structure of the world, and one of the most important aspects they considered was the role smaller nations are to play in the post-war organization to maintain peace and security. It usually is conceded that the big four—Britain, the United States, Russia and China—will have the major say in what transpires during the armistice period, as they have had in the conduct of the war, and probably they also will have power commensurate with their responsibility in the projected world organization.

However, the Moscow declaration of October, 1943, establishes the principle of participation by "all peace-loving states" in a general organization to maintain peace and security, membership being open to "all such states large and small."

The dominions rank as smaller nations and the present meeting, presided over by Prime Minister Churchill, marks the first time the head of one of the big four has discussed the world security plan with the heads of a group of smaller nations.

Small Nation's Views

Their reactions, therefore, may be taken as a clue to the probable views of other small states.

Canada's position with regard to the United States as one of the big four, for instance, may be taken as reflecting the attitude of Latin American states.

Like these states, Canada will want an important voice in whatever regional authority may be created for the western hemisphere within the ambit of the world organization. Australia and New Zealand will desire a definite share in control of essential Pacific bases. South Africa, whose security might be disturbed by developments in Central and Northern Africa, may be expected to put forward, through Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts, some regional plan for Africa.

The British Government is known to have given considerable thought to what type of post-war organization should be established and the overseas leaders also are known to have definite ideas on the question.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada has championed the functional principle in the past as a means of assuring a more stable and effective world organization than the old league which some observers consider was hampered by inability to take quick decisions and too much say for the multitude of small member countries.

This principle is that countries

Ortona Becomes Canadian Town

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

ORTONA, Italy, May 9—(CP).—The sign on the outskirts says "You are now entering a West Canadian town." The town is Ortona. The sign bespeaks the pride westerners take in the bitter victory won in the ruins beyond by two understrength battalions, Alberta's Loyal Edmonton Regiment and British Columbia's Seaforth Highlanders of Canada.

The Canadians entered Ortona to stay Dec. 28 and they have been there ever since. With typical energy, they have created what has become typical of many towns a few miles behind the Canadian fighting lines, a community of their own with theatres, recreation centres, barber shops, reading and writing rooms.

Conduct Generally High.

They get drunk on vino or cognac occasionally and the inevitable few have now and then made the many look bad but the conduct of the Canadians in Ortona has generally been of a high standard.

Lieut. Eric Morkeberg, Markerville, Alta., who has been in charge of the Canadian Provost Corps detachment here since Jan. 4, will tell you that the men's behavior is better than it was in Britain, will tell you, too, that he has found since coming to this fighting theatre that the men who have been in the frontline are seldom the bother that those are who never have been.

Friendships Are Made.

The Italians have invited the Canadians into the homes they have been able to create or the rooms in which as many as six and more live at once. Many a friendship has sprung up, many a gift has been given when a soldier left Ortona. There have been engagements, and romances that never went that far.

The Germans looted their homes, mined their beautiful cathedral, drove them out as refugees. Those are the things they remember.

We asked Mario Tortora, the town doctor now, if there had been any German-Italian marriages and he replied: "For a night maybe, for a week maybe, for the whole time they were here maybe, but no marriages."

Aerial Blitz Continues Into 25th Day

Multiple Targets Shattered In France, Belgium

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 9 (AP)—The American air force based in Britain hurled nearly 2,000 planes at Europe today in the 25th day of the non-stop pre-invasion air offensive, smashing at railroads and airdromes in France, Belgium and Luxembourg, taking up where British and Canadian night raiders left off.

A great fleet of heavy bombers and their escorting fighters struck 10 separate targets in the three countries—seven airfields and three railroad yards handling German war freight, setting the pace for a series of widespread blows. Judging from Channel activity, today may be the heaviest yet in the huge air campaign.

It was the 15th straight day of heavy bomber operations and the third time in as many days that 2,000 planes, including all types, had been in operation.

Europe Shudders

Railroad yards hit by the heavy bombers today were at Liege, Belgium, near the German border, Thiomville, France, north of Metz and in the city of Luxembourg.

An airfield at Thiomville also was attacked along with others at St. Dizier, west of Nancy; Laon-Couvron and Laon-Athies, northwest of Reims and Laon, all in France and at St. Trond northwest of Liege and Florennes, near the French border, both in Belgium.

The mighty daylight blows fell on a continent still shuddering under the weight of explosives dumped last night on railway targets, air fields and other objectives in France, Belgium and Germany by R.A.F. and Canadian bombers striking multiple targets for their third straight night.

Returning fliers said most of the German fighter opposition encountered was at Haine St. Pierre, the main target of Canadian bombers and where one Halifax of a Canadian bomber group was attacked three times by FW-190's.

Sentence Imposed 13 Years Ago Stands

NEW YORK May 9. — (AP).—Moyle C. Randall, Nova Scotia fishing boat captain, has lost his fight to escape serving a 20 month jail sentence imposed 13 years ago for a prohibition law violation it was learned to-day.

Randall, who returned to Nova Scotia under bail in 1931 after appealing his conviction and was taken into custody again April 13 at Gloucester, Mass., fought release through habeas corpus action.

His attorneys contended he never was notified that the Court of Appeals had upheld his conviction. They also argued that since the prohibition law has been repealed, Randall could not now be committed legally to prison.

Rejecting these arguments, Judge Grover C. Moscowitz in Brooklyn Federal Court ruled that Randall must serve the sentence. The jurist said commitment was an administrative matter and no further judicial rulings were necessary. He pointed out that Randall's appeal was disposed of before the prohibition law was taken off the statute books.

Old Cry of Leniency Crops Up Again

Germany Must Be Convinced This Time That She Is Thoroughly Beaten

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The question of how tough the Allies should be in exacting retribution from Germany for her bloody attempt to enslave Europe and dominate the world bids fair to become a hot issue as we approach the climax of the Hitlerian conflict.

The history of the last war is beginning to show signs (in spots) of repeating itself in this respect. Then the determined cry of "Hang the Kaiser" and 'Germany must pay," finally petered out altogether a the conflict ended. To-day again there are schools of thought in Allied countries, including Britain and the United States, which advocate that we shouldn't be too harsh on Germany.

The argument for leniency is the old and familiar one that the German people as a whole aren't responsible for the acts of the government. This has cropped up in a somewhat sensational way in the International labor conference at Philadelphia, where the subject is being threshed out wtih considerable heat. The pro and con of this have been epitomized by President William Green of the American Federation of Labo rand Jan Masaryk, Deputy Prime Minister of Czechoslovakia.

Czechs Should Know.

"We will not argue that Hitler should be punished," said Mr. Green. "But we can't argue that all German people are responsible. We know how dictators can and do dominate their people."

"I am not one to want the extermination of the entitre German nation," said Mr. Maysaryk, "but after the last war we lost the peace by not persuading the German nation that she was beaten."

Mr. Masaryk, whose little country has suffered so terribly at the hands of the Nazis, might have gone on to point out that the Nazi warfare is a throwback to blackest barbarism. It has involved not only the subjection of many countries to servitude but the wholesale massacre of scores of thousands of civilians. However, that wouldn't disprove the claim that not all Germans are responsible.

People Must Pay.

There have been few thus far to argue that the entire German nation shouldn't be held responsible for the war crime. That isn't to say that there aren't good Germans, for of course there are. However, it's equally true that the German people made it possible for Hitler to wage war by their tacit if not outright, approval and help. The German people voted Hitler into power and then stood for his bloody aggression.

There's no way of separating the sheep from the goats, and, unless we change the rules of the game as laid down by the Allies. Germany as a whole must pay. This means that Nazism and Prussian militarism are to be uprooted and utterly destroyed. It means that many who are guilty of making this war must suffer death or imprisonment.

Drop Active Service Age

British Soldiers Can Now Serve Below 19

LONDON, May 9 — (CP-Reuters) — The British government has decided the minimum age for men serving in the Army Overseas shall be reduced from 19 years to 18½ years, the war secretary, Sir James Grigg informed the House of Commons today.

Announcing this step to add manpower for the attack, the war secretary said "this critical stage in the war demands that in the coming months we must make the fullest use of all our trained men to ensure that there is the greatest possible weight behind our blows and that the impetus of our attack is maintained."

The war secretary added: "Under improved methods of training which we have introduced we have in the Army today thousands of efficient men under 19. We cannot afford to withhold these men who are eager to fight at this stage of the war."

Sir James said the adoption of the lower age limit brings the army into line with the existing practice in other two services. In the Royal Navy men may serve afloat in ships based on both home and foreign stations at the age of 18 and R. A. F. personnel are also permitted to service overseas at this age.

Opposition Raps Amendments To Bank Act

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — The voluminous government bill amending the Bank Act was pounded on half a dozen desks in the Commons yesterday as opposition speakers said it wasn't good enough.

The debate was brisker than had been expected by most members. The government had suggested most of the detailed discussion might come when the Bill was before the House Banking and Commerce Committee to which it will be referred.

But three party spokesmen—Hon. R. B. Hanson (PC-York-Sunbury), M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader and J. H. Blackmore, Social Credit House leader—said that a statement by Finance Minister Ilsley in introducing the Bill was "provocative."

Mr. Ilsley had dealt with C.C.F. proposals for Nationalization of Banks and Social Credit advocacy of debt-free money being issued by the Dominion. Spokesmen for these parties said yesterday they did not propose to let the Minister's statements to go unchallenged, and the Bill remained under discussion when the House rose.

Mr. Blackmore moved an amendment to the government motion that the Bill be read a second time. It suggested that the Bill be not read a second time and that the House express the opinion that the government should take from the chartered banks their power of creating money and credit and "restore" these powers to parliament.

Voted Down

This amendment was voted down by 107 votes to 20, with C.C.F. members supporting the Social Crediters.

Remaining before the House is an amendment moved by Mr. Coldwell asking that the Bill be not read a second time and that consideration be given National Ownership and complete public control of the chartered banks, "with a view to the promotion of the peace, order and good government of the people of Canada."

Discussion on this amendment continues today.

When the session opened, Justice Minister St. Laurent said that an inquiry by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had shown there was no evidence of sabotage in a fire which damaged Canada Steam-

Chinese Destroy Japanese Patrol

CHUNGKING, May 9—(AP).—Chinese troops have launched a successful counter-offensive south of the ancient Honan Province city of Loyang, which the Japanese have been threatening in a drive pointed at the heart of China, and have driven the enemy back across the Yi Yi River, Chinese field dispatches said today.

Dispatches from the front yesterday said the Japanese had reached a point only six miles south of Loyang after advancing three miles in the previous 24 hours.

The Yi Yi River is a tributary of the Yellow River and is within about seven miles of Loyang.

The Chinese press also reported that the Japanese had attempted to cross the Yellow River from Shansi Province, about 45 miles northeast of Loyang during the night of May 3, but asserted the enemy had been wiped out.

There was no indication, however, whether this operation represented an attempt to outflank Loyang and cut off the Chinese garrison or whether it was merely a small scale patrol thrust.

Other reports from the front, meanwhile, said the Japanese had brought up strong reinforcements along the Peiping-Hankow railway some 65 miles east of Loyang and were making a fresh attempt to drive the Chinese from their last foothold on that line.

At last reports the Chinese-held sector of the railway had been narrowed to about 14 miles.

Fulton, Christian Science committee on Publication for Ontario.

"The doctor had to search through the records of Canada back to 1925 to find a single instance in which criminal action had been brought against a Christian Science practitioner, as such—and that action was dismissed. This clear record for approximately 20 years only emphasizes the fact which he was endeavoring to discredit, namely, that Christian Science practitioners and patients are strictly law-abiding in the observance of regulations regarding contagious diseases and child welfare.

"Nor do the quotations by the doctor, from a book whose self-confessed purpose is to discredit the religious and healing practices of Christian Science, stand close examination. Other facts drawn from more dependable sources are sufficient refutation."

Attitude in Provinces

"In six of the Provinces of Canada and in 43 States of the Union, protection has been granted, by special legislative enactments, to the Christian Science practitioner and patient in the exercise of the healing ministrations of their religion. Frequently such recognition has been granted only after due examination of evidence before a Royal Commission or body of similar powers. The action of 49 Governmental bodies, after due and careful examination of the facts, constitutes a much more dependable guide for legislative action than the writings of one or more lone individuals whose limited knowledge and prejudiced intent precludes the possibility of objectivity or justice.

"Many eminent doctors have expressed their admiration for Christian Science, including the Drs. Mayo of Rochester, Minnesota, and Sir William Fletcher Barrett, F.R.C.S., has stated: "I am bound to say that cures, often of a very remarkable character, are effected," and "the marvellous improvement in the general health of persons who have become adherents of this faith is unquestionable."

"To endeavor to exclude it from the Act has the appearance of one of two things, either (1) to maintain an exclusive allopathic monopoly, or (2) fear that Christian Science will succeed in proving its healing efficacy. Neither alternative reflects credit upon the one who would exclude Christian Science treatment as a benefit under the Act."

North Monaghan And Smith Reach Quotas

Both North Monaghan and Smith townships were reported at Victory Loan headquarters this afternoon as having passed their objectives, following Dummer in the rural group whose farmer investors in the Sixth Loan "rang the bell" last week.

The exact figures had not been received from the township salesmen, and would not be available until the close of the day.

10,766 Investors

Another stray but important bit of information today was the statement that 10,766 persons in Peterborough city and county have already invested in the new Loan.

Among the local firms who have reached their quotas are:—

Wonder Bakeries—52 applications, 100 per cent of staff participating; objective was $4,900, and subscriptions totalled $5,200.

Canada Bread Company Employees also made their objective of $750; also in the category of "100 per cent investing."

Dick Raine at Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets is not listed in any group bracketing. He has two girls helping him, and the shop rates mention as "100 per cent investing."

arc within five miles of the city. The line extended through Mackenzie Heights in the northeast, through captured Inkerman in the east to the Black Sea coast southwest of Sevastopol.

Hills overlooking the Black Sea bristled with big guns, powerful fortifications and barbed wire entanglements, the army newspaper said, leading the Germans and Romanians to believe their positions impregnable. Earlier in the war, the Russians held the city 245 days against German siege.

An old coastal defence fort covered the entrance to the bay and behind it, three-storied German defence works were carved in the rocks.

The Red Star dispatch acknowledged that the capture of these position was difficult, but said the Russians took the first two hills after a fierce battle and then moved forward to seize a third hill in the depth of enemy defences.

The Germans were reported suffering heavy losses under devastating air raids, artillery barrages and infantry attacks. On a single hill, Red Star estimated 500 Germans died.

The midnight bulletin announced secondary activity in two other sectors—southeast of Stanislawow, in the southeast corner of Poland, where a German infantry battalion was repulsed in hand-to-hand fighting; and west of Iasi, in Romania, where an enemy counter-attack was thrown back to its starting point.

It means that those who have participated in atrocities must answer for their crimes. After all that has been taken care of, we expect to turn to and help Germany get established as an honest, democratic nation.

It may be that there must be some dismemberment of Germany. This possibility is indirectly forecast by the Soviet Trade Union Journal, "War and the Working Class," which takes sharp issue with the argument heard in some quarters that the Atlantic Charter precludes such dismemberment.

ation for a thrust by Chinese and American troops on the important town of Myitkyina.

Front dispatches said the tough Chindits now have killed 3,000 Japanese, have blown up the main railway line to Mandalay in the vicinity of Indaw and have "completely bewildered" the Japanese.

Major demolition work also was blasting the Bhamo-Myitkinia road, it was said. Military sources believed that the road could not be repaired before the Monsoons begin.

The Japanese fighting the Chindits are showing an increasing "lack of offensive spirit," front dispatches said. Drunkenness now is common and Japanese rank and file and officers were reported powerless to control their men.

A communique said that tank-supported Allied infantry following up heavy bombing by Allied aircraft drove the Japanese from a village two miles south of Bisenpur, which lies southwest of Imphal.

Allied troops also advanced both northeast and south of Palel, southeast of Imphal, capturing hills and villages, the bulletin said, adding that the Japanese suffered heavy losses in unsuccessful attacks on Palel road.

"In all sectors around the Imphal plain we have obtained local successes" the communique declared.

Premier Favors Developing River Project

TORONTO, May 9—(CP).—Ontario will be ready to proceed with development of the St. Lawrence waterway scheme as soon as agreement on its development is reached and materials and manpower are available, Premier Drew announced last night.

Addressing a dinner meeting of 400 delegates to the Ontario Government's two-day planning and development conference, he said that in the post-war period Ontario will need all the electric power she can develop "from the sources of Hydro-Electric energy as yet untapped."

In a talk mainly devoted to post-war planning and opportunities for Ontario, the Premier remarked that after the war Canadians would have to choose between the wartime system of governmental centralization at Ottawa that had arisen or returning to the pre-war system of giving the provinces wider authority.

He said he believed that whatever system was arrived at that "the farther we can go to getting local control back to the financing of our provincial governments, the better administration we shall have."

Ontario Needs People

He said he believed Ontario was capable of supporting a much larger population, adding that "there is no reason why this province cannot maintain 25,000,000 people in a higher degree of prosperity than ever before."

There were thousands of applications already received from British youths at Ontario House in London, he said, to come to Canada after the war. Just as many will come as can be employed after Ontario's population has been assured work.

Representatives of the municipalities were urged to set up local planning bodies so they could "develop their connections with the department (of planning and development) in Toronto, or any body that may be

Fraser Disputes C.C.F. Charge

OTTAWA, May 9.—(CP).—J. W. Noseworthy (CCF-York South) said last night in the Commons that under a new Progressive Conservative regime in Ontario "every last available position at the disposal of the government is being taken away from those of Liberal affiliation and passed over to the Conservatives."

He spoke in support of the C.C.F. proposal for nationalization of Canadian banks, and said it was probably true that a minister of a Liberal or Progressive Conservative government could not conceive of a government enterprise being operated without political patronage.

"Over the years in this country it has been the practice that when a Conservative government goes out of office, practically every position that is at the disposal of the government reverts to a Liberal, and vice versa," he said.

"We are seeing that happen in Ontario every day."

G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West): "Have you proof of that?"

Mr. Noseworthy: "Yes, I have."

Mr. Fraser: "I think you are absolutely wrong—in fact I know you are."

Mr. Noseworthy said he believed any government which tried to staff a national bank with political appointees would be committing political suicide.

Put Victory First

On Monday $154,000 was added to the Sixth Victory Loan in Peterborough with $125,550 of this coming from the General Canvass and the banks in the city and $23,100 from the county. The county dropped behind $12,900, while in the city the credit on the day was $29,550.

Adding $6,000 to their total the team of W. E. Metheral, Jim Juby, and Vic Tully is giving the leaders, A. J. McClellan, Art Cauley and Stan Darling, a real race in the General Canvass in the city. While the latter boys are still leading it is only by $1,750. The leaders have sold $79,350, adding $1,250 on Monday.

Jack Curtis, Bruce Sargent and Jim Harkness have moved into third place, nosing out R. Irwin, J. D. Anderson and Fred Revoy.

Fewer and fewer applications are being turned in daily, showing the canvassers are getting near the end of their canvass. However, on Monday Metheral, Juby and Tully reported 18 applications, and McFadgen, Gallagher and Smith eleven. The other six teams averaged seven applications each.

The second best record for the day was turned in by Rufus Payne, Lou Brooks and W. Roberts, who reported $2,100, but all the other six teams ranged down to a low of $250.

Vic Tully has taken the lead in the salesman race with $33,400 when he turned in a $2,600 day. Jack Curtis is now in second place with $32,750, R. Irwin has $31,750, and Art Cauley is holding at $28,950.

Asphodel which is being canvassed by H. Morgan, reported $4,550 for the top in the county. Norwood with W. H. Giffen was close behind with $4,100 day.

North Monaghan is nearing its objective of $40,000 with only $600 to go so it should be over the top today for the second rural municipality to reach its objective. Smith is $5,250 short and Otonabee lacks $42,200. Havelock still requires $19,450. Belmont and Methuen, $10,300; Douro $15,750. Ennismore $4,250; Lakefield $32,250; Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos $20,350; Norwood $21,100, and Asphodel $18,100.

Japanese Army On Defensive

KANDY, Ceylon, May 9—(CP)—An official statement from Allied Headquarters to-day said a communique issued here yesterday had erred in saying the Japanese are on the offensive in the Manipur Hills sector of North-eastern India.

Actually, it was explained, the enemy is on the defensive in this area.

The error resulted from garbled Army signals in the transmission of data being assembled from the various fronts, the statement said.

The first paragraph of the communique, the explanation added, should have read:

"On all sectors of the Assam front the Japanese are now generally on the defensive."

The original version said: "In all sectors of the Manipur Hills front there is now a general enemy offensive."

$154,700 Subscribed To Loan On 13th Day In Peterborough

Peterborough (city and county) subscriptions of the Sixth Victory Loan Monday totalled $154,700, increasing the aggregate for thirteen days to $3,280,500, which represents 72.9% of the obligated $4,500,000.

The required percentage up to Monday night was 72.22, leaving the grand total, beginning the fourteenth day, with a surplus margin in the percentage column of only .68, as compared with the corresponding "plus 2.8" Saturday night.

Manifestly the Peterborough unit as a whole lost ground on the first day of the final week of the campaign as dependence for final achievement of the objective of $4,500,000 devolves to the general canvass throughout the city and county, with expectations of further assistance through the banks and the other divisions which have not yet closed their books and wound up their effort.

$125,550 From City

Returns from the general canvass in the city saved Monday from a serious lapse in the course of the campaign, which like its predecessors is now reaching the ground where the going seems harder and heavier after the first two weeks of large subscriptions from all quarters especially from the industrial section, classed as payroll savings, boosted by special names.

City canvassers accounted for $125,550 or $29,550 more than the average daily requirement from that division.

The rural canvass turned in $23,100, or $12,900 less than its expected daily average of $36,000, that is if its objective is to be translated into reality.

The other source of subscriptions responding to the Monday needed stint was "payroll savings, including the armed forces and civil servants" who came through with subscriptions of $6,050.

And with $3,280,500 compiled in the thirteen days, Peterborough city and county were left with $1,219,500 to be delved from sources by next Saturday night, to reach that still remote grand total of $4,500,000.

As a matter of cold fact, only five days remain for Peterborough to tighten its determination a few more notches to the decision that the "million two hundred thousand" must be forthcoming.

Various sectors of the city and county front have not completed their action of digging down into funds and expected earnings and exchanging the cash for the equally sound Victory Bonds. And the bottom of the barrel has not been noisly scraped yet.

Asphodel's Good Day

In the percentage column Monday Asphodel led both the city and county in the general canvass division. The township increased its subscriptions by $4,550, from $15,350 to $19,900, and their percentage from 40.39 to 52.37, an advance of 11.98 points.

Norwood was second in that reckoning, their total moving up from $31,600 to $36,900 and their percentage from 54.48 to 63.62, an advance of 9.14.

Peterborough city general canvass deserves to be mentioned next with the accomplishment of $954,200 being boosted to $1,079,750, and the percentage from 61.56 to 69.66, or 8.1 points for the day; and the required moved for the day in percentage was from 66.66 to 72.22.

North Monaghan almost made its objective of the campaign Monday. Their total of $36,650 was improved to $39,400, a difference of $2,750, and their percentage went along from 91.62 to 98.5, or 6.88. Another day like that and Monaghan will be up in the select circle.

The northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos combined for a 6.34 percentage advance; their total subscriptions increased from $21,800 to $24,650; and their percentage from 48.44 to 54.78.

Lakefield's total was up from $24,850 to $27,750 or $2,900, and their percentage from 45.18 to 50.45 for an advance of 5.27.

Belmont and Methuen: Up from $13,850 to $14,700; $850 for the day; and the percentages from 55.4 to 58.8, or 3.4 advance.

Ennismore subscriptions were $350 from $7,400 to $7,750, and percentage from 61.67 to 64.58; a move of 2.91.

Smith contributed $2,100 to the day's subscriptions; up from $82,650 to $84,750; and percentage up 2.34 from 91.83 to 94.17.

Otonabee provided $1,450; up from $86,350 to $87,800; and in percentage from 66.42 to 67.54, a margin of 1.12.

Dummer was unchanged with 107.33% of its objective; Douro was in the same position with 56.43 of its objective; and Havelock also left the day blank at 53.69% of its quota.

The municipal groups who exceeded the day's required advance of 5.56 points in percentage were: Asphodel, Norwood, City of Peterborough, North Monaghan and Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, with Lakefield almost on the line with 5.27.

General Canvass

A summary of the general canvass still leaves the county in front of the city for thirteen days.

The rural subscriptions totalled $418,1000, or 69.68 of their $600,000 objective, several notches behind the required 72.22.

And the city, as mentioned above, was $1,079,750 of the general canvass quota of $1,550,000 or 69.66 per cent, only 2/100 behind the rural canvass.

Total city and county general canvass up to Monday night was $1,497,850 of their joint $2,150,000 or 69.67%.

For Thirteen Days

The statement of objectives and subscriptions tells at a glance the progress of the Loan for thirteen days, as follows:

Daniel Lynch Dies In Windsor

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9 (ENS) —A former magistrate and one time member of the town council, Daniel J. Lynch, LL.B, was buried here following requiem mass at St. Mary's church on Monday morning.

A resident of Campbellford for 40 years, Mr. Lynch earned the respect and friendship of many citizens, and the confidence which he enjoyed was culminated by his appointment as town solicitor, a position he held till his removal from Campbellford four years ago. Mr. Lynch served on the Board of Education here for 30 years and his ability in his chosen profession won him an enviable reputation throughout the district.

A son of the late Professor and Mrs. Francis Lynch of Peterborough, he received his early education in that city and subsequently graduated from the University of Toronto and from there went to Osgoode Hall. A man who read widely, a fact that was recognized in his ability as a practicing attorney, Mr. Lynch continued to study even after his retirement from active law practice, and at the time of his death had become a keen student of both Latin and Greek.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church and a third degree member of the Peterborough Council of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Lynch passed away at his home on Dougall Avenue, Windsor on May 5 only 25 days after his wife for whom Mass was also said Monday as both were brought from Windsor for interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Emily Elizabeth Lynch 72, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKenna, and like her husband she had many friends in this town. She was born in Faribault, Minnesota and as a girl attended the Bethlehem Academy and St. Clara's College in Sensinawa, Wisconsin. Mrs. Lynch came to Campbellford with her parents as a girl in her twenties and at that time her father operated a general store here. She took an active part in community affairs and was a charter member of the local branch of the I.O.D.E. and was also a member of the Catholic Women's League. Until shortly before her death Mrs. Lynch had enjoyed fairly good health and managed her household with the same care and efficiency that she had in days long past.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch are survived by two daughters, Emily and Margaret and one son Charles, all of Windsor. Requiem Mass was offered here by Rev. J. P. Collins with Monsignor F. O'Sullivan of Peterborough and Dean F. J. McAuley of Lindsay in the Sanctuary. Bearers for Mr. Lynch were N. A. McColl, H. N. Carr, R. N. Morrison, P. C. Denyes, Frank Lee, P. J. Kelly and for Mrs. Lynch the bearers were W. J. Callaghan, P. J. Sarginson, Pat Shannon, Jack Anderson, B. Daly and F. O'Sullivan.

Rotarians Report On District Meet

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9—(ENS) —In the absence of a speaker at Monday's meeting of the Rotary Club, President Stu Stewart called on several members who had attended the district conference in Toronto, for reports. Valuable information was brought back by the delegates and passed along and Bert Taylor, one of the delegates, expressed the opinion that it had been one of the best conferences he had attended. He paid tribute to the Belleville Club for its part in the program.

Of interest particularly to the local club was his report that Oshawa Rotarians had built that town a swimming pool at a cost of $1,300. He felt this might revive interest in the project which a year ago was the subject of considerable discussion as a purely local project for child welfare. Likewise of interest was his report on the part Rotarians in Malartic were playing in the building of a post war hospital in that community. That town has set an objective of $100,000 for the project and has already reached the $80,000 mark which prompted the question "Why can't we do it?" Brief reports were also given by Rotarians W. S. Wiggins, O. C. Watson, L. B. Glover and James O. Benor. Guests at the meeting were Rotarians W. Parson of Petrolia and Alex. Nathan of Belleville.

Farm Force Camps Open For Boy Workers

Ontario Farm Service Force boys' camps at Burlington and Leamington are in full swing, and camps at Holland Marsh, Harrow and Erie Beach will be opened by June 1, J. M. Samson, Y.M.C.A. farm service camp supervisor, said to-day. Harrow will have two camps.

Last year 800 High School boys lived in farm service camps while they helped Ontario farmers and fruit growers with their crops, and at least that many are expected to assist in the same way this year, Mr. Samson said.

High School boys from Toronto, Kitchener, and other central Ontario points who had high averages in their studies during the year left school several weeks ago to go to Burlington Camp. They must remain at camp at least 13 weeks in order to get their school year.

HOW TO RELIEVE

PILE TORTURE

QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-roid and are not entirely pleased with the results your druggist will gladly return your money —(Advt.)

Housing Plan Appeals To Larger Cities

By The Ottawa Staff Of The Canadian Press

OTTAWA, May 9 — (CP) — Announcement by Finance Minister Ilsley that the government is prepared to give favorable consideration to extending to other municipalities a scheme for low-cost housing to be implemented in Montreal, is regarded as likely to lead to a review by a number of larger municipalities of their housing problems.

Speculation on the terms of the new legislation has reached a point where prospective builders and purchasers are postponing action until they see the terms of the New Housing scheme. In an effort to avoid this condition becoming too general it is thought likely that the government will hasten the legislation.

Health: Provincial health ministers and their deputies will meet here with Federal authorities Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to study a draft National Health Insurance Bill which has been under review by the Commons committee on social security.

The meetings will deal mainly with the health clauses in the bill but the provincial ministers may be asked what their respective governments think of the method of financing the Health Insurance Plan.

Four Days To Go

The Sixth Victory Loan campaign still has four days to go. Last week it lagged noticeably; this week the lost ground must be recovered and the campaign pushed to a successful conclusion.

In this campaign the response of the large business organizations with great numbers of employees and funds for investment has been excellent, and they are doing their best to make the Loan a success. But at most they can only do half the job. The success or failure of the Loan, in the end, depends upon the response made by the private citizen who is a small buyer. Banks, insurance companies and corporations are important in launching these Loans, but they do not represent the same sacrifice of immediate purchasing power that the buying of the small investor does. The money which really hurts our enemies and adds most to our own war effort is the money which we would ordinarily spend on luxuries.

Why so? Because spending on things which we do not really need creates a demand for those things, and if a demand is great enough it is very hard to keep someone from filling it. And when men are busy making luxuries for us they cannot be doing anything important in the war effort. The sacrifice of luxuries and the buying of Bonds are two ways—inseparable ways—in which we can make a direct contribution to victory.

The sacrifice is trifling. Indeed, it is only a figure of speech to call it "sacrifice" at all. The Victory Loan gives us a chance to invest our money at a rate of interest double what we can get at the banks, and it gives us a chance to keep our money out of mischief. It gives us a stake in the future, and a safeguard if hard times should come our way. It provides our fighting men with the weapons and the supplies which are the essentials of war.

Now is the time—tonight is the time—to think over what we have done about the Loan, and appraise its value. Have we bought at all? Have we bought enough? Have we bought all that we can afford? No one knows the answers to these questions except ourselves. No one can lay down the money and take up the Bonds for us. Are we all doing our full duty? There are only four days to go: the time to think the matter over is now.

Synthetic Quinine

During this war our losses in the East have cost us dear, and in particular they have struck at our supplies of necessary drugs and medicaments. The closing-off of our supplies of quinine alone has caused great trouble and worry. It is splendid news therefore that two research workers in the U.S., Drs. Robert B. Woodward and William E. Doering, have succeeded in producing synthetic quinine.

The search for synthetic quinine has been going on since 1856 when the British chemist William H. Perkin attempted to produce it, and failed; in the course of his researches, however, Perkin made discoveries which led to the establishment of the huge coal-tar industries. Perkin failed to produce quinine, we are told, because he did not understand the structure of the quinine molecule, and this was not understood until the actual nature of that molecule was discovered by two German chemists, Rabe and Koenig. They discovered what the quinine molecule was like; the work of the American chemists lay in producing that molecule artificially. This they have done in the remarkably short period of fourteen months.

The process which they have evolved is a very expensive one, and quinine made by it would be much too costly for general use. But almost every synthetic product has been expensive to begin with. Our drug-stores and kitchen cupboards are full of products which were originally produced at great cost, and which are now cheap. It will certainly be so with quinine. The important thing is that the work of these chemists has delivered us from the necessity of depending on cinchona bark, the natural source of quinine, which the Japanese have taken from us.

The Snow White Philosophy

Writing in the Winnipeg Free Press Bruce Hutchison draws attention to this curious proclamation of the Governor of Iowa:

"Whereas, each of us is touched in some measure by the horror and sadness of the war; and

"Whereas, when we are under great strain and emotional stress, we must seek some form of escape from our troubled thoughts and find a medium of spiritual refreshment and mental relaxation so that we may more efficiently carry on with the necessary duties of our daily living and also take an active part in vital war effort; and

"Whereas, the realm of fantasy provides such an escape from reality and is a wholesome, uplifting form of amusement;

"Now, therefore, I, Bourke B. Hickenlooper, as Governor, hereby proclaim the week of April 12, 1944, inclusive, as

"Snow White Week.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Iowa to be affixed hereto".

Mr. Hutchison comments bitterly on this document; our own response to it is not so much bitterness as curiosity. What was "Snow White Week" in Iowa like? Did all the citizens of the state try to behave like dwarfs, or wicked queens, or princesses? Or did they simply try to adopt the philosophy of life which was implicit in Walt Disney's film?

If the latter, they were merely doing openly and honestly what vast numbers of people on this continent do secretively. "Some day my prince will come"; so runs the theme-song of the movie. And millions of girls believe it. They yearn for a prince who will deliver them from any necessity to work or worry, who will give them riches and a life of devotion for a very slight return; and when the prince does not come along, and they marry some lad who is simply flesh and blood, like themselves, they never quite forgive him for not coming up to the princely specifications.

Frankly, we should like to have been in Iowa during Snow White Week. A large population frankly admitting its desire to live in a fairy-tale must have provided an interesting spectacle.

A Fortune For Somebody

The composer of Mairsey Doates, we understand, is doing very well out of his euphoric little ditty. Sheet music, radio and other royalty-producing sources are paying him handsome sums. And for what? A musical setting of a jingle which, as we explained in these columns some months ago, was common property in the nurseries of fifty, sixty and seventy years ago.

We do not grudge him his good fortune. Indeed, we are going to offer him material for further successes. Mairsey Doates is not our only chilhood recollections. We knew other jokes which panicked the simple-minded moppets of an earlier day. For instance, here is a conversation; can you follow it?

F V N E X?
S, V F X.
F V N E M?
S, V F M.
O, V F M N X!

If you are a bit dull in the wit, this is hoary double talk about ham and eggs. Set to a catchy tune it might sweep the country.

And here is another. This is a really tricky one, so concentrate:

YY U R,
YY U B,
I C U R
YY for me!

As you will never solve this unaided we print a translation:

Too wise you are,
Too wise you be,
I see you are
Too wise for me!

Brilliant, is it not? All that is wanted now is the tune, and the money will start rolling in! And when these are exhausted, we know a lot of other drivel which would undoubtedly fazzle the ganglions of the zoot-suit Aristotles and bobby-sock Aspasias who are the arbiters in these matters.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A librarian has sharply criticised army libraries. Is army policy in this respect a closed book?

A lot of people have started their spring cleaning. And, says the Kingston Whig Standard, Mr. Isley has just about completed his.

Governor Dewey has proclaimed a Noise Abatement Week in the State of New York, and certainly his own silence sets a fine example.

The Windsor Star sheds new light on an old subject when it says: "Speaking of juvenile delinquency, how many people ever pause to consider that they belong to the generation that their parents worried about?"

Britain For Private Enterprise

(From the Winnipeg Free Press)

THE recent budget speech of Sir John Anderson in the British Parliament is interesting to Canadians for two reasons. First, it shows the British Government's determination to relieve as soon as possible the present crippling load of taxation on private business. Second, it shows the general acceptance by the British people, including the Labour party, of private enterprise as the permanent mainspring of the British economy.

Sir John's announcement that the excess profits tax will be slightly eased already, with a view to greater relief later, was approved, of course, by the Labor party members of the government. But it was also approved by Mr. Pethick Lawrence, leader of the Labour opposition, who said he recognized "the overriding necessity of restoring British industry after the war and as soon as possible."

IF the Canadian Government were to introduce legislation relieving private business of taxation, even by a minor amount, it is not hard to imagine the reaction of the C.C.F. While the C.C.F. constantly represents itself as the counterpart of the British Labour party, it has never been satisfied even yet that Canadian business has borne a fair share of the cost of the war. Whereas the British Labour party not only seeks to relieve private business of excessive taxes after the war, but starts to relieve it now, in the middle of the war, the C.C.F. is constantly demanding increased taxes on business. This is perfectly logical since the C.C.F. seeks to destroy private business altogether, whereas the British Labour party intends that it shall remain and flourish.

PRIVATE business cannot flourish, nor even remain for long, under the taxation systems now in effect in Britain and Canada. The existing tax levies leave the investor such a minute return on his capital that all investment is discouraged, and very little will be attempted after the war, when the government ceases to act as a guaranteed market for all production, unless taxes are reduced?

The British Government, including its labour ministers, feel so strongly that business must be given a chance to expand, to invest, to profit and to create employment after the war, that it provides now a token reduction in taxes, an earnest of greater reductions to come. This policy is welcomed by the Labour opposition, as by the Labour ministers, because all agree that private enterprise must conduct the largest part of Britain's business, and provide the largest part of its employment in the future as in the past.

The C.C.F. plan in Canada, though represented as parallel to that of the British Labour party, not only calls for the direct elimination of most private enterprise but assures the elimination of the remainder. It is not concerned in the least with the maintenance of any private enterprise.

IT states plainly that some private enterprise may remain if it fits absolutely into the government's over-all plan and if it is judged socially desirable and virtuous, according to the government's arbitrary definition. But if, under the conditions, it cannot make a profit and function, that is no worry to the government, which will be quite capable of managing all business itself. In any case, the government would constantly increase its encroachments on private enterprise, buying up various companies, needed in the over-all plan, at the government's own price. Threatened with expropriation, hounded by continual government regulation, taxed so that no attractive profits would be earned, private enterprise would fold up by the simple refusal of capital to risk money in it.

It is precisely against these dangers that the British government—composed of Conservatives, Liberals and Labour ministers — is seeking to guard now by starting to reduce taxes, by starting to give business its chance of life and health. It is these dangers that are appreciated even by Labour members who are too radical to support the government in other policies. Thus the politics of Britain turn almost unanimously on the belief that, while the state must increase its activities greatly in the post-war world, private enterprise must remain the powerhouse of the economy and must have the fuel to keep its fires burning.

AT one time the C.C.F. used to point with pride to Russia as the great exemplar of Socialism. We hear little about this any more. Then we were told that the economics of the New Deal in Washington were a shining beacon of enlightenment to an economically illiterate world. The New Deal having failed to solve unemployment and being forced to finance solely by the ancient system of accumulating debt, the C.C.F. does not mention it much either. Later on New Zealand became the Mecca of the C.C.F. prophets and we were told that it had found the solution of all social problems and was virtually a paradise of security. But when the New Zealand Government got into difficulties, abandoned such devices as interest-free loans and found itself opposed by a large part of its people, the C.C.F. suddenly forgot the happy Dominion of the South Seas.

However, we have been assured lately that the C.C.F. is the British Labour party of Canada. Now that the British Labour party is endorsing private enterprise, which the C.C.F. would extinguish, we may expect to note an absence of the British example in the C.C.F. speeches. In actual fact, the C.C.F. with its plan of complete state control of everything, is absolutely unique in British nations and among all democratic nations. The only parallel to the C.C.F. plan is to be found in the totalitarian countries, and that plan can only be enforced by a totalitarian government.

The bag-bearer was at the last pew when the woman came hustling back. She snatched a penny from the bag, and was passing out of the church door when Tompkins grabbed her arm.

"I say," he muttered, "why do you come in here, drop a coin in the bag, then take it out again and leave?"

The woman shook him off indignantly.

ALL SNARLED UP —By Rube Goldberg

Empire and Commonwealth

(NEW YORK TIMES)

PRIME Minister Churchill of the United Kingdom has been conferring with four other Prime Ministers — Mackenzie King of Canada, Smuts of South Africa, Curtin of Australia and Fraser of New Zealand. In receiving his colleagues Mr. Churchill referred to "the Commonwealth and the Empire," making note of a distinction which is clear in constitutional law but perhaps not as clear in American minds as it ought to be. This is that the British Commonwealth of Nations is a voluntary union of nations equal in status, whereas the Empire is primarily the concern of one of those nations, namely, the United Kingdom. The absence of Prime Minister de Valera of Eire from the London meeting is evidence of just how genuinely free the Commonwealth members are. Eire has exercised her constitutional right to be neutral in the present war, just as South Africa, Canada, New Zealand or Australia might have done.

The Empire, with its crown colonies, dependencies, protectorates and mandated territories and with India as a vast special case and problem, obviously has no such freedom. It is at various stages of constitutional development. Dominion status for India can hardly be postponed for many years. Little Newfoundland's dominion status was allowed to lapse because of financial difficulties—it may be regained. The imperial idea and practice tends to weaken wherever a population becomes manifestly capable of self-government. The Empire is, in fact, an inheritance which is bound to shrink. The governing principle of the future will be that of free association. Mr. Churchill has announced that he does not propose to preside over the dissolution of the Empire. None the less his actual strength lies only partially in the Empire, which provides Britain and ourselves, in time of trouble —with bases, guards her sea routes and furnishes her with supplies. The bulk of the moral and material reinforcements Britain has received under the British flag has come from the nations of the Commonwealth.

The Commonwealth may well be studied as an object lesson in free association. Though it can scarcely be said to have been planned in advance, it arose out of practical needs. Australia, for example, could not permit a purely British Parliament to enact her laws. Neither could she conveniently send representatives to an all-powerful imperial Parliament in London. At the same time she needed the protection of the British fleet and had certain other interests in common with Canada, New Zealand and South Africa, as well as with Britain. The common interests produced the Commonwealth.

The United Nations in this war do not provide a close analogy, but they would do so if the association among them were prolonged after the war. They, too, will have a common concern for security, some common economic interests, and some common ideas about government.

In any sort of world federation the British Commonwealth will doubtless survive. So will the United States of America. But each may be a building block in a lordlier structure.

Snoopers and Busybodies

Our people still accept cheerfully the controls of wartime. They have never asked for the licences of peace. They understand quite clearly that controls which frustrate their private lives and a certain regimentation which is very irksome to the British spirit are the price of victory. No great people were ever so tractable and sensible and valorous. But the suspicion that bureaucracy, grossly inflated under the stress of war, has got the upper hand and is misusing it might yet be fatal to the greatest cause in history. Snoopers and busybodies and jacks-in-office, those enemies of the little man and claimants to his birthright, must be themselves curbed. For if we were to allow the spirit of Freedom to be exercised in this free land, we should have lost the fight and betrayed the cause in the very act of winning the war.—London Sunday Express.

What's In A Name?

A news report from Jerusalem says that Rudolf Messerschmidt, Swiss emigre to Palestine, has applied to change his name to Spitfire. It reminds us of the parody that the late President Woodrow Wilson is reputed to have written on the famous jingle:

Down in dear Boston,
The land of the bean and the cod,
Where the Lowels speak only to Cabots
And the Cabots speak only to God.

Mr. Wilson is said to have noted one day that a Polish family in Boston named Kabotski was petitioning to change its name to Cabot. He thereupon dashed off the following revision of the original rhyme:

Down in dear old Boston,
The land of the bean and the cod,
Where the Lowells can't speak to the Cabots,
'Cause the Cabots speak Yiddish, by God!

—Montreal Gazette.

Fritz Kreisler's Recovery

In consenting to give five broadcasts over the NBC network in the summer Fritz Kreisler, now in his seventieth year, has broken what has hitherto been his inflexible rule. The most tempting offers have previously failed to persuade him to appear before the microphone.

Happily no permeant ill effects have resulted from the street accident—a collision with a lorry which struck him down in New York a few years ago, but for a time it threatened to bring his professional career to an end. He had suffered a skull fracture as well as internal injuries, and for several days he lay unconscious. It was nearly a month before he began to improve.

When he had sufficiently recovered to sit up in bed his anxious wife was haunted by a doubt whether he would ever be able to play again. Without giving him any hint of her purpose, she brought a violin into the hospital room and began talking about music, remarking that there was a passage in Mendelssohn's violin concerto that troubled her. Would Fritz play it for her? "Of course," he replied. He took the violin, tuned it, picked up the bow, lifted the instrument to his chin, and raised his right arm.

It was a tense moment, but Mrs. Kreisler's fears were quickly dispelled. Her husband played the passage unhesitatingly with the old touch, and when he had finished asked whether that was what she wanted to hear. It was.—Manchester Guardian.

Self-Reliant Small Towns

Many small-town weekly newspapers report that local organizations have set up post-war committees. These committees try to find out how many jobs will be available for the boys when they get out of uniform.

So far, it has been noticed, few small towns are proposing that local problems be settled by having the Dominion and provincial governments spend money locally to provide jobs. Perhaps the small towns realize they haven't the political influence to exert sufficient pressure on Ottawa and provincial capitals.

This is in pleasant contrast to the great cities, where there are organizations which are asking, or intend to ask, that the Dominion come forward and help in a big way. The bigger and richer these big cities are, the more certain they are that the taxpayers in smaller places should help them out.—The Printed Word.

Profits and Surpluses

It seems a curious thing to some people that the earnings of private enterprise are labelled profits, while the comparable excess moneys of a publicly-owned utility such as Ontario Hydro are only "surpluses."

Similarly, this excess money of a public utility may be used for "reduction of debt, purchase of property, maintenance or extension of the system" and so on, but when private enterprise earmarks some of its "surplus" for similar purposes it is considered most reprehensible. As the Toronto Star put it scornfully, "Such reserves are designed to enable a corporation to increase its plant and equipment without its owners increasing their investment."

The situation is becoming so confusing that some people are in favour of trying Basic English to find out what is really going on. In Basic English there are no "good" words such as "surplus," and no "bad" words such as "profits." There is only one word, "profits," for each idea. —The Printed Word.

THE SOUTH'S RECORD

The recent record of the South in world affairs is inspiring. Lend-lease would have been beaten in Congress but for Southern votes. When the first year of the first draft expired, four months before Pearl Harbor, it was Southern members of Congress who insured its extension. When, by one vote, Congress decided not to send all the soldiers home it was the South that turned the scale. Representatives of 12 Southern states cast 102 votes in favour of extending the draft and only six votes against it.—New York Herald Tribune.

IDEAS SAVE

It is estimated that production-saving ideas of aircraft workers in Canadian plants have this year resulted in a national saving of $470,710. It is pointed out this does not take into account the indirect savings when spread over the whole war effort which may run into millions. Some 800 ideas have been accepted by the plant Joint Production Committee and put into effect, individual awards to workers totalling $52,993. It might be a good plan to expand the plan to embrace Civil Servants who might be in a position to make suggestions that would result in much greater savings at Ottawa.—Renfrew Mercury.

BROTHERS MEET

A Shirley soldier now in the Middle East was riding on a truck down an Italian road when suddenly it came to a halt. Another soldier on foot walked round to the back to investigate the truck's contents. "Eh, you," he said to the lolling Tommy, "move up there and let's see what you've got." Languidly the man in the truck turned round and then nearly fell out as he exclaimed—"Good heavens, Norman, where did you spring from?" They were brothers!

Their names are Sgt. Syd and Cpl. Norman Roberts, of Cranmore Road, Shirley, serving with the R.A.S.C. The sergeant enlisted in January, 1940, and the corporal in September, 1939. The former was in France, Iraq, and Egypt before moving across North Africa and so into Sicily, while the other, after being posted to Egypt in 1939, saw service at El Alamein, Tobruk and Crete.

They had not met since the outbreak of war.—Birmingham Mail.

THE GREEN LEAF

The next time you look at green leaves, tip your hat and bow. Without them you could not live.

The green stuff in these leaves is called chlorophyl. This green stuff takes a sip of water, a whiff of carbonic acid gas (soda water fizz), a flash of sunlight and makes them into the basic material from which you get starches, sugars, vegetable oils, wood and all plant products.

Now, when you use a bit of sugar in your body to work your muscles or keep your body warm, you burn it up. The chemist would say that you oxidize it. And when you do this you make it back into water and carbonic acid gas and so you have a ring-around-a-rosy because the green leaf uses what you throw away as waste to make you (with the help of sunlight) some more food stuff.

Scientists call this process photo-synthesis and have been trying for some years to find out how it is done. They don't know yet, possibly they never will.

You see it would be very nice if we could put some water with a little soda water gas in it in the sun and find them made into the makings of a peck of potatoes or five pounds of sugar.—D. J. Moran in the Chicago News.

A Bible Message

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens.... When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; what is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?.... Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet....

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! (Ps. 8: 1, 3, 4, 6, 9.)

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing.

Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. (Ps. 100: 1-3.)

The RISING COST OF WINNING

MOVING into this hell on earth are our men—armed with the weapons you are providing, riding in the barges and ships you helped to buy, flying the airplanes and driving the tanks and trucks and jeeps—yes and firing the ammunition that you helped to buy too.

And our men keep driving the enemy back because they have the tools to do the job. But make no mistake. The cost in every kind of military supplies jumps unbelievably with every invasion because equipment wears out faster, more of it is lost or destroyed and the stock-piles of new supplies just seem to melt away when our forces go on the attack—relentlessly driving the enemy back.

These stock-piles have got to be re-built—faster and faster—as the speed of invasion and attack increases. That means that everyone here at home has got to keep doing his or her FULL PART in the factories and in the fields.

It means too, that more and more money will be needed for these supplies to keep our fighting forces ON THE OFFENSIVE to speed Victory . . . and it means that the war is being shortened and that more of our sons and daughters will be home . . . sooner. So concentrate on the rising cost of winning.

Hockey Players Try Softball

MONTREAL, May 9 — (CP) — Members of the National Hockey League Canadiens team, winners of the Stanley Cup this year, will invade the realm of softball this summer, it was announced here by T. P. Gorman, general manager of the club. The team will play only exhibition games for charitable purposes.

Since a majority of the Canadiens' players are employed in essential indutries, only Sunday games will be played. The team will accept all challengers within a reasonable distance of Montreal.

Toe Blake, captain of the hockey team will coach the diamond squad as well as hold down the third base spot. Bill Durnan, the team's outstanding goalie, will captain the ball club. He is one of the country's leading softball pitchers.

The remainder of the team will be: Elmer Lach, second base; Phil Watson, catcher; Fern Majeau, first base; Buddy O'Connor, shortstop and second base; Leo Lamoureux, pitcher and outfielder; Emile Bouchard, first base; Maurice 'Rocket' Richard, third base; Murphy Chamberlain, outfielder; Ray Getliffe, outfielders; Gerry Heffernan, shortstop; and Glen Harmon, outfielder.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The executive o fthe City Softball League decided Monday night to defer the opening of the league until Thursday, May 18, in order to provide a chance to get Riverside Park in shape. It had first been planned to open next Monday, May 15. The teams who will fire the first gun will be the Plazas, otherwise the hockey squad who won the league two seasons ago under the Plaza banner and again last year as the 4th Battery, and Murph Chambers' Switchgear team. De Laval who entered the league at the first meeting withdrew last night but there is a possibility that Frank McCormick's Combines will enter in their place. Otherwise the league will carry on as a four-club organization with four games scheduled each week. Harold Dormer was appointed as umpire-in-chief and the other members of the umpiring staff selected by the executive were Bob Batley, Herb Payne and Pat Calladine. Joe King is again looking after the league score cards and is planning an ambitious affair that will contain a lot of data about softball in general and local teams and players in particular.

* * * * * *

With the opening of the league a little more than a week away the clubs are settling down to training and with good weather this week hope to be ready to pry off the lid when the umpires call "Play ball." The U.E. Union team had its first workout last week and were back with a big squad again last night. Plazas also staged their initial drill Monday night and will be out again Wednesday at 6.30 o'clock at Riverside. Jimmy Ellis was out of town and had to miss the first workout but Eddie Starr, Les Burton, Joe Blewett, Bill Jones, Phil Pryde, Art Heal, Bun Kingdon and other members of last year's champs were on hand along with Infielders George Hawks and Jack Tucker and Pitcher Woods of last year's Genelecs who are tossing in their lot with Plazas for the coming campaign. Murph Chambers has called a practice of his Switchgear team for Riverside tonight and the squad will also work out Thursday night. Switchgear have lined up a strong outfit, our scouts report. So far Military Training Centre have not had a workout, the camp diamond not being considered dry enough for use so the Soldiers haven't had a chance to find out what new material is available for this year's team. Tony McIlveen, Harry Morgan, Doug Mortimer, Jack Lenahan, Ossie Anderson, Huck Herrick and McKerrigan of last year's squad are still available and the Centre hopes to find a couple of pitchers among the new recruits.

Whipper Takes A Chance

The fact that Whipper Watson has cheerfully consented to meet Verne Baxter in the main bout here tonight, instead of Bob Wagner his original opponent, shows the kind of fellow the British Empire champion is. The Whipper battles Wild Bill Longson in Toronto Thursday for the world title and if he had wanted to play safe and declined to meet such a dangerous opponent as the Oregon star tonight no one could have blamed him. Baxter, while not so crude in his rough tactics as Bob Wagner is plenty tough and the smoothness with which he gets away with his back-alley tactics makes them all the more effective. Toar Morgan found Baxter a handful when they met here two weeks ago in a semi-final bout and while the affair ended in a draw after 30 minutes of torrid action, if a decision had been necessary it would have undoubtedly gone to the hardy customer from Oregon for he had the edge throughout. He is a doughty adversary to meet two days before a battle for the world title but Watson didn't bat an eye when he was told that he would have to meet Baxter instead of the Strangler. "I haven't got him figured out the way I had Wagner," said the Whip, "but I guess I can map out my campaign as it goes along." Watson has a host of friends here and they will all be on hand tonight to see him in action for the last time before he battles for the championship of the world.

* * * * * *

The Watson-Baxter bout is by no means not all the class on tonight's card. We have an idea that the semi-final between Air Force Pat Flanagan and the Edmonton buzz saw Johnny Demchuk will turn out to be the fastest bout of the season. Demchuk is said to outclass the young man on the flying trapeze in his flights through the air and western reports call him perpetual motion while Flanagan shows more action than a champion jitterbug. When the two cut loose with flying tackles, dives through the air and acrobatic evasive action, Promoter Tunney will probably wish that he had thought of stretching a net around the ring to catch the battlers when they come sailing over the ropes. Then we have the local debut as a wrestler of Abe Zvonkin of football fame. The Hamilton human tank has been one of the toughest linemen in the country for years and his first appearance as a wrestler showed that he is just about as formidable at the mat game as he is on the gridiron. As for Johnny Gyroffy, the former Air Force grappler, is speed plus and it will be interesting to see how his fast stuff works against the sturdy Zvonkin. All in all this nearly all-Canadian show looks like one of the best Promoter Tunney has offered here.

Likes The Senators

"Offensively, the Browns have one of the best power hitters in the American League in Shortstop Vernon Stephens," writes Doug Vaughan in the Windsor Star. "Right now he is setting the pace in the important matter of driving in runs. Last year he finished fourth in the circuit as a run producer and this year he promises to make slugging first-basemen such as Rudy York, Nick Etten and Hal Trosky do some heavy clubbing to keep up with him. But the power of the Browns doesn't stop with Stephens. They have got several other pretty fair sluggers, including Second-baseman Don Gutteridge and First-baseman George McQuinn. So far the Browns haven't been tested by the two teams in the circuit which are likely to provide them with their stiffest opposition—the Yankees and the Washington Senators. After they have tangled with them one will be able to have a true line on what can be expected from them. Away to an uncertain start, the Yanks have been playing winning ball the past week or so and, as is always the case, they are going to have plenty to say as to who is going to be the league champion. The Senators — whom this department still thinks are going to win the pennant—started even more slowly than the Yankees and still aren't playing anywhere near the brand of ball expected of them. But they will get going, rest assured of that, and they will be particularly tough in night games, of which they will play more than any other team in either of the major leagues."

Softball in Belleville this season is sort of a mixed dish. Altogether the Belleville City League has seven entries but two of the teams are junior and two, Point Anne and Tweed, out-of-town entries. Says Ken Coling in his sport column: "President Joe Samain, of the men's softball ship sailed out into calm waters and will draft a schedule next week....There will be seven teams face the barrier, Tweed, Point Anne, the Argyll Light Infantry, Alemite, Stephens-Adamson, Argyll (juniors) and Columbian Squires, also juniors....The Army and Navy Veterans were granted a year's leave of absence....This gives the men's softball five intermediate and two junior teams playing in the same loop....Point Anne could not see their way clear to play in Tweed, but Charlie Dion, the Tweed mentor, agreed to forego the game providing the Belleville team play at least one game each in Sam Curry's adopted village....Incidentally Harvey Scott, former Alemite catcher, is a patient in the hospital as the result of a large metal plate falling on his foot Gord Booth, who looks after the welfare of the Alemite nine, stole a march on the boys this week when he signed Jim Kerr, former Hamilton Pee Gee catcher, to look after the receiving end of the "East-enders"....Kerr played for Pee Gees when they beat the great Cam Ecclestone from Toronto....Last year Jim caught for No. 5 I.T.S."

Left-fielder Lou Novikoff, the mad Russian of Chicago Cubs, has been given a break by Charlie Grimm, the new manager of the team who remembers how Lou smashed out .370 in 90 games for Grimm's Milwaukee Brewers in 1941. Lou has been promised a place on the regular line-up on the condition, as laid down by Grimm, that he bat and not try to think.

The Cubs' $60,000 player was in the headlines a year ago when he was reported to have held out for a $15,000 stipend. He was rushed into a breach with much ballyhoo while the Cubs were in their early 1943 slump, only to prove a washout. He got into only 78 games and his bat recorded a mere .279. Before joining major league company, Novikoff had never hit below .363 in three minor loops.

Despite some question of the condition of his foot which he had injured some time ago, Third-Baseman Ken Keltner of the Cleveland Indians yesterday was accepted at Milwaukee for service in the Navy, but will not report for at least 21 days.

Belmont Park, New York, opened its 24-day spring meeting yesterday with a crowd of 25,419 fans who used the mutuels to the extent of $2,060,044. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Devil Diver won the Toboggan Handicap for the second successive year, while the daily double paid $1,556.70 on the wins of Flood Town and Sorsky to 40 ticket-holders. Sorsky paid $184.40 for $2 in the second event.

Major league first-sackers are basking in the batting spotlight, with Nick Etten of New York Yankees clouting 'em at a .476 pace; Howie Schultz of the Dodgers already having 20 runs batted in and Phil Weintraub of the New York Giants accounting for 16 runs in the same category. Other slugging first-basemen include Phil Cavaretta of the Cubs, Rudy York of Detroit, George McQuinn of St. Louis Browns, and Hal Trosky of Chicago White Sox.

Ball Thriving Despite Draft Calls

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer.

Baseball's manpower problem appears to-day to have passed out of the acute stage as the major leagues settle down to a six-month run with pleasant prospects of tight pennant packs and night baseball to bolster mid-week attendance figures.

When the big show resumes tomorrow, after a two-day travel interlude, they'll turn on the lights at Washington, Cincinnati and Pittsburg and the "owl ball" season will be under way.

Draft boards still hold the balance of power in every league as players are called to the colors, but major league rosters have not undergone drastic changes since the season opened.

In addition to the American and National loops, the complete minor league setup is in operation with three double-A circuits, one A-1 league, one A circuit, two Class B and three Class D organizations. So far, nobody has had to play with less than nine men.

Since the manpower problem became at least temporarily stabilized, such stars as Spud Chandler of the Yankees and Joe Beggs of the Reds have been taken out, but many others are playing out the string.

Players on each big league club are on lend-lease from the armed services after passing their physical exams, but they are playing until called. In that last, among others, are Gee Walker of the Reds, Damon Phillips, Connie Ryan and Butch Nieman of Boston Braves, Bobby Bragan of Brooklyn, Johnny Lindell of the Yanks, and Ray Hamrick of the Phils.

The stream heading toward the service is partially matched by a steady influx of war veterans who are finding their way into the game. Tom Warren, a Brooklyn pitcher who was at Casablanca, belongs in that category, as does Jack Kramer, St. Louis Browns mound sensation who did a hitch in the Navy.

Rudy York's rejection sent Detroit stock on the upgrade, and the acceptance or rejection of Ken Keltner of Cleveland will affect their chances.

Buddy Rosar of the Tribe has transferred from a Buffalo to a Cleveland war job, and is available for part-time duty as is Denny Galehouse, the Browns' week-end pitcher

Syracuse Climbs Out Of Cellar

By The Associated Press

Five runs in the lucky seventh pulled Syracuse out of the International League cellar last night.

The rally wiped out a 5-2 Toronto lead and gave the Chiefs an eventual 10-5 triumph over the Maple Leafs.

Tom Ananicz, Toronto starting pitcher, had a four-hitter until he unexpectedly lost control in the seventh after Catcher Yananovich's single. He handed out three successive walks to force in a run before being yanked in favor of Al Jarlett.

Al Mele, Syracuse right fielder, promptly tagged Jarlett for a base-cleaning two-bagger to win the game. Jim Konstanty went the route for the Chiefs, blanking the Leafs in the last four innings. He yielded eight hits.

All other teams had an open date.

Today's Schedule

Jersey City at Montreal, 4 p.m. (Dyche vs. Gabbard).
Newark at Buffalo, night, 8.30 p.m. (Holcombe vs. Wilson).

TORONTO, May 9 — (CP). — With amateur baseball in Canada due to kick off for the summer in a few weeks now, it was inevitable someone should revive the old argument, whether a baseball player can dabble in softball without hurting his playing abilities.

Some opinion has it that the change in the size of ball and bat will hamper a man's hitting instincts, while the opposite school of thought has its supporters, mainly along the softball stalwarts. Old-time baseball players generally frown on softball which they feel is too sissified and beneath the dignity of a real horsehide expert.

However, with the shortage of players in many localities and the difficulty organizing baseball leagues, the boys probably will have to chase the balloon-ball around whether they like it or not.

Comeback attempts:

The filly Air Sure, formerly owned by Toronto's Conny Smythe, has fallen on evil days since she upset the critics and ran home ahead of Ten to Ace as a juvenile. When Smythe joined the Army he sold her for $8,500, but Dave (Regina Leader Post) Dryburgh reports she was resold recently for much less because of her falldown since.

Tuesday topics:

Besides its other attractions, Niagara Falls this year can offer summer skating. The local Figure Skating Club is behind the idea. One-quarter of the arena is being left uniced, and will house the wrestling ring. Hope those torrid, sweating rasslers don't melt the ice in the other end of the rink....Canadian baseball fans reading of the 22,000 bottles of beer guzzled at a game in Buffalo the other day know what the song-writer meant when he wanted to shuffle off to Buffalo.....They're having horse trouble down in Nova Scotia too. Racing moguls have decided to raise track admission fees, and the horse owners came right back with a demand for larger purses...Red Burnett is working into harness again on the Toronto Star sport staff. He was given his medical discharge from the Army about six weeks after nearly a year's service ....Hank Goldup has been given a discharge from the Army, and says he will be with New York Rangers next winter....Gerard Cote returned a gift of $150 made him by the Montreal Athletic Commission after his Boston Marathon victory. Report says Cote has been invited to do some racing in Sweden this summer, but it's doubtful if the Army will see eye to eye with that...Edmonton golfers have parted with 60 golf balls for shipment to the boys overseas, with more to come, or go, if you prefer.

Classy Field For Preakness

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE, May 9.—(AP). — Saturday's 54th running of the Preakness Stakes shaped up to-day as an effort by nine or ten colts to knock out Calumet Farm's Pensive off the pinnacle he attained three days ago when he whipped 15 three year olds in the richest of all Kentucky Derbies.

It appeared that all six of the Preakness eligibles who started at Churchill Downs would go in the mile and three sixteenths second leg of the triple crown.

A. C. Ernst's Alorter arrived in Baltimore yesterday, and Pensive, Gramps Image, Gay Bit, Skytracer and Stir Up Derby favorite who finished third, were scheduled to show up to-day.

Six colts were named for to-day's survivor stakes, final Pimlico test for the Preakness, but only two of them were eligible for the run for the black-eyed Susans.

They were W. L. Brann's Picotee, regarded as a probable starter if he performs satisfactorily to-day, and Hal Price's Headley's Mégogo, whose Preakness chances were extremely slim.

Other non-Derby colts being pointed for an attempt to stymie Pensive's triple crown aspirations were Platter, the Geo. D. Widener son of Pilate who won more money as a juvenile than any of the other probables; Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Stymie, second to Stir Up in the Wood Memorial; and Mrs. Donald H. Peters' Bull Dandy, who ran seventh in that same pre-Derby race.

38 Eire Firms Blacklisted By U.S. Ruling

WASHINGTON, May 9—(CP)—The United States has blacklisted 38 Eire firms and business men accused of aiding the enemy.

The action was the first taken by this government to express through economic measures its disapproval of Eire's decision in February not to eject Axis officials accused of espionage by the Allies.

Never before has any Irish firm been blacklisted, although concerns in many other neutral countries in both this hemisphere and the European area had been put on the record which now totals approximately 15,000 names.

Blacklisting means that government officials consider they have adequate evidence that the concerns are co-operating with the enemy in such a manner as to contribute to the support of his war machine.

The sanctions applied range from denial of all facilities to such firms in the United States to the threat of post-war penalties which will place those firms at a competitive disadvantage in the early months of economic reconstruction.

In the case of Eire the British and United States government have concentrated on trying, first to eradicate, and second to control the activities of Axis diplomas whom they accused of spying on Allied preparations for the invasion of Europe.

The United States asked Eire Feb. 21 to eject Axis authorities from the country, but Eire turned down the request. Shortly afterward Britain cut off all shipping to Ireland and imposed other restrictions designed to prevent the flow of information from military areas of the United Kingdom into Eire.

The crackdown on Eire firms is considered here to foreshadow a vigorous application of the black list policy from now on to concerns in all neutral European countries which do not align themselves with Allied interests.

most of the enemy fighters were concentrated around the railway yards at Haine St. Pierre.

Pilots who bombed Brest said visibility was perfect and they could see hangars of the seaplane base clearly enough to drop their bombs without the aid of flares. Hangars and other buildings were hit by many bombs and left in flames.

While weather grounded heavy bombers of the Mediterranean Air Force after 72 hours of round-the-clock blows at Balkan communications, the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F.'s home-based bombers kept up their nightly pounding of western objectives, softening up enemy defences preparatory to the coming invasion.

Once more the British-Canadian night fliers plastered the rail yards at Haine St. Pierre, Belgium, bombed an airfield and seaplane base near Brest and hammered coastal installations in France. They also ranged into Western Germany, striking at Osnabruck and an unidentified objective in the Ruhr and laid mines in enemy waters.

Are your Children

Try New, Improved OVALTINE

Children who are thin, nervous and under par, science has discovered, are often found to be eating foods which do not give them enough of the essential food elements everyone needs for health.

As a "protecting" food-drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, B_1 and D, Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron—all from Ovaltine alone. Also quick food-energy elements and high quality proteins for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child is thin, nervous, under par, or eats poorly, start giving him New, Improved Ovaltine regularly. Get Ovaltine today at drug or food store.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Unclaimed Scout Craft

All craft work that was unclaimed last week is being held at Scout headquarters pending claims by the officers or boys of the various packs to whom it belongs. Please get in touch with Skipper Groombridge, phone 3667, to arrange collection.

Scouters' Club

The Scouters' Club will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday of this week, starting at 8 p.m., with a bowling tournament on the alleys and finishing up with a lunch upstairs. All officers and assistants are asked to be on hand.

St. John's Group

The Pack—Raksha, Mrs. K. Baxter, was a visitor to the Pack, being in the city over the week-end. At the opening ceremonies, the inspection was on Sunday school and church attendance. Knots instruction in the six lairs was followed by reef knot relay. Signalling instruction under Raksha and Somersault, with Akela and Baloo supervising, followed. A going-up ceremony was then held, at which Jack Fowley and Douglas Robertson left the jungle path to place their feet on the Scout trail. Before leaving, both boys were presented with a copy of "Scouting for Boys" to help them along the new path. On returning to the jungle, Don Sollitt was promoted to the rank of seconder of the Red Six, Albert Buckton received his collector's badge and Don Ferguson his four-year service star. Raksha led a sing-song, and a contest was held for jungle names, the following being awarded: Toonai to Douglas Laird, for dancing; Oonai to Jack Church, for a splendid recitation; Chil to Roderick Delaney, who did his best at signing; while Bobby Burgess was awarded the name of Kim, Little Friend. Don Ferguson was successful in passing National Anthem and John Biddle—cleaning boots and folding clothes.

The Scouts—A lively game of leap frog preceded patrol instruction. Scouter then conducted an observation game and knotting instruction. It was then time to get into horseshoe formation and prepare to accept two Cubs into the troop. Jack Fowley and Douglas Robertson were then escorted by Akela Groombridge from the parade circle and introduced to Scouter Ford who welcomed them to the scout trail and introduced them to their patrol leaders. A camp fire program was held and at the end Don Searles, a former Cub, was invested into the troop.

Sacred Heart

The Pack—Getting right down to action again three names were added on the roll as John Allen, Douglas Blodgett and his brother, Leon Blodgett, were accepted as new chums. The game of ball relay helped to add to the fun of the evening. Then came the trying of tests with these boys passing: Lionel Johnson, National Anthem; Gerald McMurray, cleanliness; Tommy McLean, skipping; Murray Byrne, Ronald Coulson, Union Jack. The Red Six were on duty for the evening. Murray Byrne led the opening and Tommy McLean, the closing grand howl.

Murray Street

The Troop—After the opening ceremonies in the troop headquarters the troop proceeded to Central School grounds for a game of ball which ended when the team headed by Ron Beales was leading by the score of 15-14. Back in the scout hall, work was resumed, Jack Collins passing compass and second class first aid while brother Dick Collins also passed first aid. At the camp fire program, the new song books, recently secured from Dominion headquarters were used.

All Saints'

The Troop—The spirit of spring is affecting the troops again, as ball drew the troop from the confines of the scout hall. During the past two weeks some of the boys have completed tests, Arnold Weumere and Allan Reid passing their Tenderfoot tests with Don Smith and Art Miller being credited toward their first class badge for having trained them. Frank Wright and Ted Williams proved their first class savings and Len Watkins came through with Morse signalling for the first class badge.

The Pack—With scout craft work over, the Pack got down to cubbing in first class style. The main event of the last meeting was the investiture ceremony at which Don Allen, Bill Goodstone, Douglas Livingstone, William Stevenson, George Allison and Gordon White took their Cub promise before Akela and the Pack.

Inspection was then taken and instruction on various phases of star work carried out. Many Cubs passed their time telling tests, their names being: B. Hollingsworth, J. Orde, G. Livingstone, B. Goodstone, Bob Royce, Bob Leach, Walter Best, G. White, John Amys, Gordon Graham, Ron. Willis, W. Stevenson, Arthur Batley. After Red Flower Byron Young led the closing Grand Howl.

St. Luke's

With the moon casting its shadows around the council rock, the pack gathered before Akela and renewed their Cub promise and repeated the laws that govern them in their travels. Parents' night is near and to be ready to do their best, the Cubs practised the things they are to perform. The song, "Sweetly Sings the Donkey" and "There Was An Old Soldier" were heard around the Red Flower.

$1.13 A Member

What does that stand for? That is the amount the Peterborough city scouts and cubs are credited with sending in for the Chins Up fund for the Scouts of the British Isles and for the scouts of occupied countries.

This however, has not being subscribed by the boys themselves, for many of the mothers' auxiliaries have been donating regularly and the local association sent in good sums from the Scout Apple day. Peterborough stands tenth in the large centres. Why not make it an aim to stand fifth by the time the next report reaches the commissioner. If every scout and cub were to donate 1 cent a week or 5 cents a month as a special contribution to this fund there would be $5.

ship Lines freight sheds at Montreal on Friday.

The Minister also stated that it was a ricocheting bullet from an R.C.M.P. revolver which killed Georges Guenette, 24, at St. Lambert de Levis, 20 miles south of Quebec, on Sunday. Mr. St. Laurent said Guenette was wanted under a warrant held by police under Section 573 of the Criminal Code, which covers conspiracy to commit an indictable offence.

When the police entered a house Guenette jumped out a window and ran across a field. They saw him stumble and fall after a bullet was fired into the ground. Before they were able to get him to hospital he died.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said that the equivalent of 105,000 head of cattle had been purchased as beef for shipment to the United Kingdom, while the movement of hogs to market in February and March had been running about 75 per cent above the weekly figures for the same period last year and now was 40 per cent above 1943.

Answering W. Bryce (CCF-Selkirk) he said that the Labor Department was making every effort to provide labor for packing plants to keep live stock moving through rapidly.

Mr. Hanson said he had a high opinion of the chartered banks but said he did not think they were immaculate and free from fault and abuse. He did not think that the Liberal party, represented by Mr. Ilsley, should "rush into the arena and passionately defend our financial institutions before they have been actually attacked."

Because of the "ineptitude" of Mr. Ilsley and his advisers, the Banks had been placed in a position where they were put on the defensive in the House.

Mr. Hanson said he was against C.C.F. proposals for Socialization of banks. He opposed political control over loans. If a man was threatened with loss of his loan, he could not vote otherwise than as a leader suggested.

Banks at Fault

Mr. Coldwell said he believed that all were ready to facilitate sending the Bill to the Banking committee on second reading and they had not anticipated the kind of debate Mr. Ilsley introduced. His speech had been "provocative and political."

The Banks had not done the job they were supposed to do and which was the only justification for seeking renewal of their charters.

Before the war there had been depression, unemployment and loss, and waste of human labor. To some degree the blame lay with the Banks themselves as they decided what credits were to be extended and to whom and thus had the power to expand or contract the volume of purchasing power.

A banking and financial system owned and controlled by the Nation would give greater security to the people's savings than institutions "whose self-perpetuating directors are responsible to none but their own shareholders, and whose associations have sometimes in the past jeopardized the savings of the people, and whose policies on occasion have brought to the verge of ruin thousands of farmers, workers and business men."

Would Change Conditions

The Bill failed to ensure that past conditions would not return. The nation's banks should accurately reflect the nation's demands for credits and funds.

The present Bank Act gave power to a comparatively small group of Bank Directors to control institutions which the Act safeguarded against competition except under difficult conditions.

Four banks—The Royal Bank of Canada, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Bank of Montreal and the Bank of Nova Scotia—controlled more than 70 per cent of all the bank assets in Canada. Ninety-four officers of the three leading banks—Royal, Montreal and Commerce—held a total of 799 directorates in 484 corporations in dozens of major industries.

Mr. Blackmore said that Social Crediters still believed in the importance of debt-free money being issued, but if it appeared they stressed this point less than in the past it was because the government and some of its "menials" began to "whine" that such arguments impaired the effectiveness of Victory loans.

A major error had been that someone else was allowed to print the King's money and then the King had to borrow his own money for government purposes. Canada printed $26,000,000 in bills during the First Great War and spent them for government purposes. These bills were debt-free. If a credit and currency commission were established in Canada it could create new money in line with the people's needs and it would be debt-free.

If sufficient goods were being produced in Canada to supply a redemption for all the money which might be used there would be no difficulty.

Mr. Blackmore said Social Crediters had urged that banks have 100 per cent reserves of cash because the government had said there was a danger of inflation in debt-free money.

The demand that banks have 100 per cent reserves would check any tendency for them to start inflation. If the banks suffered a loss because of this reserves' requirement, the government could reimburse them for their services with debt-free money.

Social Crediters did not support inflation and knew its dangers but the government members were deflationists and "deflation is a more disastrous thing than inflation." Social Crediters believed that booms and depressions could be avoided.

Unless there was a change in the financial system, the plans for future prosperity and stability could not be carried through.

ITALIAN FRONT BECOMES ACTIVE—Large areas of the Pontine marshes between the Anzio and Cassino fronts have been flooded by the Germans who were reported by a Naples source to be worried over Allies' preparations in the Anzio beachhead zone. The sections involved, as the map indicates, stretch from Anzio to Terracina and reach northward to points near the American flank.

Eccentric Hubby Takes Wedding Trip Alone Wife Refuses To Live In Tree, Gets Divorce

MONTCLAIR, N.J., May 9 (CP) An Essex County elections investigator reports he has found a man who lives in a tree, one Coffing Melkin Arslanian who, when not inhabiting his house 60 feet above ground, operates an oriental rug shop here.

Checking on Arslanian's residence qualifications for a Montclair election tomorrow, the investigator found a tree in which was perched a bungalow with a porch complete, he learned, with luxurious furniture and electricity.

That was all the investigator had time to see for Arslanian was not at home and had left two dogs at the foot of the tree. Pursuing his inquiries at a safe distance, he learned that Aslanian had lived in the tree for eight years, before that living in other trees and, sometimes, in a tent. He is 61 and wears shorts all the year 'round, without other garments except shoes.

Arslanian was married, the investigator reported, in 1928 and was divorced in 1936. His wife testified Arslanian had left her behind when he went on his wedding trip to Europe. She didn't mind that so much, she said, but when he returned he set up a tent on the roof of the house in which they had an apartment and lived in the tent. Later he took to living in a tree. She would not live in a tree, she said.

Knox Purchases Fine Livestock

GUELPH, May 9.—(CP).—Some of the finest livestock in the British Isles was purchased by Professor R. G. Knox, of the Ontario Agriculture College Field Husbandry Department, during a recent buying trip to the old country.

Fifty-seven animals were purchased by the O.A.C. official, including some of the best Shorthorns ever produced in Scotland and the best breed of Yorkshire boars and sows, and outstanding breeding selections of various breeds of rams and ewes.

These animals will be available for the purpose of improving Ontario cattle breeding. The trip was financed by Ontario residents interested in this work.

Professor Knox bought Uppermill Royal, a Scottish bred Shornthorn bull from Tarves, Aberdeenshire, which was purchased at the Perth Fair. The price for this bill was four thousand guineas, representing $18,400 in Canadian money.

"Inka" has a remarkable string of production records to her credit, the latest bringing her lifetime total for six lactations to 114,927 pounds milk and 4,437 pounds butterfat.

In recognition of this achievement, Mr. Tully will receive a Certificate of Longtime Production from the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada. All her records have been made on twice-a-day milking, the largest of 833 pounds butterfat from 21,376 pounds milk, having been made as a senior four-year-old in the yearly division. It is the seventh largest butterfat production ever reported in Canada in this class. Aid Given Fund By Bowlers At Knox Church

Sports groups who form their association together as such from within their membership in a Christian body, may have a double reason in stretching out a helping hand to people who are in trouble or difficulty through no fault of their own, for the teachings of one commends this practice as being a true virtue, as followers of Him who went about doing good, while on the other hand, it is generally recognized that true sportsmanship also finds a real sympathy for those who have been unfortunate, whether it happens to be in a game for pleasure, or the more sterner realities in the game of life.

To a certain extent this has been evidenced as such by donations that have come from some sports groups within some of the church groups of this city, for on occasion the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund has benefitted, in order that the victims of enemy air raid attacks over Britain may have some help in their name to get a new start into a new future, which at the moment may appear to have none too rosy prospects for such.

At the close of every indoor bowling season that has come along since the fund commenced to function, the Lady Bowlers of Knox Church have demonstrated their thought for other less fortunate people in true christian and sportsmanlike fashion, by giving a donation, which goes its way in their name to do some good for those who have suffered in this manner, their latest gift of $10.60 being credited today through Mrs. Myrtle Bennett, their secretary.

It might be added that from this one United Church, many contributions have been received for a like purpose, something that reflects much credit on the congregation as a whole.

Lady Makes 39th Donation

A very bright example of a personal sympathy that is also engendered through the teachings of the Christian Faith, also shines forth like a beacon light in today's receipts for the fund, the very name chosen to be known as in acknowledgments of such proclaiming that fact, for it is to be found in the good book from which its teachings emanate.

The lady who wishes to be known under the name of "In As Much" is today credited with her 39th gift of $10.00, one of the outstanding assists in a personal way that the fund is privileged to record in the records of its operations.

Fund Now Exceeds $76,000

The fund today passes another milestone on its journey of assistance to those afflicted by air raid attacks over Britain, now having passed another thousand dollar mark, and reached a total of $76,017.86 in voluntary givings by the residents of this city and district, a notable achievement in a humanitarian cause that will reflect as an inspiration for good in the days that are yet to come.

Footwear Of Forgotten Fashion Forwarded To Greek Relief Fund

Six hundred pairs of shoes from W. J. Dudley and thirty other pairs from W. J. Moorhead of Agnes-Surpass, gifts to the Greek War Relief Fund, have been acknowledged by B. C. Salamis, Montreal, its national secretary.

Louis Yeotes showed the Examiner this morning copies of letters of appreciation and thanks which have been forwarded by Mr. Salamis to the two Peterborough merchant benefactors.

"I got the surprise of my life one day last winter," Mr. Yeotes said. "I didn't know this Mr. Dudley. He had bought the business of Ben Chesler, coming here from Bowmanville. It seems he was looking over his stock, and he came across these six hundred pairs that were crowded off into some corner, maybe in the cellar. They were good shoes, but of an old style that was out of date. Mr. Dudley asked if they would be any good to the Greek Fund, and if they were we could have them. So, that is how we got the six hundred pairs. I guess they had got out of fashion or style in Mr. Chesler's day, but they'll be wonderful to the Greeks who get them.

Mr. Moorhead also had some shoes on hand, and he said we might as well have them, too, and the friends down at Neill's crated them for us."

Generous Help.

Mr. Yeotes said that during the winter many gifts had been received for the Fund, and Mr. Salamis in his letter wrote that the people of Greece would always remember the people of Canada for their great help in a time of awful need, and that when the war was over and the nations were able to get back on their collective feet again Greece would show it had not forgotten.

"Some of the people here did not want us to mention their names, so we did not publish a great deal about it, although we made some acknowledgments of people who we thought would not mind. But, a great many just helped the Fund, and then told us to forget them, so that is what we had to do."

Council Committee Entertains F. Collins

The last time Mr. Collins was in Peterborough, at least in active communication with the council was back in 1940 when the council and other citizens, including North Monaghan, were hoping Canadian Industries Limited would decide to locate in Peterborough the nylon branch of their industry which eventually intruded upon the academic atmosphere of Kingston with a potent injection of new and tangential ambitions.

Assault Case Heard In Court

The story of an early Sunday morning incident in a Rubidge street duplex house was told in police court this morning when Joseph Primeau, 270 Rubidge street, a former member of the Canadian Army back from overseas was charged with assaulting M. J. Maher, same address, occasioning actual bodily harm.

Primeau pleaded not guilty and was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair while the prosecution was in charge of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

Monica Maher, daughter of the complainant, said that she and her father and mother occupied the bottom half of a duplex house while the accused and his relatives lived upstairs.

Early Sunday morning the witness said she was awakened by voices in the hall outside her apartment. She recognized the voice of the accused, and heard a girl crying. She also heard the sounds of slaps and she had called out through the door to Primeau to stop hitting the girl.

At that point, witness said, Primeau forced the door leading into the Maher apartment and came into the front room. Her father had come into the room on hearing the noise and witness said that Primeau had rushed at him and struck him in the face knocking him down. When her father tried to use the telephone to call the police accused had struck him again knocking him onto a studio couch and then had pulled the telephone off the wires. Later her father had gone to get his car to go for help.

Miss Maher said that when she followed to see what was going on Primeau, who was on the lawn outside, had struck her and knocked her down.

M J. Maher told of being struck on the face a number of times in his own apartment. When he had got into his car to go for help Primeau had jumped into the car after him and had again assaulted him "unmercifully."

The witness said that his eye had been cut, also his lip and that his jaw and teeth had been very sore following the assault.

He told the court that when he first came into the room a couple of men, one of them accused's brother, had been holding Primeau who acted like a maniac, witness said. Accused had broken away from the men and attacked him as soon as he appeared.

Constable C. J. McGillen and Andre Dalton who were called to the scene after the alleged assault said that Maher was bleeding from the mouth and that there was considerable blood on his face when they saw him.

At this stage court adjourned for luncheon.

Bun Armstrong Missing After 30 Raids

After helping to pulverize Hitler's cities in the heaviest air blows the world has seen, in more than 30 trips over enemy territory, Flying Officer J. B. (Bun) Armstrong, whose wife and baby daughter live at Dennistoun avenue, has been reported missing overseas.

F. O. J. B. ARMSTRONG

The young flier who went overseas in March, 1943 was in an nearly all the big shows and a while ago completed his first "tour" of operations and was scheduled for a furlough in Canada. At that time he was transferred to another squadron, and was told that if he would postpone his leave, he would be granted his second "tour" after 15 trips over Europe. Then he would be through operational flying. He chose the latter course.

Berlin, Mannheim, Cologne, Stuttgart and Magdeburg became as familiar from the air as Peterborough to Flying Officer Armstrong as he made his nightly bombing runs, looking forward to to the day when he would come back to his little family. He had been working particularly hard since last November. In the period between November 20 and early January, he made at least seven raids on Berlin alone, as well as many other heavily guarded targets, including Toulon.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, 27 Homewood avenue, Toronto, who formerly lived on Bolivar street, F. O. Armstrong had five brothers, three of whom are in the R.C.A.F. They are Joseph at St. Thomas; Francis in the Eastern Command and Dennis in Toronto; Barret at home and Charles of Peterborough.

F. O. Armstrong enlisted as a navigator in January 1942, and at that time was employed at Ed Riley's Men's store. He was granted his commission when he graduated, and was promoted to Flying Officer last November. The flier is a graduate of St. Peter's School.

2 Proprietors Are Fined $325

The last of the cases arising out of a recent raid by the anti-gambling squad of the Ontario Provincial Police on seven downtown establishments were disposed of this morning when Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. imposed fines on two proprietors.

Walter McIlmoyle, Charlotte street, who had pleaded guilty two weeks ago was fined $150 this morning, the extra $50 being occasioned by the fact that the evidence given in his case had shown that two machines were in operation.

George Dormer, George street, was fined $100 for illegally operating a pin-ball machine and on a second count of operating punch boards was fined an additional $75.

A police application for the confiscation of the pin-ball machine was refused by Magistrate Langley but the court ordered the confiscation of the punch boards and prizes.

Altogether fines totalling $825 have been paid in connection with the provincial police raids.

Mother's Day A Business Speaker Says

A talk on the origin of Mother's Day was given by Mrs. James Fanning, at the regular meeting of the Group "F" of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church, held Monday evening. Mrs. Fanning explained that the observance had its origin in the 14th century, and traced its history to the present day. She said that in her opinion, Mother's Day was over-commercialized at the present time.

Mrs. Fanning was hostess for this meeting, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Graham, Harvey street. Mrs. V. Boorman presided, and opened the meeting with a Mother's Day selection. The roll call was answered by gems on "Mother." The devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. R. P. Wellman, Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. James Spencer and Mrs. R. C. Boulter.

A quartette, made up of Mrs. H. Girven, Mrs. James Spencer, Mrs. H. Powers and Mrs. V. Boorman, sang two selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. G. D. Marshall. Mrs. R. Powell read a paper on the "Stewardship of Mothers."

Class Holds Treasure Hunt

A novel entertainment was enjoyed by the members of Grade 7 of the Sacred Heart School when, accompanied by their teacher, they set out upon a treasure hunt. A class committee started fifteen minutes ahead of the group, and laid a trail of white papers to mark the path. When a red paper was dropped, it signified that part of the treasure had been buried.

The trail led over the Locks bridge, but the search had to be discontinued, as the treasure hunters raced for shelter from the storm. The entire class reported at 5.45 to the home of Mrs. Stanford Gilmour, on Morrow street, where a buffet supper was served.

A musical program, in which class members participated, was presented after supper. A guitar solo and a song were given by the following, Barbara O'Reilly, Mary Shaughnessy, Gerald O'Rourke and Katharine Farley; Gerald Peters and Lionel Johnson sang a duet, and Jack Jones sang a solo. Jack Doris read several humorous stories.

Bobbie Bogue gave a short talk on "Gold" and Jack Coursey spoke on "Travel." Ann Collins moved the vote of thanks to Mrs. Gilmour for her hospitality.

Mr. Average Citizen Must Carry The Load!

Bond Applications Are Up 25% BUT—The Average Subscription Is Down.

This means that if we are going to reach our objective we must get a much larger number of applications.

The reason for this is that the larger savings accounts have subscribed in large measure to previous loans and due to heavy income taxes there has been no possibility of rebuilding large deposits from savings.

Mr. Average Citizen—It Is Up To YOU!

The amount of the average subscription is down and, therefore, many more subscriptions are needed.

This Is Everybody's Loan

In the first two weeks of this loan the number of subscriptions is approximately 25 per cent. greater than the number of subscriptions in the first 14 days of the fifth loan—and yet we are $650,000 short of our objective.

CONTINUED benefic astral influences may assure the happy materialization of exceptional prospects for expansion, growth and financial returns for work well and skilfully inaugurated, together with enhanced personal popularity, influence and romantic happiness as well. It is a time for aiming toward cherished goals, with ingenuity, sagacity and the use of social or friendly influence where this worthily serves a desired purpose or ambition. There may be certain lures or dangers besetting such expansive programs, but with precaution, thrift, acumen, results are assured. The romantic or youthful element is captivating.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be on the brink of a progressive and prosperous year, with exceptional openings for putting over expansive programs, in which the friendly influence of those in financial position and public prestige assumes importance. While ingenuity and acumen are of prime significance, the cooperation of social, romantic, professional or political contacts may be confidently sought for a good cause. Keep alert to duplicity or misconstruction in agreements, shun extravagance. In romantic attachments or any youthful aspirations there are likely to be joyous celebrations. Shun excesses.

A child born on this day may be well endowed for success, efficient and talented, but also blessed by good fortune and the support of those in high places. A romantic life may bring happiness, but a trend to extravagance in pleasure should be curbed.

DOROTHY DIX

LETTERS SET SOLDIER'S MOODS

Maj. Gen. Hayes Says They Can Boost Morale or Undermine It, According to Contents.

IF you should tell every woman who writes tear-sodden letters to her husband, or her son, or her sweetheart, who is in the service, that she is a traitor who is stabbing her country in the back by lowering the morale of its fighting men, she would bitterly deny the charge. She would say: "Why, don't I belong to the Red Cross? Don't I serve in the canteen? Don't I knit sweaters? Didn't I buy a War Bond instead of a new hat?"

And if you should tell one of these crepe-hangers that every time she mails one of her packets of woe to the man she loves she is inflicting on him a torture as cruel as anything the Japs or Nazis could devise, she would be horrified. For it simply doesn't cross her mind that she is adding to all the hardships he is enduring an anxiety and fear for those he left behind him, and whom he is powerless to help, that gnaws ceaselessly at his heart day and night.

So she sits down and dips grandly into the ink and blisters half a dozen sheets of paper with her tears of self-pity over everything she is suffering from ration points to dreaming that he was dead, and then she throws in for good measure all the bad news she can think of, and puts an air-mail stamp on it so it can do its deadly work as quickly as possible. She doesn't mean any harm, but, according to Major General Philip Hayes, the melancholy missives explain, more than anything else, why soldiers go over the hill. He says: "Letters from home are like thermostats setting a soldier's mood and actions. They can boost his morale, or they can undermine it. They can help a man adjust himself to army life or they can make him feel that he is imprisoned in camp.

Sad Letters Cause Soldiers Distress

"Let a man get letters telling him that some member of the family is sick or that there aren't enough hands to work the farm or attend to the business or recounting family squabbles, or complaining of financial conditions, and they are bound to cause the soldier great distress and make him feel that he must get home at any cost.

"The natural consequence is, if he is refused a pass, that he gets upset and often goes home without one. Sometimes he is urged in the letters to come home in defiance of all regulations. Since letters wield such a strong influence in molding a fighting man, wives, parents and others writing to service men should feel it their duty to make their letters a source of courage, cheer and inspiration for soldiers. Fighting men cannot do their jobs properly if their minds are burdened with worries and torn with distorted ideas about what is going on back home."

Let us hope that all women will take these wise words to heart, and that when they write to their boys in the service they will put pep into their letters instead of gloom. It makes a lot of difference to a soldier what he reads in a foxhole.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

As meat is now a non-rationed food, I will today give you a few recipes for meat dishes that are just different from the everyday way of serving it. The first recipe for today gives us a good meat and vegetable dish easily prepared and, oh so very tasty. If you serve it once, the whole family will look forward to having it again and again.

Tomato Steak

3 tablespoons butter or other fat, 2½ lbs. round steak, two inches thick, 1 large onion, 3 carrots, 2 white turnips, 2 cupfuls canned tomatoes, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Heat fat in frying pan, add meat and sear it brown on all sides. Then arrange in a casserole and cover with onion, carrots, turnips, which have been peeled and chopped very fine, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover tightly and bake in a slow oven of 275 degrees F. for three hours. The gravy may be thickened if desired.

Stuffed Flank Steak

1 flank steak, weight 2 lbs., 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 3 small onions (minced), 2 eggs slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon thyme, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons melted fat, 2 tablespoons hot water, 2 teaspoons sage, one teaspoon marjoram. Combine all ingredients but the flank steak. Mix well and spread on steak, then roll it up and secure with skewers, or tie it. Next roll the stuffed steak in seasoned flour and sear on all sides with a little hot fat. Arrange in a casserole or dutch oven, add ½ cup hot water, cover and cook 1½ hours in hot oven 400 degrees F. or until meat is tender. Arrange on a platter and remove skewers or string. Thicken the gravy left in the pan and serve with stuffed steak.

Baked Stuffed Pork Tenderloin

3 pork tenderloins, 6 tablespoons melted butter, 2 cups toasted breadcrumbs, 1 cup boiling water, 1 egg slightly beaten, ½ small onion (minced), ½ teaspoon minced parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 1-8 teaspoon powdered sage, speck of pepper.

Wipe the tenderloins with a damp cloth, then split and lay them opened flat. Meanwhile prepare the stuffing as follows: Combine the toasted bread crumbs, 1-3 cup boiling water, the egg, minced onion, parsley, salt, celery salt, powdered sage, pepper, and 4 tablespoons melted butter. Beat until light, then spread on the pork tenderloins. Fold up the tenderloins and tie with a string, if necessary. Arrange in a baking pan, sprinkle lightly with salt, put 2-3 cup of boling water in the bottom of the pan and bake in a hot oven of 400 degrees for one hour. In serving; cut and remove the strings. Thicken gravy.

Joins Caterpillar Club

A card entitling Flt. Lt. Bruce Baker of Norwood to membership in the Caterpillar Club, has been received by Mr. and Mrs. R. Baker. Their son is a prisoner of war in Germany.

This club has been organized by the Irving Air Chute company for airmen whose lives have been saved in an emergency jump by use of parachute equipment. The pin is engraved on the back with the date when he made the jump, 4-20-43.

Salvage Ship

Finding a needle in a haystack is child's play compared with locating a derelict in the North Atlantic and bringing her back to port the crew of H.M.C.S. St. John of whom Stoker 1st Class Gerald Longhurst, Peterborough is a member, agree.

Five other Peterborough boys, are also members of the frigate's crew. They are J. Borden, E.R.A. Harry Bedford, AB L. J. Jackson, AB J. LaPlante and R. Herron, and all had quite an experience braving dirty weather to locate the wreck.

17 Days At Sea

"H.M.C.S. Saint John, in company with a sea going salvage tug, recently spent 17 days at sea, seeking finding and bringing back the stern half of a liberty ship which had been shattered in one of the atlantic's worst gales. The freighter had split in two, and the crew had been rescued by other convoy ships. The stern portion of the freighter containing the machinery and tons of cargo, remained afloat.

"Two days out of port, the frigate and tug spotted a drifting life-boat and with R.C.A.F. planes combed the area for three days without success. The search was abandoned and ships ordered to return to port. Four hours later, signals reported the wreck had been sighted again by a merchant ship, and course was altered to the new position, 130 miles away.

"Then the weather threw in its bag of tricks. For two days snow storms cut visibility to nothing and the ship and planes could find no trace of the derelict. Conditions were so bad that the tug lost contact with the frigate for several hours. A noon on the ninth day, an R.C.A.F. Patrol plane passed over. She had seen the wreck and reported it 45 miles away. Guided by the plane, Saint John and the tug steamed toward the wreck and found it after dark, marked by a flare from the plane.

Board Hulk

"A boarding party from Saint John went to the freighter hulk to inspect it in the middle of the night. It was found to be sound and watertight, and with moderating weather, the boarding party had no difficulty getting a boat across and the tug was able to get tow lines in place without trouble. The 400-mile haul back to port began before dawn on the tenth day."

Then the weather closed in again. With the wind and sea rising, the tug reported increased difficulty. She was towing the hulk stern first to ease the strain on the exposed bulkhead, and finally asked for a second tug. For the first 48 hours, the laboring little convoy managed to averaged a bare two-and-a-half knots. As a crowning touch, Saint John had detected an enemy submarine.

On the thirteenth day the second tug arrived and things went more easily. At daybreak, just a few hours short of 17 days at sea, Saint John escorted the salvaged prize into an east coast port.

Stoker 1st Class Longhurst is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Longhurst 516 Aylmer street. Formerly employed at Genelco, he enlisted in March 1943.

Joins The Navy

Earl N. Routley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Routley, 452 Park street, has enlisted in the R.C.N.V.R. and reported Monday at Kingston. He has just finished a four-year course at chemistry at Queen's University, and by virtue of his college training, it is possible that he may be recommended for a sub lieutenancy. The young sailor attended Queen Mary School and the Collegiate.

You Can't Win

Miss Edith Young, superintendent of nurses at Nicholls Hospital says you can't win against a combination of marriage and enlistments. Across the country hospitals are feeling the shortage of nurses, and in addition to those of the staff who leave to get married from time to time, in the past few weeks she has lost four more of her staff to the R.C.A.M.C. Those graduate nurses enlisting are: Miss Evana Demitroff of Utopia; Miss Rita Ratz graduate of Victoria Hospital London; Miss Betty Matheson; and Miss Alice Dawley of Port Hope. The other three nurses are graduates of Nicholls Hospital.

PTE. ROY THACKERAY

One of the Gore's Landing boys serving overseas is Pte. Roy Thackeray, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thackeray. He enlisted in September 1943 and had previously been employed at the Gale Lumber Company, Oshawa. One of the peculiarities of England which struck this soldier is the size of the trains, which he found only about half as big as those in Canada. However they are exceedingly fast, he wrote. Some of the English cities which he visited have been badly bombed, but are being cleaned up nicely. English money proved to be a problem at first, but he's become used to it with practice.

Sees Launching

One of the Peterborough sailors recently took time off from his own duties to attend the launching of one of Canada's new destroyers. He was AB Roland Halcrow and he wrote that it was a breath-taking moment when the fighting ship slid down into the salt water.

"Thousands of ship builders, naval ratings and high ranking officers of the services watched and cheered as H.M.C.S. Nootka slid down the ways. The corvettes, frigates, destroyers, sweepers and fairmiles screeched their sirens in salute to Canada's latest fighting ship."

AB Halcrow has met a number of Peterborough boys recently and included in the number are AB Fred Kiff, Petty Officer Eddie Pinn, AB Delong, S/BA Leo McLean, James Millburn, AB James Hawthorne, AB Lionel Batten, and Wren Blanche McClay. He was enthusiastic about the new corvette which Peterborough has adopted and wrote that the people here could be proud of their fighting men in the Navy. He was employed at the C.G.E.

RUFF OF FOURTH ROUND

RUFFING the fourth round of a suit, as the only possible means of getting into the dummy to try a necessary finesse, is not a very fancy play. It is so rare, however, that we wonder how many players can recall ever doing it, or even seeing it done. It is of much less frequent occurrence than gaudier-looking devices like the squeezes and coups.

Almost all tables got into this contract in a duplicate game, but only a few declarers made it. The club K was led everywhere, and most of the declarers hoped it was from a three-card suit, so that South's fourth club would set up. They were playing to go down one, losing two tricks in clubs, one in diamonds and one in spades.

The plucky declarers, however, went after the contract, realizing that it could not be made unless two things developed. One was that they had to avoid a third club loser. The other was that they had to get into the dummy and succeed with a diamond finesse. They found a way to try for that, and gained a deserved reward.

Immediately after winning the first trick, these declarers led a second club. West, seeing what was about to be attempted, won and returned a trump to South. A third club was then led and won by West, who returned another trump. Now South led his fourth club and ruffed with the heart 9. The diamond finesse was then tried. When it worked, success of the contract was assured.

Minister's Plan Pays Dividends

MIAMI, Fla. May 9—(AP)—More than half of the $13.05 Rev. Paul N. Jewett handed out to his congregation last Sunday was returned today, and it brought added gifts which made the total $27.25.

Reversing the usual procedure, Mr. Jewett gave the money to the congregation with the request that members either find a better use for it than could the South Miami First Methodist Church, or return it.

He distributed dimes to children and quarters to adults after a sermon in tithing.

One of the dimes was returned with a $20 cheque for the Florida Methodist Children's Home. A quarter came back accompanied by a gift quarter for a leper colony fund. Another quarter and its gift companion went to the women's society.

A woman bought 25 postcards and sent them to persons recently absent from church, urging attendance. Another bought Mother's Day cards and signed the names of sons who are overseas, sending them to the service men's mothers.

Oddest was this report: "I gave the quarter to a woman to help her go to Canada to get her papers so she could become an American citizen."

Crown Plants Operated Without Loss

DETROIT, May 9 — (CP). — Munitions Minister Howe said in an address prepared for delivery here yesterday that Government-owned companies, as a means for operating new war plants, have "met with success beyond my expectations" in Canada.

Speaking before the Economic Club of Detroit, he said that even though all the share capital of such companies was owned by the Government they were required to carry on their operations without financial loss to the Government.

"I am glad to say that the efficiency of our Crown companies is equal in every respect to the efficiency of well managed privately-owned corporations— a tribute to Canadian business as a whole, from which the directors and management of these companies has been drawn," he said.

"We have in Canada some 25 Crown companies, some of which manage plant investment as large as $100,000,000."

Canada never desired to become a lease-lend country and always paid cash for purchases from the United States. Through the Hyde Park agreement, Canada was able to obtain needed American dollars by supplying munitions to the United States.

Enlistments High.

"Recently, other factors, such as the purchase of Canadian securities by United States citizens, and purchase of wheat and other commodities by your Government have increased our supply of American dollars beyond our immediate requirements," he continued.

"We have used these surplus American dollars to pay for airports and other war facilities built by your country in Canada, to such an extent that our balance of American dollars now is smaller than at the commencement of the war."

It was not generally understood in the United States that Canada had never been a recipient of lease-lend. Canada already had expended more than $2,000,000,000 for war supplies which have been sent as a free gift to the United Nations.

"On a population basis, this is equivalent to your $24,000,000,000 for lease-lend," said Mr. Howe.

"When the hour for invasion strikes, the greatest battle in the world's history will be under way," he also said.

Mr. Howe said about 700,000 officers and men who enlisted voluntarily were in the Canadian Forces and some 70,000 who had been drafted for military duty in Canada. Nearly 40 per cent of the Canadian male population of military age was in uniform.

U.S. Fighter Pilot Beats Rickenbacker

A U.S. FIGHTER BASE IN ENGLAND, May 9—(AP)—Capt. Robert S. Johnson of Lawton, Okla., a fighter's pilot, shot down two enemy planes over Germany Monday to boost his total to 27—all bagged in the air—and become the first American ace in the European theatre to break Capt. Edward Rickenbacker's combat record of 26 aircraft kills in the First Great War.

Johnson's total is one short of the score recorded by Wing Cmdr. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson of the R.C.A.F. and Wing Cmdr. J. R. D. Braham of the R.A.F.

The R.A.F. record, however, stands at 32 planes, Group Capt. A. Malan, now on ground duty, collected such a bag as did the late Flt. Lt. Brendan (Paddy) Finucane.

Flt. Lt. George (Buzz) Beurling of the R.C.A.F., credited with 31, is off operations.

After BACKACHE ... What a difference!

For six weeks this woman endured the misery of backache. It was probably lumbago and was wearing her out. Then she began to take Kruschen, and in three weeks, what a difference there was! But let her tell the story herself:—

"About six weeks ago, I started having awful pains in my back. Sometimes I could not straighten myself, and I got depressed and worn out. I could scarcely carry on with my household duties, and everything was getting neglected. It was then I saw a Kruschen advertisement, and I decided to give Kruschen Salts a trial. I started with a small teaspoonful in hot water every morning, and in three weeks, my word, what a difference! The pains gradually disappeared. To-day at 46, I feel ten years younger."—(Mrs.) H. M.

Backache is often traced to poisons in the blood — poisonous waste products which are not being filtered out of your system. The mineral salts in Kruschen help your kidneys and other channels of elimination back to healthy, normal action, so that poisonous waste matter is properly expelled. In this way many people get joyous relief from those old dragging pains. Try Kruschen yourself.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable of all Drug Stores. 25c and 75c.

If you'd never seen a bathing beauty you might get tricked into believing this one. Actually, the only connection between the two is an occasional turtle-neck sweater.

Allied Offensive In Full Swing To Open China Road

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

KANDY, Ceylon, May 10 (AP) — Allied forces are operating on three sides of Moguang in Northern Burma, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters disclosed today, indicating that a determined Allied drive was in full swing to reopen a land route to China.

A communique said heavy casualties had been inflicted on the Japanese south of Mogaung—the first official announcement that Allied troops, presumably Chindits, are operating in that sector. Sharp blows also have been dealt the enemy in the vicinity of Mawlu, some 75 miles southwest of Mogaung, where the airborne Chindits have been operating since March against the Mandalay-Myitkyina railway.

Fitting into the picture were Chinese forces in the Mogaung Valley and native Burmese beating down Japanese attacks in the Fort Hertz Valley in their double-barrelled push to the south against Mogaung and Myitkyina. These latter forces are closing in on the Japanese 18th Division which already is reported becoming disorganized.

The Chinese forces, supported by tanks and artillery, have been attacking strong Japanese positions east of the main Mogaung Valley road and south of the Hwelon river, headquarters said.

PapersDenounce De Valera On Latest Move

DUBLIN, May 10 — (CP) — A first-class political fight was developing in Eire today as Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's opponents accused him of using dictatorial and dangerous tactics in ordering a rush National election for May 30—the country's second within a year—as a result of the defeat of his Domestic Transport Bill in the Dail yesterday by a 64-63 vote.

Neither the war nor the country's neutrality is an issue in the fight, however.

The Irish Free Press, the organ of De Valera's Fianna Fail Party, declared his opponents "must have decided to show that they are completely devoid of any sense of responsibility" by beating the Bill and said the national interest demanded stability and a majority government.

At present the government has only a minority in the lower chamber, and the Independents hold the balance of power.

Two other Dublin newspapers denounced the government's move.

Canadians Ship 1,223 Tanks Out Of 5,031 Total

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 10.—(CP Cable.)—Britain supplied Russia with 5,031 tanks, 6,778 airplanes and more than £80,000,000 (about $360,000,000) of raw materials and other supplies from Oct. 10, 1941 to last March 31, Prime Minister Churchill disclosed in the House of Commons to-day.

The Prime Minister's statement was followed by an Admiralty announcement that the United Nations have delivered nearly 1,250,000 tons of war equipment in the last six months, with a loss of less than 16 tons in every 1,000 tons of freight.

Cheers greeted Mr. Churchill's statement that the figures included some supplies made available to the United Kingdom through Canadian mutual aid and some obtained in the United Kingdom partly with the help of Canada's $1,000,000,000 gift.

The cheering was especially loud when the Prime Minister said that of the 5,031 tanks supplied Russia 1,223 were Canadian.

"For the help thus given I should like to have this opportunity of expressing the government's appreciation," Mr. Churchill said. "Since July 1, 1943 supplies from Canada also have been going forward by direct arrangement between Canada and Russia."

The figures, he said, did not include aid sent directly from Canada under the Canadian-Russian agreement.

Reds Recapture Sevastopol, 100,000 Killed

LONDON, May 10 (CP)—The fall of the Crimean fortress-port of Sevastopol after a 24-day siege was announced today by Premier Marshal Stalin in an order of the day which indicated one of the two original besieging Soviet armies may already have rushed to the main front for a new Russian westward offensive.

Conspicuously absent from a list of 56 commanders cited by Stalin for distinction in the drive which completely cleared the last of the 10,000-square-mile Crimean peninsula was the name of Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko, whose independent maritime army advanced westward across the peninsula from Kerch and on April 19 reached Sevastopol's southern environs. The omission suggested that Yeremenko and his men might have been moved elsewhere in preparation for important new operations.

The order of the day was addressed jointly to Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin, whose 4th Ukraine Army toppled Sevastopol late yesterday in a final three-day plunge through three deep German defence belts, and Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky, chief of the Red Army general staff.

In the overall 31-day Crimean offensive at least 100,000 Germans and Romanians were believed killed or captured. Some 25,000 were said to have remained in the Sevastopol pocket as the Russian victory drive began Sunday. Many died trying to LONDON, May 10—(AP).—A force of R.A.F. Lancasters made a roundtrip of well over 1,000 miles in bright moonlight and bombed an important ball-bearing factory at Annecy on the French-Italian frontier, it was announced today as four-engined U.S. bombers from Italy apparently continued the pre-invasion offensive by day.

Medium and light bombers meantime streamed out of Britain and bombed and strafed railyards and airfields in France and Belgium as the aerial offensive went into its 26th straight day, following night assaults on both Berlin and Paris by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Britain-based bombers.

The Air Ministry disclosed that the Germans were using the Annecy factory extensively for making castings for airplane engines since the ball-bearing plants at Schweinfurt were damaged so heavily recently.

Medium bombers dropped more than 450 short tons of bombs on three rail centres in Belgium and France today and on an airfield near Amiens. Two bombers failed to return.

The heaviest attack, it was announced, was on the railway yards at Criel, 25 miles northeast of Paris, by about 100 Marauders, which hit a roundhouse and locomotive shops.

Two waves of planes hit rail yards at Tournai, Belgium, 15 miles east of Lille, with good results.

The German radio said fierce battles raged over the eastern Alps, possibly heralding another blow from the Mediterranean at Austrian targets.

All Canadians Safe

R.A.F. and U.S. medium bombers accompanied by fighters streamed from Britain, smacking rail yards and airfields in France and Belgium, carrying the offensive into its 26th straight day. But up to mid-afternoon, there were no official reports of operations by United States "heavies" from Britain which had been over the continent steadily for the last 15 days.

The R.A.F. lost seven aircraft in its night operations, while all Canadian planes returned safely. Five bombers and three fighters were lost yesterday of nearly 1,000 lighter aircraft of the Allied expeditionary air force which joined in the 4,000-plane blows reaching from the French coast to Germany.

Heavy bombers of the R.C.A.F. bomber group participated in the thunderous smash against military objectives on the French coast and important industrial points inland.

Victory Loan Zooms Over Billion Mark

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP) — Sales in Canada's Sixth Victory Loan drive yesterday passed the $1,000,000,000 mark with salesmen in the final week of the campaign making a drive to pass the $1,200,000,000 objective.

A number of large sales pushed the total for yesterday to $86,257,500 giving an over-all total at the end of the 14th canvassing day of $1,010,363,000. Large corporate buyers accounted for approximately two-thirds of yesterday's total with purchases of $57,474,200. Individual purchases amounted to $28,773,300.

Alberta today took rank immediately after Saskatchewan as the second Province in Canada to exceed its combined payroll and general canvass quota.

Highlighting yesterday's sales were purchases of $22,000,000 by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada; $15,000,000 by the Prudential Insurance Co., of America and $10,000,000 by Imperial Oil Ltd.

Referring to the Sun Life's purchase, Mr. Arthur B. Wood, President and Managing Director said this brings the Company's present holdings in Canadian Victory Bonds up to $180,000,000, while the total investment of the Sun Life on be-

National Health Insurance To Meet Needs Of Everyone

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 10—(CP).—National health insurance will provide the answer to the increasing demand for medical care by Canadian people who are unable to provide themselves with full and complete preventive and treatment services, Pensions Minister Mackenzie said today. In a speech prepared for delivery at the opening of a 3-day Dominion - Provincial health insurance conference, Mr. Mackenzie said the need for health insurance was indicated by the census of 1941 which showed that 62 per cent. of wage-earners received as wages less than $950 a year.

"Such persons are unable to provide themselves with full and complete preventive and treatment services...and it is, therefore, the duty of a national government to assist in providing health and medical services for the people," said Mr. Mackenzie.

Health Insurance had been discussed in Canada for 20 years, and the Federal government now was in a position to place before the conference a Draft National Plan. The main objects of the draft plan were:

Main Points

1. The reduction of morbidity and mortality and the creation of positive health.
2. The provision of medical care for all.
3. The protection of families against the hazard of illness.
4. The eradication of tuberculosis and venereal diseases; the reduction of mental illness, heart diseases, arterial disease, nephritis, diabetes, cancer, and diseases of the middle life.
5. To attack the causes of sickness and death vigorously and effectively.
6. The protection of motherhood and childhood.
7. The extension of public health services throughout the country.
8. The expansion of hospitals, sanatoria, laboratories, health units and health centres.
9. The integration of public health and medical care.
10. Provision of the services of the general practitioner, the consultant, the specialist, the surgeon, the nurse, the hospital, the dentist and ancillary services to everyone.

Mr. MacKenzie said the proposed plan would cost an estimated $250,000,000 annually, an amount less than the present annual cost of illness.

The estimated Canadian rate of sickness was 7.65 days per person a year, and on that basis the total annual number of sickness days was 88,020,900.

Radio Stations Can Boost Power

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP) — Forty-six Canadian radio stations are able to consider an increased in power from one to five kilowatts under an adjustment of the power ceiling of 1937, it was announced today by Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting General Manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Speaking before the Commons Radio Committee, Dr. Frigon said: "As a result of a thorough discussion on the subject, our Board of Governors has decided to recommend to the minister of Transport that the ceiling of one kilowatt which was adopted as a general policy in 1937 now should be raised to five kilowatts."

He described this as "not a change of policy," but "strictly an adjustment to meet technical conditions as they exist today."

He added that 46 stations would be able to make the increase under the adjustment.

Discussing criticism by Joseph Sedgwick, K.C., of Toronto, counsel for the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, of the CBC's power policies, Dr. Frigon said that 25 stations had been granted permission to increase power, but so far they had done nothing about it.

Speaking of criticism that the CBC had failed to grant permits for television and other innovations, Dr. Frigon said "due precaution" must be taken against allowing someone to occupy frequency "with the purpose of simply claiming vested interest at some later date."

He said Mr. Sedgewick's complaint that CBC regulations called for the identification of recordings was not justified.

Ban Use of Prices

Referring to Mr. Sedgwick's criticism of the ban of mention of prices, Dr. Frigon said this would invite strong price competition between advertisers on different stations and advertisers broadcasting at different periods.

"In small communities, especially, it would unquestionably compete

Chinese Losing Grip In Honan

CHUNGKING, May 10 —(AP)— Chinese forces have all but lost their grip on the north-south Peiping-Hankow railway in Honan province, the Chinese high command indicated today.

Two strong Japanese columns were reported less than 14 miles from a juncture as they struck from the south from Chumatien and entered the railway town of Suiping from the north. The invader from Chumatien were said to have gained several miles, appreciably narrowing the 14-mile gap.

The invaders pressing toward the ancient Honan province city of Loyang, however, were said to have been checked east of the Yi River. The nearest Japanese forces several days ago were reported only six miles from Loyang.

Planes of the 14th United States Air Force strafed columns and key-points, but this only partly balanced the odds against the ill-equipped Chinese who have yielded a large slice of the richest wheat growing area of China since the invaders began their offensive April 18.

Ration Pack For Assault Forces

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIAN ARMY INVASION FORCES, Somewhere in England, May 10.—(CP Cable).—Canadian and British assault troops in the invasion of Western Europe will carry with them a special 24-hour ration pack of concentrated food to see them through the first day and night ashore.

Each man will carry a ration box of his own, measuring eight by six inches, which fits into his mess tin in a small pack on his back.

Some of the troops also will be equipped with a new type helmet, which resembles the Russian helmet and gives more protection than the old British wash-basin type.

The new ration has been specially designed for invasion, and it will be the first time Canadian and British soldiers have had such a compact pack. Previously, they carried rations loose in their pack or in their pockets, the food consisting of a tin of bully beef, a tin of soup and a package of biscuits with a couple of chocolate bars. It was a clumsy affair.

The new pack is far superior, the contents including 10 biscuits, two sweetened oatmeal blocks, a powdered compound of tea, sugar and milk pressed into small blocks which makes a good brew of tea, a block of meat, three slabs of chocolate, boiled candy, chewing gum, salt, six meat extract tablets and four cubes of sugar.

Instructions in the cardboard box give suggested menus for breakfast and supper and tell the men how to prepare the food. A simple, compact "canned heat" cooker is carried by each man and he can prepare his concentrated meals in his mess tin in a few minutes.

This assault ration of course is merely a stop-gap for the first day or so.

The new style hat, which will be worn by some Canadian and some British formations, is large and bulging and sweeps back over the neck and ears.

It had been intended to provide the Canadians with the United States style hat, and several hundred thousand were ordered, but before they were delivered it was discovered that the British type of earphones for signal equipment would not fit over the head with these hats. So a new hat had to be designed.

Control Of Air Within 10 Days

LONDON, May 10 — (CP) — The Germans were reported striving to tighten up their shaken Western defences on this Fourth anniversary of the Nazis drive through the low countries as the gigantic British-American air campaign developed new aspects pointing toward a climax in preparation for invasion D-day.

Thus the war in the west had swung in a full cycle, reversing the position of May 10, 1940 when the Germans, supreme in the air and on the ground, sent their legions crashing into Belgium and the Netherlands in the Blitzkrieg which led to Dunkirk and the collapse of France.

Feeder War Plants Idle

Walkout At Windsor Cuts Production

WINDSOR, Ont., May 10 —(CP)— Approximately 1,300 employees of feeder war plants in the Windsor area are idle as a resut of curtailed production due to the work stoppage at the plants of the Ford Motor Company of Canada in which 14,000 production workers are idle, selective service officials said yesterday.

Officials of Local 195 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C. I. O.) had reported earlier that 800 workers were idle at the plant of the Canadian Bridge Co. at Ojibway and between 500 and 600 were idle at the Gotfredson, Ltd., plant. About 25 per cent of those laid off are women. A meeting of the idle employees has been called for Thursday night.

Meanwhile Munitions Minister Howe in a speech to Victory Loan salesmen described the Ford stoppage as a "major tragedy."

The minister said: "A strike for more money — something can be done about that; a strike for shorter hours—something can be done about that. But a strike over grievance procedure baffles me completely. I don't know what can be done about it."

Honan Province Campaign Worries Allies

Fear China May Be Knocked Out Before Germany Is Defeated

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The greatest danger the Allies face in their war against Japan is that gallant but hard-hit China may be knocked out (for all practical purposes) before we can finish off Hitler and turn our full strength against the marauders of the Orient.

China's weakness isn't new but is a long standing malady which just recently has become acute again.

The fresh difficulty is the Japanese offensive in Honan province. This is surging westward along the great Yellow River and southward astride the Peiping-Hankow-Canton railway. It represents a real threat to President Chiang Kai-Shek's remaining war resources, including even his bomb-torn capital of Chungking.

Chiang's chief defence for years has been his ability to swap landspace for time, since he has lacked equipment for his armies. The enemy has absorbed the great industrial areas, the ports and much of the agriculutral country—but the vast hinterland has been just too big for him to overrun.

Last Useful Stretch

The General's present holdings, however, represent close to his last useful territory. He could, to be sure, retreat still further into the "roof of the world"—but it would render him militarily impotent.

Such a catastrophe wouldn't mean that the United Nations had lost the war against Japan. But it would mean that the difficulties had been multiplied and that the conflict likely would be greatly protracted.

Japan's all-important sea communications, upon which the little island kingdom depends to hold together her ill-gotten empire and continue to wage war, already are badly shot to pieces. Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, reports Japan's navy already is so damaged that she can't hope to make up losses. He also says Nippon's merchant fleet has been reduced to not more than two-thirds of what it was when Japan entered the war and he predicts that "she cannot stand such a rate of loss for any length of time and keep her empire together."

No wonder the Japanese want to bolster their land communications.

Avery Returns To Office

C.I.O. Wins Controversy In Mail Order House

CHICAGO, May 10 — (AP) — Sewell L. Avery resumed control of Montgomery Ward and Company today, 13 days after two soldiers carried him from his office of Board Chairman of the huge mail order house which the U. S. government had seized.

Avery's return to his office from which he had been barred by government order, followed an order by Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones last night, ending Federal possession of the Chicago properties, the seizure of which climaxed a long-standing labor dispute.

Jone's order came at the end of a collective bargaining election which was won by the C.I.O. Union whose controversy with the Company led to government control of the plant on April 26. The results showed the C.I.O. Union represented a majority of the employees, which was a fundamental issue in the dispute over extension of a Union-Company contract.

The Commerce Secretary's announcement of the government's termination of possession also came on the eve of a scheduled Federal Court decision on the legality of the seizure by Federal officials on order of President Roosevelt.

The relinquishing of Federal Control followed President Roosevelt's comment that the election outcome would "end the case."

Allies Drive Deep Wedge; Gain 9 Miles

German Withdrawal Not Explained On 8th Army Front

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 10 (AP) — Still pursuing withdrawing German forces, British 8th Army troops have thrust a wedge deep into enemy territory along Italy's mountainous backbone and at last report were driving directly toward the German base of Sulmona, it was announced today.

Front advices indicated there was little or no opposition, although the Germans were said to be carrying out extensive demolitions.

A communique announced Allied troops had entered the town of Palena, on the little Aventino river 35 miles inland from the Adriatic and 11 miles southeast of Sulmona, and a subsequent announcement told of the occupation of the mountain villages of Fallascoso, seven miles northeast of Palena and San Angelo, 12 miles southeast.

The 8th Army forces also seized high ground near the hamlet of Gamberale, two miles northwest of San Angelo on the road to Palena.

The advances carried the Allied troops a minimum of nine miles beyond previously announced positions.

Shorten Lines

A full explanation of why the Germans pulled back was not yet available, but the move apparently was taken to shorten and straighten their mountain lines.

The Germans, who have broadcast various propaganda reports of Allied preparations for a new offensive somewhere in Italy, appeared to be increasing their defence on the main 5th Army front south of Cassino. An enemy patrol was thrown back in the same area.

An Allied patrol with tank support raided an enemy-held house west of Cisterna on the Anzio beachhead, inflicting casualties. Headquarters said six enemy tanks attacked the raiders, but four hits were scored on the German vehicles and one was left afire.

Although bad visibility kept heavy bombers on the ground for the second day, British Wellingtons last night renewed attacks on the west coast ports of Genoa and Livorno. Medium bombers and fighters hammered away at communications north of Rome. Eight Allied planes were lost.

ports there had not been many opportunities to send any quantities of lumber which the Russians were very willing to send," the Prime Minister said.

Of the 6,778 airplanes sent Russia 2,627 were American made, "sent on lend-lease to the Soviet Union as a part of the British commitment in exchange for a supply of British aircraft to United States forces in the European Theatre.

"We also have sent more than £80,000,000 worth of raw materials, foodstuffs, machinery, medical supplies and comforts," he said. "A considerable proportion of these supplies has been fought through to Russia along the Arctic route."

Royal Navy Escort

The Prime Minister said the Royal Navy had borne nearly all the warship losses in getting the goods through but "in merchant ships, on the other hand, Allied Nations and particularly merchant ships of the United States, have borne the heaviest losses."

In its statement to Russia in the last six months, the Admiralty said the ships passage had been safeguarded by British and Allied warships under the general direction of Admiral Sir Bruce A. Fraser, G.C.B., K.B.E., Commander-in-Chief of the home fleet."

"Despite all that the enemy could do by sea and air to prevent our supplies reaching our ally, more than 98 per cent. of the supply ships delivered their cargos safely during the last six months," the announcement said. "Losses of freight from enemy action and other causes were in fact less than 16 tons in every thousand delivered whilst on the other hand heavy damage was inflicted on enemy forces.

"War equipment and supplies landed in North Russia included aircraft, tanks, railway locomotives, cars, guns, cranes, marine craft and many thousand vehicles. Considerable quantities of ammunition, food, explosives and fuel also were delivered."

costs $3, the total cost of illness is $264,063,700," said Mr. MacKenzie.

"To the cost of illness should be added the amount that is lost in wages and other income and, on the basis of the census of 1931, this was estimated at $84,873,000. Because of increased working population and higher wages the loss is greater today."

In 1942, 1,149,749 persons, or 10 out of every 100, were admitted to hospital care at a cost of $75,769,010.

Annually during the past 10 years Canada had lost approximately 15,000 children under the age of one year, said Mr. MacKenzie. Many of the deaths were due to causes which proper medical care could have prevented or controlled. More than 900 mothers died annually in childbirth. Adequate maternal services could have reduced the mortality rate.

"One of the important health health problems that confronts the Canadian people is the prevention and treatment of mental illness," said Mr. MacKenzie.

"More beds now are required for the treatment of mental illness than the total number of beds for the hospitalization of all other diseases and there are many mentally ill for whom no bed accommodation is available. The estimated shortage of beds is 10,000.

60,000 Mentally Ill.

"The total number of persons treated in mental institutions or elsewhere during the year 1942 was 59,943."

A nation-wide campaign to prevent mental and nervous diseases could be undertaken with advantage with Dominion financial assistance, said Mr. Mackenzie.

The number of deaths attributable to communicable diseases in 1942 was 14,844. Many of these deaths were due to lack of medical care and other professional services. This was particularly true in rural areas.

"Through the adoption of health insurance and the provision of periodic medical examinations, much can be done to prevent the occurrence of these diseases and to extend the expectation of life of persons of middle age who are suffering from them.

The draft health insurance bill suggested that the Federal government make a health insurance grant, a tuberculosis grant, a mental disease grant, a general public health grant, a venereal disease grant, a grant for professional training, a public health research grant and a crippled children grant.

Money Reforms Produce Lively Argument

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 10.—(CP).— The Commons to-day rested after a venture into the stratosphere of money reform discussion with government supporters of opposing opinions prominent in the debate.

C. G. McGeer (L-Vancouver Burrard) and Arthur Slaght (L-Parry Sound) yesterday set forth at length their belief that money not creating a debt should be issued by the Dominion, and powers of the chartered banks should be restricted.

Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Ilsley, said that Mr. Slaght's opinion of the function of a commercial bank and the way it operated was "complete nonsense."

Mr. Abbot said that when a bank brought new money into existence by granting a loan or by making a new investment, either of which created a new deposit, it did not acquire ownership in the deposit. It merely increased the volume of of money which is owned by one section of the community, the borrowers, to another section, the depositors.

Mr. Slaght gave promise of prolonged discussion to come when the bill before the House, which amends the Bank Act, goes to the Banking and Commerce committee.

He said that inflation was 'bogey' which had helped to keep the bank-

Eire's Leader Calls Election

LONDON, May 10—(CP)—Rebuffed by one vote on a government-sponsored transport issue, Premier Eamon de Valera of Eire put his administration at stake today by calling for a general election, the second for the neutral Irish within a year.

There was some feeling in London that the crisis was synthetic—manufactured by De Valera in the hope of strengthening his own party's membership in the Dail and proving his country's solidity behind his neutrality policy.

The crisis developed from a 64-63 setback for De Valera yesterday on a bill to create a government-controlled rail and truck transport system. Illness prevented the attendance of De Valera's Finance Minister, F. T. O'Kelly, whose vote would have tied the count and permitted the Speaker of the Dail to cast the deciding vote for the government.

An official announcement a short time later said a national election would take place, probably May 30.

staring him in the face Adolf Hitler has designed 29-year-old Maj.-Gen. Abert Pelz to command German Air Forces in the west and ordered him to assemble a force to combat the impending Allied invasion, said reliable advices from underground Europe.

Pelz, looked upon as an air genius and a prime favorite of Hitler, was given the task of keeping together a force to strike back at the invasion fleets—no matter what damage the homeland suffers in the meantime.

No matter what the Germans do, even the most Conservative Allied Air leaders are agreed the Allies can win full control of the air within seven to ten days after the invasion startes.

Germany's defensive position was emphasized last night by Lt.-Gen. Kurt Dietmar, one of the Berlin radio's leading military commentators, who declared:—

"There is no doubt that Germany now lives in a state of siege. It is undeniable that there is a great tension among the defenders of Europe."

Two Factories Given 'V' Flags

Two more Three-Star "V" flags were presented to industrial groups this morning, the first at the De Laval plant and the other at Colonial Weaving Company.

C. W. Upper, receiving the flag on behalf of the employees of De Laval, passed it on to Art Williams with a grateful tribute for his organization effort throughout the factory. Mr. Upper also thanked Wm. Hill for his contribution in the details of the shop canvass.

At Colonial Weaving Company's plant, W. A. Reid presented to James Heffernan, general manager, the "V" flag won by the staff's investment in the Sixth Victory Loan.

Mr. Heffernan, endorsing the compliments paid by Mr. Reid, said Colonial Weaving employees had a consistently fine record in the Victory Loans, something they could feel proud of just as he was proud of them for the spirit they had displayed.

The R.C.A.M.C. Band, returning to Peterborough Tuesday night for the morning engagements played short programs at both factories, and went on to Lindsay for the rest of the day.

Magistrate States Charge Is Void

"I can plainly see that this charge has been laid more than three months after the alleged offence. I couldn't convict you on this charge even if you pleaded guilty," said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning after Norman Joseph Brick, 17, had been charged with applying for and obtaining a liquor permit illegally.

The case was adjourned for a week to give the crown a chance to see what action it proposed to follow.

Brick was remanded for the same period on a charge of vagrancy on which he was arrested last week. He is out on bail.

An appeal to the farmers of Northumberland County to support the Sixth Victory Loan Campaign in a greater measure during the final week of the drive has been issued by Alex. McKinney, Jr. President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. With the county compaign lagging behind schedule, the past two weeks, the opinion has been expressed by County Loan officials that a greater effort must be forthcoming from the people of the Townships if this campaign is to be successful.

The final thermometer raising ceremony of the Sixth Victory Loan campaign will take place Saturday night at 8 o'clock before the Town Hall under the Auspices of the Rotary Club of Cobourg. The Rotarians are planning a spectacular demonstration on this occasion and will be supported in their efforts by the Cobourg Kiltie Band. Just what has been planned for this affair was not revealed by the Rotarians as they plan it to be a surprise for the citizens of Cobourg and vicinity.

Utilities To Purchase $8,000 Victory Bond

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10 (ENS) —The Campbellford Utilities Commission decided Tuesday night to invest $8,000 in Sixth Victory Loan, bringing their total investment in Victory Bonds to $33,000, all of which is earmarked for post war maintenance and repair. The decision was reached at the May meeting of the Commission when Chairman J. O. Benor extended a welcome to A. D. Bennett, appointed to the commission by by-law last month.

For the benefit of the new member the chairman outlined the duties of a commissioner and Mr. Bennett assured them of his cooperation. Mayor Long gave a brief report on his attendance at the planning and development convention in Toronto earlier in the week. He felt the steps taken at the meeting would form a valuable foundation for further development and coordination along these lines.

The monthly financial statement gave an encouraging picture of increasing revenues and consumption of power since returns from the light and power department were up $500 over the same period in 1943.

Invasion Anniversary

Four years ago today the Germans invaded the Netherlands. The Dutch had not engaged in warfare for more than a century, and although they made a brave resistance they were no match for their attackers. Everyone knows now how the rapid fall of the Netherlands was brought about; Germans who had accepted Dutch hospitality returned it by showing the Nazis the quickest way to destroy Holland; parachutists disguised as Dutch citizens mingled with the Netherlanders and made confusion among them; immense formations of bombing planes cut great swathes out of the Dutch cities. The Netherlanders could not have held out long in a fair fight, and in a fight like that they had no chance at all. The Netherlands fell quickly, and has been waiting four years for liberation.

The occupation of the Netherlands was not as severe as the occupation of some of the conquered countries. The Germans, who think of everything, saw that if they won the war the Dutch might become very useful go-betweens for them. Countries which would not feel friendly toward a German might admit a Dutchman, and the latter, if he were a good collaborationist, might explain the glories of the New Order. The Netherlanders, however, did not appreciate this thoughtfulness on the part of the Nazis, and since the occupation of their country they have been persistent and ingenious saboteurs. Their specialty has been pushing Nazi officers and men into their many canals; understandably no figures are available of the number of the enemy who have been disposed of in this way, but Dutch underground workers who have escaped to England have said that the loss is very high.

For the last year the Germans have been much more severe toward the Netherlanders. Perhaps they feel that they cannot win the war, and are anxious to do as much harm to the Dutch, and to profit as much by their subjection, as possible. Great numbers of male Netherlanders have been transported to Germany for forced labour; 750,000 have already made that miserable journey, and a further 250,000 are being recruited now. These men include almost all the male students from Dutch universities, for the Dutch intellectuals have been particularly defiant in their attitude toward the conqueror; when we recall Holland's history of religious and political independence, this is not hard to understand. The labourers from the Netherlands have been sent to the most frequently bombed parts of Germany, where they are kept in carefully guarded labour camps; they work approximately 16 hours a day under abominable conditions, and they receive the worst sort of food. In the homeland large coastal areas have been flooded as an invasion precaution, and the inhabitants have been sent inland; as Holland is also crowded with German refugees from bombed areas the congestion is desperate.

The sufferings of the Netherlands people have been great; their resistance has been heroic. They fight with us for the freedom of their homeland and for the freedom of the world. Today, the anniversary of their invasion, let us think of them with special tenderness and gratitude, and increase our resolve to wipe out the German oppression so completely that it can never rise again.

Death Of a Suffragist

Votes for women, and equal political and legal rights for women are so much a commonplace of our time that few women spare a thought for those among their mothers and grandmothers who fought so hard to win those privileges for them. Indeed, it might be said that women, having fought so hard for equal rights with men have, upon the whole, done very little with them. The death of Dame Ethel Mary Smyth, one of the most famous of suffragists, recalls the bitter struggle for women's rights at the time when it was a live issue.

Dame Ethel was born in 1858, the daughter of a British artillery general, and perhaps she inherited some of her vigorous fighting spirit from her father. As a young woman she took up the cause of her sex, and became very active in the Women's Social and Political Union, for which she wrote a battle-song, The March of the Women. In 1911 her suffragist activities led to her being imprisoned for two months in Holloway Jail; she bore her jail sentence with great good spirits, and did much to keep high the hearts of the women who were imprisoned with her, and to annoy and irritate her jailers.

But Dame Ethel's political activities were only a part of her life. She was primarily a musician, and composed a great number of works ranging from an elaborate Mass in D to a one-act opera, The Boatswain's Mate, the libretto of which was by the late W. W. Jacobs. She was a doughty fighter in the cause of English opera, and was always a good friend of English music generally. In addition to her gifts as a composer she was a very able writer, and her letters to the press, her pamphlets and her books did much to further the causes which she championed. During her last years she wrote a series of autobiographical volumes which were excellent of their kind.

As for her attainments as a musician, we quote the opinion of the British critic, Percy Scholes, who said of her: "It is the opinion of some that had she been a man she would have been enabled more quickly to make her mark as a composer, and of others that she would with difficulty have made it at all. It is perhaps fair to consider that these views cancel out, leaving sex as no important factor in the sum". It was for her work as a musician that Ethel Smyth was created a Dame of the British Empire in 1922, eleven years after her term in jail.

Frankenstein Was Wrong

People who have read Mrs. Shelley's wild romance Frankenstein, or who have seen it in its movie version, remember that the student Frankenstein — "the modern Prometheus" — constructed a man out of materials which he bought from a number of slaughter-houses, boneyards and charnels, and inspired the hideous creature with life. No wonder he lived to regret it; he had the wrong recipe entirely.

The ingredients required to form a human body are simple things which may be found in any kitchen. Eleven gallons of water are needed, and enough albuminoids to make two dozen eggs. A third of a cup of salt is needed, and a honey-pail filled with a good quality of grease. A cup of sugar and about as much iron as would make an ordinary paper-weight are also required.

We suggest that you mix the eggs and water thoroughly, add the salt and sugar—corn syrup may be used if you are short of sugar—and warm the mixture on the stove until it is hot enough to dissolve the grease. Drop the head of a hatchet into the pot and the job is done.

If Frankenstein had followed this recipe he would have saved himself a lot of trouble. You will observe that the ingredients of the human body are very like those of a milk pudding; indeed, if you left the iron out you could eat it. If Frankenstein had not liked his Monster when he was finished, he could hastily have thrown him back into the pot with a handful of rice and a dash of cinnamon, and an hour later his delighted guests would never have dreamed that they were finishing off an unsuccessful experiment.

Belles Lettres In Springtime

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THE debunkers are already at work on Stefan Zweig, the great Austrian man of letters whose autobiography, "The World of Yesterday" was reviewed in this column a few months ago. When an author dies his body is hardly cold before a few knowing fellows rush into print explaining that his reputation was founded on faulty popular taste, and that his consequence was grossly exaggerated. Of Zweig it is now being said that he was pernickety workman, a carver of cherry-stones, sentimental when he tried to be tender and guilty of overstuffed and plushy effects when he sought to write with psychological insight. Perhaps so: the present writer maintains that Zweig could write the heads off most of his contemporaries, and that his writings and his autobiography showed him to be a man of noble and sensitive spirit, an artist and a craftsman.

HIS last work of fiction has been published by Macmillan in a volume which contains as well two of his magnificent long short stories. The book is called "The Royal Game," taking its name from the hitherto unpublished work. The story is of a man who, in a ship's chess tournament, reveals such formidable command of the game that he beats a world's champion who is also on board. Yet the stranger protests that he has not touched a chessman for twenty years, and is unsure of his ability to play. When his story is revealed, we learn that he gained his knowledge of chess while detained in solitary confinement by the Nazis; having no board and men, he was compelled to play his games in his head, taking both sides. This brought him near to madness, but it gave him complete mastery of the royal game. This bald relation of the plot gives no hint of the subtlety with which Zweig works out his story.

THE other two stories in the book are the famous "Amok," and "Letter From An Unknown Woman." The first is certainly one of the most remarkable brief love stories in modern literature. Through study and perhaps even more through intuition Zweig knew how the minds of men and women in love really work; his love stories have the poignancy of truth. In the second of these two stories he discloses another aspect of love—the passion which begins in childhood and which destroys a life. Zweig's short stories, having a beginning, a middle and an end, are perhaps not modern, but they are better than that; they are rooted in life itself, and they are expressed in a style which, without being artificial, is highly cultivated.

READERS who are interested in literary reminiscence and intimate and first-hand accounts of the literary great will find a book to their taste in "South Lodge," by Douglas Goldring; it is made up of his personal recollections and evaluations of Ford Madox Ford and Violet Hunt, of the circle which moved around them, and of the "English Review." Mr. Goldring has the perfect manner for a work of this kind. He can criticize his friends without superiority, and he can write of intimate matters without making his reader feel like a Peeping Tom. Ford was an interesting, ill-fated man, possessed of brilliant talents but unable to settle down to exploiting them. For a writer, if he looks for material success and fame, must mine and exploit his abilities as shrewdly and as assiduously as any industrialist; genius, it has been said, is much influenced by the ability to apply the seat of the trousers to the seat of the chair. Ford lacked that ability. He was a Bohemian and a gentleman, and would not and could not compete with a group of writers who, in his opinion, were neither, and who were ready to stoop to any subterfuge to get their work in print, to get it favourably reviewed, and to get it sold in large quantity. He may have under-valued his contemporaries, but he was right about his own lack of sharpness in business. His affair with Violet Hunt is carefully set forth in this book, and it makes an unusually interesting story. She was a woman of beauty, charm and talent, but in Mr. Goldring's estimation, she was incorrigibly "middle class" in her outlook and opinions, and she sought to warp Ford to her own mould. In spite of his love for her he would not, and could not be warped; Ford was inflexible in his extreme flexibility. The result was unhappiness and frustration for Ford and "the immodest Violet" as some of her friends called her.

FINALLY I should like to draw the reader's attention to another beautifully written book of recollections called "Where Love and Friendship Dwelt," by Mrs. Belloc Lowndes, the gentle lady who wrote "The Lodger," one of the classic thrillers of our literature. In introducing her book she quotes a French saying: "A book is an epistle written to unknown friends." The present work is a continuation of her earlier book "I Too Have Lived In Arcadia," and it tells her life at La Celle, her childhood home, to which she returned at the age of seventeen. When she was twenty this retiring and gently bred girl had to find work in order to support herself, and to the horror of most of her friends, she turned to journalism; in the subsequent six years she worked principally at interviewing literary and artistic celebrities, and she found that all of them were more careful of her innocence and inexperience than her friends would have believed. In this way she met a great number of people whose names have an almost historic ring in our ears, but whom she clearly regards as contemporaries. It is interesting also that Mrs. Belloc Lowndes has a passion for very old people with excellent memories, and from those memories she is able to extract snatches of authentic history. Such, for instance, is her story that two attempts were made to murder Marie Antoinette before she fled from Paris; that scrap of history came from an old lady whose grandmother had been one of the French queen's personal attendants. This volume brings the story of the author's life up to the time of her marriage, and it is likely that other books will follow.

OVERWORKED DOCTORS

There is a tremendous strain under which the members of the medical profession are labouring to alleviate the suffering and preserve the life in the community they serve. There is no such thing as a 48 hour week for the men who have the responsibility of caring for the health of a community. With the number of doctors who have entered the armed forces, a burden of responsibility now rests upon the shoulders of a few and judging from the calls now being placed upon the shoulders of the local doctors that burden at times almost reaches the limit of physical endurance. Not 48 hours in a week but at times almost 48 hours at a stretch has been the burden placed upon these men.—Exeter Times-Advocate.

Canada Leads in Price Control

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

CANADA'S outstanding and continued success in holding the wartime increase in prices within reasonable bounds and generally in curbing the factors threatening uncontrollable inflation, is reflected in the latest official figures on movement of the cost of living index. The index gained only a tenth of a point between March 1 and April 1—from 119 to 119.1 on a basis 1935-39 equals 100—for a net wartime rise of only 18.2 per cent.

Canada leads all other countries in the effective application of prices and inflation controls. Whatever consumers may think of the advance in prices of particular items or groups of items, such as foodstuffs, the net rise in the average of all prices embraced in the cost of living index is noticeably less than the comparable gain in basic living costs in other countries, with one exception.

This was authoritatively shown in figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and tabled recently in Parliament by Labour Minister Mitchell. The comparison showed cost of living indices calculated on a basis of August, 1939, equals 100, and giving the latest available levels in different countries in late 1943 and early 1944. New Zealand was the only country with less of a wartime increase in living costs than Canada, the New Zealand index in September, 1943, being reported at 112.9 compared with Canada's 118 in February of this year.

In January, the directly comparable index for the United Kingdom was 128.4 and for the United States, 125.9, reflecting wartime price increases 10 and 8 per cent. greater respectively than in Canada. Late last year, the indices for other countries listed by Mr. Mitchell were Australia, 122.5; South Africa, 126.5; Eire, 169.9; Mexico, 173.1; and Switzerland, 148.9. Since price control went into effect in Canada late in 1941, the Canadian index has risen only 3½ per cent., while the advances in the same period have amounted to 15 per cent. in the U.S., 12½ per cent. in Australia and 16.1 per cent. in South Africa.

Life in Canada may not be perfect, but it certainly has its advantages in comparison with other countries.

Canada's Part in Two Wars

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THE accusations levelled by Group Captain Denton Massey against the Canadian people have received a great deal of publicity—more, perhaps, than their validity or authorship warrants. However, they have at least served to arouse a great deal of interest in the Canadian war effort, and it is interesting to compare that effort with the record of the First Great War. The figures which immediately follow are the totals for the earlier war, with the estimated population of the Dominion at the half-way mark:

WORLD WAR I

Total casualties	236,000
Honors and awards (including 62 Victoria Crosses)	28,300
Munitions
Value of munitions produced	$1,068,000,000
War materials exported	$1,002,672,413
War workers—nearly	300,000
Women in munitions work	30,000
Finance
War costs, including demolilization	$1,670,406,213
Total tax revenue	$1,121,000,000
Loans—New Money:
In United States	$ 150,000,000
In Canada	$2,078,780,000
Increase in net debt	$1,913,000,000
Percentage of funded debt held in Canada	1914—none; 1920—81%

The figures following record the present war effort up to the indicated dates, with the population as of record three years ago. It will be understood that several sums noted below have increased heavily since the table was compiled:

WORLD WAR II

Population
1941 census	11,506,000
Armed Forces
Present strength of men in armed forces—more than	725,000
Total casualties, not including wounded (to December, 1943)	19,000
Honors and awards (including two Victoria Crosses)	2,153
Munitions
Value of munitions produced	$6,500,000,000
War materials exported (to December, 1943)	$6,700,000,000
Peak number of war workers—more than	1,100,000
Peak number of women in war industry—more than	260,000
Finance
War costs (estimated to March 31, 1944)	$10,824,000,000
Additional financial aid to United Kingdom	$ 1,518,000,000
Total tax revenue (estimated to March, 1944)	$ 7,300,000,000
Loans—New Money:
In Canada	$ 7,650,000,000
Increase in net debt (to December, 1943) more than	$ 6,600,000,000
Percentage of funded debt held in Canada	1939—74%; 1943—96%

All in all, it looks like a record of which none in this country need be ashamed. With an increase of something less than 40 per cent. in population, the financial and material contributions have increased by percentages varying from 300 to 1,000. The armed forces and the industrial forces are also up, the latter more than 300 per cent. History seemed to think well of Canada's part in World War I. It is no exaggeration to say that the present effort is greater—and we have by no means completed the record.

Home and School

The life of a parent whose children are of school age is never boring, and since the outbreak of war it has tended to become over-exciting. The inculcation of ideals of patriotism and social service in the young under their charge is part of the duties of all teachers, and it would be unfair to accuse them of an excess of zeal. What some of them neglect to consider is that their own zeal becomes multiplied by the eager young missionaries whom they send home to convert their easy-going parents.

There are drives for war savings stamps, paper salvage, the Red Cross, relief for bomb victims in Greece, Malta, Russia and Britain. There are calls to provide parcels of comforts for sailors, books for the army. All the causes are worthy. In fact, most parents have responded to the appeals before they hear from the schools. If they haven't, and sometimes even if they have, they are on the spot.

A bright ten-year-old, once filled with enthusiasm for a cause, could give lessons to a veteran canvasser in the art of extracting money from reluctant prospects. To the arguments based on the worth of the charity itself are added the facts that he or she will be shamed in the eyes of fellow-students if Daddy doesn't cough up, that the class simply has to win the pennant for collecting the greatest volume of old rubber, scrap iron or waste paper, or, most potent of all, that the teacher says there isn't any excuse for any child who can't make a substantial contribution.

In households where there are two or more children in different classes, competition has become so keen that a new magazine has to be kept under lock and key until the parents have read it. Left unguarded, it will be started on its way to the soldiers.—The Printed Word.

DEWEY DID IT

Remember the old Spanish-American War song: "What did Dewey do to them, what did Dewey do?" Well, that is what all the boys are now wondering. Not only what did he do, but how did he do it when he wasn't in it?—Detroit Free Press.

ONLY A PICTURE

That is an alluring picture Mr. Pouliot paints of Wartime Information Board people going around to newspapers with scissors and "telling them not to publish this and that." Guess we've been dropped off the W.I.B. list, though. Offhand, we don't recall seeing a W.I.B. man in this building at all, let alone being told what not to print.—Ottawa Journal.

MIXED METAPHORS

To nip in the bud a rat that he smelt floating in the air would be easy for the correspondent who recently sent the following message, which was reproduced in the British press.

If the United Nations placed a fence round Japan and "let her stew in her own juice," they would be creating a festering sore with permanent explosive tendencies.—London New Statesman.

TREMENDOUS DEVELOPMENT

How tremendously aviation has developed in a short period of years was dramatically illustrated the other day when Orville Wright first man to fly a heavier-than-air machine, briefly took over the controls of the Lockheed "Constellation," huge four-motored transport. Not many inventors and pioneers have lived to see the fruits of their efforts carried to the stage represented by this newest and biggest of air liners.—Montreal Gazette.

A Bible Message

And Job spake, and said, Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said, There is a man child conceived. Let that day be darkness; let not God regard it from above, neither let the light shine upon it. (Job 3: 2-4.)

The days of our years are threescore years and ten: and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labour and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away.... So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom.... O satisfy us early with thy mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.... Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it. (Ps. 90: 10, 12, 14, 16, 17.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Does this train go to London?" asked the heavily burdened soldier.

"Yes, that's right!" answered the guard.

"Is it a corridor train?" asked the soldier.

"No—no corridor," answered the guard.

The soldier threw down his kitbag and said gloomily: "Then where the devil am I going to stand?"

A lady was training her Chinese servant to answer the door bell. She went outside, rang the bell and the servant answered the door.

The next day she was worried by a continual ringing of the bell. At last, when no one answered the door, she opened it herself and found her servant on the step.

"Whatever are you doing, Li?" she asked.

"Yesterday you foolee me, now I foolee you," was the reply.

The ultra-rich man had gone to the seaside for a holiday. His wife, who went out swimming, was nearly drowned, and was rescued with difficulty.

She was unconscious, surrounded by a crowd, when her husband puffed up to ask how she was.

"Pretty bad," said the doctor. "I'm afraid we'll have to give her artificial respiration."

"Artificial respiration be blowed," said the man, excitedly. "you'll give her the real thing. I'll pay for it."

TAMBLYN
STRESSES "MOTH PROTECTION"
Today as possibly never before, it is most essential that the greatest of care be taken of our present possessions. That ruling is particularly applicable to "Fabrics" as present day replacements for clothing, Drapes, Blankets, Bed Linens, etc., are increasingly difficult, even impossible in some cases, to procure. It therefore behooves us to take every precaution against "Moth infection" when the time arrives to store these items for the summer months, as statistics prove that this insignificant insect each year causes damage running into millions of dollars. A great part of this costly loss of course is due to carelessness in the process of storage and can be eliminated by common sense preventative measures. Your Tamblyn Drug Store is prepared to materially assist in this programme by supplying you with the very necessary requisites for "Moth Protection" at very economical prices. As an extra convenience a number of these products have been included in this list of

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

During his exhibition tour of military camp in the United Kingdom, Sgt. Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of the world, took time yesterday to discuss opponents, saying the toughest man he ever met was Max Baer. He rated Billy Conn, whom he defeated by a narrow margin in 1941, as the smartest of all his opponents in both defensive and offensive work. Louis surprised the fans by selecting Jim Braddock as having the most powerful right, thus ignoring Max Schmeling who kayoed the present titleholder in 12 rounds back in 1936. Louis stopped Braddock in the eight round at Chicago in 1937.

Joe admitted the hardest single wallop he ever absorbed was a right to the chin delivered by Al Delaney in 1934, the punch nearly breaking his jaw. The champion believed the hardest blow was one which knocked out Paulao Uzcudun in 1935.

Pensive, Calumet Farm's Derby winner, joined a number of Louisville starters yesterday at the Pimlico racing plant to prepare for the 50,000 Preakness next Saturday. The others shipped from Churchill Downs included Stir Up, Alorter, Gramps Image, and Gay Bit.

Manager Joe McCarthy is in charge of the New York Yankees once more after a month's sickness during which he rested at his Amherst, N.Y., farm. He intimated there might be some change in the club's catching department.

Canucks Ignore No Cheering Rule

OTTAWA, May 10—(CP)—Army sports officers, looking ahead to next year's boxing tourney when they hope 75 per cent. of the home establishments will compete, are considering what to do about the army's "no cheering" rule.

It is not expected that a decision will be reached until shortly before the tourney starts. It's possible that the rule may be relaxed somewhat.

When 50,000 of Canada's 215,000 home army men started the long elimination grind early this winter the army decreed the "no cheering" rule would be strictly applied.

This rule was designed for Imperial Service barracks, where discipline is strict and crowd demonstrations are rare.

But the army soon found that Canadian fans preferred to yell. By the time the Dominion finals were reached here last Thursday the army had announced a policy of toleration.

Capt. Jerry Goodwin of London, Ont., the good-natured fellow who volunteered to act as referee-in-chief of the tournament had a broad understanding of Canadian fans from his long experience as a National Hockey League official.

So he rigged up an amplifier and shouted his instructions through a microphone that boomed his voice at the fighters from loud-speakers in each corner of the ring.

The crowd cheered and booed to their hearts content. Maj. Eisenhardt, chief sports officer, voted the evening a success.

Father of the army's mass sport participation program "to make the fighting man fighting fit," Maj. Eisenhardt will soon leave his post for the Department of National Health, where he will direct a national physical fitness program.

But before he goes he will launch the army on its next sports program—cross country running. This sport will take survivors of district elimination meets as far as area championships, but there will be no Dominion finals.

After Heavy Crown

BALTIMORE, May 10.—(AP). —A former sparring partner of Joe Louis, Curtis Sheppard, walloping Pittsburg negro, made a formal bid yesterday for the heavyweight crown after shellacking Tony Shucco in 5 rounds the night before. After being an in-and-outer since 1938, Sheppard looks to be coming strong. His next date is with Lee Q. Murray of Norwalk, Conn., next month.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The value of having a man interested in promoting sport in the district and taking an active interest in the development of young players has been clearly shown in the announcement that through the efforts of Dave Leether, president of the local City Softball League and vice-president of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association the Peterborough Church Softball League has been the recipient of a donation from the Ontario Athletic Commission. At the suggestion of Mr. Leether the league applied for assistance to Charles Lewis of Toronto who forwarded a recommendation to Lionel Conacher, chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission. The answer was prompt and to the point. This week help in a very substantial manner has arrived. The shipment consisted of four dozen balls, two dozen bats, four gloves, four catcher's mitts and four masks. These supplies are going to be of invaluable help to the young players in the Church loop. Two balls and a bat have been supplied to each team and the mitts, gloves and masks will be loaned as needed. The Church League incidentally has been operating for over 20 years and during that time hundreds of boys have been taught the rudiments of the game as well as valuable lessons in sportsmanship. The executive and players of the league have asked to be allowed through this column to extend to Mr. Leether and to the Ontario Athletic Commission sincerest thanks for the generous assistance and to assure them they will do their utmost to continue developing young players.

The appearance of two new wrestling celebrities on last night's card at the Brock Street Arena in the person of Johnny Demchuk and Abe Zvonkin calls attention to the wealth of wrestling talent that has been seen in action here since Peterborough became a member of the Tunney wrestling circuit nearly a year ago. The Toronto impressario has given the fans a chance to look at all the ace grapplers in the game today from World Champion Wild Bill Longson, former champions Ed. Strangler Lewis and Bobby Managoff, and the foremost Canadian claimants to the world's title in Whipper Billy Watson of Toronto and Yvon Robert of Montreal down. The programs have included such wrestling novelties as the Angel and the Blimp, a couple of masked mat stars and a whole flock of mat celebrities including Earl Moose McCready, Leo Numa, John Katan, Verne Baxter, Vic Holbrook, Frank Sexton, Gentleman Jack Clayborne, Karl Krippler Davis, Jan Gotch, Al Bunny Dunlop, Toar Morgan, Strangler Bob Wagner, Johnny Gyroffy, Joe Maich, Sergt. Ted Miller, Tom Zaharias, Tony Leoni, Jack Wentworth, Ali Pasha and a lot of other well-known figures in the wrestling game. Peterborough fans, in short, have been able to see all the stars who have appeared in Maple Leaf Gardens in recent months and Promoter Tunney has been lavish in the talent that he has offered for the entertainment of local followers of the game.

A Colorful Umpire

Many baseball fans in Peterborough will be glad to learn that Babe Sheppard, well-known Toronto umpire, has recovered sufficiently from a long illness to be released from hospital. The huge Sheppard one of the biggest officials who ever worked in a game in which Peterborough teams have played was also one of the most colorful of umpires. He had a number of mannerisms that gave the fans quite a kick but back of it all he was a capable official and in his prime was an especially accurate caller of balls and strikes when working behind the bat. Former local players and the fans who remember seeing Sheppard perform will read the following from the Brantford Expositor sport column with interest: "Still another former Intercounty star performer, although not a player, is Umpire "Babe" Sheppard who has just been released from St. Michael's hospital after a protracted illness. Baseball fans around these parts well remember the "Babe" and his exploits on the diamond in the "palmy days" of the early twenties. It is said "Babe" could swallow a whole pail of water in a single gulp. Along about the fifth inning, or sooner, "Babe" would amble over to the dugout and absolutely ignoring the tin cup he would pick up the pail and drink from that. His antics always added a touch of color to the games."

* * * * * *

Good as he was Babe Sheppard could be fooled sometimes and one Central Ontario player who pulled the wool over his eyes was our own Bill Calladine, now in Uncle Sam's Army. When Knotty Lee was coaching the Petes a few years back he taught Calladine to throw a spitter. The pitch is of course illegal but the Peterborough pitcher masked his moist ball very effectively and got away with it for a couple of seasons, in fact was never checked up on it. The secret was that he wet the fingers of his pitching hand as the ball was coming back to him from the catcher and so he was all ready for the illegal pitch, as soon as he caught the pellet in his gloved hand. Calladine was pitching a playoff game in which Babe Sheppard umpired behind the bat and he was coming through with an occasional spitter that had the batters buffaloed. Half way through the game the big Toronto umpire remarked to the writer of this column, "That kid of yours has a nice knuckle ball: it's really working." Sheppard never suspected that Calladine was wetting the ball. However he was not unique in that respect for none of the regular league umpires had ever caught Calladine at it and opposing teams never questioned his delivery all the time he was using the moist ball. In fact some of the Petes themselves didn't know much about the spitter. It was a military secret that was never talked about.

A New Hockey Field

Loyd Roubell, who played the past season with the Pittsburg Hornets and made a trip out to California late in the winter is back after having had the unique experience of playing with the team that won the amateur championship of the United States while still a professional player in good standing. Roubell and Ross Knipfel, a Pittsburg Hornet defenceman who made the trip with him both played for the Hollywood Wolves in a series with the Boston Olympics which the Coast team won. The Canadian players are convinced hockey has a great future in California. Interviewed by Doug Vaughan of the Windsor Star Roubell called it a hot-bed for high-class hockey. "The average fan," said Lloyd, "may not know a whole lot about the game, but they are really nuts about it. Virtually all of the movie celebrities are boosters for one team or another. The five games we played against Boston were staged in the Pan-Pacific Auditorium in Los Angeles. It has a seating capacity of 7,500 and every seat was sold for every game of the series. I never had a better time in my life than I did in the five weeks I spent out there and all I hope is that I get another chance to go back out there. You can take my word for it, hockey is going to be a major spectator sport in California in the very near future."

Abe Zvonkin, the big Hamilton football star who wrestled here against Johnny Gyroffy at the Brock Street Arena last night recalled that the last time he appeared in Peterborough before in a sporting rôle was the afternoon in 1928 he performed for the Hamilton Delta Collegiate team in an O.R.F.U. interscholastic playoff game with the Peterborough Collegiate Institute eleven. The game was played at Riverside Park, and Peterborough fans and any of the players still left around town will recall the fact that the big Hamilton team won the argument. They will also remember that the two visiting players who were the largest factor in the win were the same Abe Zvonkin who hit the line for huge gains all afternoon and the afterward famous Bob Isbister whose long distance kicking was a powerful weapon for the Delta team.

Whipper Watson Defeats Oregon Athlete

Whipper Billy Watson, taking the only fall of the match in 15 minutes with a perfect demonstration of his favorite Canadian avalanche defeated Verne Baxter, the Oregon mat star, in the main bout of the Frank Tunney wrestling card at the Brock St. Arena last night, but it was no pushover for the British Empire champion.

As a matter of fact Baxter, after losing the first fall, came back to give the Whipper all kinds of trouble for the rest of the engagement. He had Watson in a jam half a dozen times and on several occasions came within an ace of squaring the match.

It was one of the hardest-fought battles seen here since the Tunney shows began. Baxter, powerful, fast and rough carried the fight over most of the route and Watson met him on his own ground, with no quarter asked or given. The result was a contest that had the fans in an uproar and several times it looked as if the angry spectators were going to invade the ring. One woman fan tried to belabor Baxter with an umbrella and other enthusiasts rushed toward the ropes half a dozen times when the popular Whipper was taking a ride from the hard-hitting Oregon grappler.

Avalanche Does It

For the first quarter of the bout the two stuck to legitimate wrestling with both showing power and skill and the result was a fine exhibition of the science of the game. Watson had the edge, but not by much. Finally after Baxter had started to slip in some of his rough tactics the Whipper cut loose

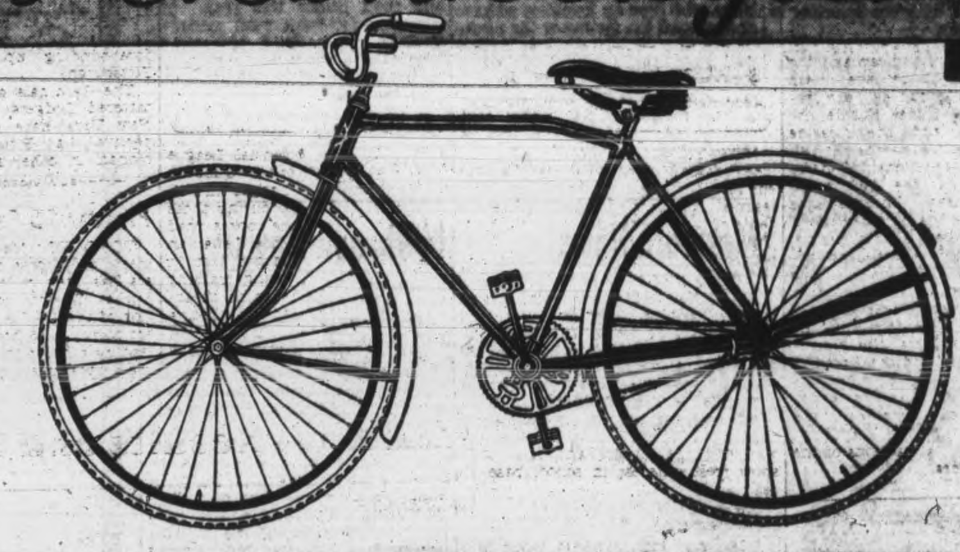
A C.C.M. Bicycle



WE BUILD IT ACCURATELY OF GOOD MATERIALS
YOU KEEP IT OILED AND THE TIRES PUMPED HARD

A C.C.M. BICYCLE is an accurately made and durably finished machine, composed of the most suitable materials throughout.

It will carry you about in your business, to and from school or in private life at no expense and with but little effort.

In the three fast moving parts or bearings of a C.C.M. Bicycle—Front Hub, Coaster Brake, Sprocket Hanger—special steels are used and are heat-treated to give extra hardness and longer life to the bicycle.

Having done everything that 45 years of experience in making Bicycles has taught us, we pass on to you, the rider of a C.C.M., this beautiful piece of precise mechanism. It is then prudent for you, and will pay you in terms of years of trouble-free riding, to keep your C.C.M. Bicycle well and regularly oiled and greased, the tires pumped hard at all times.

If you need a Bicycle as essential transportation, go to your nearest C.C.M. dealer and complete a Bicycle Purchase Application Form. Although Bicycles are rationed, still larger quantities of materials are being made available to provide for essential users.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 10 — (AP). — The baseball committee that looked into the High School situation learned that approximately 96 per cent of the High Schools in the United States support basketball teams, but only 32 per cent participate in baseball.....And since the United States entered the war baseball interest decreased 14 per cent while basketball showed an increase.....On the other side of the picture reports from such widely-spaced spots as New Orleans, La., and Bergen County, N.J., indicate that "education" or "publicity" (choose your own word) will lead the players and fans to show fresh interest in school baseball.

Inconsistent:

There as considerable stir among the agriculturists around Rumson, N.J., the other day over the birth of twin calves in Mike Jacobs' barn .....It was the first such event in the vicinity in 35 years, but Uncle Mike wasn't unduly elated..... "They were both bulls," he complained. "I'd have given $50 if they had been heifers."....The assumption is that Mike thinks his publicity department can supply enough bull.

A rookie a day:

Roland (Frenchy) Galdu, Braves' third baseman: The only player who came straight from England to land a big league job....Frenchy broke in with Del Bissonett's Quebec team in the Provincial League in 1939, shifted over to Quebec's Canadian-American League in '41, and hit well over .300 during those three years....Then he took a road trip to England with the Canadian Army and was discharged just in time to report for spring training ....In the season opener he speared a giant liner then smacked a triple for his first hit...The Braves lost but the Gans gave Frenchy the Gladu hand.

Ball Experts Puzzled In Major Loops

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luke Sewell's St. Louis Browns and the once-futile Phillies can stamp themselves as serious pennant contenders or just spring morning glories in the first intersectional series of the major league season opening today in the National's western half and the eastern cities of the American League.

Pre-season experts had spotted Washington and New York as the teams to beat in the American with Chicago a possibility but the Brownies have scrambled the dope sheets in the first three weeks by trampling Detroit and Chicago and shading Cleveland.

St. Louis and Cincinnati were generally conceded to be the one-two clubs in the National and they had been running that way until the Phils began to bang the Giants and Braves around and moved into second.

Now comes the payoff. Tonight the Browns go to bat against the Senators as Clark Griffith opens his steady night-game diet. After Washington St. Louis goes to Philadelphia, Boston and New York in successive series.

With the Red Sox showing improvement especially in the hitting department and Joe McCarthy back with a Yankee club that boasts a six-game winning streak, the Browns should be fully tested before they return home May 24.

In other American series opening today, Detroit will be at New York, Cleveland at Boston and Chicago at Philadelphia.

Freddy Fitzsimmons' Phils open today in Chicago where the Cubs under Charley Grimm are hungry for red meat after losing 12 in a row. The Phils then get that tough St. Louis and Cincinnati pitching before winding up the invasion in Pittsburgh.

The Cardinals get a peek at the tattered Dodgers and Boston and New York have night dates, respectively, at Pittsburgh and Cincinnati in other series openers.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 10 — (CP) — The other day Alf Cottrell wrote a column in the Vancouver Sun describing mouse racing, which has become quite a fad with servicemen stationed in Australia. The boys get a gentleman mouse or filly that has proved its speed, then match it against all comers generally using a barrel for a track.

That and reports of the annual frog-jumping derby south of the border prompted Vince (Winnipeg Tribune) Leah to wonder whether cockroach racing had been revived during the present war. The insect scampers were quite popular during the First Great War when the soldiers tried to forget some of the unsavory episodes of war by matching two stalwart cockroaches for a winner-take-all purse.

Perhaps though, says Vince, "the boys are too busy prepping for that jump across the Channel or that drive on Rome. Maybe on some not-too-distant day they'll be able to make book right on the Under Den Linden. Give me ten across the board on that Russian entry over there."

Irresistible force:

Noting the phenomenal success of racing this year in both attendance and betting despite many and varied difficulties, Harry (Calgary Albertan) Scott opines that "an obstacle has yet to be designed which would stop a hoss-player from getting to the track." Your true addict is discouraged only when tearing up an unsuccessful parimutuel ticket, but "never fails to recover miraculously overnight."

Incidentally:

Eight of this year's Montreal Royals had never travelled on a Pullman until they joiner the International League ball club, Dink Carroll reports in the Montreal Gazette. They must be going far back in the woods for talent now....Lt. Bill Haynes of Edmonton scored three technical knockouts in less than three minutes fighting time in advancing to the Canadian Army middleweight novice boxing title. The K.O.'s were made in Regina, Winnipeg and Ottawa....Margery Kirkham of Montreal, holder of the Canadian open and closed golfing championships a few years ago, has been reinstated as an amateur .....Vancouver sportsmen, headed by T. O. Turner, have taken over Athletic Park in Vancouver and renamed it Capilano Stadium. They hope soon to have an entry in the Pacific Coast ball loop.

Wings-Orioles Seek Top Spot

By the Associated Press

First place is at stake in the International League to-day when the Baltimore Orioles and the league-leading Rochester Red Wings try once again to get in one tilt of their scheduled four-game series.

Double-headers continued to pile up at an alarming rate yesterday, with four more postponements washing out the league schedule.

Baltimore, a game back of Rochester, has been able to play only one league game since leaving home ten days ago and Toronto, the 1943 champion, has played only seven of 20 scheduled games.

Curtailed spring training, poor weather, and the unusually large crop of inexperienced rookies combine to add to the managers' woes in trying to pick a regular lineup or figure on a rotation of pitchers.

In addition to tossing all the clubs back in their conditioning, the siege of inactivity has been a stiff blow at the pocket book in cities where Sunday double-headers carry most of the weight.

Hockey Player Gets 3 Months

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., May 10—(CP) — Jerome (Jud) McAtee, 22, well known hockey player, was sentenced Tuesday to 3 months in the county jail upon a conviction of reckless driving under the criminal code. Sentence was imposed by Magistrate J. H. Campbell after he had heard witnesses testify to McAtee's high character and standing, and argument of F. J. Flynn, defence counsel, and Crown Attorney E. H. Lancaster, K.C.

McAtee, formerly of the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League and member of the St. Catharines senior club during the past season, was charged following the death early New Year's morning of Mrs. Bernice Anderson, a passenger in an auto driven by McAtee which collided with a trolley on the Niagara street bridge.

The magistrate commented "the element of liquor has not entered into this case. I came here this morning with a certain idea, but after Mr. Flynn's eloquent appeal I have toned down my first decision."

Movie Censors Work To Curb Juvenile Crime

TORONTO, May 10 — (CP). — The fifth year of war finds motion picture form of entertainment and information more closely related to the daily life of the people than ever before, O. J. Silverthorn, chairman of the Ontario Film Board, said to-day in his annual report on the operations of the Ontario Motion Picture Censorship and Theatre Inspection Branch.

The report noted that the board, aware of the seriousness of juvenile delinquency, has concerned itself with the possible relation of motion pictures to this problem. "During the year it has enjoyed the co-operation of welfare organizations and motion picture conveners attached to private organizations. Therefore frequent representations have been studied carefully."

"We agree that the motion picture can contribute to juvenile delinquency," the report said, "but to what extent, and what the remedy may be, is difficult to determine. It is impossible for the board to exercise integral control. It can only go so far. Beyond that point the problem transfers itself to the parents or guardians of the child, the manager of the theatre and organizations of the local community. Certainly films cannot be found for each juvenile age level."

The report noted that the board has not and will not permit the showing on Ontario's screens of suggestive or imomral films.

Regarding content of films the report said "it is evident that the war has caused a rebirth of spiritual values, and this is making itself apparent on the screen. Films on religious themes which have been rare in the past decade, are growing in popularity."

During the year under review the United States producers exported to this province 1,767 film subjects; 56 were altered before exhibition. From Great Britain 80 films were imported and 17 were altered before release. Canada produced 23 films, two were out. Russia sent 15, one of which was revised, and in addition Ontario received four French, one Jewish and one Polish film, none of which was altered.

KING INSPECTS TANKISTS READY FOR D-DAY — On a pre-invasion tour of Canadian formations in Britain, King George VI is shown inspecting N.C.O.'s and men of a Canadian tank unit. They have a debt to pay, too, for Canadian comrades who died in the Dieppe raid, dress rehearsal for the big attack on Hitler's fortress.

ing monopoly linked around the taxpayers' necks.

"I propose to join my friend (Mr. Geer) in the Banking and Commerce committee if we have to stay here all summer to try and see to it that bogey goes down the Rideau canal where it belongs," he continued.

Curb Rule of Gold.

Discussion of the bill in the House continues on Thursday, as Wednesdays are devoted to committee business.

Justice Minister St. Laurent, Acting Secretary of State for External Affairs, tabled notes exchanged by Canada and the United States providing for the diversion of another 4,000 cubic feet per second of water at Niagara Falls, Ont., on the Canadian side of the river. The power produced will be largely sent to the United States although it comes from Canadian machinery.

Rev. A. M. Nicholson (C.C.F.-Mackenzie) said it was "unfortunate" that Mr. Ilsley should have implied in a statement on the Bank Bill last week that if there was public ownership of banks it could not be expected to have them administer in a way serving the interests of the largest number of people. The impression should not be given that political considerations entered into existing controls.

Mr. McGeer said it was the duty of the House to see that the victory for which men now fought and died was not won in vain.

"May we be given the understanding that will bring us under the guidance of the golden rule and release us forever from the alluring selfishness of the rule of gold," he said.

Canada had come out of the First Great War, with the most heavily indebted people in the world. But in this war, while financial experts had said at the start Canada could only finance a war on the basis of $100,000,000 a year, the war budget had been lifted $1,000,000,000 and finally to about 5,000,000,000 last year.

Mr. McGeer said that in that experience Canada had found her financial independence. No future government could ever say it was necessary to borrow abroad to finance Canada's development.

Too Much Hobbling.

Canada could finance the building of a country which would stand out among the first in the world, with the richest people in the world. Canadians should not be hobbled in the future by the "bad advice of our financial experts and by misguided theories of orthodox finance."

J. F. Pouliot (L-Temiscouta) said the House should have more information on the Bank of Canada, and Mr. Ilsley should have a complete check on the institution.

He said he believed it would be dangerous to make more changes in the banking system. Expenditures now were running high and the time would come when debts had to be paid.

F. D. Shaw (SC-Red Deer) said Canada's debt was the "real robber of our economic freedom." The Canadian Bankers' Association had become active in politics in 1940 and "poured substantial sums of money into the province of Alberta after bringing about a wedding of the Liberals and Conservatives as an independent organization to oppose the government which had enlightened the people of Alberta on monetary matters."

Mrs. Dorise W. Nielsen (Unity-North Battleford) said the amending bill did not go far enough to provide the credits needed by farmers and left them at the mercy of the chartered banks as in the past.

No minority could impose Socialism, with the nationalization of the banks, on the people of Canada and she said she believed that the people would turn to other means only when capitalism had shown it no longer could provide a living for Canadians.

Banks Have Monopoly

Mr. Slaught said the right to issue currency and credit should be in the hands of the Canadian people, not the chartered banks. He said he had no quarrel with bankers but only with the monopoly they enjoyed.

Because of the interest paid on bonds "there was $24,000,000 rolling into the banks last year because they took a pen and ledger and made a bookkeeping entry in there," he continued.

Taxes on the income of married men earning from $1,200 to $1,800 a year and single men earning from $660 to $1,200 should be cancelled, and this could be done if the Finance Minister would finance only through the Bank of Canada and not through the chartered banks with debt-bearing securities.

Clarence Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) said that bank employees were denied the right to organize themselves and bargain through government machinery to raise their standard of living. The House should see that the principle of democracy was extended to these workers.

with De Valera and all members of the Dail resigning and standing for re-election.

The election call was issued over the protests of the opposition leader, Dr. T. F. O'Higgins, who observed that mere political expedience did not justify plunging the country into a general election at present.

Leaders of the opposition have endorsed De Valera's stand on neutrality, and Irish advices asserted that this policy had nothing to do with yesterday's setback and would not be openly at stake in the election.

But it was thought that the Eire premier saw a tailor-made chance in yesterday's vote to consolidate his position.

The best London sources hold that De Valera has risen in the estimation of his countrymen through his unyielding refusal to close the German and Japanese legations in Dublin— a request made by the United States on the grounds they were used as spy posts.

These same sources believe that De Valera, well aware of his country's support, may pull his party out of its minority position.

the night was so clear he could see all the German capital's distinctive landmarks. The raid was carried out with such speed that the bombing force was in and out again before the Nazi ground defences could get the range.

A midday R.C.A.F. communique said all of the Canadian planes returned safely.

R.A.F. heavy bombers also ranged over the French Channel coastal area, heaping new destruction on military objectives, some of which have been bombed almost daily in the furious pre-invasion prelude.

A London communique said the night attack on French targets was carried out "in strength," indicating perhaps 750 bombers participated, dropping something like 2,800 tons of bombs on multiple objectives.

German radio reports today indicated a double dose for targets inside the Reich itself, which escaped yesterday when more than 4,000 planes flew against the continent from Britain alone and loosed possibly 6,000 tons of bombs on invasion defences. Yesterday's main attack was by about 1,000 American heavy bombers against rail centres and airdromes at a cost of six bombers and seven fighters. Five German fighters were shot down.

The daylight attack yesterday by practically every type of Allied warplane hit scores of widely-separated targets in Belgium, France and Luxembourg.

Butter Ration Reduced During June

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP) — The Prices Board today announced a temporary reduction in the butter ration next month by postponing a coupon which otherwise would have become valid on June 1.

The reduction will be the same as that applied in March, when each consumer was asked to give up a half pound of butter.

The present butter ration is one-half pound per person per week.

The board also announced a return to the previous policy under which two butter coupons will fall due every two weeks instead of one coupon becoming valid every week as at present.

Butter coupons 62 and 63 will be valid on May 18, but the pound of butter bought with these coupons must last for three weeks, until June 8, when coupons 64 and 65 will become valid.

A corresponding reduction is being made in butter quotas to hotels, restaurants and other quota users catering to the transient public.

K. H. Olive, administrator of dairy products, said that production was running behind last year. During January, February, March and April the decline in butter output was 12.4 per cent. or nearly 8,000,000 pounds, compared with the same period in 1943.

Consumption of fluid milk which, from a nutritional viewpoint, is the most valuable of all dairy products, has reached an all-time record and sales are still increasing. Large supplies of evaporated milk are needed for infants. Substantial quantities of milk powder are required to put one pound in every prisoner-of-war parcel. The requirements for dairy products for the armed forces and ships' stores must be obtained from Canadian production. In addition, Canada must meet the requirements of the United Kingdom contract for 125,000,000 pounds of cheese and also provide cheese for the home market.

The Prices Board announced that cranberry sauce had been lifted from the list of rationed goods until Aug. 31. It will return to the ration list Sept. 1 on the basis of 12 ounces for one preserve coupon, the board said.

The capture of Lyubimovka, three miles north, first brought Sevastopol under Russian artillery fire April 16. The Soviet infantry struck savagely Sunday after heavy artillery and aerial bombardment and quickly broke the main German defences.

A midnight Moscow communique said Russian artillerymen hauled about 60 guns yesterday to the north shore of Sevastopol Bay and destroyed many enemy ships in the inlets while infantrymen on the east and south side of the city plunged through for the final mop-up.

INJURIES MINOR.

Not in a serious condition after colliding in their auto with a street car at Kingston Road and Malvern Avenue, Toronto, Tuesday afternoon, are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Csumrik and John Danisak, all of 372 Queen Street. They were admitted to Toronto East General Hospital, but information reaching friends in the city is to the effect that their injuries were only superficial. All three were cut about the head, and a gash in Mr. Csumrik's forehead required six stitches. The party was returning to Peterborough from a visit to Mr. Danisak's sister, when the accident happened.

Lordly Imports Oust Dandelion Experts Find Weed Is Treat

George Clark of National Grocers, who seems to know just about all the fruit and vegetable answers, surveyed the whole scene from Mexico tomatoes to Cuban pineapples and California navel oranges, all the way up to Burlington greenhouse products, lettuce, cucumbers, and so on, quite a thorough review which, however, conspicuously omitted the transient North Monaghan product— spring dandelion first of the season's green and leafy vegetable, and certainly not the least.

The trade goes all the way down to Mexico for tomatoes to garnish the Peterborough wartime dinner table, and across to Cuba for the sweetly acidulous pines, and probably not one person in a thousand here at home reaches out for the crop of dandelion.

A side dish of this succulent green tasted even better than spinach, chard or the other leafy favorites, in the Churchill restaurant the other day, accompanied by precise information that only the first crop should be picked,—"cut him off at the root top, and boil him just like spinach, but after they come to flower, they are not so good, the first young leaves are the best, so tender. Nature puts a lot of dandelions in the fields and so noboby looks at them, because they are so cheap."

Any way the Churchill dish of boiled dandelion. not includeed on the menu, and only for the proprietor and the odd friend, certainly was acceptable, and rates mention and reminding to the neighbors, before the sun brings on the blooming, even if Mr. Clark and his tradesmen entirely ignore the plebian dandelion in his report on the progress of the market and its supplies.

Potatoes Abundant.

Potatoes are abundant, Mr. Clark said, and the trade is hoping that the border bars will be held up against the new United States product until the domestic surplus moves into consumption.

Scads of potatoes apparently have come out of hiding during the last month, and with their hands up and crying "Kamerad," to a market that remembered last spring's shortage and accompanying price peaks. But so long ago, January or February, press reports were talking of an Ontario potato shortage, and the importing of supplies from the Atlantic provinces and even from Maine. But, it has been a fluctuating market, as compared with the rigid static of 1943's May, and one of the possibilities is a late frost on the trade, caught with supplies that are likely to entail a loss before the last of them are gone.

So, potatoes are plentiful, and the market decidedly easier, local rhubarb is marching in from the suburban gardens, and a splash of sunny weather after all that moisture will bring the asparagus along in the same procession. Burlington lettuce and hothouse cucumbers are in the stores, and the offering this week also presents Texas carrots, Mississippi cabbages, California navel oranges, such an array of citrous fruits and vitaminic vegetables, and in abundance, that would surely sound fabulous to the peoples of Europe.

Put Victory First

Reports for the 14th day of the Sixth Victory Loan in Peterborough show that $154,350 was added through the general canvass and the bank. Of this amount $113,450 came from the city and $40,900 from the county.

The general canvass in Peterborough city reached 76.98 p.c. of objective and in the county 76.98 p.c. of objective, while the required mount for the day is 77.77.

Jack Curtis has again taken the lead in the race for top salesman, going $100 up on Vic Tully. Stan Darling with a $8,800 day has also moved into the race and is pushing R. Irwin hard for third place. Their sales are: Curtis, $34,250; Tully $34,150; Irwin, $32,250; Darling 332,000; Cauley $29,000.

McClellan, Cauley and Darling reported a $11,050 day on ten sales for the lead team now with a total of $90,400; Metheral, Juby and Tully had a $7,500 day on 18 sales and a total of $85,100. Curtis, Sargent and Harkness reported $4,550 on 24 sales for $61,000. Cole, Lee and Kinlin turned in $2,250. Irwin, Anderson and Revoy $1,350; Harkness, Heron and Rose $1,300; Payne, Broika and Roberts $1,900 and McFadgen, Gallagher and Smith $600.

In the county North Monaghan is over the top and Smith just lacks $1,650. In North Monaghan Mrs. Moore led the three canvassers with $18,850 of the $40,050 secured.

Gordon Hancock added $3,400 to Smith for a total to date on his sales of $60,150.

C. Pelton in Harvey added $3,400 and W. R. Nicholson $800 to bring the northern townships up to the 60.11 per cent. mark.

W. H. Giffen of Norwood put in another $4,450 and Dummer's total, which is already over the objective, was increased $850.

Lakefield has now passed the half-way mark, but is trailing all other municipalities in the county.

H. T. Mathison reported $11,150 for Havelock to put the railway town up to 80.48 p.c. of its objective and Belmont and Methuen increased their total $1,000.

Brantford's city council has subscribed $300,000 of the Victory Loan, authorizing the mayor, chairman of finance and city treasurer to arrange the financing. Honor certificates have been awarded to the employees of Board of Works, sewers and garbage, fire and police departments, city hall staff and Board of Health.

Review Printing Company, in the group payroll section of the Victory Loan, subscribed their $1,000 quota of the Victory Loan, with an excess of $50. All the employees participated. The fourteen employees of Grant and Loucks, with a quota of $1,800, have subscribed $1,900.

Rev. E. W. Young New Chairman Of Presbytery

The Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church of Canada met in St. James' Church Tuesday at 9 a.m. Rev. J. W. Wilkinson presided. Rev. E. W. Rowland conducted worship. The secretary, Rev. E. D. Snelgrove read the correspondence which included the information that three ministers sought to enter the United church, Rev. David O. Riece of the Congregational Union of Scotland, Rev. Sidney B. Sarman of the Baptist Church and Rev. George Budd of the Methodist Church, U.S.A.

The following were elected by ballot to the chief offices of the Presbytery for the year 1944-5: Chairman, Rev. Dr. E. W. Young; secretary, Rev. E. D. Snelgrove; treasurer, Rev. A. L. Sisco. The executive will consist of the officers together with R. F. Downey, H. G. Walker, and the past president.

Conveners of standing committees were appointed: Christian education, J. F. Everson; evangelism and social service, industrial and world relations, Dr. E. W. Young; missionary and maintenance, F. W. Craik; pensions, education, I. H. Keefer; colleges and secondary schools, G. Kelly; property, H. G. Walker; boundaries, E. W. Rowland; pastoral relations, the chairman of the Presbytery; pensions, E. G. Pugsley; publictions, J. E. Glover; finance, A. L. Sisco; missionary education, H. L. Roberts. The executive will strike the standing committees of Presbytery.

On the motion of the press correspondent a letter of thanks was sent to the Peterborough Examiner for the generous space which is given to the business of the Presbytery. Radiograms of greeting will be sent to the chaplains who are members, Revs. V. E. R. Zufelt and Morgan Rowland. These were signed by all the members.

Laymen Take Charge

The Laymen's Association took charge with I. H. Keefer, president, in the chair. E. L. Sackville spoke on the layman's fellowship and stewardship. The laymen, he said, must stand with the minister in the work of the church. "How can we expect young men to come into the ministry except we make proper provision for them?" he asked. Fred Rogers spoke on the need of personal evangelism. Laymen, he said, should know God, and be as good men as the pastors. The laymen set the pace of a congregation. D. L. Moody was brought to Christ by his Sunday School leader.

R. F. Downey invited the congregations to ask the Laymen's Association to address meetings. Revs. A. McLaughlin and H. L. Roberts thanked the laymen, and emphasized that some of these men were sons of ministers and they were all close friends of the ministers. A letter of sympathy was ordered sent to Alphine McNabb on the death of his sister. R. F. Downey reported that Dr. G. S. Easton was improving, but somewhat slowly.

After lunch D. G. H. Melton, chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee, addressed the Presbytery. He said that after the last war many ex-servicemen were left stranded. In 1934 there were 763 families on relief in Peterborough County, and over 17,000 people were affected. The Hon. Ian McKenzie the Minister of Social Welfare has done a fine job. He has set up rehabilitation committees in almost every municipality, these committees are meant to interpret the government's methods. The work of these committees is described as "jobs for the fit, and fitting the unfit for jobs." Returned men will get one years free medical treatment. There will be land settlement, and education benefits. Gordon Murchison is in charge of the Veterans' Land Act, farm machinery will be provided. There will be reconditioning and recreational health centres. Private industry cannot provide steady employment for 2 million men, but new spheres of employment will be created. These men have a claim and they must not be let down.

Elect Representatives

The lay representatives to conference were elected, together with several alternates as follows: the president of the W.M.S., W.A. and Y.P.U., Mrs. W. H. Morton, E. L. Sackville, J. Harvey, S. C. Ward, J. W. Pierce, R. Kitchen. Any lay delegate not able to attend is asked to notify the secretary of Presbytery. Rev. Fred Horton reported the church record books had been examined and were well kept.

I. H. Keefer reported on the Pension Education Scheme. There was a lengthy discussion in which the following joined: Revs. E. W. Rowland, W. E. Honey, R. W. Harding, H. H. Mutton, J. F. Everson, E. E. Pugsley, Messrs R. F. Downey, H. J. Walker, E. L. Sackville and Fred Rogers.

Rev. J. F. Everson reported on Christian Education. Mother's Day was commended, also Township S.S. Conventions; summer camps for girls and boys, the teaching of religion in the schools of the province and vocation schools.

The Missionary Maintenance Fund was represented by Rev. E. E. Pugsley. It was recommended that the funds be sent in monthly, or at least quarterly. The sum of $173,000 had been raised for the Indian and Chinese Famine Fund and the Presbytery had raised its share.

The Industrial Relations Committee report was given by Dr. E. W. Young. It commended the co-operative movement, the principle of family allowances, the decentralization of industry after the war, and labor management committees. A resume was given of the aims of the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act, the Collective Bargaining Act 1943, the amended Workmen's Compensation Act, the Apprentice Act, the Factory Act, the Ontario Labor Relations Board, the Dominion Wartime Labor Relations Board, and also several social measures now before the Dominion Government.

Nominated to Council

I. H. Keefer and Rev. H. L. Roberts were nominated for election to the General Council.

R. F. Downey reported for colleges and secondary schools. The following candidates for the ministry are connected with the Presbytery, Frank J. Whitley, James E. Harvey and Maurice E. Williams. Alan Borland's candidature will be presented at the June meeting of Presbytery.

Rev. E. W. Rowland reported that Rev. W. A. Harding of Bethany was seeking a change of pastoral relations. Rev. H. J. Mahoney has been supplying afternoon services in Fraserville and his work there is highly appreciated. He has been urged to continue by the Fraserville Board.

Rev. George Murray recommended that grants from the Home Mission Board be passed. Apsley $125, Hiawatha $500. The Ministerial Association wac commended for its work in connection with the Wartime Housing areas.

Primeau Given Month In Jail

"Had it not been for your army record and the fact that you have not been in trouble in the year you have been back, I would have sentenced you to the reformatory," said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning after registering a conviction against Joseph Primeau, 22, of 270 Rubidge street, on a charge of assaulting M. J. Maher, occasioning actual bodily harm.

Primeau, who was overseas with the Canadian Army for a long period, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment in the county jail.

Hearing of the case took most of Tuesday. At the afternoon session defence evidence was heard. Primeau, who admitted that he had consumed a bottle of wine, six ounces of liquor and two pints of beer within three or four hours previous to the alleged assault.

He said that when Maher came into the front room of the Maher apartment his actions indicated that he was going to attack the accused.

Primeau swore that Maher hit him in the face with his left hand before the accused struck a blow. He told the court that when Maher tried to telephone the police he had struck the complainant twice.

Betty Primeau, sister of the accused, swore that she did not see any blows struck, but that she had seen Maher getting up from the floor.

Sentence was reserved until this morning, and W. J. Arthur Fair, who appeared for Primeau, asked His Worship for leniency when he addressed the court. Defence counsel suggested a suspended sentence.

"It has not the complexion of a suspended sentence case," said Magistrate Langley.

"It was an atrocious case," said Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C. "This man was assaulted in his own house at 1 o'clock in the morning."

Magistrate Langley imposing sentence said that he was taking into consideration the fact that Primeau had served overseas for a long time and that he had had a good record here since he came back.

$431,400 Reported At Headquarters On 14th Day Of Victory Loan Drive

By HARRY THEOBALD.

Peterborough (County and City) forged in front of its progressive objective in the Victory Loan on Tuesday with subscriptions amounting to $421,400, increasing the total for fourteen days to $3,701,900, which is 82.26 per cent of its still distant goal of $4,500,000.

The required percentage for 14 days was 77.77. Subtract that figure from the 82.26 per cent, actually accomplished, and the Peterborough unit in this Sixth Victory Loan shows a surplus margin of 5.09 points in the percentage column.

The Peterborough "home front" began its fifteenth day of the campaign with the buoyant feeling of having pushed its lines substantially ahead of its steadily advancing positional changes with a stimulus to effort that should be reflected during the rest of the week in some of the municipal sectors that have not yet reached the two-thirds mark.

Special Names Aid.

Tuesday's subscriptions of $421,000 were comprised of $113,450 from the city general canvass; $40,900 from the rural general canvass; a hefty $250,000 in the special names section; and $17,050 in the payroll savings division, including the Armed Forces and civil servants.

That "quarter of a million" reported by the special names committee was a timely and bulky aid. Actually it turned the tide at a stage of crisis for the margin of total subscriptions on Monday night above the required total for thirteen days had shrunk to a mere fraction. The Tuesday development effected an increase in total subscription percentage from 72.9 on Monday night to 82.26 Tuesday night, an advance of 9.36 as compared with the required mathematical and diurnal increase in the percentage column of 5.09, or 4.27 points more than were necessary for parity with the 14th day's objective.

Probably that 4.27 points "to the good," beginning the fifteenth day, should not be emphasized, for the reason that "special names" are only $60,000 under their $1,400,000 objective, and that division is presumably approaching the end of its string.

The summarized facts as indicated by the totals are: Peterborough has attained 82.26 per cent of its objective, as against the required 77.77 per cent; and its subscriptions added up on Tuesday to $3,701,900.

But to show 100 per cent by Saturday night, these next four days, including Wednesday, must produce $798,100, more than "three-quarters of a million." The daily average required is $199,525, and that still is a huge obligation.

Monaghan "Goes Over."

North Monaghan and Smith Townships were both unofficially reported beyond their objectives on Tuesday afternoon, but the information at headquarters showed only North Monaghan passing the century mark for 102.37 per cent of its objective, second to the farmers of Dummer who, in first place

St. Paul's Group Gives $20 To War Victims

From the very nature of the better things of life they are taught to uphold, all adherents of the Christian Faith should naturally be found in the forefront in any movement that aims for a betterment of humanity, and particularly that portion of it, that may have fallen on evil days, no matter what their source may be.

When this also embraces a patriotism to the country to which the owe allegiance, as well as being a companent part of a great struggle that may effect their own liberty in everything that life holds dear, besides being tanamount to an assist to maintain their own freedom to worship in the manner of their own choice, it would seem doubly imperative that they should support such a movement.

This epitomizes the work that the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund has striven to maintain ever since it first began operations in December 1943, and for this very reason it has welcomed in no uncertain manner, the assistance of all Christian bodies no matter what denonimation or creed.

West End Group Ladies Aid.

The fund is now down below the thousand dollar mark in the amount required to complete the next donation of £500 with a total in the bank of $1,274.40, leaving the sum of $965.60 required to complete that amount.

Woman Chased, Attacked By Soldier

That she had been attacked on the steps of her own house by a soldier who had followed her home was the evidence given by Mrs. Hazel B. Downer, 458 Bolivar Street, in police court this morning in a charge against Pte. Hubert Frank Wright, R.C.A.M.C., stationed at the local Military Traning Centre of assaulting the woman.

When Wright was arraigned Crown Attorney McElderry asked that the charge be tried as an indictable offence and the accused elected summary trial and pleaded guilty.

Mrs. Downer said that Wright had followed her from the neighborhood of the C.N.R. station to her home Tuesday night. She swore that she started to run as she neared her house on Bolivar Street, and that the accused had run after her and grabbed her around the throat and put a hand over her mouth, just as she reached the steps. She said she managed to break the soldier's grip and scream for help, whereupon her assailant had thrown her down on to the lawn.

"He threw me on my back but I kicked him off and then he ran away. My husband came out in answer to my cry for help and chased him, catching him near All Saints' Church," said the witness.

Wright told the court that he had been drinking. It was stated that he had been stationed at the Military Training Centre since July of last year, coming here from Toronto and that he had no crime sheet in the army.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., remanded the accused for a week for sentence in order that the police might check the man's civilian record.

500 Decorated By Soviet On War Jobs

Written for The Canadian Press
BY H. MIKHAILOV

MOSCOW, May 10— (CP)— More than 500 persons active in motion pictures, including directors, actors, artists, musicians, cameramen and managers of studios and theatres, have been decorated by the Soviet government. This is an official acknowledgement of the successes scored by the industry in wartime.

Among those who have received decorations are the well-known director Vsevolod Pudovkin, Mark Donskoy who produced the popular film "How Steel Has Tempered" and the screen version of Wasilewska's novel "Rainbow", the cameraman Mark Troyanovsqy who took part in an expedition to the North Pole and now is in charge of the front-line news-reel groups.

The successes scored by the Soviet motion-picture industry are part of the wartime progress of all Soviet arts. Important recent events include a review of Russian classical plays staged in several dozen theatres throughout the country. Some 250,000 persons took part in a home talent review which took place in 18 regions and territories of the Russian federation. The annual Shakespearian conference took place at Erevan, in the capital of Armenia, this year.

Since the outbreak of war, Soviet actors have given 550,000 concerts at the front, in military hospitals and for local garrisons.

Polish Soldiers Don't Want Collectivization

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE POLISH ARMY ON THE UKRAINIAN FRONT, May 10 —(AP).—Polish soldiers fighting with the Russian army have told Polish-born Prof. Oscar Lange of the University of Chicago that they want a democratic Poland after the war.

The small but well equipped Polish army appears dead set against collectivization.

Prof. Lange came to the Soviet Union with Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski, Polish-American priest from Springfield, Mass.

"We want land, the right to vote," came the answer in reply to questions as to what kind of post-war Poland the troops want. "We want free speech and a free press. We want a better life for everybody. We want a government built along British lines, along American lines."

Most declared they did not want collectivization in Poland, but said said "the government should run big industries" and leave the small ones "to the people."

Europe Day Ideal For Invasion

By HUGH MOORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—Probably the driest and sunniest spring since Adolf Hitler overran the Low Countries four years ago has put the terrain of western Europe in good condition for invading ground and air forces.

An expert on operational weather gave that summary of conditions and added that good invasion weather probably would continue through May and June.

Besides the advantage in soldiers being able to move on a firm footing with the continued lack of rain, a long period of dry weather has left rivers fairly low and perhaps fordable even though bridges are blasted.

"An army would be damned unlucky if it got bogged down after mid-May," the expert said.

The big Allied worry is that bad weather may break on D-day.

A storm is certain to cost the lives of thousands of soldiers trying to land on the beaches.

One day of bad weather would more than offset months of good weather if it came at the wrong time.

French Canadian Hated Germans For Shooting Fliers In Chutes

BY JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 10—(CP)—Wing Cmdr. Jean Paul Desloges, 31-year-old French-Canadian fighter veteran of the Battle of Britain who was buried today at Casablanca, was a fatalist and a very brave guy.

He was shot out of the air twice before a fatal crash in Algiers yesterday. It was just a year ago that Desloges told his Canadian Press reporter: "I believe your number is marked up and when it's called you go and I'm going cheerfully when the time comes."

At the time Desloges was taking over the job of dovetailing the efforts of three armed forces in the defence of the Gaspe Peninsula. He had returned to Canada after losing the sight of his left eye and suffering severe wounds in the skies of Britain as one of the small band of airmen who beat off the powerful Nazi air force in 1940.

Desloges had been patched up in an Air Force hospital overseas where a doctor told him the damage to his left eye might eventually effect the sight of the good eye. He swore this reporter to secrecy on this because he didn't want to be grounded.

"It seems to be holding out pretty good," Desloges said. "I only hope I get some more combat flying in before it goes on the hum."

Desloges had a violent hate of the Nazis who used to bully into the thin line of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. defenders in swarms and then, when an Empire airman was shot down, follow his parachute and riddle him with bullets. "That's why I hate 'em," Desloges said.

When Desloges bailed out of his plane he dropped a long distance before opening his chute because "I knew they'd smear me."

Desloges accepted the post of Air Attache to the Canadian Mission in Algiers. There under Maj.-Gen. Georges P. Vanier, Canadian representative to the French National committee, he was close to active combat.

The fatal crash occurred while he was touring French aviation schools with Lt.-Col. Maurice Forget of Montreal, the Military Attache. No details were given in overseas dispatches except that the crash occurred near Rabat and that Desloges was the only person killed.

He was born in Hull and his wife and child live in Ottawa.

Labor Endorses Fourth Term

CLEVELAND, May 10 — (AP) — The United Steelworkers of America, which has a $200,000 budget for political action this year, is expected to throw its full weight back of the fourth term movement at its annual convention opening today.

Philip Murray president of the Steelworkers as well as the C.I.O., described the gathering as "probably the largest labor convention the nation has ever had." More than 2,300 delegates were expected for the five-day sessions. Mr. Murray's opening speech may set the stage for a formal Roosevelt endorsement.

Although Mr. Murray and the C.I.O. political action committee have committed themselves to the new deal philosophy, they have not hitherto publicly endorsed President Roosevelt for another term. The C.I.O. convention last November refrained from doing so, and most of the constituent C.I.O. unions have followed suit. A number of resolutions submitted by local unions of the Steelworkers, however, urge support of a fourth term.

Supreme Court Opens Hearings

COBOURG, May 10 — (ENS) — Three cases were on the non-jury list of Supreme Court which opened Tuesday morning with Mr. Justice Chevrier presiding. In addition two motions are scheduled to be heard. Seeney vs Seeney, a Peterborough case, was adjourned to a date to be fixed.

First on the list is John Frederick Herron of Haldimand Township, overseas since 1939, vs. his wife, Elena Margaret Herron. Plaintiff seeks a divorce, having been married in 1936 at Colborne.

The second case is also a divorce action, the plaintiff being Thelma Williams of Manvers Township and the defendant, Lloyd Thomas Williams of Oshawa. They were married in 1927.

The adjourned case of Seeney vs. Seeney was an action brought by Charlotte Seeney of Peterborough against her husband, James Harper Seeney, and his son Clarence Seeney, both of Rawdon Township. W. J. Arthur Fair is solicitor for plaintiff and G. N. Gordon, K.C., is counsel for defendant.

Receives No Pay.

The plaintiff claims that on March 26 of last year, she entered suit for alimony and interim alimony, and that on October 1 of last year, Mr Justice Plaxton directed James Seeney to pay $5.00 a week interim alimony from March 29, 1943, plus $70 interim disbursements. On October 20 when payment had not been made she issued a writ of seizure, but no assets were available for seizure because her husband had conveyed his assets on March 19 of last year for the sum of $1.00 to his son Clarence. Plaintiff alleged that her husband had learned of the impending alimony action, and had made the conveyance of his property. Plaintiff asked that the conveyance be set aside.

The defendant, Clarence Seeney and his father, in their statement of defence, denied any knowledge of the alimony action in advance and declared that there had been an agreement for the transfer of the property before James Seeney's marriage to the plaintiff, and that furthermore the conveyance had been made for maintenance of a son of James Seeney, who by reason of his age, could maintain him no longer.

One of the motions to be heard was one brought by Ruby Agnes Munday, administratrix of the estate of Ann Sarah Wade of Clarke Township, who died in April, 1913. The motion was to ask what disposition could be made of interest due and accruing on the mortgage mentioned in the will and also the principal of same. The difficulty arose over the fact that one of the beneficiaries had died in a different sequence to that expected in the terms of the will. There was no provision in the will for the disbursing of the capital of the estate.

The other motion had to do with a person said to be mentally incompetent.

Reports on the annual Women's Auxiliary convention in Toronto, given by the two St. John delegates, Mrs. H. Kelsey and Mrs. H. The large number of members in attendance showed great interest in the missionary bale which was on display. It is being shipped to one of the Indian residential schools maintained by the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada. The complete outfits for two Indian girls were made by the Dorcas branch of the St. John's W.A., under the convenership of Mrs. H. Kelsey.

Junior League Hears Of China

To "lose face" is to lose respect in China. The visitor to China also hears the expressions "make face" and "keep face."

Instead of saying "Good Morning" the Chinese greet one another with "Have you had rice?". Mrs. J. F. O'Brien, in addressing the Catholic Junior League at their Communion Breakfast, held in the Champlain Hotel gave many interesting facts about the characteristics of an interesting people—the Chinese. They are economical, industrious, polite, patient and diligent, and possess a love for the the theatre. Mrs. O'Brien had on exhibition a figure of a Chinese actress holding her hat which was carved by a peasant with a pen-knife, from a tree over a hundred years old.

The President and First Vice-President received the guests, and during breakfast Miss P. Cowie sang an "Ave Maria" accompanied by Miss V. Scollard.

In welcoming the members, the president, Miss Gladys Costello, thanked them for their response on the occasion of the first annual Communion Breakfast. Miss Costello expressed the appreciation of the Junior League to its Bishop, Most Rev. J. R. MacDonald, D.D., and to its Chaplain, Rev. J. Finn, for their support and encouragement. Mention was also made of the fine spirit of cooperation among the League members, which resulted in a very successful inaugural year.

Enjoyable Play Presented In Aid of Victory Loan

"Begone, Dull Care" was the appropriate title for a sparkling Victory Loan show, presented Tuesday evening in the Collegiate Auditorium when a variety program interspersed by numbers by the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps band from Camp Borden, was given.

Highlight of the evening was the actual broadcast of a program over station CHEX. The broadcast featured a short radio play, "The Temptation of Anthony Blinker", written especially for the occasion by Samuel Marchbanks. The dialogue, written in Mr. Marchbank's witty style, told the story of a dream, experienced by Anthony Blinker, in which a good spirit was striving to influence him to buy Victory Bonds because he knew it was right; while an evil spirit was straining all efforts in the opposite direction. Right triumphed, however, and Mr. Blinker decided to put all the money he could, into Victory Bonds.

Brenda Davies directed the play, and the entire production and members of the cast were Alene Holt, Lucy Jane McClellan, Robertson Davies and Lloyd Hale.

All players took their parts with the ease and assurance of experience, and the action was quick. Lloyd Hale, as Anthony Blinker, opened the play with sound effects of a sleeping man, and convulsed the audience as he voiced the disjointed ideas which are supposed to float through dreams. Lucy McClellan, as the good spirit, was gentle yet firm, as she explained to Anthony that he really knew what the right course of action was. Her soft voice suited the kind conscience.

Robertson Davies, as the evil spirit, put everyone in the mood with a spine-chilling laugh, indicative of the devilish character he portrayed. He showed how powerful wrong ideas could be, as he persuasively broke into verse and expounded on the wonders of the post war world, where no one would have to worry about money, and argued that there as no necessity to save money now. Alene Holt, as Anthony's level-headed wife, gave the right touch of reality to the action of the play, and advised Anthony to put victory first, and buy all the bonds he could. Her part was taken well, and her well modulated voice was excellent.

Choirs Sing

Other selections on the radio program were "Chu Chin Chow", and "Pop Goes the Weasel", by the R. C. A. M. C. band and the "Turkish March" from Sonta in A, played by Miss Marion Downer. Miss Cora Charlton of Lakefield, sang "There's a Land". The combined choirs of Queen Alexandra and Prince of Wales Schools, under the direction of Miss Musa Cox, sang "Begone, Dull Care", the theme of the program, and "Land of Hope and Glory." Mrs. C. Pilon conducted the Queen Alexandra choir as they sang "Now is the Month of Maying", and A. Noftall led the Prince of Wales choir in "My Love's An Arbutus."

The program opened with "O Canada", sung by the combined choirs accompanied by the R. C. A. M. C. band. Other numbers by the choir, conducted by Miss Musa Cox, were "For God, and King, and Right", and Waltzing Matilda". Gwen Craw was accompanist. These choirs are particularly effective together, since the sweet voices of the children seem to blend perfectly. Their diction was excellent, and Miss Cox achieved good expression in the varied numbers.

Miss Cora Charlton, of Lakefield, was the special soloist. Her breath control and diction reflected the study she has given to her numbers, and her pleasing, melodious soprano voice was an outstanding feature. Her selections were, "Through the Years," "Arise, O Sun," and "There's a Land," all difficult numbers. The Westbye sisters, Margaret and Olga, sang "Sound the Trumpet," and "Barcarolle," from Tales of Hoffman. The difficult "Sound the Trumpet" was executed with ease by this talented duo, and the lovely "Barcarolle" was particularly effective as their voices blended perfectly in the slow graceful melody.

Miss Marion Downer, a pupil of St. Mary's convent, was heard at the beginning of the program in the "Golliwog's Cakewalk." Her light, sure touch, and the deftness of her fingers, were ideal for the unusual and changing tempo of the "Cakewalk" and also for the "Turkish March," which she played during the broadcast.

Unusual Numbers

The R.C.A.M.C. band played an uninterrupted program at the conclusion of the broadcast. The highlight of the presentation was a Gershwin Medley, something unusual for a band to attempt. However, the well-known and loved melodies were handled in this unusual and appealing number. It began with the "Rhapsody in Blue" and then continued through "Summertime," "I've Got Plenty of Nothin'" and "It Ain't Necessarily So," from Porgy and Bess, and "I've Got Rhythm," concluding with the theme from the Rhapsody.

Other numbers were "Waltzing Matilda," "Die Fledermaus," "Fifty Years of Song," "In Old Quebec," "Maid of the Mountains," and "Colonel Bogey on Parade." Bandsman Eddie Chow entertained with a humorous Scottish ditty and a popular Western ballad. The band was under the direction of Albert Croaddale, WO1.

J. J. Mellor, of Orono, an untiring Victory Bond Salesman, was introduced by Gordon Matthews. He said that every Canadian recognized his duty to his country, and he couldn't understand why the bond sales were so hard to put across. Citing examples, he said that Russia asked for a loan at no interest, and got it, and that Great Britain had asked for a loan at a small rate of interest and passed the objective in three days. Speaking of the post-war plans, Mr. Mellor said that a share of the blame for the war must be put on the shoulders of the German people, but that citizens of the democracies had to share the blame, because they did not heed warnings. He urged everyone to do his best and to buy as many bonds as he could possibly afford, so that all would have a share in the victory.

No. 12 Peterborough Boy Scout Troop, George Street Group, were ushers.

DOROTHY DIX

STEPCHILD IS PERSECUTOR NOW.

Mother Who Marries Widower Often Undergoes Martyrdom at Hands of Little Fiends.

DEAR MISS DIX—Don't ever let anyone tell you it is possible to be happy as a stepmother. I married a widower whom I loved with all my heart. He has a daughter whom I wanted to love also and to whom I wanted to be a real mother. I made every effort in the world to win her liking and to make her happy, but with no success, and it is heartbreaking and discouraging beyond all imagination to contend with conditions created by her lack of discipline. Also, it is hard to take being treated with rudeness and openly scorned, and to have my husband always side with his child against me. It has lessened my love for him, and life without love isn't worth having.

STEPMOTHER.

Stepmother Becomes Martyr

ANSWER—The cruel stepmother used to be the villain in old nurses' tales, but the scene is shifted nowadays and it is oftener the cruel step-child who persecutes the stepmother than vice versa. Many a good woman, with a mother heart, who marries a widower with children in the fond belief that she can win the youngsters' affections and be a help to them, finds that she has to undergo a martyrdom at the hands of the little fiends against whom she is powerless to defend herself.

The situation is almost inevitable, for upon the mother's death the children are either left in the care of servants who let them run wild, because it is easier to do so than to try to discipline them and make them behave, or else they are sent to live with their mother's people who pity them and spoil them and who implant in their minds, often without intending it, a stepmother phobia.

Even own mothers find their opinions flouted and their authority defied when they are dealing with their adolescent children in these days when the teen-agers rule the family and are a law to themselves. But Mother, having been chicken-pecked from the time her first baby started it and having the mother love that endures impudence and ingratitude from the youngsters she has slaved and sacrificed for, finds it easier to stand than does the stepmother who sees all her good efforts resented.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My husband is in the army. We have two darling little girls old enough to know, yet not old enough to understand, why their Daddy has had to go away. The oldest child is very sensitive and I would like to know how to explain things to her and to know what to tell and what not to tell her. I would very greatly appreciate if you would help me through this biggest and most important problem I have had to face as a mother.

PERTURBED.

Teach Children to Admire Father

ANSWER—I think that the best way to deal with the matter is to tell them as simply as you can that their father has had to go away to defend their home, and that he just misses them terribly and will be coming back to them some day. Tell them that their father is doing something brave and fine, and that they must admire him and look up to him and try to be brave and fine themselves, because they are his children. Show them his picture and explain to them that only men who are doing these splendid things are permitted to wear clothes such as he has on.

Children take their ideal of their fathers from their mothers. Build up your children's morale by holding their father up as an example to them. Talk to them a great deal about him, so they won't forget him.

DEAR MISS DIX — Would you marry a man who earns $95 a week, has no dependents, yet wastes his money so that he has to borrow to pay his income tax? Would he make a desirable husband?

MARTHA.

ANSWER—I should say not. If a man is born with holes in his pockets, no wife can sew them up. No husband can be more aggravating than just such a waster.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, May 11

ALTHOUGH the prospects are for delays, set backs and some tenacious obstacles to be coped with there is nothing in the way of dangers and difficulties that may not be surmounted by good sense, shrewd tactics and well-thought-out strategies. There is an element of the furtive, under-cover and sinister, but alertness and sound judgment may circumvent these. Summon determination and diligence and all should thrive. In personal relations there is sign of romance, youthful enjoyments and other happy and wise pleasures. New friends and elders should be easily won over.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a secure and productive year, with much promise of sound success and progress, if they bring to bear determination, hard work, cleverness and vigilance in certain stubborn situations or difficult situations, in which duplicity, intrigue or treachery figure. In frustrating moments use sound and reasonable judgment or seek the wise counsel of elders or reliable friends. Romance and social pleasures are also indicated.

A child born on this day may have stability of character, with diligence and good judgment, which may assist it over impediments or treacheries. Its life should not be without its romance and pleasures.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

Canadian Summer Preview

Don't you love the thought of getting into pretty summer dresses again, cool-feeling rayon shantungs, colorful cottons and lightsome homespuns? It makes one think of garden parties, June commencements, summer weddings and long, long days of glorious sunshine. The summer preview shows some of the smartest styles, colors as cool and refreshing as a mint julep, fresh as a summer garden sparkling with the morning dew. A new style is the fly front shirtmaker dress, a perfect dress for that cool classic look, even on the hottest day.

A quaint little suit in pink with black dots in cool spun. With this wear the large off the face hat in pink, the whole outfit being just the thing for summer dancing with the army, navy or air force.

A charming garden party dress, or for a June wedding, made in carnation print. This dress has a full gathered skirt, plain waist with square cut neck and short shirred sleeves. Around the bottom of the skirt and around the neck is a band about two inches wide of plain color. A wide brimmed hat, with a flange around edge of brim, in the same color as around bottom of skirt.

Another dress in awning stripes in the new California colorings, made in rayon shantung, gives both smartness and charm to this new summer style.

Hats will be worn more this summer than they have been for a long time. The well dressed woman will not even think of going on the street this summer without her hat. Even with the check gingham dresses, small smart hats, made of the same material as the dress, are being shown. White, both in millinery and all ladies' dresses, will play an important part in the style picture at not too far distant a date. Even now, white hats are very much in the fashion picture. The smart small off the face hats for the younger set, the striking small sailor hat flower trimmed, with nose veil, and the larger hat in the white felt, are being shown with the dark shades in suits and coats.

Be sure and read the Tea Hour Gossip each evening in your daily paper for by so doing you will know about the styles in advance and thus be able to choose your spring and summer wardrobe early, and be ready for the lovely spring days that are ahead of us.

BROTHER MEETS SISTER

WITTON PARK, Durham, England — (CP) — Cpl. John Feeley of the R.A.F. saw an army nursing-sister on the street and put his arm around her waist. The girl turned around angrily—then burst into tears and kissed him. It was his sister, on the last day of a week's leave from Italy. Wrote Alice to her parents here: "I nearly passed out when I saw John."

NOW.. more than ever

HE COUNTS ON YOU!

When the going is tough—we can count on him—this gallant fighting man of ours!

And right now, he's counting on us. He's eager to hear that the 6th Victory Loan has topped its objective. Such news will be for him a symbol that the home-front is backing him to the limit.

It is so little we are asked to do—to invest our present savings and a share of our future income—safely and profitably. So little—and yet, more than ever, so important. In this critical year, our fighting men must have ample quantities—and abundant reserves—of everything they need for the final break-through to Victory.

Arsenal Workers Support Loan

LINDSAY, May 10—(ENS)—Victory Loan quotas are being reached every day and several industrial firms have gone "over the top" in Lindsay and district. Employees at the Dominion Arsenal have responded to the clarion call in every Loan, but in the sixth Loan have eclipsed all past efforts, and the purchase of bonds still continue. Out of 744 employees, over 675 have purchased bonds.

Mr. H. S. Johnston, manager of Silverwood's Limited, reports that their employees have reached the quota, with better than 96 per cent, purchasing bonds. Some of the employees have purchased both on the monthly instalment plan and the cash plan. The firm has gone "over the top" in every loan.

George Allen of the Allen Wood Products firm at Fenelon Falls, reports that the employees of the company have passed their objective. The firm employs a large number of loyal men and women.

Practically every firm in Lindsay has reached and gone beyond the quota mark. Private sales are slow and $700,000 is still needed for the full objective.

Whipper Watson

with a couple of flying tackles that hit the Oregon performer amidships and knocked him for a loop. He managed to get on his feet after the first one but the second sent him hurtling through the ropes. Baxter was not hurt however. He climbed back in a hurry and tried to surprise the Whip by dashing across the ring as soon as he was inside the ropes. However Watson was on the alert. He met the charge with a right swing to the jaw that knocked Baxter flat. Seizing his opportunity the Whipper quickly applied his Canadian avalanche hold and there wasn't much that his opponent could do about it. He was rapidly turned over a couple of times and then pinned for the fall.

After the rest the battle was more strenuous than ever. Baxter began using a series of headlocks, mixed with vicious punches to the kidneys and he had Watson in a bad way on several occasions. Whipper of course fought back, as he always does and had the crowd wildly cheering when he flailed Baxter with a barrage of rights and lefts followed by a couple of drop-kicks that almost ended the argument. Then Baxter retaliated with some punishing toe holds and wound up by kicking Watson out of the ring.

The Whip staggered over to the seats and sat down for a moment while Referee Maxwell, who had his hands full all through the bout, tried to get Baxter back in his corner before starting his count. Watson tried to climb back into the ring and was kicked out again. The next time he climbed on to the apron of the ring he was armed with a chair but finally dropped it outside the ropes.

Whipper was no sooner in than he was down again with Baxter applying a step-over toe hold and using the ropes to apply more power. It was at this stage that the woman with the umbrella tried to get into the argument and that other fans threatened to invade the ring.

The pace never faltered until the bell at the end of the hour finally brought the torrid tussle to a close.

A Lively Exhibition

It was a fine card all around. As expected the semi-final between Irish Pat Flanagan and Johnny Demchuk of Edmonton produced some of the liveliest action of the whole season. Flanagan is fast and tricky but in the stocky Edmonton boy he met a veritable ball of mercury. The R.C.A.F. entry finally took the bout because of his weight and height advantage over the Westerner but not before Demchuk had won the cheers of the crowd by the manner in which his speedy moves got him out of tight corners.

The Edmonton grappler could turn on a dime and he spun or rolled away from Flanagan half a dozen times in spectacular fashion. The windup after 18 minutes of non-stop action was a fitting ending to a spectacular engagement. Flanagan got opening and suddenly grabbed Demchuk by the feet and gave him a regular Frank Sexton giant swing. However when he went to drop on the Edmonton boy for the fall he was bowled over with a quick mule kick. Demchuk attempted to seize the opportunity but Flanagan in turn knocked him flying with a similar kick. Two more quick reverses followed and then Flanagan ended it by picking Demchuk up and slamming him down hard for the fall.

They Were Both Out

Abe Zvonkin, Hamilton football star and Johnny Gyroffy, late of the R.C.A.F., spent eleven minutes in orthodox wrestling in which both showed both strength and skill and then suddenly wound up in a brawl. They had demonstrated a lot of intricate holds with neither having much advantage but Gyroffy suddenly changed the tempo by cutting loose with a couple of haymakers to Zvonkin's jaw and then a drop-kick or two. That was more than enough for the Hamilton lineman and falling back on his football lore he launched a flying tackle that knocked Gyroffy for a loop and then another that bowled the fast Johnny through the ropes. Zvonkin followed him out and the next moment the two were exchanging lefts and rights out among the customers. They got so interested in that pugilistic interlude that Referee Maxwell had counted them both out before they realized that they should be back in the ring.

Bert Maxwell handled all three bouts and once more Fred Scates had to carry the dual responsibility of announcing the principals and clocking the bouts.

boosted their 107.33 per cent to 110.17 per cent, demonstrating that they had not exhausted all their reserves.

Smith was in third place with 98.17 per cent, up from 94.17 per cent, and so close that there was no doubt of accomplishment.

Havelock pushed up into fourth position in the municipal division, from 53.69 per cent to 80.48 per cent, a percentage gain of 26.79, one of the longest day's strides recorded during the campaign.

Otonabee Up 8.46.

Second to Havelock in the measure of its progress Tuesday was Otonabee with subscriptions of $11,000; moving up from $87,800 to $98,800; and in the precentage column from 67.54 to 76, or 8.46 points.

Norwood was third with $4,450, bringing its total up to $41,350 from $36,900; and its percentage from 63.62 to 71.29, a difference of 7.67 points.

The city's general canvass deserves to be mentioned next. Its total Tuesday was $1,193,200 as against $1,079,750 Monday, an advance of $113,450; and in percentage from 69.66 to 76.98; an improvement of 7.32. And, it may be repeated, the day's requirement was 5.55 in the percentage column.

Doure followed the city with 5.71 points of percentage, up from 56.43 to 62.14. Subscriptions of $2,000 accounted for the increase from $19,750 to $21,750.

The northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther reported a good day's work of $2,400 subscriptions bringing their total to $27,050 from $24,650 and their percentage from 54.78 to 60.11, a margin of 5.33 points.

Lakefield added $2,500 to its $27,750 for a total of $30,250; and its percentage moved from 50.45 to 55; a gain of 4.55.

Belmont-Methuen turned in $1,100, increasing its total to $15,800; with its percentage of objective up from 58.8 to 63.2; a margin of 4.4 points.

Smith has already been mentioned. It's total is now $88,350, up $3,600 from $84,750; and its percentage is up from 94.17 to 98.17, four points.

North Monaghan winning a spate of stars, advanced from $39,400 past its $40,000 mark to $40,950; $1,550; and its percentage from 98.5 to 102.37; or 3.87.

Ennismore closed the day at $7,970, up $200; and its percentage was up 1.67 from 64.58 to 66.25.

Asphodel was unchanged at $10,900 or 52.37 per cent of the $38,000 quota.

Campaign Totals

Objectives and subscriptions as compiled for the fourteen days were as follows:—

City of Peterboro (general canvass)	$1,550,000	$1,193,200
Otonabee	130,000	98,800
N. Monaghan	40,000	40,950

Total rural general canvass	600,000	459,000
Total city and county general canvass	2,150,000	1,652,000
Payroll savings including the armed forces, civil servants, etc.	950,000	709,700
Total general and employees canvass	3,100,000	2,361,900
Special names	1,400,000	1,340,000
County grand total	$4,500,000	$3,701,900

City Leads County

Both the city and county subscriptions for the day exceeded the percentage requirement of 5.55. The city's score in the percentage column was 7.32 and the county's 6.82, both in the general canvass.

The city contributed $113,450 and the county $40,900; total $154,350.

The combined city and county general canvass rested at $1,652,200 for 76.85 per cent of their joint objective of $2,150,000; comfortably close to the fourteenth day's required percentage of 77.77.

The Rest Of The Job

City and county have to make up $497,800 in the next four days if they are to level off at their objective of $2,150,000. That is equivalent to $124,450 a day.

At $1,193,200 the city general canvass is still $356,800 from its quota of $1,550,000, which in terms of daily results calls for $89,200 to reach the 100 percent.

The county's teal is $459,000 and its objective $600,000, leaving $141,000 to be gathered in during those remaining four days, or $35,250 a day.

Incidentally, and not to overlook Special Names, their percentage made a long gain of 17.86 points Tuesday, from 77.85 to 95.71.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

GIVE UP A TRICK EARLY

FREQUENTLY a squeeze play depends upon giving the opponents an early trick. Failure to do that will mean, in these cases, that the defenders can later find discards which are harmless to them. The standard form of squeeze, which must be on the eleventh trick, will not work if it is tried on the tenth.

Several pairs in a tournament reached that slam, by various methods of bidding, but only one of them made it. After ruffing the heart lead and running three trumps, he counted up the order of events and decided he had to protect himself against a possible holding of four clubs in the hand of one defender. If the holder of them also had the diamond A, he could make his contract, and would not be dependent on finding the clubs divided three and two.

Going after this style of play, he deliberately gave up a club on the fifth trick, leading the 2 and playing low from dummy when West put on the 10. West returned another heart, which was ruffed, and then South proceeded with his spades. He interrupted this to score the club K on the tenth trick, then led the last spade. He held also the club 8-5, and the diamond K and club A-7. West, with the diamond A, clung to it, so had to break his club Q-J. The diamond K was then discarded from dummy, and the last two tricks were won with clubs. If he had thrown off the diamond A, a club would have been discarded from the dummy.

When South ran all his trumps immediately after winning the heart with a ruff, West had no trouble at all in finding a good discard. Consequently, South had to lose two tricks to him.

CANADA GUARDED HEART OF EMPIRE

Tribute Paid To Canada By Churchill

British Premier Says Leadership Given By Mackenzie King

LONDON, May 11 —(CP Cable)—Canada, with her 11,000,000 people, "has guarded the heart and citadel of the empire during the most perilous months in all its history," Prime Minister Churchill declared today in introducing Prime Minister Mackenzie King for his speech to a joint session of the House of Lords and House of Commons.

Loud cheering broke out when Mr. Churchill arose on the speaker's dais to introduce Mr. King. On the dais with the two prime ministers were Col. Clifton Brown, Speaker of the House of Commons, Clement R Attlee, Deputy Prime Minister, Viscount Simon, the Lord Chancellor, and Viscount Cranborne, Dominions Secretary.

Peers and members of the Commons had cheered the Canadian prime minister when he arrived with Mr. Churchill and proceeded along the central aisle of the royal gallery of the Palace of Westminster. They were followed by the Speaker, the Lord Chancellor, Mr. Attlee and Viscount Cranborne.

There was another outburst of cheering when Mr. Churchill arose to introduce the Canadian guest.

"We have known him a long time and the longer we have known him the more we have loved him," Mr. Churchill said.

Played Unrivalled Part

"He comes here as one who has played an unrivalled part in the forward march of Canada. He has brought Canada to the greatest development of her power. It is extraordinary the things Canada has done in this war."

The House renewed its cheers.

"Canada with eleven millions has guarded the heart and citadel of empire during the most perilous months in all its history. Canada is the link which binds together the old world and the new."

Mr. Churchill brought a burst of laughter when he said of Mr. King "like most of us he is a party politician," adding there was nothing to be ashamed of in that.

"But I say without hesitation there was no other man and perhaps there was no other career to which a man might look forward which would enable our honored guest this afternoon to lead Canada united in-

Germans Expect Invasion Next Monday

LONDON, May 11.—(AP).— The importance of France's transport system in the impending invasion of western Europe was emphasized by both the Allies and the Germans to-day as the BBC urged the French to keep off the highways after the attack starts and Vichy repeated that passenger train service would be cut Monday to facilitate troop movements.

The Allied request to French civilians was made in a BBC broadcast of invasion instructions. It stressed that troop movements must have the right of way.

The announcement by the German-controlled Vichy radio of the forthcoming passenger train reduction, made originally three days ago and reiterated to-day, caused many in London to wonder whether the Nazis were seizing the remnants of the bomb-riddled railway system for what it was worth in helping to maintain the Atlantic wall.

Some passenger trains apparently still will run. The announcement said service would be "seriously curtailed."

The latest German guess on when the Allies will strike is Monday. the same day the French train service is effective.

Called in last night as window dressing for a Berlin broadcast on anti-invasion preparations, an astrologer intoned:

"The seventh day after the full moon often sees casualties and death." Monday is the seventh day after the full moon.

Use Snipers.

Another German broadcast said German sharpshooters were being equipped with special rifles fitted with a new telescopic sight to "pick off the lommanding officers of each wave of invading troops as they hit the beaches."

On the British side of the channel, meanwhile, it was disclosed that emergency units are poised and ready to go into action on D-day to evacuated and provide shelter and food for non-combatants of English coastal towns that are used as invasion springboards. Details about the units were kept secret.

Preparations for re-establishing civil administration in the Netherland and Belgium after they are liberated were said to be nearly complete. It was learned last night that the governments of those two countries soon would sign agreements with Britain and the United States providing for civil officials to take over from the military.

Danger Grows Across China

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, May 11—(AP)—An atmosphere of unconcealed concern spread in China today as Chinese reports told of yet another thurst on Loyang, several times capital of ancient China in northern Honan province, and admitted that the enemy finally had succeeded in gaining control of the full length of the Peiping-Hankow railway linking his northern and central forces.

The Chinese claimed they had repulsed the Japanese attempt at another crossing of the Yellow River near Mengshien, about 25 miles northeast of Loyang.

But they acknowledged they were battling enemy forces which had forced the river near Yuanchu, 45 miles northwest of the city, and that a third enemy spearhead had pushed along the Lunghai railway to the vicinity of Yenshih, only about 21 miles east of the city.

Lose 60,000 Miles

The most important Japanese offensive in China since the successful drive on Hankow in 1938 already had carved out an area of roughly 60,000 square miles of territory, much of it rich wheat-growing country, and was opening the possibility of a drive on the strategic town of Tungkwan, west of Loyang at the elbow of the Yellow River. Tungkwan is the gateway to the rich northwest.

The crossing of the Yellow River a Chinese communique said, was accomplished by the Japanese in the vicinity of Yuanchu, 45 miles

15,000 Japanese Killed On Burma Front

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

KANDY, Ceylon, May 11—(AP).—British forces continued to drive the Japanese back from their Indian invasion today and it was officially estimated that the enemy had lost 15,000 dead alone since February 1 on the Arakan front of Burma, in the Imphal and Kohima areas of the Indian frontier and in behind-the-lines Chindit engagements.

The figure excludes casualties inflicted on the Japanese by Chinese forces driving down from North Burma, where the last figures showed 5,000 Japanese had been killed up to March 29.

The number of Japanese wounded during the fighting since Feb. 1 was not estimated but Japan's total casualties were much greater than those suffered by the Allies, whose losses were not disclosed.

Many Lost At Imphal.

The large number of single front casualties—6,100 killed—was inflicted on the Japanese in their attempt to force the Imphal plain on the Indian frontier. Casualties there and at Kohima, frontier base to the north, numbered 8,000 in the two

3,000 Planes Take Off From Britain

Budapest Battered For 4th Time Rail Centres Smashed

LONDON, May 11.—(CP).—Three thousand Allied planes dumped an estimated 5,400 tons of explosives on German airports and rail centres in western Europe to-day in the 17th day of the great pre-invasion assault.

In one of the strongest assaults of the war on Hitler's already-dislocated system of military railways, Allied formations late last night and to-day singled out eight large rail centres serving the western defence wall on which to loose most of their explosives.

Three of the key centres were hit in daylight to-day by a force of up to 250 American bombers escorted by possibly 500 fighters, and other bombers smashed military installations across the channel.

Quickly following up last night's fourth assault on Budapest by bombers striking from Italy bases, medium bombers of the 9th Air Force got in the first licks of what appeared to be another day-long assault from British bases in morning attacks on airfields at Beaumont-le-Roger and Cormeilles-en-Vezin in France.

London observers said the thunderous vibrations of the follow-up daylight fleets were the loudest heard since the war began. The Paris radio network left the air immediately.

Last night's heavy and medium bomber attack on the Hungarian capital came close on the heels of daylight blows yesterday in which more than 3,000 Allied aircraft winging in from both Italy and Britain poured some 4,500 tons of bombs into Europe.

The Canadian bomber group played a part, providing the principal force of heavy bombers for the raid on Ghent. Several squadrons of the Canadian heavyweights participated, while other R.C.A.F. bombers laid mines in enemy waters, and Canadian Intruders attacked airfields in France and the low countries.

One R.C.A.F. bomber failed to return and four fighters are missing from operations during yesterday and last night, the R.C.A.F. announced.

N.H.A. Interest Cut

OTTAWA, May 11. — Finance Minister Ilsley today announced immediate reduction in the interest on new loans under the National Housing Act from five to 4½ per cent.

Action is also being taken to finance properties up to $5,000, an increase of $1,000 from the present ceiling, Mr. Ilsley said in a statement on housing.

Amendment to the housing for private building was coupled with three other plans to meet housing needs, he said.

They were:

1. Extension to other communities of a plan introduced in Montreal for construction of low-cost projects for which the government would provide 90 per cent of the capital and private groups 10 per cent with their profits limited to three or four per cent..

2. Continuation of the housing conversion plan now in operation in 15 Canadian municipalities.

3. Initiation by Wartime Housing Ltd. of a program fo rthe construction of additional houses to accommodate dependents of members of the armed forces.

Victory Loan Needs 310 Millions

OTTAWA, May 11—(CP). —Canadians invested $62,805,350 in Canada's Sixth Victory Loan yesterday, boosting the total to date to $1,073,168,950, the War Finance Committee announced today.

Yesterday's figures were down approximately $10,000,000 from the total of the same day in the previous loan, while the cumulative total stands at $310,000,000 of the final figures for the last drive.

The three-week campaign for $1,200,000,000 is in its last week.

For the first time in this campaign purchases by individual Canadians yesterday exceeded the amount purchased by the large buyers.

The total for individuals was $32,752,750, bringing their cumulative total to $441,672,350.

Large buyers purchased $30,052,600 in Bonds yesterday bringing their total purchases to date to $631,496,600.

Today, committee officials urged individual purchasers to make an an all-out effort.

"Every Loan has seen the individuals increasing their purchases over the amount bought in the preceding Loan," a spokesman said. "It would be a grand thing if that record could be kept intact in this campaign and if individual purchasers could exceed the $604,000,000 of

Nazi Artillery Opens Up On Anzio Front

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 11—(AP).—A German artillery barrage on the Anzio beachhead reached a new peak on Tuesday night with approximately 4,000 shells lobbed into 5th Army positions in the space of half an hour, Allied headquarters announced today.

The same night the German air force sent 15 planes to raid the beachhead port area, but it was announced that no damage resulted and ack-ack shot down two of the raiders.

The Allied command gave no new word of the British 8th Army troops which yesterday were reported following up the Germans withdrawing to shorten their lines in the mountains of the main front 35 miles inland from the Adriatic.

In the Cassino area the Germans laid down artillery and mortar fire and sent over single planes to bomb and strafe Allied forward positions.

On the beachhead an American raiding party, with tank support, punched at enemy-held houses two miles southwest of Cisterna. An American officer, with three men, captured a dozen prisoners three miles south of Cisterna.

An official announcement said the Italian corps of liberation operating in Italy has been built up from one small motorized group "until it includes whole battalions of all the famous units of the Italian regular army."

The Italian group first appeared in the line at Monte Lungo December 8 and in that area it later beat off German counter-attacks. It now is fighting on the central front around Monte Marrone.

Premier King Tells Britain Canada Is Opposed To Forming Of Separate Bloc

History-Making Speech Lauds Britain As Mainstay Of Human Freedom Urges Fair Treatment For All Nations

By FRANK FLAHERTY—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 11—(CP Cable).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, addressing a joint session of the Houses of Parliament, called today for post-war maintenance of British Commonwealth strength and unity through policies which can be shared with other nations, and coupled this with a warning against any move which might seem to the rest of the world an attempt to form a separate bloc.

Mr. King spoke of present methods of intra-Empire consultation as "a continuing conference of cabinets," in contrast to a single Imperial War Cabinet, and said:

"We cannot be too careful to see that to our own peoples, the new methods will not appear as an attempt to limit their freedom of decision, or, to peoples outside the Commonwealth, as an attempt to establish a separate bloc."

Workable Principles.

"I am firmly convinced that the way to maintain the unity of the Commonwealth is to base that unity upon principles which can be extended to all nations," he said. "I am equally sure that the only way to maintain world unity is to base it upon principles that can be universally applied."

The "continuing conference of cabinets" dealt "from day to day and, not infrequently," from hour to hour with policies of common concern. Decisions made were those of all members of the Cabinet of each country, "with a full consciousness of their immediate responsibility to their respective parliaments."

It was Mr. King's first speech during his present visit to Britain for the conference of Dominion Prime Ministers. The address, made frim the rostrum in the royal gallery of the palace of Westminster, was broadcast to the world.

It was the second time an overseas leader has been invited to speak before a joint session of the House of Lords and Commons. Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa, who addressed a joint session in 1942, and Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia and Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand, were among the Canadian Prime Minister's audience.

Mr. King made extensive revisions in his prepared text which was made available in advance last night to the press.

Mr. King spoke of Canada's war effort as voluntary and national and of close co-operation and coordination of policies within the British commnnwealth.

The fact that Canada had preferred to exercise her influence quietly and remove rather than create difficulties "does not means that we have failed to exercise due vigilance in protecting Canada's rights, he said.

"We should be false to the freedom for which we are fighting if, at any time, we failed to remember that no nation liveth unto itself; and that nations, great and small, are members one of anoth-

Canada's Aid To Britain Tops 4 Billions

LONDON, May 11—(CP)—Canada has supplied Britain and her fighting forces with war materials and other supplies worth nearly $4,000,000,000 since the war began, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today in an address to both Houses of Parliament.

"Almost half these supplies represent an outright contribution," said the Canadian Prime Minister in a prepared speech.

"Under our system of mutual aid, war materials have, for the past year, been supplied without payment to the United Nations, in accordance with strategic need. Canada now is supplying mutual aid to Britain, Australia, the Soviet Union, China and the French Committee of National Liberation."

Thanks to the skill and devotion of the Canadian people, the Dominion was "a granary, an arsenal, an airdrome and a shipyard of freedom."

"Our country has become increasingly proud of the fact that every fighting man from Canada serving across the seas, on the seas and in the air is a volunteer," he said. "We can say, in very truth, that Canada's effort in this war is a voluntary effort."

Partisans Gain Across Serbia

LONDON, May 11 (CP)—Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) triumphantly proclaimed today that his Yugoslav Partisans had smashed a German general offensive in Yugoslavia, but declared that fierce fighting was continuing in Macedonia as Axis forces tried desperately to drive a wedge between his troops and Bulgarian Partisans operating along the Yugoslav border.

The bulletin said large areas of Serbia have been restored to control of the Partisans with the result that men who fled the German invaders to form the guerilla bands which grew into the Tito army now are returning to the home villages they have not seen for months.

The enemy is being cleared from eastern Bosnia, Marshal Tito announced, and the liberation army is continuing an offensive in Montenegro, Sanjak and Slovenia. Local fighting was reported in Hercegovina and western Bosnia.

Allied Aerial Offensive Nearing Peak

Capture of Sevastopol Essential To Permit New Russian Campaign

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Allied bombing and other preparations for D-day are slipping rapidly towards their peak.

That's not in any way intended as a forecast to compete with the Hitlerian astrologer who went on the air in Berlin last night and in gloomy gutterals announced that "the seventh day after the full moon often sees casualties and death." Next Monday is the seventh day.

However, it's evident that we are approaching the peak of preparedness. That's true not only in the invasion zone but in all other European theatres. For this greatest land-water-air operation of history is to be supported by the co-ordinated, all-out efforts of every fighting unit that can lend a useful hand, wherever it may be.

Everything seems to be gauged by its relation to D-day. The recapture of Sevastopol illustrates that point. There's a victory which normally would have the world on tiptoe of excitement.

All Ties In

Yet we measure the fall of Sevastopol by its relation to the invasion of Western Europe. Actually the two events are related for the recapture of this strategic Black Sea naval base was essential to the perfect functioning of the great Russian war machine which will come into full action again as the Allies strike in the west. The Russian fleet now will be able to give full co-operation to the projected Red offensive through Romania into the Balkans even landing reinforcements on the Romanian coast if necessary.

Over in Italy, too, there are signs of Allied operations to support D-day. The Hitlerites are looking for offensives both on the Cassino front and from the Anzio beachhead. Probably it was in anticipation of such drives that the Germans here pulled back and straightened their line in the Palena sector, and so made it less vulnerable. They're getting set for the storm.

Berlin, feverishly trying to check on the invasion machine, reports that the southeastern coast of England swarms with troops ready to embark, and that a huge invasion fleet is assembled in Channel ports. Of course, the Allies don't take the trouble to deny that. You can keep D-day a dark secret, known by perhaps six or eight people, but you can't hide thousands of ships and hundreds of thousands of soldiers.

It needs no imagination, either, to believe that the greatest armada of warships ever assembled is ready for the titanic task of convoying its precious army of invasion to the hostile shores.

Parties Gird For Election

150 Candidates Likely To Be In Contest

REGINA, May 11 (CP)—Political machinery swung into action in Saskatchewan today in preparation for the first general election in the province in six years with more than 150 candidates likely to contest 52 of the 55 seats immediately at stake.

Sometime after polling day, June 15, members of Canada's armed forces serving outside the province in Canada and Newfoundland, in Great Britain and in the Mediterranean area will elect members for the three new seats added to the assembly through amendments to the provincial election act at the last session.

Three-way contests between Liberal, C.C.F., and Progressive Conservative candidates are assured in most constituencies.

The Liberals and C.C.F. have 50 nominees in the field with the C.C.F. provincial leader, T. C. Douglas, member of parliament for Reyburn, yet to be nominated. Mr. Douglas at Ottawa yesterday announced he would resign his House of Commons seat immediately to lead the C.C.F. organization in Saskatchewan.

Progressive Conservatives have 27 candidates selected while Rupert P. Ramsay of Saskatoon, newly-elected party leader, has announced they plan to contest most constituencies.

In the last legislature the standing was: Liberals 33; C.C.F. 10; Social Credit 2; Unity (National Reform) 3; vacant 5; total 53.

Japs Beat Allied Prisoners

1,200 Die In Hospitals Of Malnutrition

By OLEN CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOMOTE AIRFIELD, ADMIRALTY ISLANDS, May 11.—(AP).—From hospital cots where they stretched their emaciated frames, 69 Punjab and Sikh Indian colonial troopers told to-day the story of what happened to Allied prisoners captured at Singapore by the Japanese.

The Indians fled to American lines on bloody Los Negros Island when they got the chance during the bitter fighting for possession of the Admiralties.

Private Hanwant-Singh, who acted as interpreter for the group, said many of the original 9,500 Allied prisoners in his group were beaten in the first few months of captivity.

Twelve hundred more died in hospitals from lack of medical attention and malnutrition. Three hundreds more were down with malaria when the group of which Hanwant-Singh was a member was shipped from Singapore to work on Japanese-held airfields in the South Pacific.

"They beat us with sticks," Hanwant-Singh said.

"All we had to eat for almost three years has been two small spoonfuls of rice and salt twice a day."

14,000 Strikers Back On Jobs At Ford Plant

WINDSOR, Ont., May 11—(CP).—Workers of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada to-day returned to their jobs, ending a work stoppage that has left the plant idle since April 20, with the exception of two days.

Decision to resume work was reached unanimously at a meeting of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) last night after union officials had given assurance that the grievance procedure about which the dispute centred, would be dealt with by the National War-time Labor Relations Board in Ottawa to-day.

The meeting held in the City Market Building and attended by an estimated 10,000, heard a letter from Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor giving the Board's decision to not take any action on the grievance procedure until work resumed.

Roy England, president of Local 200 of the union, read the letter and with other union officials recommended that the workers go back to the plant pending clarification action by the Board. George Burt, Canadian U.A.W. director, and Richard T. Frankensteen, international vice-president, were among those who addressed the meeting.

Company Rapped.

Mr. Frankensteen said the Ford Company was out to break the union, and that by remaining on strike the men were playing into the hands of the alleged union-busters.

"The Ford Company wants this strike," he added. "It has already made all the money it is allowed to make and the remainder goes to the Government in taxes. Now it looks as though they have lined up the Canadian Government to join from Loyang, and threatened to outflank the defenders of the ancient city, already menaced by another enemy column only six or seven miles away on the southeast.

The new Japanese thrust from Shansi not only enlarged the scope of the enemy operations, but placed added emphasis on the possibility of a general westward drive toward the old walled city of Sian in Shensi Province, natural gateway to Szechan and the provisional capital at Chungking.

Although the situation to the east along the Peiping-Hankow railway was somewhat obscure, it appeared that the Chinese had been driven from their last positions astride the vital north-south communications line.

Completion of the Japanese drive to win full control of the railway—a 150-mile stretch of which was in Chinese hands before the enemy launched his offensive in mid-April—would mean that the invaders had finally lopped off about 60,000 square miles of territory from all connection with Free China.

It would also mean that Chinese forces now operating east of the railway had been cut off from their bases and henceforth would be compelled to operate as guerillas.

WHERE ROMMEL RUSHES HIS ANTI-INVASION PREPARATIONS—Along the Atlantic Wall, German Field Marshal Rommel, according to Stockholm sources, has rushed more than 200,000 Nazi "expendable" to the area indicated in white on the map which has become known as the Rommel defence zone. The same sources report that Rommel now expects the real battle to be somewhere behind the line and that he has moved thousands of his crack fighters into these "back of the lines" areas. Continued bombing of key communications lines is, naturally, complicating the enemy's transportation problems and the weeks of hammering at the Luftwaffe has given rise to the belief that the German air force may quickly crack.

Family Receives Wrong Kit From War Office

LONDON, Ont., May 11 — (CP)—Charging "mismanagement" by the Estates Branch at Ottawa in forwarding to next of kin the valuables of soldiers killed in action, P. L. Reed, past president of the Duchess of Kent Branch, Canadian Legion, said yesterday he had been delegated by the branch to protest a case brought to light in this city.

Next of kin of a London soldier who was injured by an artillery shell and later died in hospital in Italy, have failed to receive valuable belongings which were known to be in his possession before his death, Mr Reed said.

A small box containing a sweat shirt, a window curtain, khaki clothing and a few other articles of apparel, as well as a broken watch, all of which the next of kin claim did not belong to the soldier, were forwarded to this city.

"This is not an isolated case, but it is the first that we have been able to lay our hands on," Mr. Reed said.

Articles which are still missing include a $39 watch purchased by the soldier, a gift pen and pencil set, a cigarette case and money belt, a silver identification bracelet, leather writing case, leather wallet, pictures, a leather jacket, and other personal belongings.

months the enemy has been attempting to invade India.

Today's communique said tank-supported Chinese forces had swarmed through two more villages east of the Mogaung valley in their drive on the Japanese bases of Mogaung and Myitkyina.

No major activity was reported yesterday in the Kohima neighborhood, the communique said, but fighting continued on the outskirts of the base where Allied forces improved their positions.

The two new villages captured in the Mogaung valley drive were not named in the communique, which told also of an American-manned tank raid into enemy territory west of the Mogaung valley.

Remaining in enemy territory for six hours, the tank force silenced heavy anti-tank fire before withdrawing without suffering losses.

Allied planes are providing strong support for ground forces on all fronts, the communique said, and reported that dive bombers were operating "in great strength" over the Kohima, Imphal and Kalewa areas.

Long range fighters were credited with destroying five enemy fighters on the ground in attacks on Japanese airfields at Aungban and Kangaung, Burma. Two other Japanese planes probably were destroyed, the communique said.

After 6 Years' Suffering He Tells Of Grand Relief

Praises Syntona For Relief of Awful Stomach Gas, Acidity, Dizzy Spells, Headaches and Heartburn. Also Relieved of Pains in Limbs and Muscles. Sleeps Better; Tired Wornout Feelings Disappear.

"When a medicine will help me like Syntona did, it deserves the highest praise I can give it," said Mr. Percy Babcock, 131 Duke Street, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent statement.

"In the past six years my stomach had been giving me no end of trouble and no matter what I took, it just kept getting worse. I suffered after almost every meal with sour acidity and gas in my stomach. This often brought on cramps with a sick, nauseated feeling and attacks of heartburn. Dizzy spells would come over me, spots floated before my eyes and I'd usually end up with a splitting headache. During all this time I was having pains in my limbs, joints and muscles, and I wasn't getting my proper sleep, so I constantly felt fatigued.

"I had been disappointed in so many medicines, but a friend of mine recommended Syntona so highly that I began taking it. Now I can say it has given me the best results of anything I ever used. I am relieved of the gas, indigestion, acidity and heartburn. I am free of the dizzy spells and headaches and since those pains have left me I get more sleep and I don't feel tired and worn-out as I used to.

"It is certainly great to be feeling so much better again and I am glad to recommend Syntona to any one who may be suffering as I did."

"That cannot be done without real effort. It can be done, however, if everyone who has purchased could see their way clear to buy just one more bond and if those who have not yet purchased will invest every dollar they can in putting victory first.

"If only half of the 1,960,972 Canadians who have bought Bonds in this campaign, were to buy one extra $100 Bond, it would mean an additional $100,000,000 towards the Loan's success.

Personnel in all branches of the Canadian Pacific Railway system drew a bead on their $7,000,000 objective as Tuesday's system wide drive sent the total into the $6,000,000 bracket.

to the heart of this world-shaking struggle.

"In the unending clash of events, one drama succeeding and overlapping another, the intense absorption of the people—of every age sex and class—in the war effort, hardly enabling them to draw breath; all this makes us incapable of appreciating what is going on in Canada under its government headed by a leader, 25 years a leader of a party, and 18 years Prime Minister of the Dominion.

Become A Naval People

"What has been done? We may well be asked to be excused if we have not been able to follow it with the detail which it deserves. Canadians have become a Naval people. They have gone to sea. Not only do they build ships both in peace and war but they man them and fight with them and they have contributed in noble degree to the destruction of the U-boat menace.

"In the air, Canada is the home of the British Empire and commonwealth in central organization of air. Geographical and other conditions have facilitated this. From the airfields of Canada have come a race of airmen who have gathered unsurpassed honor and who will continue to be an asset for the greater unity which underlies all written or legal constitutions of the British Empire.

" I have known my friend Mackenzie King for over 40 years, first in politics then in personal friendships. I know well the steady steps he has taken during that period which have led up to this great climax to the development and administration of the power of Canada.

"Canada has a future which none may measure. They are a magnificent people and their representative has come here, and I say that he will give us to-day a conception not only of the general participation of Canada in the Empire but of the particular character of the contribution which in our vast and varied organization is always to be welcome."

Mr. King, who worked with his staff into the early morning putting finishing touches to his speech, was heard by an audience of about 800, including 100 or so representatives of the Dominions.

In the audience were the other Dominion Prime Ministers—Field Marshall Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa, who addressed a joint session of the two houses in 1942, John Curtin of Australia, and Peter Fraser of New Zealand.

Proposing a vote of thanks, the Lord Chancellor said: "The speech and the spirit behind it, as well as the unity and comradeship of the British Commonwealth, is the surest guarantee of ultimate victory and it is the hope of a peaceful world in the future."

Seconding the vote, the Commons speaker said under Mr. King's leadership Canada was building up something even greater than action in this war and Britain was lost in admiration of the Dominion's effort.

Mr. Churchill put the resolution to the gathering which carried it with loud cheers.

Canada's Aid

1939 and as soon as parliament could act, Canada was at war. In those days, few if any of the people believed Canada stood in immediate danger of attack, but the issue was sensed. Canada saw that a struggle had begun between freedom and dominion.

A Total Effort

From the beginning the war effort was so planned and organized that the maximum effort the people could sustain during a long war would be reached.

"In fighting men, in weapons and munitions, in food and in finance, we are seeking as a people to make our utmost contribution to the fight for world freedom," said Mr. King.

"Our objective has been a total effort for total war; and we believe that objective is being attained."

Of the western hemisphere nations, Canada was the first to defend in arms the frontiers of the freedom of the new world. For more than two years Canada alone in the Americas was at war.

"It has been to us a source of pride that our methods of meeting some of the problems of war have served as patterns in the war effort of our powerful neighbor," he continued. "Canada's effort, in many ways, has been a pioneering effort."

As the war progressed the Canadian effort has become more and more a world-wide effort, he said. Canadian machines and munitions have been used on all the fighting fronts and Canadian sailors and merchant seamen have served on all oceans, with Canadian airmen fighting in the battle of the skies around the globe. Canadian soldiers helped guard the British Isles since the early days of the war and have seen service in the Pacific as well as at Dieppe and in the Italian campaign.

The army awaited the word of command to join in the liberation of Europe and "the morrow will witness Canadian forces taking part in a final assault upon Japan. Canada's effort has truly become a world-wide effort."

Canada's fight for freedom would be a fight to the finish, said Mr. King. The Canadian people would not relax until freedom is secure.

With a $92,650 day being reported by the city canvassers and banks and $61,100 from the canvassers in the county the General Canvass stands at 83.99 per cent., which is .66 above the required percentage for the day.

For the first time in the campaign the payroll savings section has fallen below the required percentage on the day. This section now stands at 80.88 per cent. However, the canvass has been completed and is well over the million mark, but the applications have not been turned into the War Finance Office.

Vic Tully has stolen the lead again from Jack Curtis in the city salesman race. The five top men stand as follows: Tully, $34,900; Curtis $34,550; R. Irwin $32,500; Stan Darling $32,500; Art Cauley $29,850.

Havelock and Smith are both over the top, joining Dummer and North Monaghan to make four of the county areas above their objective. Havelock canvassers piled in $8,700 to put the railway town over and Smith added $5,100 for a total of $94,450.

North Monaghan added $1,750 for a percentage of 111.75 or $44,700. Harvey, Burleigh and Chandos went up to 69 per cent. of objective when $4,000 additional orders were placed. Asphodel increased another $5,250; Norwood $7,200 to 84.14 per cent. of objective; Douro $4,650; Dummer $700; Lakefield $5,950; Belmont and Methuen $4,600.

The team of Lou Brooks, Rufus Payne and W. Roberts, working in Ashburnham, topped the city canvass on the 15th day of campaign when they turned in $5,000 on 18 applications.

A. J. McClellan, Art Cauley and Stan Darling shoved their total for the campaign to $93,500, with every hope of reaching the $100,000 mark before completion Saturday night.

Rufus Payne was top salesman of the day with $2,300 on six applications and Lou Brooks stood second with $2,100 for nine.

Professor Wants Voice In Workers' Talks

OTTAWA, May 11 — (CP)—John L. McDougall, a member of the staff of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., yesterday made public a 2,000-word letter to Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald, Chairman of the National War Labor Board, protesting refusal of the Board to hear representations from him in the application, heard last week, of Canadian Railway workers for wage increases.

Mr. McDougall asked whether the action was to be heard as a representative of the public, and in his letter reviewed correspondence with Mr. Justice C. P. McTague, former Chairman of the Board, which he said showed he had been assured the right of appearing.

Sometime after the letter had been distributed in the parliamentary press gallery Mr. Justice Archibald, invited by The Canadian Press to comment, said he had not seen a copy of the letter. The letter was dated yesterday.

Not Public Case

Monday Mr. Justice Archibald told The Canadian Press that Mr. McDougall had not been heard because the hearing "was not a public case."

"The parties to the applications and their witnesses were the only ones that could be heard," he said at that time.

In his letter Mr. McDougall reviewed his correspondence with Mr. Justice McTague concerning his appearance before the board, and said that the railway unions had raised some objection to his participating in the proceedings. After he had received assurance that he could make a presentation he received no notice of when the hearing was to be held.

The public was concerned in all wage cases, and particularly in that of the railways. He said the group of railway brotherhoods involved was "distinguished by the very low boiling point of its resentments and by its enormous political power."

Unfair Position.

"It would be in the highest degree unjust if they, by reason of that power, were able to press their claims for special treatment while no member of the unorganized general public and capable of speaking for them would be allowed to raise his voice before your board," the letter continued.

"To put the question squarely is, I hope, to go a long way toward answering it. I now ask formally whether the refusal to hear me in this case is to be taken as a precedent binding in all future cases before you?"

Mr. McDougall indicated he had met the members of the board following the railway hearing and had been told by the chairman that written material submitted by him would be read. This procedure, Mr. McDougall said, appeared "improper" because the other parties had no opportunity to reply to it.

M.O.H. Reports Queen Mary Hospital Empty

Queen Mary Hospital was about to be again vacant this morning, Dr. R. A. Kelly, M. O. H., reported to the Board of Health Wednesday afternoon. Eleven patients were cared for in April, remaining for 76 hospital days, a decrease from March when "14 patients remained 110 hospital days. Of the eleven patients six were city residents."

One death occurred, a non-resident infant suffering from pneumococcal meningitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland McCauley have been engaged as caretaker and cook at the hospital, succeeding Mr. and Mrs. Calvert, at a salary of $90 a month.

"Two new cases of tuberculosis were disclosed during the recent visit of the travelling chest clinic, Dr. Kelly said. "One of these is now in a sanatorium, and the other, which was not active, is continuing at work under observation."

Attend Clinic

Mothers are taking greater advantage of the improved weather to attend the child hygiene clinics. With three fewer clinics in April the number of children registering increased from 168 to 177, of whom 90 were infants, and 28 were attending for the first time.

Dr. Kelly's observations on communicable diseases are quoted as follows:—"Cases reported during April: cerebrospinal meningitis 1; chickenpox 21; German measles 7; measles 14; mumps 9; scarlet fever 6; conjunctivitis 1.

While there was a slight increase in the incidence of several conditions as chickenpox, measles and scarlet fever, over the previous month, there is felt to be no cause for alarm. The one case of cerebrospinal meningitis was of a mild type and the child made rapid recovery. For the first time since assuming duties ten months ago there was not a single case of whooping cough reported."

Sanitary Inspector MacPherson reported that he had spent considerable time during April helping Garfield Torrance organize the municipal garbage collection system.

"The system seems to be well under control now, and I am sure that Mr. Torrance does not need any further help. The work of food control and sanitation was not entirely neglected during this period. Dr. Worton assisted continuously with needed inspections and I gave as much time as possible to direction and inspection work."

Milk examination indicated all specimens adequately and properly pasteurized.

Dairies Inspected

"O. V. Ball, provincial dairy plant inspector, visited all plants in the city and reports of the inspections have been forwarded to the Medical Officer of Health from the Provincial Department. Except for minor items, all the dairies seem to have met with the approval of the Department.

Extensive alterations are being made to one plant at present. The manager of this dairy has worked very closely with us in the plans for these alterations, and I feel certain that when completed the work in this dairy will be simplified and the product better protected."

"Dr. Harold Worton continues to inspect the dairy farms and reports appear satisfactory. Two new permits to ship milk for city bottle trade have been issued following his inspection and approval."

The various reports to the Board extended over many details of health and sanitation activities.

The Public Health Nurses reported 237 visits to individuals; 142 persons visited for the first time this year; 116 families visited for the first time, and sixteen office visits.
